Record Enrollment Set At Hinds For '60-61

Campus Dormitories Full – Deans; Hinds, Warren Students Ride Free

As Hinds Junior College officially opens its classroom doors tomorrow to the forty-third annual session, a record enrollment is expected by Miss Mildred Herrin, registrar.

Hinds' initial enrollment is expected to be upward of 1200 students.

Mrs. Frances Lee, dean of women, and Mr. R. C. Benton, dean of men, report that more applications for dormitory space have been received than the college can accommodate. All dormitories are packed, and provisions are being made to take care of the crowded conditions in temporary quarters.

Free transportation will be furnished to those students in Hinds and Warren counties desiring to live at home and commute.

College sophomores registered during the month of August. Three hundred and fifty prospective freshmen took orientation and placements tests on August 22-23. The final orientation and testing program was held Monday and Tuesday.

All sophomores secured meal tickets Monday and Tuesday morning. Freshmen registered Tuesday and today, and new frosh members are scheduled to conclude registering Thursday morning.

President G. M. McLendon will welcome the new student body in an assembly program at 1 p.m. tomorrow. Following the assembly, students will meet all classes on a short schedule. Classes begin on a full scale Friday.

Total fall enrollment last year was 1119, with 512 freshmen and 343 sophomores. A total of 435 students were enrolled on the campus this summer, with 164 in the high school division, 138 in college, and 133 in the vocational department.

Including the summer and fall classes, the 1959-60 session showed a total of 1706.

Hinds' Prize Hogs Take 5th Place In Market Showings

Hinds Junior College won five ribbons at the Mississippi Market Hog Show in Jackson Tuesday and Wednesday reports Mr. Jack C. Treloar, college farm manager.

In the carcass division, Hinds placed fifth in a class of 28 carcasses. Hinds placed third out of 17 in the overall fat barrow division. The college placed fifth out of 35 in the light weight barrow show and third out of 26 in the heavy weight barrow show.

In a pen of 10 light weight barrows, Hinds took second place in a field of nine. The 14 barrows exhibited by the college were crossed between a Yorkshire and a Hampshire.

Former College Trustee Assumes Duties As Assistant To President

Mr. Robert M. Mayo, former Hinds county superintendent of education, assumed the duties this summer as administrative assistant at Hinds Junior College.

Mr. Mayo was elected a year ago to fill a new position created by the Hinds Board of Trustees. Additional help in the field of administration, according to Hinds President George M. McLendon, was necessary because of the vast growth of Hinds Junior College.

President McLendon feels that the college is "indeed fortunate" to have this "outstanding young school administrator."

Comes With Experience

Mr. Mayo comes to Hinds with a wide background of experience having served as principal of consolidated schools in Hinds and Rankin counties, Hinds county superintendent of education, and superintendent of public schools in Clarksdale for the past five years.

A graduate of Raleigh High School, he is a native of Smith County. He received his B.S. degree from Millsaps College and his M.A. from Peabody College.

Prior to entering the United States Air Force, Mr. Mayo served as superintendent of the Pelahatchie High School for five years. After four years in the air force, he was a principal in the Hinds county school system.

Wins Special Election

In a 1948 special election, he was elected Hinds county superintendent of education and served in that office until 1955.

A former Hinds Junior College trustee, he is vice president of the Mississippi Association of School Administrators. Presently he is an active member of the Mississippi Air Force Reserve and the American Association of School Administrators.

Mr. Mayo is married to the former Lee Cloud of Canton. They have three boys—Bob 15, Will 13, and Buddy 6.

Local Churches Plan Social Gatherings For Hinds Junior College Students

The Raymond churches will stage "get acquainted" parties for all students Thursday evening.

Rev. Clay F. Lee, pastor of the Raymond Methodist Church and director of the campus Wesley Foundation, is coordinator of the church parties.

Baptist students will attend the party at the Raymond Baptist Church under the direction of Miss Betty Jane Frew, campus Baptist Student Union director, and Rev. Clyde Gordon, pastor of the Raymond Baptist church.

Methodist students will go to the Raymond Methodist Church with Rev. Lee in charge. Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Shearer will have the Catholic students in their home for a social outing.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Oakes will be in charge of the Canterbury Club party, while members of the Westminster Fellowship will go to the Raymond Presbyterian Church.

A campus-wide get-together has been planned for all students Monday, Sept. 12.

MISS DAVIS LEAVES

5 Faculty Members Retire, Resign From Positions At Hinds Junior

Five Hinds Junior College staff members have resigned. Miss Fleta Whitaker, Mrs. Gertrude Rowzee, Miss Christine Berry, Miss Gertrude Davis, and Miss Lula Mae Fowler resigned during the summer after many years of service.

Miss Whitaker was the assistant dean of women and head of the home economics department. She has been a member of the Hinds staff since 1929.

Mrs. Rowzee was the head librarian at Hinds. She is a member of the American Association of University Women, Delta Kappa Gamma, Mississippi Library Association, and American Library Association.

Miss Berry, who is a native of Jackson and prominent in social circles, leaves after completing eight years of teaching at Hinds.

Miss Davis, dean of women, joined the faculty of Hinds in 1934. She is a member of the American Association of University Women and the Mississippi Association of Colleges.

Miss Fowler is a native of Batesville. She came to Hinds from Mississippi Southern, and was on the social science staff.

Hinds Community College District

Welcome To Hinds Junior

Hinds Junior College rolls out its welcome mat to what is expected to be the largest total enrollment in the history of the institution. To the new and returning students, this will be home for the next nine months and maybe longer.

A very cordial welcome to those of you who are on our campus for the first time. You are sincerely invited to become one of us. We think Hinds is the greatest junior college in America, and we hope that you will think so too.

Hearty greetings to all of you who have already had the wonderful opportunity of attending Hinds Junior College. It is our sincere hope that this year will bring even richer experiences to you in all of your classes and activities.

College life is a new and valuable experience for a great number of Hinds students and it has to be treated in a sincere way in order to achieve the needed maximum results.

Welcome to Hinds Junior College and may your stay here be an ever-lasting, happy, and valuable experience.

Join Church Organizations

There is nothing more important in life than one's religion. It is religion that helps us in failure and keeps us steady in success. It makes our life satisfactory and promises us a life to come.

As a stimulation to religious growth, Hinds Junior College has five organizations available to meet the devotional needs of each student on the campus. The Wesley Foundation (Methodist), Baptist Student Union, Canterbury Club (Episcopal), Westminster Fellowship (Presbyterian), and the Catholic Youth Organization, cooperating with the local churches, carry on a regular program of work on the campus and enlist the interest of the majority of students. These groups plan social service, representation at various conferences, and regular weekly devotional programs at the college.

Let us exercise our freedom of religion and attend our own church services each Sunday and denominational meetings on the campus each week.

"You shouldn't worry about whether God is on your side, but instead worry about whether you are on His." — Abe Lincoln.

Eagles Need Our Support

Hinds Junior College can have a winning football season this fall. However, it depends on several important factors—football squad, coaches, student body, and school spirit.

The '60 football team and coaches have spent the past two and a half weeks in vigorous training.

"I am highly impressed with the spirit shown by the boys. It is higher than any since the '57 season," stated coach Joe Renfroe, head football coach. "If the hussle and spirit continues we will be hard to whip."

The team and coaches are doing their part, but they need our help. Yes, each of us must work and work hard. In order to make a success of this football team, each and every one of us must be prepared to jump at our opportunity to help bring victory by school spirit, attendance at games, and a winning attitude.

We are sure that the football team and college officials can depend upon the cooperation of every student during the 1960 campaign.

Our presence at every game will convince the coaches and players of our support and desire for victory.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Candidates Prepare For Battle

By CORKIE LYLE

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Senator John F. Kennedy are intensifying their battle for the presidency of the United States. Voters will go to the polls and select a winner two months from tomorrow, Nov. 8.

CORKIE

The South and the Great Plains will be the two two battle grounds in the campaign.

TOUGHER COURSES: Courses in public schools are being made tougher for youngsters as the 1960-61 school term begins, according to a nationwide survey conducted by the National Education Association. The schol day is being lengthened, and increased emphasis is being placed on instruction in the sciences, mathematics, and foreign languages.

* * *

MORE MACHINES: Automatic selling is taking over in a great many fields of the retail trade. Today 15 out of every 100 packs of cigarets are sold by a machine, and two out of every 10 candy bars and one out of every four soft drinks are sold the same way.

* * *

HONEYMOON IN JAIL: A newly married man and woman are spending their honeymoon in separate cells in jail at Macomb County, Mich. James Clark and his bride, Mary Elizabeth, were arrested the day after their wedding for stealing four television sets. It's an unusual type honeymoon, to say the least.

Hinds Rolls Out Red Carpet For Big Welcome

By JEAN RODGERS

Greetings and welcome to the Hinds campus. This issue of the Hindsonian marks the beginning of the 1960-61 school year at Hinds Junior College. It is our hope to help present the best all-around junior college newspaper this state has ever known.

The staff of the Hindsonian is looking forward to bringing you the best available news and feature coverage of the campus.

JEAN

The purpose of this column is to discuss news-worthy events on and off the campus. Any suggestions for the column's improvement will be appreciated. Also, if you have any comments to make about the paper or school, please feel free to do so in a letter to the editor. Before any letter is printed, however, it must be signed by the writer.

Repairs Have Been Made

During the summer months several changes and repairs have been made on the Eagle campus. Painting has been done in the Music Building, Shangri-La, Main, Westside, Eastside, Academic Building, Administration Building, and campus apartments.

Assistant Administrator Robert M. Mayo's home has been completed in Faculty Circle. Mr. Mayo fills the new position of assistant administrator which was created by the Board of Trustees of Hinds Junior College because of the vast growth of the college.

Slaughter Room Added

Another addition to the campus is a new slaughter house room in the Cold Storage Plant. The new room is 30' x 60'. The plant is located across the highway from Southside Dormitory.

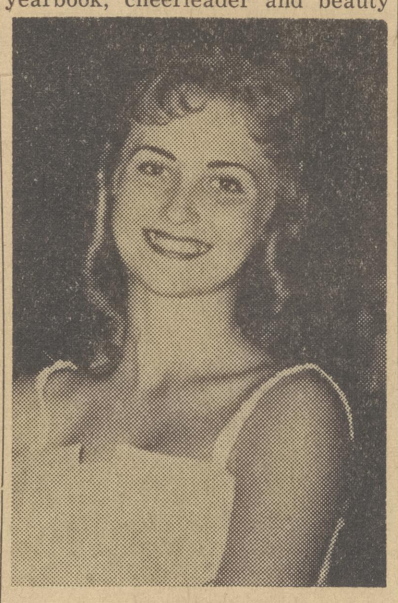
SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Pretty College Coed Represents Hinds In Miss Mississippi Pageant

By TOMMY NANCE

Continuing the policy of recognizing outstanding sophomores who have made worthwhile contributions to Hinds the Hindsonian takes pleasure in introducing its initial selection this year — Gail Rushing.

Gail, who represented Hinds this year in the Miss Mississippi pageant, hails from Forest Hill where she was editor of the high school paper, assistant editor of the yearbook, cheerleader and beauty for four years, and a member of the Beta Club.



GAIL RUSHING
Versatile Beauty, Athlete

Not only does she excel in the feminine activities, but she is an outstanding basketball player also. In high school, she was an all-conference guard for three years and made all-state her senior year. Here on the Hinds campus, she is a very active member of the Women's Athletic Association.

As a Hinds freshman last year, she was a homecoming maid, a Hi-Stepper, member of the Hindsonian staff, treasurer of the WAA and she was elected treasurer of the Mississippi Junior College Press Association, and the Phi Theta for her sophomore year.

It would take a small book to list all of Gail's accomplishments in high school and college, for she participates in all extra-curricular activities. Although she is a very busy young lady, she still finds time to enjoy her two favorite pastimes, tennis and bowling.

After graduating from Hinds, Gail plans to continue her schooling at Mississippi College and major in elementary education.

The Hindsonian would like to take this time in wishing Gail the very best of luck in the following years.

New Staff Members Take Positions On Campus

Thirteen new staff members have been added to the administrative and teaching faculty at Hinds for the 1960-61 session.

New staff officials include Robert M. Mayo, administrative assistant; Miss Elaine Mayfield, assistant registrar; Mrs. Frances Lee, dean of women; Mrs. Regina Goodwin, assistant librarian; Mike Rabalais, counselor for boys; and Mrs. T. H. Bowen, dormitory hostess.

Additions to the faculty are Miss Glenda Rush, piano; Mrs. Robbie Dukes, home economics; Mrs. Lucile S. Keen, psychology and assistant dean of women; Miss Susan Brown, social science; Vic Traxler, barbering; Pat Smith, radio and television; and T. F. Rayburn, woodwork and mechanical drawing.

Mr. Rabalais of Pineville, La., received his B.S. degree from Southwestern and his M.A. degree from Mississippi Southern College. Miss Mayfield, who received her B.S. degree from Mississippi College for Women and has been employed in the public school system at Philadelphia.

Dormitory Hostess Named

Mrs. Bowen of Port Gibson will be a dormitory hostess in charge of Main Dormitory. A native of Kosciusko, Mrs. Keen received her B.S. degree from William Carey College and her M.A. degree from Mississippi Southern College.

Mrs. Brown received her B.S. from Millsaps College and has done graduate work at Peabody College. Miss Rush, who graduated from Hinds Junior College, received her B.S. and M.A. degrees at Louisiana State University.

Taught at Brandon

Mrs. Robbie Dukes has taught at Brandon High School for the past six years. She will be head of the home economics department.

Vocational coordinator Walter H. Gibbes reports that Vic Traxler of Pelahatchie will be in charge of the barbering, Pat Smith of Raymond, radio and television; and T. F. Rayburn of Columbia, woodwork and mechanical drawing.

NEW STAFF MEMBERS — New Hinds Junior College staff members are, front row, Miss Glenda Rush, piano; Mrs. Frances Lee, dean of women; Mrs. T. H. Bowen, dormitory hostess; and Miss Elaine Mayfield, assistant registrar; standing, Mr. Robert M. Mayo, assistant administrator; Mrs. Robbie Dukes, home economics; Mrs. Regina Goodwin, assistant librarian; Vic Traxler, barbering; Miss Susan Brown, social science; Mr. Mike Rabalais, counselor for boys; Mr. Pat Smith, radio and television; and Mr. T. F. Rayburn, woodwork and mechanical drawing.

Matrimony Knocks For 4 Professors During Warm Days

"Something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue," was the cry around the Hinds campus as four Eagle instructors met in holy matrimony this past summer.

United in christian marriage at the First Presbyterian Church in Vicksburg last July were Miss Marjorie McCord, piano instructor, and Mr. Thomas Stricklin, history professor. The Stricklins plan to teach on the Hinds campus this fall.

Miss Genevieve Williams, chemistry instructor, and Mr. John P. Adams, music teacher, were married in the Raymond Methodist Church, August 27.

College Promotes Assistant To Head Library Activities

Mrs. Marvin A. Riggs, who was assistant librarian at Hinds Junior College, has been promoted to head librarian, according to president George M. McLendon.

Mrs. Riggs succeeds Mrs. Gertrude Rowzee who recently retired. Mrs. Rowzee had been librarian at Hinds for the past four years.

A native of Tchula, Mrs. Riggs has been assistant librarian at Hinds for the past four years.

She received her B.A. degree from Millsaps College and earned her M.A. degree at the University of Denver.

Mrs. Riggs has had experience in the Hinds County School System as an English teacher, as librarian at Sunflower Junior College, and two years as assistant librarian at Central High school in Jackson.

Her academic memberships include the Mississippi Library Association, American Library Association, Delta Kappa Gamma, and Mississippi Education Association.

Mrs. Riggs is married to Mr. Marvin A. Riggs, social science instructor at Hinds.

Instructors Visit Foreign Countries On European Tour

Mrs. Katherine A. Denton and Miss Nell A. Pickett, Hinds' instructors, took an eight weeks' tour of several European countries this summer.

The countries visited were England, France, Italy, Germany, Holland, Spain, and Switzerland. Much of their time was spent in England in the Shakespeare and Lake sections. Their experiences there will be of particular value in teaching art and English literature.

Hinds Faculty Group To Stage Reception For New Members

The Faculty Club of Hinds Junior College will have a reception honoring the new faculty and staff members tomorrow night at 8:00 p.m. in the home of President and Mrs. G. M. McLendon.

The reception is being held to acquaint the faculty and staff members with each other, stated Mr. Wallace Wall, president of the Faculty Club and mechanical drawing instructor.

Ex-Central High Counselor Replaces Miss Gertrude Davis As New Dean

Mrs. Frances E. Lee, English teacher and guidance counselor at Central High School, has been named dean of women at Hinds Junior College.

Hinds president G. M. McLendon says that Mrs. Lee comes to the Hinds staff "highly recommended." She replaces Miss Gertrude Davis, who had been dean of women at Hinds since 1934.

Mrs. Lee is a native of Pittsboro in Calhoun County and a graduate of Calhoun County Agricultural High School. She received her B.A. degree from Mississippi State College for Women and her M.A. degree from Mississippi College.

The new dean taught high school English at public schools in Lowndes and Calhoun counties before teaching in the Jackson area. Her teaching experience in Hinds and Rankin counties includes five years at Pearl and seven at Forest Hill prior to joining the Central staff in 1953.

Mrs. Lee was in the English Department at Central for two years, and for the past five years, she has been guidance counselor.

Renfroe's Gridders Invade Decatur To Battle With Strong East Central Warriors For Win

SPORTS PREVIEW

Sports Editor Maps New Plans

By TOMMY NANCE

Pecking out the sporting news again this year, we will try to give you the best news and feature coverage possible. After having had the pleasure of writing up-to-date sports activities last year, we will again attempt to provide you with the best possible news available on the Hinds Junior College sports front, plus other athletic information from the state and the South.

New Loop Formed

A new athletic conference has been organized in Mississippi and Alabama by the name of the Southern Independent Junior College Association. Charter members of the newly former loop are Wood Junior College at Mathiston, Clarke Memorial Junior College at Laurel and Marion Junior College at Marion, Ala.

TOMMY

Acting as the first president is Prep Beatty, head coach and athletic director of Clarke Memorial. Don Wildman has been elected to the vice-president's job, with Billy Hollingsworth as secretary. Wildman is athletic director at Wood College, and Hollingsworth is a coach at South-East Baptist in Laurel.

There are a number of other independent junior colleges, mostly privately owned, in the two states that are expected to join the new conference in the future. The schools already named to the conference will release their '61 basketball schedule in the next few weeks.

Another state college, Delta State of Cleveland, has a chance to enter a loop, which is still in the talking stage. Along with the Statesmen will be Austin Peay and Martin Branch from Tennessee as well as Florence State and Jacksonville State from Alabama.

Membership would aid the Statesmen, for playing for a championship always provides more incentive than working merely for a respectable won-lost record, which is the normal lot of an independent. Best of luck to the Delta State Statesmen in the coming season and we hope the new league becomes a success.

Arbruzzese Shines at Bama

A name well remembered here on the Hinds Junior College campus is Raymond Abruzzese, a native of Philadelphia, Pa. While on the Raymond campus, he collected all-state junior college honors, was the second leading scorer in Mississippi Junior College Conference his freshman year, and had an individual average of 22.8 on kickoff returns.

Now playing with the University of Alabama, he will give the Tide the breakaway speed that they missed so much last year. At 185 pounds he can get the short yardage, too. We extend our best of luck to Raymond as he starts a new year and season with the Tuscaloosa eleven.

Predictions Start Next Week

With most of the senior colleges opening their grid season next week, we will try our luck at the prediction chart then. We predict the high-flying Eagles will land in Decatur and claw out the Warriors' eyes. Our magical scoreboard shows Hinds 20, East Central 13.

Eagle Troop Looks For First Win; New Personnel To Direct Team In Duels

Hinds' new "Book of Sports" is made up of only white sheets but come Saturday night, the pen will begin to fill in the pages.

The Hinds Junior College eleven travels to Decatur Saturday night for an 8 p. m. tussle with the East Central Warriors.

"The spirit is high and the boys show signs of potentiality," states coach Joe Renfroe, "but there will be no standouts, with all team effort." Coach Renfroe, with the aid of Ivan Rosamond, will be seeking the first win for Hinds in 15 games, as the Eagles went winless last season.

Depend On Returnees

Practicing for about a week and a half, the Eagles will be depending on the experience of eight boys who will be making the scene again on the Hinds gridiron. Returning are guard Tommy Hudson of Pensacola, Fla. and Howard Freeman of Jackson; tackles Donald Gleason of Houma, La., and Wayne Sullivan of Canton; ends Mike Vinson of Puckett, Donny Ross of Augusta, Ga., and Charles Simmons of Forest Hill; halfback Byrle Kynerd of Raymond and Wilburn Williamson of Atlanta, Ga.; and fullback Johnny Daher of Atlanta, Ga.

Hinds starters from the 1959 squad that will be missing are Jerry Kendrick, guard; tackle Charles Stevens, end Davis Llenos and halfback Charles Halbert.

Seek Third Win

Head coach Bobby Oswalt and assistant Tom Chaney have been running their East Central boys through rough twice-a-day drills in preparation for the Hinds opener. Hoping to cop their third straight win from the Eagles, the Warriors have eight returning lettermen to add experience to the '60 squad. The remainder of the team will be made up of freshmen and returning squad members.

In past games, the Raymond troop has copped 14 wins against 11 losses and two ties against Decatur. Seven games have fallen Hinds' way in the past 10 years against only three defeats.

At Mikeside

Jackson radio station W.J.Q.S., 1400, will broadcast all of the Hinds Eagles football games this season. Percy Powers will be mike-side at 7:45 p.m. Saturday night with the East Central tussle

Hinds Eagles Looking For Good Year

Looking for a prosperous year of sports, the Hinds Eagles kick off another season with a completely revised 10-game schedule for the 1960 year.

Dropping two games and adding three new ones from the '59 chart, the once perennially-strong Hinds eleven faces all Mississippi junior colleges in the southern division.

A new rule in the junior college book states that each football team is required to play every college in its division and that is the primary cause of the major changes.

Drops Ranger Teams

Releasing the Northwest Rangers and the Kilgore Rangers, the Eagles face Itawamba's Indians, East Mississippi, and the Bears of Southwest for the first time in several years.

Opening a schedule which puts the Raymond boys on the road five games and at home five times, the Eagles journey to Decatur for their first encounter Sept. 10.

Greets New Players

Coach Joe Renfroe will greet an array of new players and a new assistant coach this fall. Ivan Rosamond replaces Frank Young, new head line coach at Louisiana College.

The Eagle home games include Southwest Sept. 17, Itawamba Sept. 24, East Mississippi Oct. 22, Copiah-Lincoln Nov. 12, and Pearl River Nov. 19.

The five road matches include East Central at Decatur Sept. 10, Jones at Ellisville Oct. 1, Mississippi Delta Junior College (Sunflower) at Moorhead Oct. 8, Perkinston Oct. 29, and Holmes at Goodman on Nov. 5.

The complete 1960 schedule:

Sept. 10—East Central at Decatur
Sept. 17—Southwest at Raymond
Sept. 24—Itawamba at Raymond
Oct. 1—Jones at Ellisville
Oct. 8—Miss. Delta JC at Moorhead
Nov. 5—Holmes at Goodman
Oct. 22—East Miss. at Raymond
Oct. 15—Open
Oct. 29—Perkinston at Perkinston
Nov. 5—Holmes at Goodman
Nov. 12—Copiah-Lincoln at Raymond
Nov. 19—Pearl River at Raymond

Coaches Pick Hinds Eagles No. 3 In Junior College Football League

After two ill-fated years of football at Hinds ,the Eagles have been picked by Mississippi Junior College coaches to finish a high third in the JC football loop by the Jackson State Times.

Gaining first and second place honors respectively are Pearl River and Copiah-Lincoln.

Hinds Junior College, which finished dead last in the conference last season with a 0-9 record, tallied 71 points, only three points behind second-place Co-Lin and 19 behind Pearl River.

Ride In 4th Beat

Horace William's Southwest Bears set themselves in fourth place with 64 points and one first place vote. Fifth place saw a three-way tie among Jones, Perkinston, and Northwest. Northwest picked up one first place vote while the Bulldogs and Bobcats gained support for third and fourth place.

East Mississippi of Scooba, coached by Bob Sullivan, tallied 35 points for eighth place, while the next four places were filled by Sunflower, Holmes, East Central, and Itawamba respectively.

Kickoff Next Week

Most of the colleges kick off the season on Sept. 10 and wrap it up on Nov. 19. Holmes and Co-Lin get an early start on other squads by clashing on Sept. 8.

Results of the poll with points in parentheses are listed below:

1. Pearl River (90)
2. Copiah-Lincoln (74)
3. Hinds (71)
4. Southwest (64)
5. Northwest, Jones, and Perkinston (57)
8. East Mississippi (35)
9. Sunflower (34)
10. Holmes (27)
11. East Central (20)
12. Itawamba (11)

President McLendon Guides College Through Great Era

By JEAN RODGERS

President G. M. McLendon is beginning his twenty-third academic year as president of Hinds Junior College. President McLendon's administration has been marked by progress, success, and expansion.

His twenty-third year marks the beginning of an overall plan for the future development of Hinds. The plan will likely include expanding the physical layout of the college, broadening academic courses, increasing the curriculum, accelerating the vocational-technical program, and initiating an adult education program. The projected enrollment is 2000 students.

Mr. McLendon was named president of Hinds in 1938 when the school enrollment was only 315. Last year's enrollment was 1271 for the regular session and 435 for the summer session for a total of 1706 students.

President McLendon, who is a native of Jones County, received his B. S. and M. A. degrees from Peabody College in Nashville, Tenn. While at Peabody he prepared for work in agriculture administration, and he has done advanced study at the University of Chicago.

Beginning his working career at Phoenix Consolidated School in Yazoo County, Mr. McLendon met charming Louise Boyd of Montgomery County who later became his wife.

The McLendons have two daughters — Mrs. Betty Bowen of Natchez, Miss., and Mrs. Jessie Claire Trash of Baton Rouge, La. — and three granddaughters.

President McLendon served as superintendent of schools at Utica, Hattiesburg and Newton before he became the chief executive of Hinds Junior College.

He has generously used his abilities in leadership for the improvement of Hinds and the state junior college system. With four new buildings completed within the past two and one half years, Hinds' assessed evaluation has jumped to over two and one half million dollars.

The basis for the future greatness of this nationally recognized co-educational institution has been laid by our president's unusual ability and steady application for expansion.

Mr. McLendon has met with tremendous success at getting financial support for Hinds. His steady application has brought effective action.

Hinds Junior College faces the next decade with unlimited potential.

New Council Starts Year With Confab

The President's Council, initiated by President G. M. McLendon, at the beginning of the 1959-60 school session, is beginning its second year of planning school activities and discussing student problems.

The presidents of all campus organizations meet with President McLendon twice a month to discuss possible ways for improving Hinds Junior College. This includes student-teacher relationships, campus parking, school spirit, and other student problems.

Plans are underway to establish a constitution and by-laws for the council.

According to President McLendon, the council is a way to bring the students closer to the administration and to improve conditions on the campus. It provides a voice for students to the administration.

The president of the following organizations are members of the council: Phi Theta Kappa, Circle "K" Club, Wesley Foundation, Baptist Student Union, Westminster Fellowship, Newman Club, International Relations Club, Modern Language Club, Lendon Players, Women's Athletic Association, Men's Recreational Association, Lamplighters Club, Engineering Club, Future Business Leaders, sophomore class, freshman class, Eagle editor, Hindsonian editor, and choir.

Reading Directors Elect Hinds Prof Magnolia Official

Miss Sarah Nell Taylor, Hinds reading instructor, has been elected secretary-treasurer of the Magnolia Reading Association. The MRA, which held its conference on the Mississippi Southern College campus, consists of reading teachers from Louisiana, Mississippi, and Alabama.

Group To Determine Future Plans

PLAN NEW LIBRARY — Hinds Junior College's Board of Trustees map plans to complete the second phase of a two-stage building program. Studying the blueprints of the proposed library building are seated, George Morgan, Terry; F. M. Greaves, Bolton, chairman; Joe E. Aldridge, Terry, secretary; W. D. Lowe, Jackson; standing, L. L. "Red" Audry, Pearl; J. Noel Nutt, Vicksburg; J. W. McKewen, Jackson; H. H. "Shine" Davis, Utica; L. W. Bright, Pearl; and President G. M. McLendon.

Trustees Review Plans On Modern Library Building

Plans for the completion of major building program at a major building program at Hinds Junior College are now on the drawing table, according to President G. M. McLendon.

The final structure of the building program will be a two-story library building. The library building contract will be let sometime in November or December. Actual construction is slated to begin before Christmas.

The completion of the building will give Hinds five new major buildings in the last three years.

The initial part of the major building program included the construction of a science building, a girls' physical education building, a women's dormitory and a men's dormitory.

A study committee to determine the overall plan for the future development of Hinds Junior College will reveal its "package plan" at a college-sponsored banquet in November.

The committee is composed of Dr. Thomas B. Merson, assistant director of the American Association of Junior Colleges from Washington, D. C.; Dr. C. C. Colvert, professor and counselor in junior colleges from the University of Texas; and Mr. T. H. Naylor, State Department of Education. They are assisted by Mr. B. L. Hill, State Junior College Supervisor.

The survey team will base its recommendations on location of present buildings, enrollment trends, and future possibilities of the college.

MIDDLETON RETURNS

Hinds Students Select 4 Cheerleaders

Hinds Junior College students elected four cheerleaders — two freshmen and two sophomores—today in assembly for the 1960-61 school session.

Freshmen cheerleaders elected were Ann Hardin of Vicksburg and Gwen Canoy of Magee. Pat Murphy of Vicksburg and Marsha Sissons of Pine Bluff, Ark., were runner-ups in the freshman class.

Peggy Massey of Hattiesburg, and Rebecca Legg of Jackson, led a field of six candidates trying out for sophomore cheerleader. Eliminated in the sophomore race were Ann St. Clair of Jackson, Pat Myers of Jackson, Kay Kimball of Vicksburg, and Betty Williams of Jackson.

Carolyn Returns

Returning as head cheerleader is Carolyn Middleton of Memphis, Tenn., Carolyn is the only remaining sophomore cheerleader chosen at the termination of the last school year.

Myrtle Loviza and Jackie Melsheimer were chosen by the student body, but both are not attending Hinds this fall. Myrtle is working in Vicksburg and Jackie is unable to attend.

The cheerleader quintet will perform for the first time this season Saturday night when the Eagles open their home slate against the Southwest Bears of Summit. They will lead the Hinds cheering section at the remaining nine football games and pep rallies.

The five home games are Southwest on Sept. 17, Itawamba on Sept. 24, East Mississippi on Oct. 22, Copiah-Lincoln on Nov. 12, and Pearl River on Sept. 19.

Road games include Jones on Oct. 1, Delta on Oct. 8, Perkinston Oct. 29, and Holmes on Nov. 5.

The cheerleaders will lead yells at some of the basketball games.

Activities Fill Spare Time

The cry, 'there's nothing to do', shouldn't be heard on the Hinds campus, for there is plenty to do. In addition to classes and homework, there are, believe it or not, more than 26 activities that a student can join.

Yes, Hinds Junior College offers an outstanding extra-curricular activity program. These activities can be found listed in your annuals and catalogues.

If you are a business major, there is the Future Business Leaders of America. For girls interested in sports, Hinds has an outstanding Women's Athletic Association. The Lendon Players, a dramatic group, offers an opportunity for those who are interested in acting. There is also the Eagle Band, Hi-Steppers, religious organizations, publications, and many, many other activities.

Investigate the possibility of joining some worthwhile organization, and put your spare time into doing some good for Hinds Junior College.

You won't regret it.

Predict Successful Eagle

The Eagle, Hinds Junior College annual, is under new supervision this year. The Public Relations Department is in charge of the '61 annual.

The change has been made in order to put all publications in the same office. The Hindsonian, football programs, football and basketball brochures, catalogues, and college pamphlets are designed and published by the Public Relations Department.

Previously The Eagle was sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Beemon, who did an excellent job. The Beemons are to be admired and thanked for their devotion and hard work shown in The Eagle.

This year's annual editor is Jewel McNair, from Raymond and Clinton. With the hard work and interest Jewel and her staff have already shown on the annual this year, Hinds should have one of the best editions of The Eagle that has ever been published.

Rain, Rain, Please Go 'Way

The course of history has proved conclusively that the relatively simple element of water is more destructive than the atom bomb.

Its victim for the past few weeks has been Mississippi in general, and the Hinds campus and Eagle practice field in particular.

This unfortunate circumstance brings one, heretofore unrecognized point brazenly to the fore. Man stands helpless before the driving force of nature in general — rain in particular.

Scientists must place the development of atomic windshield wipers ahead of atomic bombs. The impertinence of nature must no longer be allowed to defy the omnipotence of modern science.

In other words: Rain, rain, go away.

Religion To Play Important Part In South's Vote

By JEAN RODGERS

How will Mississippi vote in the current presidential election? Are the Republicans gaining strength in the state? Will Kennedy's religion hurt him in the South and in Mississippi?

JEAN

These and many other questions have been tossed around in minds of Mississippians.

The South is an important section of the country for both political parties. In the conservative South, the issue is two—fold: The extreme liberalism of Kennedy's proposals for increased government spending and for expansion of federal welfare programs; and the strong civil rights plank in the Democratic platform.

RELIGION is becoming more and more of an issue in the race. This is true with Mississippi Baptists.

There are others who feel that since the United States stands for freedom of religion, the fact that Kennedy is a catholic should not keep him out of office.

SENATOR Lyndon B. Johnson will spearhead the drive to calm Southern misgivings and hold the South in line for the Democrats. However, Johnson's influence is not as powerful in the South as party bigwigs might think.

Most of the votes cast in the South will be apathetic votes. This is because Southerners are disgusted with the choice of candidates and party platforms.

CHIEF REASONS for the South to remain on the donkey side of the fence is southern political leaders know defection is dangerous for them personally, because they were elected on a Democratic ticket, and the average resident of the South still can't bring himself to break tradition and vote Republican.

Our guess is that the Republicans Party will likely get more votes in the state than any time in modern history and the Unpledged electors—that is the $64 question.

Our final guess is that the Democratic Party will carry Mississippi.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Jackson City-Wide Tennis Champion, Future Architect Praises Hinds' Instructors, Friendly College Campus

By GWEN CANOY

Friendly, intelligent, and handsome are only a few of the adjectives describing Rex Carson, Jackson, chosen as the Hindsonian's sophomore of the week.

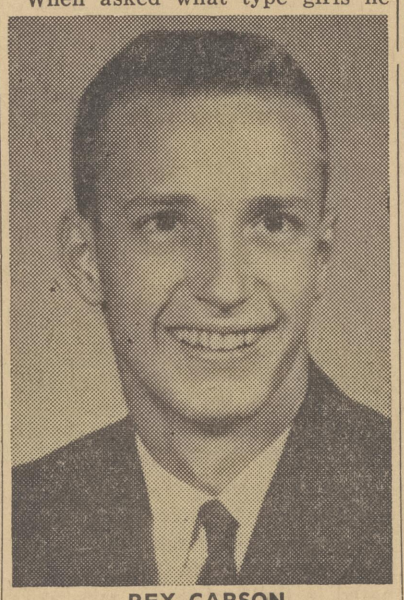
Rex, winner of the Jackson city-wide tennis trophy in '59, held the positions of 1st sergeant of Provine Band and recreational leader of his church last year.

ADDS HONORS

Since this likable sophomore has attended Hinds, he has added other honors to his list of previous achievements by serving as second vice president of Circle K and Methodist student representative. He is president-elect of Phi Theta Kappa, honorary scholastic organization.

Rex, standing 5—10 and weighing 142 pounds, has as his hobbies tennis, dancing, and playing the piano and saxophone.

When asked what type girls he preferred, Rex stated that he likes girls with a warm personality and who are fairly popular. "No need to say 'and fairly popular' because a warm, outgoing personality always draws hosts of admirers," he further explained.



REX CARSON
PTK Head

LIKES HINDS

Planning to continue his major in architectural engineering at Tulane University in New Orleans after graduation from Hinds, Rex considers Hinds one of the friendliest colleges anywhere. "Instructors at Hinds are very helpful and seem closer to the students than the teachers at senior colleges," he further stated.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Carson can be proud of their son, Rex. The Hindsonian staff salutes Rex, sophomore of the week, and wishes this brilliant student continued success and happiness.

STUDENT IMPRESSIONS

Hinds Freshmen Express Opinions

By BETSY HAYNES

When you graduated from high school were you a little leery of entering a college where you know no one? Were you afraid the students would all be so wrapped up in themselves that you would be left out in the cold?

These things are not to be a cause for worry at Hinds because the popular opinion of freshmen students who were asked the question "What was your first impression of Hinds?" said that the student body was very friendly.

Second in rank was the fact that there were so many people all trying to go in the same direction at the same time which can only result in one thing — —MASS CONFUSION.

Answers Vary

Listed below are a few of the answers received when students were asked their opinion of Hinds:

Pat Murphy from Vicksburg: "I think Hinds is the friendliest campus I have ever been on."

Billy Lee Alexander, Clinton: "My first impression of Hinds was the friendly girls and the cute boys who went out of their way to make a stranger feel at home."

Beth Hull, Jackson: "I love it."

Martha Logan, Edwards: "There are a lot of people I don't know."

Don Allen, Raymond: "It has a lot of people and it scares me."

Hard Things To Do

"I'm lost" are two familar words that rang out in the corridors of each and every building last Thursday. Twenty per cent of the students agreed that finding the right building, locating the correct room, and then making sure you have the right teacher are three of the hardest things to do on the first day of college.

The helpful guides stationed around the various buildings at convenient locations remedied this situation effectively.

After a weary day of wholesale confusion, new students returned to the dorms with an inner satisfaction that Hinds was not so terrifying after all, in fact it was quite pleasant.

Vocational-Technical Opportunities Reach All-Time High In Mississippi

"A sharp increase in the demand for technically trained personnel in the Jackson area has been shown in recent weeks," reports Walter H. Gibbes, vocational-coordinator at Hinds Junior College.

Although the nation has suffered an overall unemployment slump during the month of August, Gibbes says that the technically trained labor supply in the Jackson area is exhausted. He stated, "We have had more calls in the last month for technically trained men than we have ever had."

Placed 162 Men

Hinds' vocational - technical department placed 162 technically trained men last year. Eighty-five per cent of the technicians were placed in the Jackson area.

The starting salaries for most of the technically trained students range from $70 to $110 per week.

The two types of training offered are vocational and technical. Students interested in vocational work may enroll at any time and technical students may enroll at the beginning of school.

High school diplomas are not required for vocational work and all students who receive vocational certificate can be assured placement by Hinds Junior College.

Take Specialized Courses

Technical students who take specialized and academic work are required to have a high school diploma. When the technical course is completed, the student receives a junior college diploma.

Technical students receive training that places them in a position of management, supervising, purchasing and sales.

The eleven fields of specialized training at Hinds are auto body and fender repair, auto mechanics, airplane and engine mechanics, woodwork and cabinet instruction, machine shop, radio and television, general electricity and wiring, refrigeration and air conditioning, electric motor repair, office machine repair, and barbering.

College Hi-Steppers' Director Chaperones Miss Pat McRaney

Mrs. Alon Bee, choreographer for the Hinds Junior College Hi-Steppers, flew to New York and Atlantic City with Pat McRaney, reigning Miss Mississippi, for the Miss America contest.

Mrs. Bee, who was Miss McRaney's official chaperone for the contest, is a member of the Dance Educators of America. This summer she served on the faculty for the 28th anniversary convention of Dance Educators of America, which was held in New York.

Wesley Foundation President Releases Program For 1960-61 School Session

The Wesley Foundation at Hinds Junior College held its first council meeting Monday, Sept. 5, and planned activities for the year.

Wesley president I. M. Beasley and Rita Anderson, committee chairman, told of their recent trip to Lake Junaluska and gave some new ideas to the group. First on the agenda for the Methodist was a short get-together after the campus-wide party Thursday night, Monday, the group held an orientation period for the new members.

On September 26, a pledge service will be held. Tommy O'Neil, Millsaps student from Meridian, will be guest at the Oct. 3 meeting, while Oct. 10 will be left open for Religious Emphasis Week.

A talk-back film is planned for Oct. 17 and Clifton Ware will lead the group singing for the Oct. 24 meeting. The spooks and goblins will come out on Oct. 31. The Wesley Foundation has planned a party for the event.

On Nov. 7 and 14 an unannounced series will be given. The Nov. 21 meeting will be given with Thanksgiving as the main theme.

Rev. Clay Lee, director of Wesley Foundation and pastor of Raymond Methodist Church, invites all campus students to come and enjoy the regular services of the Wesley Foundation each Monday night.

Campus Clubs Name Brass In 6 College Organizations

New officers for six organizations on the campus were elected last spring. These clubs are the Baptist Student Union, Canterbury Club, Modern Language Club, Phi Theta Kappa, Circle K, and Women's Athletic Association.

The Baptist Student Union, known as the BSU, installed the following officers: Rose Earnest, Slate Springs, president; Jimmy Davis, Canton, vice president; Percy Payne, Tylertown, enlistment chairman; Shirley Hebron, Jackson, secretary.

Rebecca Legg, Jackson, Christian citizenship chairman; Jerl Watkins, Jackson, publicity chairman; Janice Gibson, Utica, stewardship chairman; Carolyn Middleton, Memphis, Tenn., missions chairman; Linda Bratton, Bruce, music chairman; Ann Burnham, Brandon, YWA president.

Bruce Creel, Honea Path, S. C., Sunday School representative; Tommy Davis, Honea Path, S. C., training union; Larry Kennedy, Mendenhall, social chairman; Belinda Hill, Brandon, editor; and Miss Sarah Taylor, Laurel, faculty advisor.

Episcopal Officers Named

Officers for the Canterbury Club, which is an Episcopal group, are Corkie Lyle, Belzoni, president, and Sue Stevens, Port Gibson, secretary treasurer; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Oakes are sponsors of the group.

Rose Earnest is president of the Modern Language Club. Other club officers are Tommy Nance, Jackson, vice president; Anne Spencer, Bruce, secretary; Corkie Lyle, Belzoni, treasurer; and Phillip Dorion, Vicksburg, reporter.

Heading the Phi Theta Kappa this year is Rex Carson, Jackson, president; Belinda Hill, Brandon, vice president; Rose Earnest, Calhoun City, secretary; Gail Rushing, Jackson, treasurer; and Frances Nelson, Vicksburg, reporter.

Circle K Heads Named

The officers of the Circle K Club are John Wilda, Milwaukee, Wis., president; Barry Marrioneaux, Plaquemine, La., first vice-president; Rex Carson, Jackson, second vice-president; Jimmy Davis, Canton, secretary; Charles Bobo, Natchez, treasurer; and Billy Rhodes, Pelahatchie, reporter.

Elected officers of the Women's Athletic Association are Joanie Phillips, Pearl, president; "Red" Shivers, Pearl, vice - president; "Bert" Wynn, Pearl, secretary; Gail Rushing, Forest Hill, treasurer; and Dorothy Gatlin, Madison, historian. Elected as sophomore representatives for this year are Maxine Womack, Jackson, and Bobby Jean Hester, Vicksburg.

Players Nominate Student Officers To Highlight Meet

Nominations from the floor for officers of this school year were the highlight of the first business meeting of the Lendon Players friday.

Nominees for president, which according to the constitution must be a sophomore, were Ronnie Roberts of Hattiesburg, Maxine Womack of Jackson, and Frances Nelson of Vicksburg.

Other students nominated for officers were vice president— — Jack Roberts, Ronnie Roberts, Carolyn Gill, Una Jo Shaeffer, Norma Ann Dunnan; secretary-Treasurer—— Maxine Womack, Earnestine Hall, Gwen Canoy, Suzanne Bright, and Frances Nelson; and Publicity Director—Eloise Wilks, Jim Moore, and Ellen Butler.

SPORTS PREVIEW

Kynerd, Fugate Star In Opener

By TOMMY NANCE

Not since the Junior Rose Bowl champions of 1954 has a Hinds Junior College football team won such a decisive opening victory as was the Eagle-Warrior game last Saturday night up in Decatur.

From the opening whistle, the Hinds eleven, coached by Joe Renfroe and Ivan Rosamond, worked like a professional group and played superbly to setback the East Central Warriors to the tune of 14-0.

TOMMY

The brutal ground attack was spearheaded by halfback Byrle Kyuerd, Raymond sophomore,, and Johnny Daher, Atlanta, Ga. Passing for the high-flying Hinds club was quarterback Don Fugate, 175-pounder from Williston, Fla.

Other outstanding players in the game were Mike Vinson, Puckett; Donny Ross, Augusta, Ga.; Donald Swafford, 160-pound halfback from Hobbs, N. M.; and Earl Hicks, center from Houma, La., and guards Charles Simmons, Howard Freeman, and Tommy Hudson.

Tackles Don Gleason and Wayne Sullivan stopped several Warrior threats to add to the Eagle defensive wall.

The entire Hinds squad is to be congratulated upon the victory.

AP Picks Syracuse

The votes are in and a pre-season favorite has been announced by the Associated Press. Syracuse, current holder of the No.1 position among major college football teams, has been picked to repeat as the national collegiate gridiron champion. The 48-man panel of experts, voting 10 points for first, nine for a second place vote, etc., gave Syracuse 446 points, against Mississippi's 426.

Twenty-six of them rated Syracuse the best in the country, while 21 named Ole Miss to the number one spot. Washington, the only other team to receive a first place vote, collected one.

Other teams in the elite top ten are Texas, Illinois, Southern California, Pittsburg, Michigan State, Clemson, and Oklahoma in that order. Rounding out the second ten are TCU, Auburn, Georgia, Northwestern, Iowa, Ohio State, Notre Dame, Tennessee, Penn State, and Arkansas.

Hinds Over Southwest

The Eagles go after their second season win when Southwest invades Raymond Saturday night. Riding on what Southwest has shown so far, we predict Hinds over the Bears by at least two touchdowns. Perkinston travels to Wesson to meet Copiah-Lincoln in another junior college battle this week and should come out the winner. Although this game could very easily go either way, we stick with the Bulldogs.

East Mississippi will take its second win of the season when it vies with the strong Northwest club at Senatobia. Revenging its loss to Hinds last week, the Warriors of Decatur should take Itawamba by one or two TD's up at Fulton. We are sticking our neck out on another limb as we predict Holmes over Mississippi Delta in a rough battle at Moorhead.

Pearl River should break into the win column this week with a win over the Jones Bobcats. The 'Cats lost by only five points last week, but should falter by more in Poplarville. Well that's all for this week, but there will be plenty more in weeks to come.

Growling Bears Invade Saturday Seeking Initial Win Over Hinds

Hey Warrior, Move Over!

TOUCHDOWN PASS — Donnie Ross, 83, Eagle end from Augusta, Ga., looks up and snags a touchdown pass in the third period of Saturday night's encounter with the Warriors of East Central. Hinds defeated the Decatur eleven, 14-0.

Eagles Seek 2nd Win Of Season In Vie With Summit

By TOMMY NANCE

The Hinds Junior College Eagles, fresh from a victory over the East Central eleven, take on the Southwest Bears of Summit Saturday night for the curtain raiser in Eagle Stadium.

Both the Eagles and Bears may be "surprise packages" in the conference this fall and this week's game is important to both teams.

After a five year lapse, the Hinds clan has rescheduled the Bears on their chart. The primary reason for the new look at Horace Williams' camp is 10 returning lettermen. Southwest will be bidding to improve its 2—6—1 mark from last season, while Hinds seeks to complete a winning season.

At Hinds' last meeting with the Bears, the Eagles racked up a 40—6 victory in a 1954 homecoming show. The last Bear win came in 1938 when Southwest won a 7—0 deficit. Since then, the Eagles have won 11 duels in as many years.

Still undecided on any permanent starters, Coach Joe Renfroe will be depending on his returnees for the second conference game. Several freshmen showed outstanding abilities in the East Central tussle and will probably see some action this weekend.

Five starters from last year's squad will aid the Bears in this week's battle. End Doug Norton, guard Miller Reid, Center Gerald Stevens, halfback Scott Smylie, and fullback T. F. Randall, will form the nucleus of Coach Williams' team.

The results of previous games is as follows: 1930—Hinds 7, Southwest 7; 1931—Hinds 39, Southwest 0; 1932—Hinds 0, Southwest 26; 1933—Hinds 6, Southwest 33; 1934-Hinds 13, Southwest 7; 1935—Hinds 6, Southwest 12; 1936—Hinds 6, Southwest 6;

1937—Hinds 7, Southwest 20; 1938—Hinds 0, Southwest7; 1939-Hinds 27, Southwest 0; 1945—Hinds 12, Southwest 0; 1946—Hinds 41, Southwest 7; 1947—Hinds 28, Southwest 14; 1948—Hinds 26, Southwest 13; 1949—Hinds 40, Southwest 13; 1952—Hinds 28, Southwest 20; 1953Hinds 33, Southwest 7; and 1954—Hinds 40, Southwest 6.

Hinds Eagles Romp East Central Warriors 14-0 In Season Opener

A signal—calling ball hawk and a pair of hard charging ground gainers sparked the Hinds Junior College to a 14-0 victory Saturday night for their first win in almost two years.

Quarterback Don Fugate, halfback Byrle Kynerd, and fullback Johnny Daher led the Eagle offensive attack.

The last Hinds win came in September, 1958, when the Eagles edged out the Northwest eleven 23—20. Since then, the Renfroe clan has been unable to collect a single triumph, but the cards have been reshuffled for the new season and it looks as if Hinds has gotten a better hand in the current deal.

The first Eagle tally came with 5:20 left in the first half. After a drive of 72 yards, Don Fugate connected with a pass to Byrle Kynerd to make the score 6—0. The extra point failed.

The second Hinds touchdown came late in the third period on a pass from Fugate to Donny Ross covering four yards. Donnie Swafford ran the two pointer to make it 14—0. The final TD was set up on a 27—yard pass interference penalty against the Warriors. It took three plays before the Eagles could cross the pay—line.

Eagles Kill Clock

The Decatur club kept the pressure on Hinds but never penetrated below the 10 yard line. After Hinds scored the second time, the Eagles played a waiting game, killing the clock.

With neither team threatening in the first quarter, the Raymond club took to the air and began to gain yardage early in the second period. East Central's deepest threat was at the Hinds 31 but then a Eagle stone wall developed and no Warrior could climb it.

Both teams took to the air in the third quarter with a batch of passes, but Kynerd and fullback Johnny Daher gained the spotlight with their running technique. The top ground gainer was Kynerd who carried the ball 14 times for 93 yards. Daher picked up 70 yards on 18 carries. Two East Central players, Jerry Harbour and Billy Wayne Baucum, tallied 43 yards apiece.

WAA, MRA

Athletic Groups On Campus Open To Students Interested In Sports

Adding to the students extra-curricular activities on the campus, Hinds offers two athletic clubs for those who are interested in intra-campus sports.

The Women's Athletic Association is open to any college girl, passing her academic subjects. Each member pays annual dues of $1 with regular weekly meetings for officers and monthly meetings for all members.

The objective of the WAA is to organize and stimulate a wholesome program of athletic activities for the girls. Competition, along with the enjoyment and development of sportsmanship and character, is stressed in the various activities.

Mrs. Peggy Swett, girls' physical education instructor, is the sponsor, with Joannie Phillips, president.

MRA Open to Boys

The Men's Recreational Association will be starting its second year on the campus. Under the leadership of coach Eddie Rodgers, physical education instructor, and Mr. R. C. Benton, dean of men, the club will open up its doors to new members soon.

The MRA sponsors tournaments in basketball, softball, ping-pong, and tennis throughout the year. One of the major projects that the members completed last year was renovating of a club room in the old high school dressing room.

Swett Announces Increase In Class Enrollment For '60-61 Gym Session

Physical education classes boast an increased enrollment for the 1960—61 school session.

Women's physical education instructor, Mrs. Peggy Swett, states that this year's enrollment exceeds the 1959—60 session by a margin of at least 30 young women.

The two leading sports in this year's curriculum will be soccer and golf. Also included in the program are volleyball, basketball, badminton, softball, and many other sports. Mrs. Swett encourages all girls to use the women's gymnasium at anytime during the day.

Join the WAA

The Women's Athletic Association extends a cordial invitation to all freshmen and sophomores to join in this year's round of "fun in sports".

Officers for the year are as follows; Joan Phillips, Pearl, president; Alice "Red" Shivers, Pearl, vice—president; Bert Wynn, Pearl, secretary; and Gail Rushing, Forest Hill, treasurer-reporter. The officers will be glad to assist you with your entrance fee and give you any desired information concerning the organization.

Two main activities of the WAA are sponsoring a girls' basketball team for competition in the city league in Jackson and sponsoring an intramural program.

Volume 27—Number 3 HINDS JUNIOR COLLEGE, RAYMOND, MISSISSIPPI Wednesday, September 21, 1960

College Head Requests All At Meetings

President G. M. McLendon has requested that all members of the Hinds Junior College faculty and staff observe closely the faculty meeting schedule.

"We expect each staff member to attend the faculty meetings," the Hinds president said this week.

The general faculty meetings, directed by President McLendon, are held on the first and third Wednesday of each month at 7:45 a.m. in the conference room of the Administration Building.

The Faculty Club meets on the second Wednesday of each month at 7:45 a.m. in the room of the Administration Building.

Departmental meetings are held the fourth Wednesday at the same hour. No meetings are held on the fifth Wednesday.

Faculty Club officers for the 1960-61 school year are Mr. Wallace M. Wall, mechanical drawing instructor, president; Mrs. Nell Pickett, English instructor, secretary-treasurer.

INITIAL HONEY — Miss Martha Faye Arrington, a honey blond from Bruce, is the initial Hinds Honey. Martha is a sophomore majoring in elementary education. She stands 5' 5" and pops the tape measure at 35-24-36.

Frosh Class Reaches Record High

A record freshman class of 551 has pushed incomplete enrollment figures for Hinds Junior College upward to a high of 1059.

With the fall registration almost complete, the freshman class shows a six per cent increase over last year's record enrollment mark of 503, reports Miss Mildred Herrin, registrar.

Hinds' total enrollment for the fall session, including academic, vocational, and special students, reaches the mark of 1064. The number by divisions are 319 sophomores, 551 freshmen, 10 special academic students, 135 vocational enrollees, 83 technical students, and 49 special high school vocational students.

Six hundred and twenty-six students are housed in college dormitories. That leaves 433 day student commuters. Three hundred and seventy-five are male students and 251 are girls.

Reports Figures

Mrs. Frances Lee, dean of women, reports that the girls, according to dormitories, are 111 in Westside, 90 in Main, and 50 in Northside.

Boys are housed in five different dormitories on the campus — Eastside, Central, Southside, Shangri-La, and Old Science Building. According to Mr. R. C. Benton, dean of men, 133 are in Eastside, 81 in Central, 86 in Shangri-La, 59 in Southside, and 16 in the Old Science Building.

A breakdown of the enrollment by counties, states, and countries will not be available until later this month.

The record number in the freshman class is the largest frosh group in the history of the college by 29 members. In 1956 the total number of students registered for the freshman class was 329, in 1957 there were 395 and in 1958 there was a jump to 522, the second largest group.

On Upward Trend

The sophomore class has been on an upward trend for the past five year. In 1956 the sophomores totaled 193 students and 212 registered in the fall of 1957. This year's number of 319 is a jump of 107 students in three years.

Sophomores To Nominate Officers Monday Mornimg

Sophomores will nominate officers Monday at the 2-A period in the auditorium, according to newly appointed class sponsor Mr. R. C. Benton.

Mr. Benton, dean of men, was appointed by the administration this week as one of the sophomore class sponsors. Each year members of the class elect one sponsor and one is appointed by the administration.

Sophomores will nominate candidates for five positions—president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, and one sponsor.

All candidates will give campaign speeches at assembly Wednesday, and the first primary will be held Thursday.

Polls will open Thursday at 8:30 a.m. and close at 2 p.m. in the hall of the Administration Building. Run-offs will be held Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Election results of the first primary will be posted on bulletin boards in the Administration Building and the Recreational Hall by 5 p.m.

The election will be conducted by the Hindsonian staff.

TAKE SPOTLIGHT

Dance, Music Group To Perform At Grid Scramble Saturday Night

The Eagle Band and Hi-Steppers took their first step into the 1960 football season spotlight last Saturday night.

In addition to participating in various athletic and social events, the 55 member band makes several trips including out-of-town football games, Christmas parades in surrounding cities, and Mardi Gras in New Orleans. Some of the different honor trips the group has made are the Gator Bowl, St. Louis, Buffalo, Colorado Springs and Pasadena.

This year the nationally famed Hinds Hi Steppers are celebrating their ninth birthday. Mrs. Alon Bee and Albert Rowan, Eagle Band director, introduced the '60 football season with a new show last week.

The Hi-Steppers, patterned after the New York Rockettes, have grown from 28 girls in 1951 to 60 precision dancers. They have appeared in shows, parades, and on the gridiron from the Pacific to the Atlantic.

Drum majorette for the band is Annette Gibbes of Learned. Feature twirlers are Adonna Moore of Jackson, Ann Winstead of Forest Hill, Frances Overby, Brandon, Marie Bacot, Bolton, and Dot McRae of Carthage.

'College Possesses Advantages' - Mayo Tells Lions Group

The contribution Hinds Junior College is making to Jackson and the surrounding area and the advantages the college offers was the topic of Mr. Robert Mayo's address Tuesday at the South Jackson Lions Club luncheon.

Alvis Hunt, assistant vice president of First National Bank in Jackson, introduced Mr. Mayo, assistant administrator at Hinds, to the club.

Mr. Walter Gibbes, vocational coordinator at Hinds accompanied Mr. Mayo, as an additional representative of the school.

College Adds 3 New Additions To Staff

Three new faculty members have been added to the Hinds Junior College staff to help take care of the overflow enrollment, President G. M. McLendon reports.

New staffers are Mrs. Robert Mayo, English instructor; Mrs. Rosser Wall, assistant librarian; and Rev. Hubert L. Barlow, Bible instructor.

Mrs. Mayo, wife of college Administrative official Robert M. Mayo, will teach English in the Vocational Department. A graduate of Canton High School, Mrs. Mayo received her B. A. degree at Mississippi State College for Women. She majored in English and minored in Latin.

Mrs. Rosser Wall joins the staff on a part time basis as assistant librarian. She was graduated from Newton High School and Mississippi State College for Women. Prior to joining the Hinds staff, Mrs. Wall was employed in the library at the University of Mississippi.

Filling the position vacated by Rev. Clay F. Lee, pastor of the Raymond Methodist Church, is Rev. Hubert L. Barlow, pastor of the Bolton Methodist Church.

The Rev. Barlow's educational background includes studies at Wesson High School, Copiah-Lincoln Junior College, Millsaps College and Duke University. He majored in psychology and minored in Bible.

Former voice teacher and special soloist, Mrs. Geneva Reeves is employed as a part time voice instructor. Mrs. Reeves has gained considerably recognition as vocalist for special programs in the Jackson area.

Mrs. Gertrude Rowzee, college librarian since 1942 who resigned last summer, has been retained on the Hinds staff for a few months due to the illness of Mrs. Virginia Riggs, head librarian.

Publication Group Changes Meeting Time To Evenings

The annual staff has changed the regular meeting time from Tuesday at 3:30 to a new time at 6:45 p.m. on Wednesdays, due to several conflicts.

This week's meeting will be the last one for students interested in joining the staff to attend. The meeting will be held in the conference room of the administration building.

Paper Head Names 5 Editors

Five editorships and a circulation manager have been named to the Hindsonian staff, according to Jean Rodgers, executive editor.

Besty, freshman from Edwards, was the editor of the Raymond High School newspaper last year. Sophomore Belinda Hill from Brandon is the vice president of the Phi Theta Kappa and editor of the Baptist Student Union paper.

Johann, freshman, was the photographer for Jackson Provine high school annual and newspaper last year. Jewel, a sophomroe, from Clinton, is editor of the Eagle, Hinds yearbook.

Dorothy, Jackson sophomore, is a member of the Greater Council of the Baptist Student Union. Jim, sophomore from Newton, works for Mr. R. C. Benton, dean of men.

Other staff members are Sue Harvey, Foerst Hill; Nollie Cochran, Terry; Dot Rochell, Jackson; Gail Rushing, Forest Hill; Gwen Canoy, Magee; and Eva Sipes, Forest Hill.

Corkie Lyle, Belzoni, is managing editor, and Tommy Nance, Jackson, is assistant editor. Both are sophomores.

Success Appears Doubtful

Top diplomats are gathered in New York for the opening of the 15th annual General Assembly meeting of the United Nations. The largest gathering of top government officials in United Nations history are on hand for the U. N. 'summit meeting' this week.

Among the key diplomats present are Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, Britain's foreign secretary the Earl of Home, and South African External Affairs Minister Erik Louw.

The idea of the convention being a 'summit meeting' started when Premier Khrushchev announced his decision to lead the Soviet delegation to 'spearhead the Communist war of words against the United States.'

Mr. Khrushchev and his party have been restricted to Manhattan Island during their visit by the U. S. State Department. Is this fair to our Russian visitor? To answer this question, we can ask, was it fair that Japanese Communist rioting in Tokyo prevented President Eisenhower's tour of parts of the Eastern hemisphere. Did Khrushchev and his comrades have any influence in stopping Mr. Eisenhower's visit? Our guess is that the Russian Premier was the backbone of the rioting.

Rumors are flying with regard to the fact that Mr. Khrushchev is going to make a play for personal meetings with presidential candidates Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Senator John F. Kennedy.

Geographically speaking, this meeting seems close to impossible, because of the Russian limitation to Manhattan Island. The two candidates will have to visit the Premier if the meeting takes place. It is doubtful that Khrushchev's desire to get a first-hand impression of the two presidential candidates will be fulfilled.

Sounds Like '60 Analysis

We are concerned about the direction our nation is taking. With faith in God and a rededication of all citizens, our country can continue to be the leader among the nations of the world.

"The Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire," by Gibbon seems modern in every respect. Here are the reasons Rome fell:

1. "The rapid increase of divorce; the undermining of the dignity and sanctity of the home, which is the basis of human society."

2. "Higher and higher taxes and the spending of public monies for free bread and circuses for the populace."

3. "The mad craze for pleasure, sports becoming every year more exciting and more brutal."

4. The building of gigantic armaments when the real enemy was within, in the decadence of the people."

5. "The decay of religion — faith fading into mere form, losing touch with life and becoming impotent to warn and guide people."

That sounds like a sociologist's analysis of American society in 1960!

OFF THE CUFF

Solution Given To Physically Tired Student

By JEAN RODGERS

Do you feel run down? Do you have tired blood? Do you huff and puff after a walk, or after climbing a flight of stairs?

JEAN

If you do, then more than likely you should do something to improve your physical fitness.

The medical consultant for one of the leading airlines has made the following tips on how to feel in top shape.

EAT RIGHT—Being overweight has been named as the nation's No. 1 health problem by the public health service. There are four basic food groups which form a well-rounded diet—milk, meats, vegetables and fruits, and breads and cereals.

EXERCISE RIGHT — It doesn't have to be the strenuous type such as weight-lifting, running around the block, or push-ups, but calisthenics, walking, bowling, bicycling, or swimming are good exercises—in moderation.

BREATHE RIGHT — Take time out at least once a day to breathe as deeply as you can through your nose, exhaling through your mouth. This should be done preferably while you are walking.

WORK RIGHT — Don't take chances on the job—it doesn't pay. Read and listen to all instructions. Watch where you are going. Don't rely on habit to carry you through the day.

REST RIGHT—Get the required amount of sleep for your own needs.

ANNUAL CHECK-UPS — Annual medical, dental and optical check-ups are a must. Prevention is still the best cure.

STUDY RIGHT—This tip was not on the list, but good study habits are always a necessity. Learn how to study to fit your particular need —then follow them.

Hi-Stepper, Circle K Sweetheart Executes Charm To Surroundings

By GAIL RUSHING

Some young ladies you meet in life are gifted with special talents. Others have shapely bodies and beautiful features.

But occasionally you meet a truly genuine person who tops them all. Someone whose fabric is laced from cover to cover with natural beauty, vivacious charm, and dainty grace. Someone who will go all the way up the ladder of success.

That someone is a living jewel. Religion, love and conspicious display of authority or wealth all play a part in the design and use of a jewel. She represents all three. She is a devoted Baptist, she is loved by everyone, and her family is in the high echelon of Hinds County politics.

Adds a Little Joy

Hinds Junior College's valuable and precious jewel is of great value to the entire student body. She adds a little joy every time you see her—the All-American type joy.

She is Jewel McNair, daughter of Hinds County Tax Assessor and Mrs. Clark McNair.

A graduate of Clinton High School, the good-natured, artistic sophomore was a homecoming maid, secretary of the Beta Club, secretary of the Future Business Leaders of America, and a member of the band for four years in high school.

Displays Ability

Freshman homecoming maid and Circle K Sweetheart were additional titles and honors she had tossed her way last year. She displays her versatile ability as a leading member of the famous Hinds Hi-Steppers, the Women's Athletic Association, and as editor of The Eagle, college yearbook.

Her spare time is spent as an efficient, well-groomed, and charming assistant in the Public Relations Department.

Jewel plans to enter Mississippi State College for Women and major in Business Education next fall.

Exemplifies the Best

She is an ideal—always courteous, kind, considerate, and thoughtful. Jewel exemplifies the best in school spirit, dependability, spiritual vision, and character. You name it, and she has it.

The course in life which she has already begun will bring success, happiness and rich rewards.

A line from the poem, "My Kate" by Elizabeth Barrett Browning is very fitting to this deserving gem, "Twas her thinking of others made you think of her."

Sullivan Heads Independent Slate

Governor Ross Barnett, former gubernatorial candidate Charlie Sullivan, and an array of Mississippi States' Righters are campaigning for an unpledged slate in the November election. Purpose of the plan is two fold: To throw the presidential election in the U. S. House of Representatives, a sure way to get Senator John Kennedy elected, and to withhold the votes for bargaining power, that some say would be against the law.

BUS ROUTES

Hinds Provides Transportation; Day Student Enrollment Grows

In order to provide two additional years of free public education to the beginning college students of Hinds County, Hinds Junior College is operating two bus routes in the vicinity of Jackson, one in Vicksburg and one from Utica.

Any Hinds County student who will either be a freshman or sophomore in college or any vocational-technical student this fall may ride the buses to and from home daily without any additional cost to the student.

Students that go to and from home each day will be required to pay only $25 per semester as a matriculation fee, thus making their entire two years of junior college work cost only $100.

The four bus routes are as follows: Jackson bus No. 1 will originate on Hanging Moss Road, travel to Northside Drive, down Northwest Street, cross Capital on Lamar, out Pearl to Robinson Road, to Van Winkle and to Raymond.

Bus No 2. will leave Byram, go up old Highway 51 to McDowell Road, to Raymond Road, down to Mart 51, up Terry Road to West Capitol, to Clinton, and on to Raymond.

The Vicksburg bus will load in Vicksburg with a non-stop trip to Raymond. The Utica bus will pick up students enroute to Raymond.
mond.

All buses will leave their beginning point at about 7 a.m. and will leave Hinds at 3:30 p.m. each afternoon.

Due to the limited dormitory space and the increased enrollment, the college is increasing its number of daily commuters.

College Catholic Students Name Barry Marrioneaux New Newman Group Head

Barry Marionneaux, Plaquemine, La., was elected president of the Newman Club Monday night.

The Newman Club, campus Catholic Youth Organization, held its first meeting of the year and elected officers.

Ronnie Allen, Baton Rouge, was elected vice president; Judy Strong, Jackson, board of directors.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday, September 28, at 6 p.m. in the classroom at the girls' gymnasium.

Tobacco Company Presents College With New Supplies

Hinds Junior College was presented 500 miniature megaphones, 24 decks of playing cards, 50 score pads, and 375 ash trays this week by H. T. Gober, assistant manager of the Jackson division of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company.

The presentation was made to Mr. R. C. Benton, dean of men. It was the second consecutive year for the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, of Winston-Salem, N.C., to present the college with the re creational materials.

The 500 miniature megaphones will be used by the cheering section of the pep squad at football games.

Ash trays were distributed in the campus grill and boys' dormitories.
itories.

Hinds President Honors Faculty With Reception

Hinds Junior College President and Mrs. G. M. McLendon recently honored the new staff members with a reception in their home.

The receiving line, made up of the 13 new additions to the staff, was headed by President and Mrs. McLendon.

Guests were met at the door by Mrs. Nell Pickett, vice-president of the faculty club who presented each guest to Mr. Wallace Wall, president of the group.

Honorees In Line

The 13 honorees in the receiving line were the following: Mr. Robert Mayo, administrative assistant; Mrs. Robert Mayo, English instructor; Mrs. Frances Lee, dean of women; Miss Glenda Rush, piano teacher; Mrs. T. H. Bowen, dormitory hostess; Miss Elaine Mayfield, assistant registrar; Mrs. Robbie Dukes, home economics instructor; Mrs. Regina Goodwin, assistant librarian; Miss Susan Brown, social science teacher; Mr. Mike Rabalais, counselor for boys; Mr. Vic Traxler, barbering instructor; Mr. Pat Smith, radio and television instructor; and Mr. T. F. Rayburn, woodwork and mechanical drawing teacher.

A fall color scheme consisting of tones of gold and brown beautifully decorated the reception area.

Assists Mrs. McLendon

Assisting Mrs. McLendon in the serving of the guest was a committee from the faculty group composed of Mrs. Juanita Canterbury, Mrs. Mary McKenzie, Mrs. Genevieve Adams, Mrs. Geneva Reeves, and Mrs. Wallace Wall.

Party sandwiches, pastries, and punch carrying out the gold color scheme were served to 77 guests.

High School Pupils Invade College Vocation Program

A new feature has been added to the Vocational Department at Hinds Junior College, according to Vocational Coordinator Walter H. Gibbes.

Hinds County high school students from surrounding schools are permitted to attend classes at Hinds.

County high schools from Raymond, Utica, Terry, Clinton, and Byram send school buses to the Hinds campus for students desiring to take advantage of the facilities offered in the vocational curriculum. The number of high school students now attending classes in the vocational department totals 78. More students are expected to enroll in the near future.

In the two major divisions of the vocational department—vocational and technical—the tentative total enrollment is 295 students.

Baptist Students Kickoff Activities At Early Retreat

The Baptist Student Union directed by B. J. Frew, opened this year's activities with a pre-school retreat last Saturday.

Plans for the year were made which included the scheduling of morning watch Monday through Friday, beginning September 12, in the Music Auditorium. Janice Gibson, from Utica, is in charge of the watch.

Dormitory devotions will be sponsored by the B.S.U. at 9:30 each evening. Rebecca Legg, Jackson, is in charge of the devotions as Christian Citizenship chairman.

The Young Women's Auxilary will meet every other Tuesday night at the supper period. "All Baptist girls are invited to join the Y.W.A.," according to President Phyllis Covington, Raymond.

The general B.S.U. meetings started Monday night following a campus-wide get together in the girls' physical education building.

Rev. Clyde Gordon, pastor of the Raymond Baptist Church, invites all students with Baptist preference to the Raymond Baptist Church Thursday night for a reception.

Largest Football Seating Capacity On Hinds Campus

The largest junior college football seating capacity in the state of Mississippi has been attained by the addition of 2,000 new seats on the Hinds Junior college campus.

The new all-steel bleachers cost a total of $15,975 as compared to $22,370 for the original 3,040 on the Hinds side of the playing field. Constructor of the new unit was Central School Supply of Jackson.

Above the Hinds home stands is a press box with a seating capacity of 15. In this box are accommodations for press, radio, and moving picture cameras.

The section of the stadium occupied by the Hinds home group was built by the same company in 1959. Due to larger crowds attending the home games, it was necessary for the construction of more ample seating space.

College Secertary To Post Day Students Phone Calls Administration InBuilding

For the convenience of the day students, all telephone calls that are channeled through the college will be posted on the bulletin board just outside the President's office in the Administration building.

Mrs. Margaret Kimball, President McLendon's secretary, will be in charge of handling all telephone calls for day students and she will keep the bulletin boards up to date.

GIRLS TO GET PAROLE

Grill Managers Tell New Periods For '60-61 Campus Eagles' Nest

The Eagles' Nest, the campus grill, started opening at new hours this week, according to Mrs. Margaret Kimball, grill manager, and Mrs. Elizabeth McNair, day manager.

Mrs. Frances Lee, dean of women, announced that she is working on the posibility that girls assigned to Northside, the new sophomore dormitory, will be allowed to have free time in the grill from 9:00 to 9:30 each evening.

Girls in Main and Westside dormitories will possibly be permitted to go to the grill at a designated time. She plans to confer with President G. M. McLendon when he returns from Oklahoma.

Grill Times:

Monday—7:30-4:00 p.m. and 5:30-9:30 p.m.

Tuesday—7:30-3:00 p.m. and 5:30-9:30 p.m.

Wednesday—7:30-4:00 p.m. and 6:30-9:30 p.m.

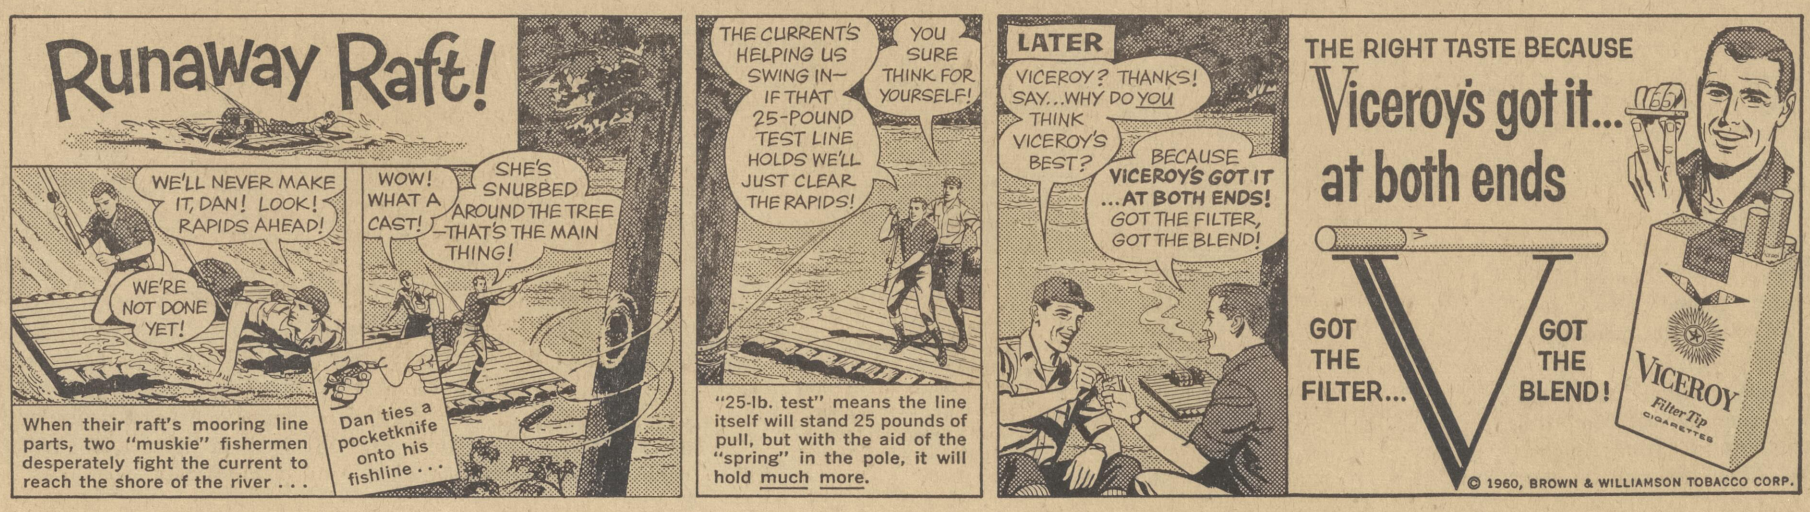
Saturday—8:00-11:30 a.m.

Sunday—3:00-5:00 p.m. and 8:45-9:30 p.m.

The grill is not opened on Wednesday night until 6:30 due to the weekly vesper services.



SPORTS PREVIEW

Ole Miss Number 1 In SEC

By TOMMY NANCE

The Southeastern Conference, composed of some of the most powerful football teams in the country, got into full swing last weekend with all but four teams seeing action.

The biggest question to most Mississippians is, will Ole Miss go all the way and claim the National Gridiron title? The main thing working against the Rebels is their schedule and Tennessee.

The Oxford eleven plays only six SEC teams while the other strong contenders, Georgia, Alabama, and Georgia Tech, meet with seven and eight conference foes.

Tennessee's Volunteers still pose as the No. 1 threat to Ole Miss's schedule. Scoring two of the season's most talked about upsets last year, dumping Auburn and LSU, Bowden Wyatt's Volunteers are hoping to add the Rebels to their black list this season.

TOMMY

Georgia Seeks Second

The University of Georgia will be seeking its second straight conference championship this year as they rely on several returnees. Hopeful of regaining the coveted crown, the Bulldogs' main task will be to reconstruct a new line. Even though the "peach staters" don't run up against the Rebels, the 'Dogs will find it hard to retain their title in the rugged SEC.

Hinds' own Raymond Abruzzese is expected to give plenty of help to the Crimson Tide of Alabama, as Bear Bryant's forces seek national recognition once again. The line of the Tuscaloosa team will be one of the solidest in the land.

Once again in the race for the SEC championship, Bobby Dodd's Yellowjackets, with a pepped-up passing attack, face eight conference elevens this season. Sophomore Stan Gann will aid Georgia Tech at the quarterback slot with his superb passing.

Auburn Near Top

The Auburn Tigers, in their last year on probation, have only seven seniors on the squad. Shug Jordan's Tigers have a better backfield than in 1959 and a rigid defense that will keep the Bengals alive.

Tennessee and Louisiana State will be two of the top up-setters in the conference this year. LSU will be weakened this season, but the Tigers are still dangerous and won't be a club to sneeze at. The Volunteers will be more of a passing team and more interesting to watch. Although no real threat to the title, Tennessee will provide some first class competition to others in the conference.

State Is Better

The Maroons of Mississippi State will be an improved ball club, but still no big threat to anyone. Eight starters will be returning fr the Starkville clan. Among them will be Tom Goode, a possible All-American candidate. With a greater over-all effectiveness, the Maroons should win more than last year.

Winding up in the SEC cellar will probably be one of the following clubs: Vanderbilt, Florida, Kentucky, or Tulane. The Commodores of Vandy are still weak at the passing game, but should be dangerous on the ground.

Florida is without Danny Royal this year, but the Gators still will win a few. One of the toughtest defenses in Dixie will be had by the Wildcats of Kentucky. It's 10 years since the 'Cats have won the SEC title and this year will probably make it 11.

Tulane's main problem is its tough schedule. Starting off with California and finishing up with LSU, the Green Wave has no slack in between.

Hinds Eagles Entertain Itawamba

Birds Soar High Seeking 3rd Win Against Undefeated Fulton Clan

Flying high atop the junior college football standings, the Hinds Eagles will be invaded by the Itawamba Indians Saturday night for the second straight home game of the season.

Hinds battles the Indians from Fulton for the third time since Itawamba was organized in 1948.

This year's contest will mark the second time for the "Red Men" to play a gridiron contest at Raymond. In 1957, the Eagles walloped Fulton, 33-0 and in 1958, Hinds took a 13-0 decision.

Failing to cross the glory line against the Eagles, Dudley Miller's Indians are expected to make a stronger bid for top honors in the Mississippi Junior College conference this fall after a blank 0-5 record in the circuit and a spotted 4-5 overall mark last season.

In the East Central game, Hinds' tackle positions were the main attraction with Don Gleason and Wayne Sullivan sparking the attack. Gleason and Sullivan both have the speed and iron for the two line spots.

Quarterback Slot Filled

The quarterback slot has been filled by three top throwers with plenty of speed and arms for long passes. Don Fugate, Williston, Fla., freshman, will be the probable starter, with Sonny Penley, Vicksburg, and Bobby Luckett, Jackson, seeing plenty of action.

At the halfback positions, Byrle Kynerd, Raymond, and Wilburn Williamson, Atlanta, Ga., hold the probable starting slots, while Don Swafford, Hobbs, N. M., and Bert Sullivan, Jackson, will serve in the understudy positions. Clarence Peterson, Jackson, and David Bass, Pelahatchie, are also Eagle backs that will be seeing action.

Johnny Daher, 190 pounder from Atlanta, Ga., will hold the starting position at fullback, with Bobby Slayden, DeRidder, La., filling in. Earl Hicks, Houma, La., will be starter at the center slot, with Norman Agent and Joe Haynes, both of Jackson, aiding to the Eagle cause.

Guards At Work

The guard position will be filled by Tommy Hudson, Pensacola, Fla., and Howard Freeman, Jackson. Van Courson, Jackson, and Charles Simmons, Forest Hill, will be likely relievers.

Other games in the conference will pit Delta at Wesson for a grudge game with Copiah-Lincoln Jones plays host to East Mississippi of Scooba, Pearl River invades Senatobia for a battle with Northwest, East Central and Southwest lock horns in the Bears' back yard, and Holmes and Perkinston meet at Goodman.

Northwest, Hinds, Holmes Pace Loop In 3-Way Warfare

A three way tie looms in the Mississippi Junior College Conference standings for first place, after another week of top college football.

Collecting their second straight gridiron wins were Hinds, Holmes, and Northwest. The Eagles defeated the Bears (0-1-1) of Southwest by a margin of 40-15 before a large hometown audience.

Holmes added another win to their column with a victory over Mississippi Delta (Sunflower), 18-8. The East Mississippi Indians, winning their first game over the powerful Pearl River Wildcats, fell to the Northwest Rangers, 21-15.

In fourth place is Itawamba, with a 1-0-1 record. Copiah-Lincoln, Delta, East Mississippi, and Pearl River are all tied for fifth place. Each eleven has a 1-1-0 mark.

The Bears of Southwest fell to ninth place, after a loss to Hinds. East Central, Jones, and Perkinston have failed to win a game and are tied for tenth place with 0-2-0 record.

Renfroe's 11 Chalks Up Home Win Against Southwest Bears, 40-15

By TOMMY NANCE

Capturing their second straight win of the season, the Hinds Junior College Eagles smothered Southwest, 40-15, behind an offensive barrage Saturday night in Eagle Stadium.

Coach Joe Renfroe's Eagles tallied in every period with their sharp running power and potent air attack.

Quarterback Don Fugate, Williston, Fla., hit end Donny Ross, Augusta, Ga., with a 36 yard pass to score the first Hinds tally midway in the initial quarter. The two-pointer was stopped short of the goal.

Hinds' second touchdown came when Byrle Kynerd, Raymond, racked up six more points on a six yard jaunt. The two pointer was completed with a pass to Ross from Sonny Penley, Vicksburg. The halftime score stood at 14-7, Hinds.

Wilburn Williamson, Atlanta, Ga., sped through the center of the line for the third Eagle TD early in the third period. Adding two more points, a Fugate to Ross pass pushed the score to 22-7.

Three Eagle scoring jaunts highlighted the final period. The first came early when Tommy Hudson, Pensacola, Fla., blocked a Bear punt and Donny Swafford, Hobbs, N. M., recovered in the end zone. The point after touchdown failed.

Midway in the fourth quarter, halfback Williamson galloped 94 yards for the fifth Hinds TD. The final touchdown came late in the last period on a pass from Penley to end Richard Mills, Forest Hill. Again the PAT failed leaving the score 40-15.

The Southwest Bears broke into the lead on the fourth play of the game on a 14 yard pass from Dewey Reed to halfback Ken Mistric. Albert Coleman kicked the extra point.

Summit's other six-pointer came in the third period when fullback T. F. Randall charged over from the one-yard line. Quarterback Brent Russell sprinted three yards for the two point conversion.

LEO PUCKETT

Hinds "B" Team Vies With Millsaps In Vicksburg Gridiron Benefit Game

The Hinds Junior College "B" team will clash with the Millsaps College second team at City Park in Vicksburg on Thursday night, October 13, in a benefit game for Leo Puckett.

The former Vicksburg Jett athlete, Puckett, has been bed-ridden ever since his tragic football injury in 1953. Each year the Touchdown Club stages some sort of event to help raise money for Leo's trust fund. The trust fund supplies a check each month to help with incidental expenses. If enough money is raised, the TD Club uses what is left over to help with other worthwhile causes.

The nationally famous Hinds Junior College Band and Hi-Steppers will furnish the halftime entertainment for the game. Tickets will go on sale the latter part of the week.

Independent Electors Gain Plurality In Campus-Wide Poll

Students Select 3rd Party Group Over Democrats

Independent Electors in Mississippi gained a solid plurality in a student poll at Hinds Junior College this week.

The independent slate of electors polled 312 votes, the Democratic Party (Kennedy-Johnson ticket) 191, and the Republican Party (Nixon-Lodge ticket) 180.

Several students who were not pleased with either of the major candidates registered their dissatisfaction with "write-in" votes. Gov. Ross Barnett received four, Congressman John Bell Williams three, and Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus one.

The poll strongly indicates that Hinds students are not satisfied with the candidates offered by both major parties.

One student wrote, "It's like choosing between the devil and the deep blue sea."

The dissatisfaction with the platforms and candidates of both political parties saw only 60 percent of the students cast ballots. Out of a possible 1014 students, only 691 actually cast ballots.

The student poll, conducted by the Hindsonian weekly campus newspaper, reveals that an element of strong conservative thinking prevails on the Hinds campus.

Candidates Stage Class Campaign

4 Staff Members, Congressman See Investigation Film

United States Congressman John Bell Williams of Raymond made possible the viewing of a film entitled "Operation Abolition" Thursday to a group of professors and administrative personnel on the Hinds campus.

The film dealt with the House of Representatives Un-American Acitivites' investigation of Communist demonstrations at committee hearings on the West Coast last spring. The film showed action shots of the direct strife between the agitators and the police, who quelled the riot with firehoses.

Mr. Robert M. Mayo, administrative assistant, described the film, "an example of emotions overcoming reasoning, and an illustration of how young and immature students can be used by a proffessional agitator in a demonstration."

Viewing the film were State Rep. Joe Moss, of Raymond; Mr. Jobie Harris, social science professor; Mr. Mayo; Mr. Irl Dean Rhodes, public relations director; and Congressman Williams.

BEAUTIES GREET PAT — Hinds Hi-Steppers Martha Clair Bryant, Terry, Rita Anderson, Clinton, and Mary Jo Sullivan, Jackson, greet Mrs. Richard Nixon after the famed group performed for the Republican candidate and his wife in Jackson Saturday.

Biloxi Pastor To Direct Religious Emphasis Week

Religious Emphasis Week services start October 10 and continue through October 13 on Hinds campus.

The Rev. Inman Moore, Jr., pastor of Leggett Memorial Church in Biloxi, will lead the series of religious services. He has formerly served as pastor of the Pelahatchie-Shiloh Charge and Decell Memorial Methodist Church in Wesson.

Arrangements for the week's activities are planned by a faculty-student committee. Devotionals and music will be led by the students.

Morning services will be held in the college auditorium Tuesday and Thursday at 9:30 and at 10:05, chapel period, Wednesday.

Evening worship will be at 6:30 followed by a dormitory discussion group in Main Dormitory at 7:20.

College Deans Tell Week's Activities For Local Campus

Mrs. Frances Lee, dean of women, and Mr. R. C. Benton, dean of men, issued this week's schedule of activities yesterday.

The activities calendar:

Thursday: The girls' physical education building will be open from 6 to 7 p.m. Following the pep rally, dancing and other games will be scheduled.

Friday: A bus will leave for Jackson at 6:15 p.m. Students may shop or attend a movie.

Saturday: A planned recreational program will be held in the girls' gymnasium from 2 to 3 p.m.

Wesley Foundation To Present Special Recreational Program Monday In Girls' Gymnasium

A special recreational program sponsored by the Wesley Foundation will be held for students of all denominations Monday night at 6:15 in the visual education room of the girls' Physical Education Building.

ONLY 15 MEMBERS

Student Debaters Need Noodles

Hinds Junior College would like to use your head.

Students who think they can debate were asked last week to sign-up with debate coach Pat Smith. So far only 15 students — mostly freshmen — have applied.

The Debate team participates in the University of Mississippi's training clinic each fall and competes in the State Junior College Speech Festival each spring.

Deadline for signing-up, which may be done in the Public Relations Office in the Administration Building, has been extended until next Friday.

Returning from last year's team are Frances Nelson, Vicksburg, and James Weir, Newton.

This year's debate question is "Resolved: That the United States should adopt a program of compulsory health insurance for all citizens."

Sophomores To Ballot Thursday; 4 Aspirants Vie For Top Office

Four Hinds Junior College sophomores will vie for the office of class president in an election to be held Thursday.

Polls will open tomorrow at 8:30 a. m. and close at 2 p. m. in the Administration Building.

Rex Carson, Phi Theta Kappa president from Jackson; Corkie Lyle, managing editor of the Hindsonian from Belzoni; Sonny Penley, football quarterback from Vicksburg; and Billy Rhodes, basketball player from Pelahatchie, are the aspirants for the top position in the class.

Nominees for the position of vice president include Belinda Hill, Brandon; Byrle Kynerd, Raymond; and Tommy Nance of Jackson.

Seek Position

In the running for the secretary's post are Martha Arrington, Bruce; Dot Gatlin, Madison; Frances Nelson, Vicksburg; and Gail Rushing, Forest Hill.

The nominees for treasurer are I. M. Beasley, Raymond; Rose Earnest, Slate Springs; Dicky Silver, Jackson; and Betty Williams, Jackson.

Members Vie

Three faculty members' names will also be on the ballot for class sponsor. Mr. T. T. Beemon, biology instructor; Mr. W. C. "Bill" Oakes, hygiene professor; and Mr. Mike Rabalais, counselor for boys, are candidates for the elective sponsor post.

President's Chief Aide Gets Duties At New Position

Hinds Junior College Administrative Assistant Robert M. Mayo has been named to an Advisory Study Group for the Legislative Education Committee, State Rep. J. P. Love, committee chairman, announced this week.

Rep. Love selected Mr. Mayo as an adviser on the committee: Financing Public Schools and Junior Colleges. The group held its first meeting in Jackson yesterday.

The 1960 legislature created the Education Study Committee and charged it with the responsibility of conducting a study of the various phases of public education in Mississippi.

The Advisory Study Group will make its contribution by evaluation of data, arriving at conclusions and formulating recommendations.

Chris Lewis Takes Top Spot In Choir Election For '60-61

Chris Lewis, Raymond sophomore, was elected president of the Hinds Junior College Choir last Friday, reports Mr. Leslie Reeves, choir director.

Other officers of the choir are Bill Mathews, Raymond, vice president; Linda Bratton, Bruce, secretary-treasurer; Barney McCann, Pearl, and Jo Scheaffer, Forest Hill, freshman representatives; and Ina Mae Ainsworth, Florence, and Delores Taylor, Jackson, appointed representatives.

Nixon Gets Royal Welcome

Vice President Richard M. Nixon brought his campaign for President of the United States to Jackson last Saturday. Nixon's visit marked the first time in over 100 years that a candidate for either political party had invaded Mississippi hunting votes.

Governor Ross Barnett was a poor representative of Mississippi's hospitality when he left the state after a brief welcome to the Vice President. A football game was the 'previous engagement' which kept Governor Barnett from being host to Mississippi's distinguished guest.

Mississippi has always voted for the Democratic Party with the exception of 1948 when the State voted the States' Rights ticket.

However, the Vice President received a rousing welcome in the capital city last weekend. An estimated crowd of 10,000 turned out to greet Vice President Nixon and his charming wife, Pat.

It is good for the state to know that a candidate cares enough about Mississippi's eight votes to bring his campaign to the state.

A strong two-party system would be a good thing for the state. We have been "shoo-ins" long enough for the Democratic Party. It's refreshing to hear both sides of the story.

We are proud that the Richard Nixons came to Jackson. And, we are proud of the part Hinds Junior College's Eagle Band and Hi-Steppers played in helping make their historic visit a sensational success.

Local Edifices Need Names

Hinds Junior College is growing by leaps and bounds. When any educational institution starts bursting at the seams, certain changes are necessary for progress and expansion.

The naming of buildings on the campus has received considerable discussion in the past, but very little positive action has been taken.

The time has come when we must take a forward step for the sake of clarity.

Four dormitories on the campus are named various "sides"—Eastside, Westside, Southside, and Northside. Southside is actually on the east side of the campus, and Northside is on the west side of the campus. Sounds like mass chaos. It is to newcomers.

An ideal time to start naming buildings on the campus will be the completion of the proposed ultra-modern library.

An excellent name would be "The G. M. McLENDON LIBRARY. It would be a fitting tribute to a man who has given the best years of his life to this institution.

Sophs Should Cast Ballots

Members of the sophomore class will elect class officers tomorrow for the 1960-61 school year.

We urge all sophomores to take the opportunity to vote. Not because "it's democracy in action and everyone should do his part," but because the election is important to the sophomore class.

Four class officers—president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer—and a sponsor will be chosen. These officers will conduct the operations of the sophomore class for the next year. The type officers we elect will determine the success of the year's activities.

The election of our campus leaders is important enough to motivate a large sophomore vote.

Students State Strong Opinions For President

By JEAN RODGERS

Who will win the 1960 presidential election in November — Kennedy, Nixon, or an unknown?

JEAN

In last week's poll, students at Hinds voted in favor of the Unpledged ticket. Would the voting have been different this week in view of Vice-President Nixon's visit to Mississippi?

Will the Democratic Party still hold the tight grip on Mississippi politics as it has in the past?

SEVERAL HINDS students have expressed their opinions on the present political situation.

"Mississippi will go Democratic," stated Gail Rushing, Forest Hill sophomore. "Also, I think that Nixon, my choice of candidates, improved the status of the Republican Party in Mississippi by his recent visit to our state."

Myra Andrews, sophomore from Pearl, expressed, "Neither of the party platforms will help Mississippi as far as the racial situation is concerned."

"KENNEDY WILL WIN in Mississippi regardless of his religion, because the people of Mississippi will wake up and realize what is best for them and the United States," said Corkie Lyle, Belzoni sophomore.

Linda Dickerson, sophomore from Jackson, commented, "Nixon will lead in the Mississippi election, because I think the people of our state want a man with political experience who is interested in the United States as a whole."

WE BELIEVE the Democratic Party will lead the Mississippi election by a narrow margin over the Unpledged Electors. The Republicans have increased their strength in the state in recent years. And, we are convinced that Nixon will carry the nation and be our next president.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Cheerleader, Missions Chairman Displays Friendliness On Campus

Pretty, petite, and vivacious Carolyn Middleton from Memphis, Tenn., richly deserves the honor she receives this week as Sophomore of the Week.

She has supported Hinds football team for two years as a cheerleader during her freshman and sophomore years.

As a freshman, Carolyn served as class secretary, member of the BSU executive council, YWA president, member of the International Relations Club, and the YWCA. As a sophomore, she is head cheerleader and missions chairman on the BSU council.

CAROLYN MIDDLETON
Head Cheerleader

Honors are not new to Carolyn. While she was in high school (Southside High School in Memphis), she served as a varsity cheerleader, was a finalist for football queen, was editor of the annual, attended Tennessee Youth Congress and attended Girls' State.

Carolyn is majoring in English and plans to do some kind of youth or social work after she finishes her education at either Mississippi Southern or Carson Newman in Jefferson City, Tennessee.

Carolyn's hobbies include: playing the piano, being an enthusiastic spectator at all kinds of sports, and her favorite is skiing.

When asked her opinion of Hinds, Carolyn replied, "We have the friendliest and finest people anywhere. The friendliness at the beginning last year kept me from being homesick."

This popular sophomore will have no chance to be homesick this year. She is kept constantly busy with her many activities.

The Hindsonian staff salutes Carolyn Middleton as a very deserving Sophomore of the Week.

EACH GIRL LEARNS

'Steppers Make The Most Of Looks

By JEWEL McNAIR

Although every girl cannot be beautiful, a Hi-Stepper quickly learns that everyone should and can make the most of her looks by neatness of dress and overall appearance.

Many people never regard "Hi-Seppers" as a course—an extra activity where one learns dance routines, perhaps but something of value to be used throughout life.

In contrast—a Hi-Stepper learns much about poise—how to walk, sit, and stand correctly. Graceful movement is practiced constantly.

Behind the scenes of public appearances, a Hi-Stepper is busy learning make-up care and self-reliance.

She learns to wear a smile, although she does not always feel like smiling.

Girls Poise

As Martha Arrington, Hi-Stepper from Bruce, recalls, "It has helped to give me poise and self-confidence. I learned how to walk and sit with ease."

Linda Dickerson, a Jackson Hi-Stepper, says it is a "wonderful course to develop personality, poise, and the ability to get along with others. It surely has helped me."

Another Jackson Hi-Stepper, Gail Rushing tells of the "self-improvement course." She reports, "The course has given me some good basic beauty and grooming tips and taught me how to sit and walk correctly, tips that I could get no other place."

Share Experiences

The Hi-Steppers are also able to share many interesting trips and experiences they might otherwise have never had.

Acquiring poise and getting along with people ranked in all Hi-Stepper opinions, as was summed up by Jane Bennett:

"The training Mrs. Bee gives us on modeling tips pertaining to poise has helped me very much. Also, through the Hi-Steppers, I have learned to mix and mingle with people, and especially to get along better with other girls."

Gaining confidence before crowds, learning to express personality and natural beauty to its best advantage, learning, to work with a group—each Hi-Stepper learns.

Executive Demonstrates Machine To Business Department Students

Mr. M. L. Pursley, assistant branch manager of the Monroe Calculating Machine Corporation, demonstrated the new Monroe Calculating Machine in the office machines class at Hinds last Friday.

During the demonstration, he emphasized the increasing opportunities for posting machine operators in business, not only in the field of accounting, but in business offices in general.

Mr. Pursley pointed out a number of new features on the Monroe posting machines such as the use of one control bar for posting different accounting programs, the carriage lock, the easy insertion of ledger sheets, as a few of the mechanical features. He also brought out the fact that this machine could easily be converted to electronic accounting.

2 Sophomores Represent Hinds At 'K' Convention

Representing Hinds Junior College at the fifth annual Convention of Circle K International in Toronto, Canada, were John Wilda and Charles Bobo.

Wilda, from Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and Bobo from Natchez, were among 300 members of Circle K who attended the convention for United States and Canadian college clubs.

Headquarters for the convention was the King Edward Sheraton Hotel, in downtown Toronto. Hosts for the convention were the Circle K clubs of Ryerson Institute and Canadian Memorial Chiropractic College, both of Toronto. Assisting them was the Kiwanis Club of Toronto.

High points of the three-day meeting were the election of 1960-61 officers and trustees, the annual Circle K activity contest, and the oratorical contest.

Town Celebrates Annual Movement In Letter Writing

The 23rd annual Letter Writing Week will be celebrated in Raymond, Miss., during the week of October 2-8, it was announced today by Postmaster Lottie W. Grantham.

Postmaster Grantham noted that there has been a revival of personal letter writing during the last few years. "A letter remains the most economical, longest lasting, and sincerest means of extending greetings, communicating social news, and exchanging ideas," the Postmaster said.

During Letter Writing Week, Postmaster Grantham suggested that individuals write at least two letters; one to a friend or relative from whom you have not heard in a long time, and the second as a reply to a friend or relative who recently wrote to you. She also urged correspondence to people in other countries as a means of promoting greater understanding among the people of different nations.

College Instructor Writes Math Item For National Mag

Miss Lurline Stewart, head of the Mathematics Department at Hinds Junior College, is the author of an article appearing in the most recent issue of Mathematics Teacher, the official publication of the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics.

Entitled "The Binomial Theorem," the article deals with several methods of computing binomial coefficients and contains suggestions for computing r fractional when r is large.

The article shows some practical applications of the theorem in the field of science.

International Relations Club To Elect Officers At Wednesday Meeting

Nomination and election of officers of the International Relations Club will be held tonight in room 9 of the Academic Building.

Miss Susan Brown and Mr. Thomas Stricklin, social science instructors, sponsor the club.

"All students interested in international affairs are urged to attend," stated Mr. Stricklin.

College Coed Wins 2nd Alternate In East Central Forestry Show

LYNN GLISSON
Places In Contest

A Hinds Hi-Stepper was named second alternate in the East Central District Forestry Queen contest at Kosciusko last Tuesday night.

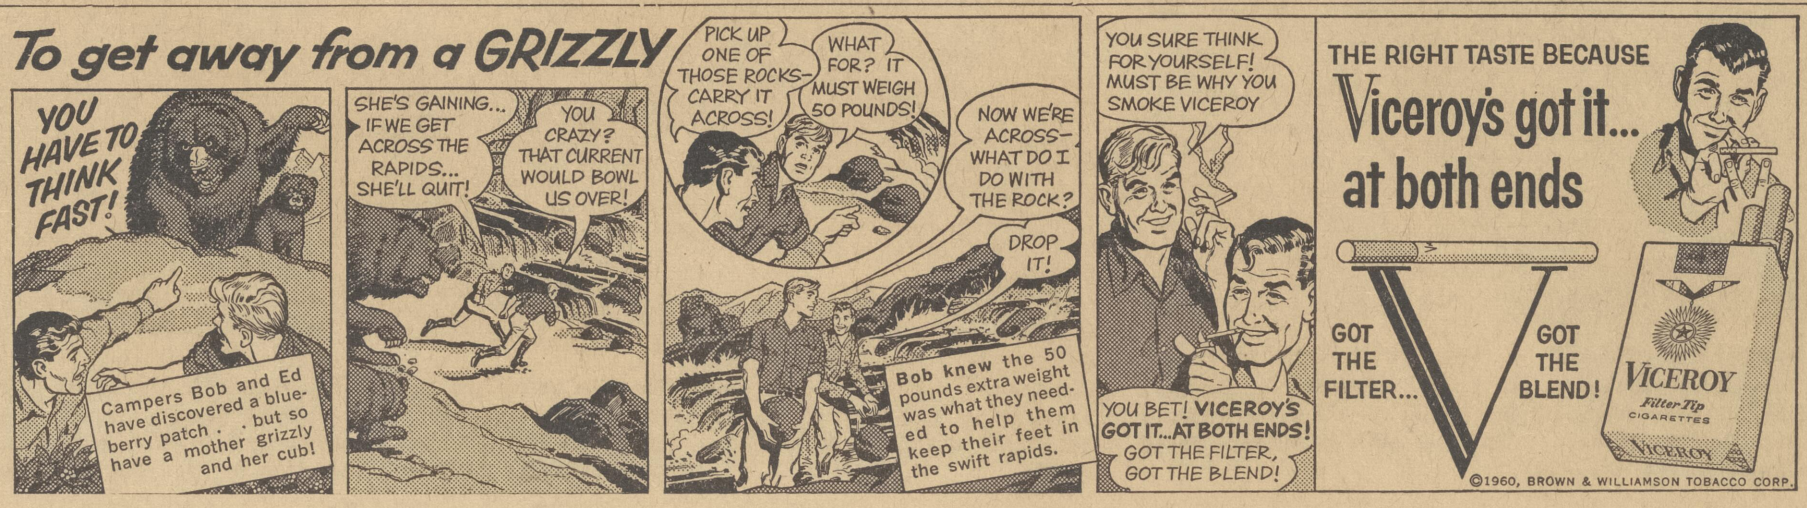
Lynn Glisson, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Glisson, is a freshman at Hinds this year.

Taking the No. 1 spot over 16 other contestants was Sidney Johnson, 17, a freshman at Ole Miss.

Miss Suzanne Ransburgh, 20, of Sturgis captured second place. Suzanne is a senior at Millsaps.

Placing high in beauty pageants is not new to Lynn. While in high school she was named Miss Mize High, a beauty for two years, Most Intellectual for three years, and Valedictorian of her graduating class last May.

She currently holds the State FFA Sweetheart title.



SPORTS PREVIEW

Will Hinds Falter Against Jones?

By TOMMY NANCE

If Hinds Junior College loses to the Jones Bobcats Saturday night, the odds are extremely high that it'll be by one or two extra points. The Eagles have been unable to muster enough steam to push across only three extra points in 11 attempts this season.

In the initial game of the year with East Central, Hinds crossed the "pay' line tiwce, but collected the extra points only after the second six-pointed. In this case the twopointer was added by halfback Don Swafford, who ran for the extra.

TOMMY

The Eagles averaged .333 in their extra point tries against the Bears of Southwest. In six attempts Hinds grabbed only four points in two runs. The tallies were picked up on two passes to Donny Ross from Don Fugate. The Hinds eleven failed on four other tries, which could have been costly if the game had been closer.

In Saturday night's action, Hinds saw three touchdowns but couldn't cross the goal line for the extra points. In the first try, Williamson's punt fell ide. The two succeeding attempts failed as the Eagles ran up against a strong Indian wall.

Should the Eagles falter this week, we predict it will be the result of lack of extra points.

We Predict

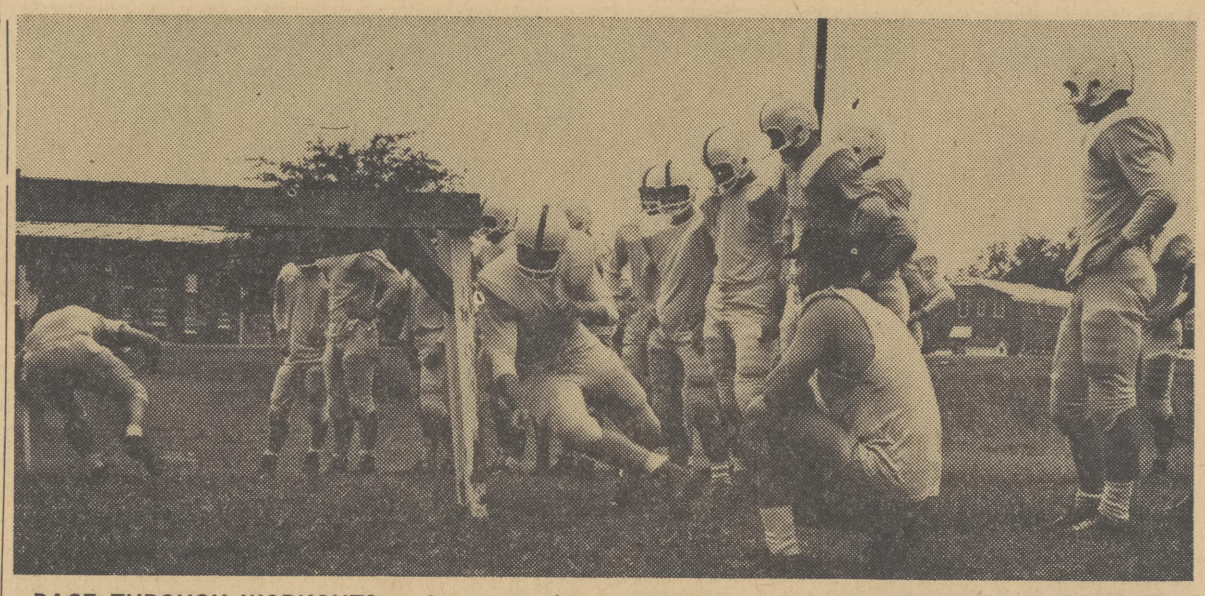
After a week of upsets in the Mississippi junior college conference, we stick our neck out on another limb in announcing this week's probable winners.

With three wins tuckered away under their wings, the Hinds Eagles invade Laurel Saturday for a match with the rough Jones Bobcats. Jones, which chalked up its first win of the season last week, will be out for blood and should give Hinds one of the toughest games of the year. We predict Hinds over Jones by one touchdown, but no more.

East Mississippi's Lions should break into the win column again with a deciding win over Itawamba. Jones upset the Lions last week, but Coach Bob Sullivan's boys are growling for their third win.

Northeast, beaten by Pearl River last week, 24-22, shouldn't have any trouble in capturing a win over East Central. The Warriors, who have won but one game, lack speed and weight.

Defending champions Pearl



RACE THROUGH WORKOUTS — In preparation for this week's Hinds-Jones battle at Laurel, Coach Joe Renfroe has his Eagles working extra hours under the screen, attempting to better their ground game. Hinds has a 3-0-0 record, placing the Birds in the top conference position.

Jones Bobcats Play Host In Laurel Classic As Eagles Risk Top Record

Hinds Seeks Fourth Straight Win Saturday With 'Cats' On Prowl

Hinds Junior College sends its high flying Eagles to Laurel this week to battle the Jones Bobcats in what shapes up to be the outstanding game of the week in the Mississippi JC circuit.

At stake for the Eagles will be an unblemished record. The Eagles will be gunning for their fourth consecutive victory.

For Jones, the prize will be that of knocking off the state's leading junior college grid power and picking up its second straight victory.

Coach A. B. Howard's Bobcats, the team with the toughest early season schedule in the conference, will enter the battle with a 1-2-0 record, while the Eagles will carry a 3-0-0 mark into Saturday night's classic.

Jones was nipped 26-21 in the season opener by Northwest, and the Bobcats suffered a 40-18 mauling by the once beaten Pearl River Wildcats in the second game. The Ellisville aggregation broke into the win column last week with a 9-6 victory over East Mississippi.

Hinds initiated the '60 campaign with a 14-0 win over East Central. The Eagles' other two victories were at the hands of Southwest 40-15 and Itawamba 18-0.

The two squads are evenly matched with veteran players. Hinds has nine returnees and Jones has eight. The experienced strength is balanced between the line and backfield on both teams.

Both teams will enter the scramble primed with plenty of fireworks, and Hinds will probably be installed as a slight favorite to derail Jones. However, Hinds coaches Joe Renfroe and Ivan Rosamond fear that Jones will be one of the toughest foes of the season for the Eagles.

Renfroe's Eagles Defeat Itawamba Aggregation In Decisive 18-0 Battle

Demonstrating a conservative offensive attack and a strong defensive stand, the Hinds Junior College Eagles roared to their third victory Saturday night by an 18-0 count over Itawamba.

Viewed by over 2,500 spectators, the Eagles scored once in the first period and twice in the final stanza.

Earl Hicks, center, set up the first Hinds touchdown midway of the first period, when he recovered an Indian fumble on the Itawamba 45 yard line. Quarterback Sonny Penley tossed to halfback Byrle Kynerd for the initial six-pointer on a pass play that covered 45 yards.

Halfback Wilburn Williamson attempted the extra point and failed.

Itawamba Threatens

The second period saw no scoring threats and the first half ended with Hinds leading 6-0. Itawamba made its biggest threat late in the third period when the Indians scalped their way to the Hinds two-yard line before being halted by the strong Eagle defensive wall.

Taking over on the Hinds two, the Eagles flew 98 yards in nine plays for their second touchdown. Fullback Johnny Daher tallied from the one yard marker to give Hinds a 12 point lead. Williamson was stopped short of the goal line in the extra point attempt.

Daher, who was the outstanding offensive player in the game, scored from the seven yard line for the final Eagle tally. The touchdown was set up after end Mike Vinson recovered an Indian fumble on the seven yard marker.

Renfroe 11 Heads State JC Circuit After 3rd Victory

Undefeated Hinds, riding atop the Mississippi Junior College Conference, captured its third victory of the season Saturday night by trouncing the Itawamba Indians, 18-0, before a large home town audience.

Winning its second straight game, Pearl River edged by powerful Northwest, 24-22, in a contest depending on extra points.

Delta Junior College, formerly Sunflower, roared back into the win column by upsetting Copiah-Linclon 8-0, in a torrid battle down to the final minute of play. The Trojans tallied with 13 minutes left in the game and grabbed the two-pointer after the TD.

The Bobcats broke into the victory column by defeating East Mississippi, 9-6, in Ellisville Saturday night. Quarterback Byron Thomas threw 18 yards to end Dave Brockmeyer for Jones' lone six-pointer. Southwest was dealt its second loss with a last minute safety by the East Central Warriors, 16-14.

Perkinston upset Holmes, 13-12, Thursday night. It was the first loss for the Bulldogs of Goodman.

RUNNER-UP GOLFER — Peggy Swett, Hinds girls' physical education instructor, and Louise Schonberg of Gulfport pose happily after the qualifying rounds for the State Women's Amateur Golf tournament. Miss Mary Mills of Millsaps edged Mrs. Swett for the title, 75-77.

Swett Is 2nd In State Amateur Golf Tourney

Mrs. Peggy Swett, girls' physical education instructor at Hinds, was runner-up in the Women's State Amateur Golf championship in Jackson last week.

Finishing second for two consecutive years, Mrs. Swett fell to Mary Mills, junior at Millsaps and defending champion. This was Miss Mills' seventh time to gain the WSAG championship.

Earlier in the week, Mrs. Swett gained medalist honors over Miss Mills with the scores 75 and 77 respectively. In the entire golf event there were a total of 99 players.

Mrs. Swett is looking forward to next year's activity, which will be held at Pass Christian Isles Country Club. Miss Mary Mills will again be a contender trying for her eighth straight victory in this event.

Intramural Softball Teams Organize On Campus For Recreational Slate

The Men's Recreational Association has initiated its yearly recreational program by organizing four intramural softball teams, which will play a series of games this fall.

At the end of the series, the winning team will play an all-star team picked from the three losing teams.

The captains of the four teams are Roland Walker, Florence, Charles Trest, Goshen Springs, Jim Sansing, Newton, and James Davis, of Yazoo City.

Also on the recreational slate are plans for a weight-lifting team. If enough interest is developed, a weight lifting contest will be sponsored by the MRA.

Emphasis in these activities will be placed on correct technique in the lifts and an overall body building program. Anyone interested in this program is asked to see Coach Eddie Rodgers for further information.

For any interested prospective members, membership dues of $1.50 are payable Monday through Thursday from 3:30 to 5:00 p.m., and from 6 to 8 each night. A membership card entitles the holder to participate in any MRA activity and to check out any of the MRA-owned sports equipment.

Girls Start Year With Action Night For V'ball Teams

Tuesday was action night for the valleyball teams of the Women's Athletic Association.

Action began in the girls' gymnasium at 6:15 when nine returning members and 40 new members assembled into their newly organized teams.

The six teams selected thus far will continue in battle for a short series of games to determine the victors in this phase of the athletic program. Volleyball winners will be announced in next week's Hindsonian.

Girls interested in joining the WAA should contact Mrs. Peggy Swett, physical education instructor, or Joan Phillips, president.

Young Biloxi Methodist Preacher To Conduct Two Services Each Day

A week of religious emphasis for students of all denominations will be sparked next week by a young Mississippi Methodist minister.

Rev. Inman Moore, Jr., pastor of the Leggett Memorial Methodist Church in Biloxi, will be the guest speaker for the week's activities.

Morning Services start Monday at 9:30 in the College Auditorium and continue through Thursday. Morning services will be held during the regular assembly period. Evening services begin at 6:15, followed by a discussion period in Main Dormitory at 7:15.

The Rev. Moore is former pastor of Methodist churches at Pelahatchie and Wesson.

Lee Heads Week

Overall chairman of the Religious Emphasis week activities is Rev. Clay F. Lee, director of the campus Wesley Foundation and pastor of the Raymond Methodist Church.

The seven student-faculty committies are hospitality, usher, worship, entertainment, publicity, music, and visitation. All committee members will kick-off the week's activities at a 5 p.m. dinner meeting Monday in the college cafeteria.

The committees: Hospitality — Mr. Frances Lee, chairman, Mr. Robert Mayo, Frances Nelson, Ann St. Clair, Anna Maurejohn, Billie Lee Alexander, and Pat Murphy.

Rabalais Serves

Ushers — Mr. Mike Rabalais, chairman, Mr. Jack Treloar, Bill Boyt, Carl Foster, Barry Marrineaux, and George Woods.

Worship — Miss B. J. Frew, chairman, Mr. Fred Brooks, Rose Earnest, I. M. Beasley, Steve Kirchmyr, and Dot Gatlin.

Entertainment — Mrs. Margaret Kimball, chairman, Mrs. T. T. Beemon, Mr. T. T. Beemon, Rebecca Legg, Marion Sherrill, and Mary Cressman.

Publicity — Mr. Irl Dean Rhodes, chairman, Miss Sara Nell Taylor, Mr. Wallace Wall, Jean Rodgers, Tommy Nance, Corkie Lyle, Charles Allen, and Charles Cotting.

To Present Music

Music — Mr. Leslie Reeves, chairman, Miss Glenda Rush Linda Bratton, Ellis McKay, Ina Mae Ainsworth and Annette Gibbes.

Visitation — Mr. Rosser Wall, chairman, Miss Elaine Mayfield, Mrs. Carolyn Bowen, Miss Mildred Herrin, Mr. W. C. "Bill" Oakes, Sonny Penley, Jinny Davis, Nancy Hamil, Rita Anderson, Byrle Kynerd, June Brown, John Wilda, James Sansing, Edne Earl Hill, Betsy Haynes, and Sid Lindsey.

Hinds Officials To Attend Junior - Senior Conference

Five administrative officials at Hinds will attend the Mississippi Junior-Senior College Conference at Meridian on October 10-11.

President and Mrs. G. M. McLendon, Mr. Robert Mayo, administrative assistant; Mr. A. L. Denton, guidance director; Miss Mildred Herrin, registrar; and Mrs. Frances Lee, dean of women, will participate in the conference activities at the Meridian Municipal Junior College next Monday and Tuesday.

"Higher Education in Mississippi — A Reappraisal for the Sixties," is the theme of the conference.

Convention speakers include Mr. Ernest V. Hollis, United States Office of Education; Miss Pauline Carter, Jackson Murrah High School; Mr. W. Alton Bryant, University of Mississippi; Mr. Woodrow Clark, secretary-treasurer of the Mississippi Association of Colleges, Dr. Doak S. Campbell, Florida State University; and Mr. J. P. Love, Mississippi Legislature.

Banquet speaker is Dr. L. O. Todd, Meridian Public Schools.

Hinds Hi-Steppers, Editor Take Part In Crabbe Program

Eleven Hinds Hi-Steppers performed at the dedication of a Buster Crabbe Swimming Pool in Jackson Monday.

The group was accompanied by Mrs. Alon Bee, Hi-Stepper instructor; the Stardusters, the Hinds Dance Band; and Mr. Al Rowan, Hinds band director.

The Hi-Steppers' performance was televised over WLBT, Channel 3 in Jackson.

Hindsonian editor, Jean Rodgers, represented Hinds at a luncheon honoring Buster Crabbe at the King Edward Hotel Monday.

Students Desiring To Ride Hinds Bus Sign Up In Office

All students who are interested in riding a bus to the Hinds-Delta football game at Moorhead Saturday night should sign up with Mrs. Margaret Kimball in President McLendon's office by Friday.

A minimum of 20 students must register and pay $.50 in order to carry a student bus.

The Hinds Eagle band and Hi-Steppers will also make the trip and perform during halftime.

Morals: A Must In Education - President Tells

"Morals in Education for the Future—A Must," was Hinds Junior College President G. M. McLendon's topic to a Methodist church group in Jackson Monday night.

Speaking to a father-son banquet at Capitol Street Methodist Church, President McLendon urged parents to take an active interest in the education of their children.

Mr. McLendon is frequently called upon to speak at civic clubs, career days, dedications, graduation exercises, and banquets. Civic clubs in the vicinity often invite Mr. McLendon to speak about the facilities at Hinds.

Jackson Student Directs Sophomores

A slender Jackson scholar who heads campus Phi Theta Kappa activities was elected president of the sophomore class in a first primary victory last Thursday.

Rex Carson scored the win over Sonny Penley, Vicksburg, and Corkie Lyle, Belzoni.

Byrle Kynerd, Raymond, was selected vice president of the class in a one vote sweep over Tommy Nance, Jackson, and Belinda Hill, Brandon.

In the secretary's race, Frances Nelson, Vicksburg, defeated Gail Rushing, Forest Hill, in the second primary held Friday. Dot Gatlin, Madison, and Martha Arrangton, Bruce, were eliminated in Thursday's balloting.

The treasurer's campaign saw Rose Earnest, Slate Springs, defeat Dicky Silver, Jackson, in the run-off primary. Betty Williams, Jackson, and I. M. Beasley, Raymond, were excluded in the first primary.

The class chose Mr. W. C. "Bill" Oakes as class sponsor in the initial primary. Mr. Oakes, hygiene instructor, is Hinds' recreational director.

Other nominees for class sponsor were Mr. T. T. Beemon, biology professor, and Mr. Mike Rabalais, counselor for boys and physchology instructor.

Mr. R. C. Benton, dean of men, is one of the class sponsors by virtue of his appointment by the administration.

Conceal Ugly Trash Cans

Hinds Junior College has one of the most attractive campuses in the South. Many hours of hard work and a considerable sum of money have gone into making Hinds one of the most beautiful colleges to be found anywhere.

With all of the physical beauty and nature's great handiwork why must our campus be blemished by two large, ugly oil-drum style garbage cans in front of the student center building. They are centrally located. And they are bad eye-catchers.

These two cans have become obvious after the removal of two benches. We have no objection to removing the benches.

However, if the cans are to be left in such a conspicuous place why don't we make them attractive. Our suggestion is that Mrs. A. L. Denton and her Art Department crew take this as a special project.

Beautifying the cans will be simple. A picture of a pretty girl, a butterfly or a cartoon would be a tremendous improvement.

Why not attract students to the garbage pails designwise, and work on a three dimensional, multicolored project at the same time.

The renovation of the garbage pails would serve a threefold purpose: the campus would be more attractive, the garbage cans would attract constructive attention by making students more conscious of depositing their trash in them, and Mr. Jack Treloar's maintenance gang would have less work to keep the campus clean.

Let's start a "Trash Can" School of Art.

Attend Religious Services

"Go ye therefore, and teach all nations . . ."

Such a teacher is Rev. Inman Moore, Jr., minister of the Leggett Memorial Methodist Church in Biloxi. The Rev. Moore is the guest speaker for Religious Emphasis Week at Hinds to be held October 10-13.

The annual week on the campus is a time when everyone can emphasize his own religion and renew his faith in God.

It offers an opportunity for students of all denominations to hear an outstanding young minister preach the gospel of Jesus Christ. It is a chance for students of various faiths to come together and share a religious experience.

Religious Emphasis Week is an important reminder to students who become very busy during the school year with classes, clubs, social outings, and other activities, and almost forget to seek His guidance in daily undertakings.

Attend the REW services. They are of vital concern.

Appreciate Poor Taxpayer

We are living in an era of big financial deals, and the size of our parents' tax bill is in itself a big financal matter. The procedure of levying taxes today is very much like that of bidding in a game of bridge. Very often they are doubled and redoubled.

That's why we should take advantage of the facilities on the Hinds Junior College campus that were made possible by the taxpayers.

Hinds is blessed with one of the most modern junior college plants in the country. We should make the most of our every opportunity.

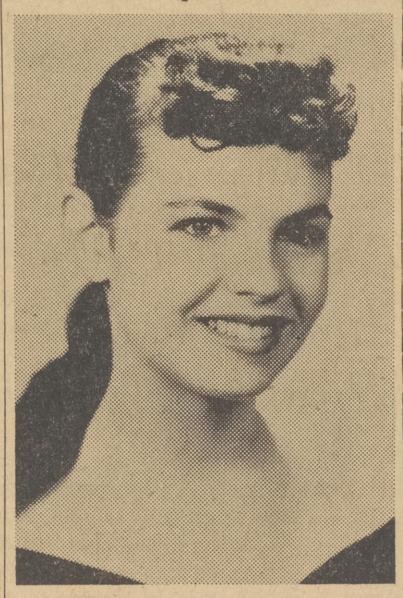
Class Secretary, Lendon Player Plays Leading Role At Hinds JC

By CORKIE LYLE

A twinkle-eyed beauty with an overload of extra-curricular activities has been chosen as the Sophomore of the Week.

In the recent primary for the election of sophomore class officers, the Hill City lass was elected class secretary. Frances was the most popular vote-getter in a field of four qualified nominees.



FRANCES NELSON
Twinkle-Eyed Beauty

Frances is one of the most popular girls on the campus in student activities. Last year at Hinds she was a member of the choir, girls' ensemble, and debate team.

She had one of the leading roles in both Lendon Player productions last year. She was named to membership in Phi Theta Kappa and was a member of the Eagle staff.

Write Her Name

The dazzling dainty doll arrived on the campus in September determined to write her name down in the ledger of outstanding students at Hinds Junior College.

She is again a member of the choir, Baptist Student Union, reporter for the Phi Theta Kappa, president of the Lendon Players, and a member of the debate team. She is serving as assistant editor of the Eagle.

Frances' fame reaches beyond the Hinds campus. She has played for three years on the showboat at Vicksburg. She plays the role of Barbara and Edith in the melodrama, "Gold In the Hills."

Plays In Three

In the summer stock for productions on the showboat, Frances has played the lead in three other one-act plays. They are "In the Tunnel," "When Shakespeares Ladies Meet," and "The Warrior's Husband."

Frances is an elementary education major. She is undecided about her future alma mater, but is thinking about Mississippi State College for Women or Ole Miss. The Hindsonian staff wishes Frances Nelson the very best of luck. With her ability and charm she will reach the top in her chosen field.

Editor Questions Celebrity About Movie Star Role

By JEAN RODGERS

"Me Tarzan; you Jane". . . came the cry from the dense forest of North Africa.

JEAN

Muscular Buster Crabbe, former Tarzan in the movie series was interviewed Monday by eight high school newspaper editors in the Jackson area and this writer at a luncheon sponsored by WLBT Television Station at the King Edward Hotel in Jackson.

Mr. Crabbe was in Jackson for the opening of the new "Buster Crabbe" Cascade swimming pool which was recently completed at WLBT.

Space Roles

In the 'world of outer space' Mr. Crabbe has played the roles of Buck Rogers and Flash Gordon.

As his favorite series, he revealed he enjoyed making the Captain Gallant of the Foreign Legion best because his son, Collin, played the part of Cuffy in the pictures.

Marlon Brando was named by Mr. Crabbe 'the greatest talent in the picture business.' He stated that although Brando is sometimes 'eccentric', he has a way of analyzing his part and putting his annalysis into action.

Breakfast Helps

When asked how he maintained his excellent physic and refrained from getting a 'middle age sag', he stated that exercise, especially swimming, and a large breakfast helped to keep him in good condition.

Mr. Crabbe, who holds 16 world and 35 national swimming records, was a top flight high school athlete. Although he was born in Oakland, Calif., he attended high school in Honolulu where he lettered every year in football, basketball, track, and swimming, making a total of 16 letters.

Selected For Movies

After two years of law school at the University of Southern California, Buster Crabbe was selected for tryouts in several movie roles. He has been in the motion picture business for 27 years and has completed 170 films.

Future plans for the handsome Mr. Crabbe include making several personal appearances this month and beginning a new western movie in about a week.

Summing up our interview with Buster Crabbe, we think that he's a very straight forward person. His extrovert personality stands out as one of his most distinguishing traits.

Publication Editors Enjoy Air Tour Of Local Campus

By JEAN RODGERS

Cruising along at 100 m.p.h., 3500 feet above Raymond, with clouds on all sides, pilot Kennis Bryant, Hinds Junior College flight and airplane mechanics instructor gave Jewel McNair, Eagle editor, and this writer a tour of Hinds Junior College — airbound.

The airplane, a Piper Super Cruiser, gracefully soared into the air from one of the three 4,000 feet runways at the John Bell Williams Airport which is owned by Hinds Junior College.

Pilot Bryant, who has been an instructor at Hinds for the past 10 years, has taught flying for eight years at Hinds.

An artist in the air, Mr. Bryant sadly revealed, "The majority of students don't know about our flying program's reasonable rates and opportunities." The lessons are only $7 an hour. Usually flying lessons run about $12 an hour. It takes 50 hours, 25 solo, and 15 cross-country flights to get a private operator's liscense.

The airport, which consists of 640 acres has a 135 by 80 feet airplane hanger located near the runways. A glider for beginning students and the airplane mechanics shop are located within the hanger.

As the cruiser breezed above the campus, passengers on the new venture made a special note of how doll-house size the buildings on the campus appeared. Raymond Lake resembled just a puddle of water in a rich green field from 3500 feet up. Hinds' ant-size football team at practice amused the viewers in the 'blue yonder.'

Circling the airport Mr. Bryant answered several questions about the airport and himself.

He attended Parks Air College, a division of St. Louis University, and started flying when he was 28. Prior to coming to Hinds, he was the chief inspector at the Jackson Air Base.

Mr. Bryant, who is a native of Mize in Sullivan's Hollow proudly says that the flight school at Hinds Junior College is the only such school of its kind in Mississippi to offer courses in flying. He added that other state colleges were in the experimenting stages in offering flying courses.

It was an exciting and proud experience for two inquisitive Hinds coeds — proud of Hinds Junior College and its flight school.

ONLY 1 FOREIGN COUNTRY

Students Range From Across The State

From across the country and across the state come students to the Hinds campus making the enrollment one of the largest in the history of the college.

The total enrollment is 1063 which includes 546 freshmen, 323 sophmores, nine special students, 135 vocational students, and 49 special high school vocational students.

Seventy-five per cent of the enrollment comes from its free tax supporting counties — Hinds, Rankin, and Warren; 80 per cent from Hinds' five county district — Hinds, Rankin, Warren, Madison, and Yazoo Counties; and fifty-two per cent comes from Hinds County.

Represented in the student body are 41 of Mississippi's 82 counties, 14 states, and one foreign country. Only four percent of the enenrollment is composed of out-of-state students.

The breakdown by counties: Hinds 455, Warren 104, Rankin 93, Yazoo 30, Madison 19, Claiborne 10, Simpson 9, Copiah 8, Scott 8, Smith 7, Jefferson 7, Jeff Davis 7, Leake 7, Newton 7, Sharkey 7, Adams 6, Humphreys 6, Calhoun 5, Coahoma 3, Washington 3, Wilkinson 3, Forrest 2, Harrison 2, Lawrence 2, Pike 2, Sunflower 2, and Webster 2.

Counties having only one student are Amite, Attala, Choctaw, Clay, Covington, Franklin, Grenada, Holmes, Issaquena, Lauderdale, Leflore, Lowndes, Montgomery, and Panola.

States represented are Louisiana 13, Florida 8, Georgia 4, Arkansas 3, Tennessee 2, Kentucky 1, Wisconsin 1, North Carolina 1, New Mexico 1, New York 1, Alabama 1, Connecticut 1, and Missouri 1.

The foreign country represented is Iran.

Administrative Assistant Moderates Jackson Parent-Teacher Discussion

"Needs of Children" was the subject of a panel discussion spearheaded by Mr. Robert M. Mayo, Hinds administrative assistant, at the Hinds County Parent-Teacher Association meeting in Jackson last week.

Mr. Mayo served as moderator of the program. Other members on the panel were Mrs. Myrtis Meadows, former principal of Van Winkle Elementary School and now a faculty member at Millsaps College in Jackson; Mr. H. R. Stauss, pass president of the Jackson P-TA, and a member of the board of managers of the State P-TA; and Mr. Hal France, principal of Provine High School in Jackson.

The panelists discussed the needs of pre-school children, school-age children, adolescents, and adults and possible P-TA projects to help meet these needs.

College Instructor Arrives Here To Undertake Duties

A new Hinds Junior College instructor arrived on the campus Saturday.

Mrs. Lucille S. Keen arrived here to assume duties as assistant dean of women and physchology instructor. She will be in charge of Northside Dormitory.

A native of Kosciusko, Mrs. Keen is a graduate of Mississippi Southern College. She comes to Hinds from Southern where she has been assisting the dean of women.

She arrived on the campus a month late due to a broken leg she suffered in mid-August.

New York Yanks To Win Series

By TOMMY NANCE

"Take me out to the ballgame" was the top tune on the American hit parade today as the 1960 World Series got underway in Pittsburgh. The New York Yankees were established 7 to 5 favorites among the nation's bookmakers in a pre-series poll to defeat the surprising Pirate club.

Winning its first pennant in 33 years, Pittsburgh has been named as the favorite among many of the leading sports magazines and writers throughout the country. Pirate pitching is the main discussion in the Yankee camp. The National League club has a definite edge on the mound.

Vernon Law and Bob Friend, both having two-off days before the series, will be able to pitch five or six games between them, while Whity Ford, the Yankee's best, requires four days rest between starts. The National League winner will depend heavily upon Wilmer Mizell and Harvey Haddix.

TOMMY

The Pirates are loaded with reliefers in Elroy Face, Fred Green, and Joe Gibbon, southpaws, and right-hander Clem Labine.

Besides Ford, Art Ditmar will probably be one of the early series starters for the New Yorkers. Jim Coates, Eli Grba, Ryne Duren, Duke Maas, Bobby Shantz and Luis Arroyo will see action for the Yankees.

YANKS HAVE POWER

Casey Stengel's nine has the power and glory in Roger Maris, Mickey Mantle, and Bill Skowron and should hold a slight edge over Pittsburgh in the hitting department. But the Pirates have gathered enough singles to equal New York in run production during the regular season.

Maris, Mantle, and Skowron have totaled more home runs during the year than the entire Pittsburgh starting line-up, but right-handed batters like Don Hoak, Roberto Clemente, Gino Cimoli, and Dick Groat should make up the lack of power in singles.

With Pittsburgh holding the edge in the pitching department and the Yanks in the hitting, the fielding positions are as similar as any two in the majors. Skowron equals Dick Stuart and Rocky Nelson at the first base sacker and Bobby Richardson and Bill Mazeroski are as good as any second basemen in the two leagues.

Tony Kubek might not be quite as sure of himself at the shortstop position as Groat, but he can come through with the tough ones. Cletis Boyer will be the best for the American League champs at the third base slot, while Don Hoak is equally good for Pittsburgh.

The Pirate outfielders are all good with Clemente's speed and powerful arm. Yankee fielders are almost errorless but anything can happen in such crucial games as played in the World Series.

The Yankees, with Yogi Berra and Elston Howard, have stronger strength behind the plate than the Pirates, with Smokey Burgess and Hal Smith. But neither team steals many bases, so the catchers won't be under great pressure.

DEPEND ON SINGLES

The World Series will be won by singles hit to the opposite field and by tight pitching. Sacrifice bunts, sharp defense and the refusal to quit will play important roles in the games also. Who will win is anyone's guess, but our prediction is that New York will take it in 6 games.

Fighting Eagles Fly To Moorhead Saturday To Meet Trojan Gridders

Delta Club Eyes Upset Win Over 1st Place Hinds

Flapping their wings high in the sky, the Hinds Junior College Eagles perch in the flatlands Saturday night for a battle with the Delta Trojans in Moorhead.

Coach Joe Renfroe's Eagles will be seeking their fifth win of the current campaign and battling to remain the No. 1 club in the conference.

Delta, formerly Sunflower, goes into the game with a 2-1-0 record. The Trojans were idle last week. With a graduation loss of 15 lettermen, Jim Randall's clan will bank heavily on quarterback Frank Zametto, halfback Wendell Bridges, and guards Paul Garrett, John Bariola, and Wade Perkins for top performances.

Only seven men from last year's 6-3-1 team are back and the main need at the Moorhead camp is depth at the key positions.

The Birdsmen hold a slight edge over the Delta Trojans in previous games. Hinds has won 13 meets against 10 losses and three ties. The last Raymond win came in 1957, when the Eagles trounched Delta, 33-7.

Starters Announced

The probable starting lineup for the Hinds Eagles is Earl Hicks at center, guards Tommy Hudson and Howard Freeman, Wayne Sullivan and Don Gleason at the tackle positions, and ends Mike Vinson and Charles Simmons.

In the backfield will be quarterback Don Fugate, halfbacks Byrle Kynerd and Wilburn Williamson, and fullback Johnny Daher. Others making the trip that will probably see some action are Norman Agent and Joe Haynes, centers, Van Courson and Vincient Aaron, guards.

John Earl Calhoun and Ed Johnson at the tackle slots, Don Lane, Richard Mills, Willie Russum, and Charles Hayden at the end position. Quarterback Sonny Penley and Bobby Luckett will see action, while Donald Swafford, David Bass, Charles Peterson, Gerald Lester, and Pete Carter will fill in at the halfback spots.

Burt Sullivan and Charles Slaydon will see action at the fullback position.

1-2-3 HIKE! — Hinds centers Norman Agent, Joe Haynes, and Earl Hicks prepare for Saturday night's battle with the Trojans of Mississippi Delta. The Eagles invade Moorhead with a perfect 4-0-0 record, while Delta supports a 2-1-0 mark.

Top Ranked Hinds Eagles Trounce Jones In Laurel's Watkins Stadium

The Hinds Junior College Eagles, taking advantage of two touchdowns within the first five minutes of the game, trounced the Jones Bobcats Saturday to the tune of 26-0.

Before a crowd of 5,000 in Laurel's Watkins Stadium, halfback Wilburn Williamson took the opening kickoff and galloped 95 yards for the first Eagle talley. The next time the Hinds club took possession of the ball, fullback Johnny Daher sped through right tackle for 85 yards and the second Bird six-pointer.

The second quarter saw scoring action when Hinds marched to the 'Cat 16 yard marker. A pass to end Richard Mills from quarterback Don Fugate made the score 18-0 for the Eagles.

Neither team threatened in the third stanza, Jones collected only six yards against the Eagles' 47 in the third period. On the first play in the final period, quarterback Sonny Penley charged over from the six to add the final layer to the cake. Byrle Kynerd added the icing with the first Hinds extra points of the night. The score stood 26-0.

Offensive honors went to Daher, who tallied 204 of the total 275 Eagle rushing yards, 176 of which came in the opening half when Renfroe's clan put the game on ice.

Throwing four completed passes Fugate netted 61 yards in the air. Kynerd snared four aerials for 55 yards to complete Hinds' offensive scorebook.

JC GRID-WIRE

National Junior College Publication Picks Local Squad In Top 20 Teams

In a recent newsletter from the Junior College Grid-Wire of Pasadena, Calif. the news staff picks the Hinds Eagles in the top 20 among junior colleges of the nation.

However, the order of the teams will not be announced until next week.

In the top 20 are three Mississippi colleges — Hinds, Holmes, and Northwest. California is the only other state to place more than the Magnolia state in the high ranks.

Rounding out the other Dixieland elevens are Tyler, Texas, Del Mar of Corpus Christi, Tex., and Cameron Junior College of Lawton, Okla.

California teams represented in the top 20 are Bakerfield, Santa Ana, Long Beach, East Los Angeles, Mount Sacramento, San Mateo, and San Bernardino.

Boise Junior College of Idaho, Columbia Basin, Hancock, Pratt of Kansas, Pueblo of Colorado, Wenatchee of Washington, and Phoenix of Arizona complete the top 20 teams.

Women's Athletic Teams Complete Volleyball Series

Winner in the initial game of the Women's Athletic Association's volleyball series was Team II, captain Bert Wynn and co-captain Ann Hardin, along with Barbara Davis, Ann Brooks, Jenny Loflin, Mildred Morris, Marie McGuffie, and Sue Schmidt won over a field of three teams.

Team IV placed second in the series. Led by captain Bernell Boler and co-captain Vivian Hurt, other members are Barbara Carter, Mary Louise West, Margaret Spencer, Mary Dawkins, Linda Hollingsworth, and Evon Dennis.

Captains Red Shivers and Joanie Phillips led teams I and III to the third and fourth positions. A total of 36 girls were on hand for the first night's ball game.

Volleyball play will continue through this week in the WAA.

NOVEMBER CURTAIN DATE

Lendon Players Reveal Cast For Comedy

A fast moving 3-act comedy, The Imaginary Invalid by Moliere, has been chosen as the Lendon Players' fall production.

The 11-member cast — seven males and four females—will be staged on Nov. 17 at 8 p.m. in the college auditorium. Mr. Fred L. Brooks, speech and dramatics instructor, will direct the production.

Vicksburg sophomore Frances Nelson and Jackson freshman Jack Roberts have been selected for the leading roles in the fall comedy. Jack plays the part of Argan, the imaginary invalid. Frances portrays the role of Toinette, Argan's impish servant.

Other cast members include Ernestine Hall, of Vicksburg, as Angelique, Argan's elder daughter; Gwen Canoy, of Magee, as Beline, Argan's second young wife; Elizabeth Strong of Raymond, as Louison, Argon's younger daughter; and Bob McGregor, of Forest Hill, as Monsieur De Bonnefoi, a notary.

Portraying the remaining five roles are Earl Lee, of Mount Olive, as Cleante, in love with Angelique; Brooks Reid, of Vicksburg, as Beralde, Argan's brother; Charles Seegar, of Fayette, as Monsieur Duafoirus, a physician; Jim Cummings, of Raymond, os Thomas Diafoirus, Argan's son; and Henry Brown, of Jackson, as Monsieur Fleurant, an apothecary.

Conrad Robertson of Clinton will be in charge of lighting; Anna Maurajohn, of Jackson, Kay Adams, of Brandon, and Mildred Brown, of Jackson, are responsible for make-up; and Jim Moore, of Vicksburg, Peggy Lrwin, of Vicksburg, and Ruth Brinson, of Terry, are in charge of the publicity.

Admission will be $.50 for students and $1.00 for adults.

The plot of the play revolves around Argan, who is about 55 and is in good health. Egotistical Argan gives very little regard to the comfort or happiness of those around him. Three characteristics rule his life: tyrannical egotism and harshness, gullibility, and extreme dread of death.

Toinette, the leading female character, is an impish servant who sees right through Argan's pretensive manner, much to his distress. Eventually Argan sees himself in a true light through the efforts of Toinette. She, like Argan, is very tryrannical in nature.

Comedy blended with strong emotions is the basic theme running throughout the entire play. Argan's fear of death is the main emotion seen in the play.

The Imaginary Invalid carries a story of how the mysteries of science can be played against the human mind to completely blind the characters to the scheming of the 'villians' of the story.

Rehearsals for the production will begin next week.

It is the first of two productions to be held on the Hinds campus this year. The second production is being planned for some time next spring.

PHOTOGRAPHICALLY SPEAKING, she's a doll. Al Capone, the dreaded gangster of three decades ago whose syndicate savagery is finally being told by Hollywood, couldn't get more attention from beady-eyed students on the Hinds campus than does freshman Eva Sipes of Forest Hill. Plenty of young men would be delighted to pin an orchid on this elegant looking lass—Hinds Honey No. 2.

LIST RULES

Soph Group Tells Plans For '60 Freshman Day

A sophomore class committee released plans today for Freshman Day, Wednesday, October 19.

The committee, composed of Rex Carson, Byrle Kynerd, Tommy Jackson, Rose Earnest, Frances Nelson, and Mr. W. C. Oakes, announced a list of 15 freshman rules.

The rules:

1. All freshmen must attend all classes.

2. All freshmen must attend all meals and only the knife may be used at meals. Freshmen must eat on the floor.

Must Carry Books

3. All freshmen must carry all books the entire day in a sack or a pillow case.

4. All freshmen must memorize all freshmen day rules and be able to recite the school alma mater.

5. All freshmen must have their hair starched by a sophomore.

6. When an air raid is called all freshmen must fall (flat) immediately to the ground until the all clear signal is given.

7. Freshmen must not walk on any sidewalk without permission from a sophomore.

Need Escort

8. Freshmen may not enter the grill without a sophomore escort.

9. No freshmen may stay in the dormitory more than 15 minutes from breakfast until the parade.

10. Freshmen girls must carry 18 bobbie pins and boys must carry 18 rocks. These will be counted whenever a sophomore requires it. They must be carried in in a sock.

LOST: A DIAMOND RING

Mr. Pat Smith, Hinds Junior College English instructor, has lost an unmounted, one half carat blue-white diamond from his ring set. He would appreciate any information concerning the diamond.

Methodists To Stage Fall Retreat On Campus During Weekend

★ ★ ★

Religious Week Slate Concludes Tomorrow Nite

The 1960 Religious Emphasis Week at Hinds Junior College concludes tomorrow night.

Rev. Inman Moore, Jr. will bring the final messages Thursday at 9:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. A group discussion will be held in Main Dormitory at 7:20 p.m.

Miss B. J. Frew, Baptist Student Union Director at Hinds, and Rev. Clay F. Lee, pastor of Raymond Methodist Church and director of Hinds' Wesley Foundation, have been pleased with student attendance at the services this week.

The major purpose of Religious Emphasis Week is to promote spiritual growth on the campus.

Senior, Junior College Student To Participate In Wesley Confab

A state-wide Methodist Student Movement Fall Retreat will be held on the Hinds campus this weekend.

Students from state senior and junior colleges, both private and tax supported will attend the weekend confab, with a Florida Methodist preacher as keynote speaker.

Rev. Thaxton Springhill, pastor of University Methodist Church and director of the Wesley Foundation at the University of Florida, will be the featured guest speaker. The Rev. Springhill is a Bachelor of Arts graduate from Emory University. He received his Bachelor of Divinity degree from the Candler School of Theology.

Rev. Clay F. Lee, pastor of the Raymond Methodist Church and director of the local Wesley Foundation, announces that five workshops will be held, with the following topics for discussion, Ecunuminicity, World Christian Community, Programming, Small Situations, and Deputations.

The retreat officially opens at 6:30 p.m. Friday and will extend through noon Sunday.

Officers of the Hinds Methodist group are I. M. Beasley, president; Tommy Nance, vice president; and Ann St. Clair, secretary.

Music Committee members are Ina Mae Ainsworth, Sid Lindsey, and Bill Mathews. Kay Collins and Sammie Thomason are in charge of publicity. Rex Carson is Hinds' representative to the Methodist Student Movement.

Pledge chairmen are Carolyn Shuff and Ellis McKay. Marian Sherrill and Rita Anderson are in charge of the social and program committees.

Debates Stimulate Interest

The initial two "great debates" by the presidential candidates have caused considerable comment. The final two television bouts are scheduled for October 14 (tomorrow night) and October 21.

It is our sincere hope that the presidential aspirants will not be judged on the basis of facial make-up, poise, glamor, timbre of voice, and the ability to answer questions on a moment's notice.

Today's 20th century electronic journalism brings the candidates into the peaceful atmosphere of the American home. We are confident that the coast-to-coast radio and television debates are serving a useful purpose.

They are stimulating interest in the campaign and giving the American people an "on the scene" discussion of the issues.

We trust that Hinds Junior College students are concerned enough to listen to the debates and work for the political group of their choosing whether it be for the Democrats, Republicans, or Unpledged Electors.

The real question is "Who is best qualified to lead our great commonwealth in the next four 'space-age' years?"

College Rolls Out Carpet

Hinds Junior College rolls out its red carpet welcome mat Friday to 100 students attending the Methodist Student Movement Fall Retreat on our campus.

Methodist students from senior and junior college Wesley Foundations throughout the state will be on the campus for the annual fall retreat.

The administration, faculty, and student body at Hinds welcomes each of our visitors. We hope that your stay on our campus will be pleasant and profitable. Hinds' buildings and facilities are available for your use.

The retreat is a fitting climax to the successful campus-wide Religious Emphasis Week on the campus.

We consider it a high privilege and distinct honor to have you on our campus. We sincerely hope you will enjoy your stay.

Students Express Opinions In Paper

All letters to the Hindsonian editor must be signed. Names will be withheld on request.

OFF THE CUFF

Teaching Profession Offers Benefits

Mississippi is facing a "Severe teacher shortage" this year. There is an estimated 575,000 white and Negro students presently enrolled in Mississippi schools.

JEAN

"We've had more calls for teachers this year than in any recent year, and the need is far greater in small towns and rural areas than it is in the large cities," stated Mr. Bilbo Young, supervisor for the division of teacher education, certification and placement service of the State Department of Education, in a local newspaper.

The greatest teacher shortage for the active school year has been for librarians, piano teachers, and public school music teachers. There has also been a severe lack of English, math, science and foreign language teachers.

Leave Profession

There were 950 white teachers and 437 Negro teachers who left the teaching profession in Mississippi between 1959 and 1960, according to a report on the teacher supply.

The majority of these sought jobs in other states where salaries are higher. Others still, took jobs in industry, went into the armed services, got married, or failed to renew their teaching certificates.

Although there is a shortage of teachers, vast improvements have been made in the building program, teacher benefits and specialization requirements.

Are Springing Up

Large, modern buildings and additions with complete facilities are springing up all over the state.

Better retirement benefits and salaries are gradually improving each year.

Small increases in semester hours are expected to be made in social studies, English, modern languages, and math.

The field of education is expanding annually in Mississippi. Opportunities for advancement, a steady job, a feeling of self-satisfaction, and the respect of the public can be gained in the teaching profession.

It offers tremendous opportunity for dedicated teachers to mold young minds. We highly recommend the teaching profession.

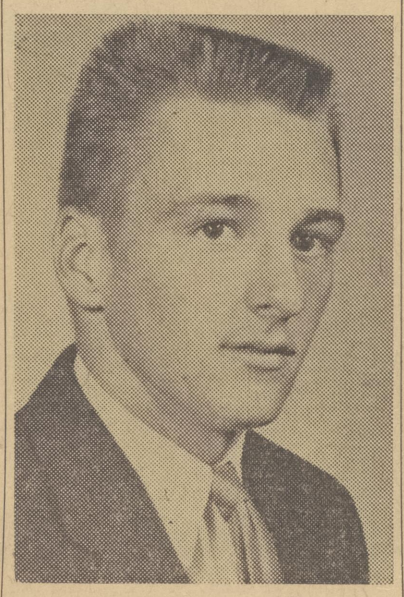
SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Class Vice President, High Scoring Football Ace, Proud Kynerd Recipe

By TOMMY NANCE

Take a rubber mold that is 5'9" tall, pour in 145 pounds of All-American boy, add two brown eyes and a dash of brown hair, then cook for 19 years and you will have this week's sophomore of the week, Byrle Kynerd.

Byrle, who is known all over the Hinds Junior College campus as No. 20, is one reason the Eagle gridsters have won their initial five games. The speedy halfback has contributed three touchdowns in the first four games and an extra point for a total of 20 points.



BYRLE KYNERD
Dependable Student

Exceeds In Sports

Exceeding not only on the gridiron, Byrle is a star on the cage floor and on the cinders in Eagle Stadium. He earned four football letters, four basketball, two baseball, three track, and two tennis honors while at Raymond High School.

Along with his 15 letters in high school, he was elected Mr. Raymond High, most versatile, best boy athlete, and president of the senior class.

Determined to add to his long list of honors at college, Byrle was recently elected sophomore class vice president. In last year's Eagle, college annual, he was chosen as the most dependable boy on campus.

Finds Necessary Time

Being a member of the Circle K Club and the Hunting and Fishing Club, Byrle still finds time for spiritual growth.

Finishing a year as president of the college class at Raymond Methodist Church, Byrle plans to go to Millsaps to continue his education before going to ministerial school.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Kynerd have one recipe to be proud of and the Hindsonian takes this time to extend its best wishes and luck to another fine student.

Other officers elected are Sammy Thomason, Jackson, vice president; Nancy Williams, Inverness, secretary; and Ann St. Clair, Jackson, treasurer.

The club is an honorary organization—open to art students by invitation only. Several field trips are being planned to art galleries and schools in the vicinity of Hinds.

The club meets every other Thursday during 2A period in the art room.

Honor Group To Initiate Special Campus Students

Phi Theta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity for junior college students, will initiate 12 new Hinds Junior College pledges next Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the college auditorium.

Twelve Hinds students have received and accepted invitations to join the organization. One freshman and 11 sophomores will participate in the initiation ceremony Tuesday night.

Linda Bratton, second semester freshman from Bruce, has won "special honors" with a grade average of 2.5 or above.

The 11 sophomores who have earned a grade average of 2.2 or above on each semester's work are Ruth Barlow, Raymond; I. M. Beasley, Raymond; Kay Collins, Jackson; Evelyn DuBose, Jackson; Nancy Hamill, Carthage; Jack Lee, Clinton; Rebecca Legg, Jackson; Rita Lott, Jackson; Carol McNair, Raymond; Maxine Ware, Jackson; and Betty Williams, Jackson.

The invitations were issued on the basis of grades and unanimous recommendation or character of citizenship by active members of the chapter and the faculty.

The initiation ceremony will be directed by Rex Carson, chapter president; and Miss Herrin, society sponsor.

A reception honoring the new Phi Theta Kappa members will be held after the ceremony for the friends and families of those initiated. Girls from the Home Economics Department will hostesses at the reception.

Delta Clips Fighting Eagles' Wings On Mud-Soaked Trojan Battlefield

TOUCHDOWN! Hinds halfback Byrle Kynerd scoots across the goal line at Moorhead Saturday night on a 15 yard pass play from quarterback Sonny Penley. Coming in the second quarter, the sole Eagle tally gave the Hinds team a 6-0 margin at intermission. Moorhead Upsets Birdmen In 14-6 Conference Game

The Hinds Junior College Eagles, still smarting from a 14-6 defeat by Delta Saturday night, are back at work this week preparing for next week's battle with East Mississippi.

It was Hinds' first defeat of the season. The Trojans of Moorhead went into the game with a 2-1 mark but advanced into second place in the rough Mississippi loop after a mud-soaked upset win.

The Eagles, who are still in first place by means of a three-way tie involving Northwest and Pearl River, scored late in the first half on a pass from quarterback Sonny Penley to halfback Byrle Kynerd. The toss was good for 14 yards, but the two-point try after touchdown failed and the Eagles led 6-0 at halftime.

Get Bad Snap

Hinds' lead held up until midway in the third quarter when a bad snap from center sailed over fullback Burt Sullivan's head and cost the Eagles 27 yards.

The Delta gridders gained possession on the miscue and galloped 29 yards in nine plays for the tying tally. It was fullback Y. C. McNease, who scored the six pointer over left tackle from a yard out. Delta's two-point conversion failed and it was all tied up.

Sets Up Play

A 20-yard punt return by Wendell Bridges to the Eagle 45 set up the winning march. It took the Trojans four plays to gain 13 yards against the strong Hinds defensive wall. On the fifth play Bridges sped over right guard and scored from the 32 for the touchdown.

This time the point after touchdown was good. McNease blasted over for two yards and the homestanding Trojans won, 14-6.

SPORTS PREVIEW

Hinds Rates Praise For 1st Half

By TOMMY NANCE

Yes, Virginia, Hinds Junior College still has a football team. And a very good one at that.

Although the Eagles suffered their first setback of the season at Moorhead Saturday night, they are still No. 1 in the junior college circuit. Hinds is dead-locked in first place with Pearl River and Northwest. Hinds still can win the state JC football title.

The flashy Hinds Eagle squad has created a good deal of headlines during the first half of the season and will continue to do so the second half.

Junior college coaches in the state appear to have made a most grievous error in regarding Hinds' 1960 edition as a weak sister. The Birds have proven to be anything but a weak sister in winning their first four gridiron contests.

TOMMY

Eagle coaches Joe Renfroe and Ivan Rosamond have directed the high-bouncing Maroon and White team from dead-last in the conference last year to the No. 1 position in the league.

The Hinds Eagles have scored 104 points, while holding their opposition to only 29. In the first five games, a total of 57 first downs have been gathered by Hinds against 46 for the opponents.

Byrle Kynerd is leading the Eagles in individual scoring with 26 points. This includes four touchdowns and two points made after a six-pointer. Wilburn Williamson and Johnny Daher are following closly behind with 18 on three touchdowns apiece.

WJQS Presents Trophy

Jackson radio station WJQS, 1400, will present a trophy to the most outstanding player at the completion of the Hinds Eagle gridiron season.

The trophy will be presented to either a back or lineman, who has proven to be a good sportsman, as well as outstanding player. Percy Powers and Dewitt Hitt will represent WJQS, while coaches Joe Renfroe and Ivan Rosamond will be two judges from the Raymond campus.

We Predict

Junior college action this weekend will be at a snail's pace with four teams having open dates. East Mississippi, Hinds, Northwest, and Southwest take "vacations" from the regular season, but get started back into action the next week.

In a rival game at Wesson, the Pearl River Wildcats should take a victory over the Wolfpack of Co-Lin. Delta entertains East Central at Moorhead and should collect another home win. Itawamba invades Goodman for a battle with Holmes, but should come out on the short end of the score. Perkinston should add another victory to its list by overtaking Jones before a hometown Bulldog crowd.

Basketball Boss Tells Slate

Coach Troy A. Ricks, Hinds Junior College basketball mentor, has released an 18-game cage slate for the 1960-61 hardwood Eagles.

The Hinds five will play nine teams two games each, one at home and one on the road. All games are with Mississippi junior colleges with the exception of two games with the Mississippi State freshmen.

Ricks' aggregation tangles with the Starkville cagers in the Jackson City Auditorium on December 10 and entertains the Maroon and White clan January 28.

Provide Entertainment

Delta, Jones, Southwest, Holmes, Clarke, Perkinston, Pearl River, and Copiah-Lincoln will provide the entertainment for the Bird cagers throughout the season.

The curtain opens on Dec. 2, when Hinds travels to Moorhead to meet the Delta Trojans. The initial home contest of the year is set for Jan. 6 with Holmes' Bulldogs.

The match with the Bobcats of Ellisville will conclude the season on Feb. 4.

Lose In Tourney

Hinds was ranked No. 1 at the end of regular season play last year with 19 victories and only five setbacks, although the Eagles suffered a close 68-64 defeat to the Southwest Bears in the first round of the South Division tournament.

The 1960-61 cage schedule:

Dec. 2—at Delta
Dec. 9—at Jones
Dec. 10—Miss. State Freshmen at Jackson
Dec. 13—at Southwest
Jan. 6—Holmes, home
Jan. 7—at Clark
Jan. 10—Delta, home
Jan. 12—at Holmes
Jan. 20—at Perkinston
Jan. 21—at Pearl River
Jan. 24—Copiah-Lincoln, home
Jan. 28—Miss. State Freshmen, home
Feb. 3—Clrake, home
Feb. 4—at Copiah-Lincoln
Feb. 7—Southwest, home
Feb. 10—Pearl River, home
Feb. 11—Perkinston, home
Feb. 14—Jones, home
Feb. 23-25—South Mississippi JC Tournament
March 3-4—Overall State JC Tourney

Local Freshmen Battle Millsaps 'B' Squad In Vicksburg's Benefit Game

The Hinds Junior College Frosh are scheduled to meet the Millsaps "B" team Thursday night at 7 in a benefit gridiron game in Vicksburg's City Park. The game is being sponsored by the Vicksburg Touchdown Club.

All proceeds from the game will go to Leo Puckett, a former Vicksburg Jett football player injured in a game several years ago. Ever since the 1953 accident, Puckett has been bed-ridden and is still a patient in the hospital at times.

The Touchdown Club each year stages some sort of benefit performance for Puckett. The money derived from the performances goes to help with various medical and incidental expenses.

The Hinds Hi-Steppers and the Southern Bells of Mrs. Eleanor Beaufait's dancing school of Vicksburg will furnish added entertainment during a pre-game show and at halftime.

The Hinds roster has Bobby Luckett and Don Fugate at the quarterback slot, Gerald Lester, William Bass, Don Swafford, Bert Sullivan, and Clarence Peterson at the halfback position.

The fullback position sees Bobby Slayden, while Joe Haynes and Norman Agent will be at center. Guards Van Courson, Fred Hancock, and Vincent Aarons will be seeing action. At the tackle positions will be Ed Johnson and John Calhoun.

Finishing up the lineup are ends Don Lane, Willie Russum, Ronnie Hayden, and Richard Mills.

J C Standings Develop Into 3-Way Tie

A three-way race developed over the weekend for the Mississippi junior college football championship when Pearl River and Northwest took advantage of Hinds' loss at the hands of the Delta Trojans.

The Pearl River Wildcats trounced the Holmes Bulldogs in a 20-14 clash at Poplarville, while the Northwest eleven kept pace with the two leaders in a decisive 22-0 win over the luckless Southwest Bears.

In other conference action Saturday night, East Central easily captured a 21-12 win over Co-Lin, East Mississippi breezed past Perkinston by a 35-8 margin, and the Itawamba Indians triumphed over Jones in a 14-0 game.

DAY TO REMBER

Freshman Day Activities Bring Cry; 'Wait 'Til Next Year,' --- Frosh Gang

By JOHANN RUSH

"Wait 'till next year!" came the cry from the freshmen, but it was not to reason why, it was but to do or die; into the valley of death rode the five hundred.

"This is our finest hour," cried the upperclassmen as the sizzors gleamed in the sunlight.

October 19, 1960, what kind of a day was it? "A day like all days filled with those events that alter and aluminate our time," and were you there?

The classrooms were turmoil as the blushing faces of the freshmen boys clashed with their dresses and newly acquired haircuts.

The frosh hid in the shadows as the sophomores lurked in the hallways. Darting in and out of doorways, running behind bushes, the frosh cautiously made their way to their classes. Here and there a lone freshman could be seen being captured by a band of the guerrilla superiors and tortured beyond the endurance of any man.

All frosh that rebeled were captured and were tried by the Kangaroo Court; it was worse than the Nuremberg trials. With Byrle Kynerd as head judge, the previously diginfied freshman were humiliated and degraded before the eyes of hundreds.

The Big-6 led the sophomores to their victory on their day of days were Rex Carson, Byrle Kynerd, Frances Nelson, Rose Earnest, Tommy Jackson, and Mr. W. C. Oakes.

Arrive At Home

The defeated frosh dragged their tired bodies to their dorms, leaving their wounded comrads behind. At least they were home. The war was over, and to the victors had gone the spoils.

At the end of the day a lonely battle-scarred, initiated, degraded, shaven freshman walked through the darkness to his dormitory, and he mumbled, "wait 'till next year."

Campus Duel Gets Underway To Sell College Yearbooks

A campus campaign duel between two annual staff subscription teams reached a new plateau this week in an effort to sell 700 copies of the school annual, The Eagle.

The two teams, directed by Charlotte Dunlap and Annette Gibbes, have sold over 300 yearbooks.

All persons on the annual staff are authorized to sell subscriptions for an annual. The cost of the yearbook is $2 down and $3 due upon arrival or a total of $5 paid now.

For information about the purchase of an annual, students may see either Charlotte Dunlap, Annette Gibes, Jewel McNair, Eagle editor, or any other staff member.

Homecoming Committee Graphs Plans For Afternoon Festivities

Officials Attend School Meet

President G. M. McLendon and Mr. Robert Mayo, administrative assistant, joined school administrators from over the state Tuesday and Wednesday in Jackson for the annual conference of the Mississippi Association of School Administrators.

The theme of the two day meeting was "The MASA Forward Action Program."

A speech by a Perkinston Junior College student was of interest to junior college officials. Len Blackwell, Lucedale sophomore and national president of Phi Theta Kappa fraternity, spoke to the junior college group on the values of scholastic fraternities and their relationships to overall objectives of education.

Hinds President Stamps Official Approval Label

An administration - appointed Homecoming Day committee mapped plans for the 1960 festivities Monday and Tuesday.

President G. M. McLendon put his official stamp of approval on the proposed ceremonies today.

Highlights of the committee's program include registration of graduates at 1 p.m., football game at 2 p.m., crowning the queen at halftime, dinner at 5 p.m., special variety and talent show at 6:30, and a dance at 8 p.m.

To Set Up Tables

Tables will be set up at the gates for registration of graduates and selling tickets to the dinner which will be held in the college cafeteria. The special variety and talent program will be held in the college auditorium.

The overall Homecoming committee consists of Mr. Irl Dean Rhodes, chairman, Miss Mildred Herrin, Miss Lurline Stewart, Mr. R. C. Benton, Mrs. Alon Bee, Mr. T. T. Beemon, Miss Sarah Nell Taylor, Mrs. J. R. Harris, Mr. W. C. Oakes, Mrs. Juanita Canterbury, Miss B. J. Frew, Miss Glenda Rush, Mr. Leslie Reeves, Gail Rushing, Myra Andrews, Belinda Hill, and Phyllis Covington.

The registration committee is headed by Mrs. J. R. Harris chairman. Committee members are Miss Mildred Herrin, Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Beemon, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. McKenzie, Mr. J. R. Harris, Mr. Walter Gibbes, and Miss Mary Sue McNair.

Reeves, Rush Head Group

The co-chairmen of the special talent program are Mr. Leslie Reeves and Miss Glenda Rush. The invitation committee consists of Miss Lurline Stewart, chairman; Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Clark; Miss Elaine Mayfield; Mrs. Neva Spraberry; and Phyllis Covington.

The Coronation and half-time committee members are Mrs. Alon Bee, chairman; Margaret Kimball; and Jane Bennett. The selection of court committee consists of Miss B. J. Frew and Miss Sarah Nell Taylor, co-chairmen and Belinda Hill.

The dance committee is headed by Mr. W. C. Oakes, chairman. Committee members are Mr. Mike Rabalais, Mr. R. C. Benton, and Myra Andrews.

The float committee consists of Mrs. Juanita Canterbury, chairman, Mr. Frank Stephenson, Mrs. Nell Pickett, Tommy Nance, and Gail Rushing.

The publicity committee consists of Mr. Irl Dean Rhodes, chairman, Jewel McNair, Jean Rodgers, Corkie Lyle, and Martha Claire Bryant.

Phi Theta Kappa Initiates Gamma Lambda Members

Ten Hinds students were initiated into Gamma Lambda Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa last night in a ceremony in the college auditorium.

One freshman member, Linda Bratton,of Bruce, qualified for membership with special honors of 2.6. Nine sophomores having a grade average of 2.2 or above were initiated. They included Ruth Barlow, Raymond; I. M. Beasley, Raymond; Kay Collins, Jackson; Nance Hamil, Carthage; Jack Lee, Clinton; Rebecca Legg, Jackson; Betty Williams, Jackson; Carol McNair, Raymond; and Maxine Ware, Jackson.

The curtain opened on the ceremony as the organist played the Phi Theta Kappa song. The chapter officers, wearing official robes, took their places behind the desk. Rex Carson, president; Belinda Hill, vice-president; and Rose Earnest, secretary, presided over the initiation.

Members Lead

The members of the club were led by Ann Spencer, historian, and the new pledges by Gail Rushing, treasurer, into the formation of the Greek Letters—Phi Theta Kappa.

Each new member was given a white flower typifying purity and beauty of life with its white buds signifying new intellectual associations. A vow to uphold the standards of Phi Theta Kappa was repeated and signed by each pledge.

Light Candles

The new members lighted candles from the torch of the vice president as a symbol of knowledge.

The service closed as Mrs. Carol Benton, a Phi Theta Kappa Alumnus, sang for the benediction the first verse of the Phi Theta Kappa song.

A reception followed the service for the friends and families of those initiated. The home economics girls served as hostesses for the reception.

Miss Mildred Herrin, registrar, is sponsor of Phi Theta Kappa. The local chapter has received national recognition in recent years.

Hinds Launches Search For Queen

Hinds Junior College's Homecoming committee launched its annual search for a homecoming queen today.

The queen and her court—three sophomore maids and three freshman maids—will reign over the college's annual homecoming festivities Nov. 12.

President G. M. McLendon will crown the 1960 queen during halftime ceremonies preceding the Hinds-Copiah-Lincoln football duel. The 2 p.m. grid classic will mark Hinds' only afternoon battle of the season.

A petition signed by 20 students is required for each candidate to compete in the selection of the court. Misses Sara Nell Taylor, reading instructor, and B. J. Frew, director of the Baptist Student Union, are co-chairmen of the selection committee.

All petitions must be submitted to the President's office in the Administration Building by Monday, Oct. 24. The queen must be a sophomore. Sophomore queen and maid candidates will compete in the same race and the girl receiving the largest number of votes will be elected queen. The next three highest in the race will be sophomore maids.

WHO WILL BE QUEEN?

The three top girls in the freshman class will serve as freshman maids.

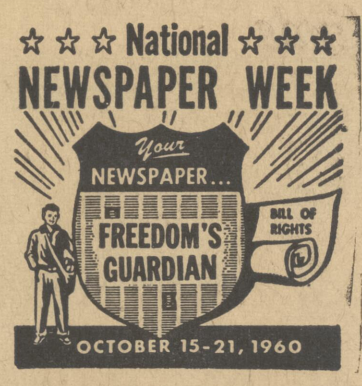
The first primary will be held next Wednesday. Polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 4 p.m. in the hall of the Administration Building.

If a second primary is necessary, it will be staged Friday at the same time.

Kareemie Ellis of Port Gibson was the 1959 Hinds queen.

Papers Protect Freedom

"Your Newspapers—Freedom's guardian" is a fitting theme of National Newspaper Week during a year of national elections and international strife.



Thousands of newsmen over the nation are paying tribute this week, October 15-21, to the responsibility and performance of today's newspaper.

"In our newspapers, we expect to find an accurate, responsible and lively source of public information," stated President Dwight D. Eisenhower in his annual message to the newspapers of the nation.

Newspapers are the key to American Democracy. Without freedom of the press the United States would become infiltrated with autocratic ideas and eventually become a dictatorship.

Cradle To Grave Demands

In our grammar and high school days, we heard a great deal about a person being able to achieve anything he set out to do, and how every man is master of his fate and captain of his soul.

Today we hear less and less about such things, for we have come to realize that there are many limitations set upon the individual development and desires of mankind.

Man is bound by many influences, such as heredity, environment, and the state of his liver and tonsils. He wants to be a happy, gay, carefree individual without a worry to bother his mind or interfere with his pleasures. However, he finds himself bound and hog-tied by custom, tradition, law and the directions of his own family.

Man—who can control the destinies of earth and every living thing therein—is unable to control the destiny of his own life. What sort of mockery is this!

The next time anybody tries to tell you that you are the master of your fate and the captain of your soul, you can answer "Oh, yeah" or tell them to look up Government Regulation 999 or read the Blue Book of Etiquette.

He'll soon find out that man is not master of his fate but is ordered around from the cradle to the grave.

Spirit: College Backbone

From the earliest times, men have engaged in various forms of more or less highly organized play activity. Athletic competition, whether for amusement and recreation, or as a means of training for the serious pursuits of life, have always been highly valued.

On the Hinds Junior College campus, sporting activities, mixed with academic standards, combine to form a first-class institution for the students who wish a better school.

There is more, though, than just having a high academic record and sporting a football team. A school must have spirit, for even the most modern- well-equipped campus becomes little more than a hated prison without it.

School spirit, which is strictly a product of each student, is the backbone and foundation of any college and should play an important role in each and everyone's life.

Editor Rambles Over Beautiful People, Things

By JEAN RODGERS

"Miss Rodgers," said a Hinds Professor, "why do you always "preach" in your column? "Why don't you write a column about nice things and nice people?"

JEAN

Good idea. It's too easy to spot in people and society, and to tear them both down. The real test of a well-rounded person is whether he can stick his head above the filth and dirt of our land, and see beauty and happiness in people and the world about him.

Nature is both its tranquility and horror represents the quintessence of beauty. We are eagerly awaiting for the autumn weather. . .the days to be crisp and cool. . .the leaves to change their colors. . .gently falling to the ground. This will be beauty- — natural beauty that man will never recreate.

AND WHAT can compare to the beauty of dawn. . .as the cool morning sun rises on the horizon . . .while a couple in love lie on the soft dunes. . .watching. . . .loving. . .believing.

And the clouds. Our eyes are fascinated by the awesome movement of the clouds. . .as they fuse into a mighty ball. . .and then slowly slid away from each other, only to merge again with another puff of whiteness.

This is exquisite, deeply comforting beauty.

We could go on forever with the beauty to be found in nature, but nature will never stop providing it, and it will always be there for all to see.

THERE IS BEAUTY—an almost devine beauty — in the spontaneous applause and shouts of an audience in recognition of a fantastic talent. That makes us happy.

It is nothing more gratifying in the conforming era than to see a man who believes strongly enough in himself to travel his own road. Nothing inspires us more than to see an individual asserting his individuality.

College Cheerleader, Popular Lass Receives Hindsonian's Honor Award

By CORKIE LYLE

"Eagles, Eagles all-rightie!
Working all day and all nightie."

Who on the Hinds Junior College campus isn't touched when the pep squad and cheerleaders start this standard yell with its proper gyrations. This yell is the favorite of this week's sophomore of the week Rebecca Legg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benton M. Legg of Jackson.

Becky, sometimes affectionately called "Mother", is a native of the Delta town of Drew. While living in Drew, Becky was a very popular girl in school. She was listed as beauty, class favorite, and friendliest girl for three years. She also was a member of the Thespians, annual staff, paper staff, and an officer in the Y-Teens. She served in the Homecoming court for two years.

Moving to Forest Hill the second semester of her junior year, Becky continued her popularity. She was an officer in the Beta club, member of the Bible club, annual staff, and was a homeroom officer. In the annual who's who, she was voted "Most Influential Girl" and Best Personality Girl."

Graduating from Hinds in January, Becky will long be remembered on the campus for her charming ways and good nature. Her list of accomplishments is due praise. She is a member of the Phi Theta Kappa, freshman editor of the annual, executive council of Baptist Student Union, English Majors Club, and is a varsity cheerleader.

Becky is undecided as to her major, but the line will be drawn between English and elementary education. She plans to attend Mississippi College after her graduation in January from Hinds Junior College.

Office Purchases All Types Of Items

By CAROLYN MAY

Tail of rat, eyes of cow, brains of sheep, and a freight carload of toilet tissue — it isn't a modernized version of Macbeth's witches' brew, but a normal day in the business office at Hinds Junior College.

Organized many years ago to purchase supplies for the college, the business office force has learned never to be surprised, whether asked to buy grass seeds or to pay freight on cadavers.

During the past fiscal year the office has handled several thousand purchase orders, buying everything needed to carry out the normal business at Hinds Junior College, its library, its cold storage plant and its cafeteria.

Staff Efficient

At the head of these activities is Mr. Jack Treloar, college expediter and farm manager. The business office staff is composed of Miss Lola I. Allen, bookkeeper, Miss Mary Sue McNair and Mrs. Ella Goodwin secretaries. Mrs. Goodwin reports that she has seen some peculiar merchandise mingled with the most mundane on requisitions.

In the same order book are requests to purchase embroidery thread, zippers, patterns, sliding boards, and a stove. Other exotic items include rubber gloves, oxygen, cold pills, onions, and phonograph records.

Groups Order Items

The majority of these items were ordered by the home economics department, with the medical office, cafeteria, and music department adding to the list.

The bulk of orders comes, though, from the normal operation of the school. Hundreds of pieces of furniture, gasoline in stupendous quantities, plumbing supplies, pipe fittings, automobiles and automobile accessories are included in the items.

Class room supplies make up a large number of the items purchased.

Among the supplies requested by classroom instructors are maps, globes, erasers, stencils, and typing paper. Along with these items come orders for test tubes, pencils, rulers, and gradebooks.

The business office performs an important function at Hinds Junior College.

College Counties Show Jump

Hinds Junior College's three tax supporting counties—Hinds, Rankin, and Warren—were three of the state's 21 counties to show an increase in the 1960 population, a report by the Mississippi Economic Council reveals.

The percentage of population gain in the last 10 years shows an average of 18 per cent in the three counties. Hinds leads the three counties in growth with a 31.2 per cent increase. Rankin is second with 17.9 per cent increase, and Warren is third with 5.9 per cent increase.

Hinds County's population jumped from 142,164 in 1950 to 186,572 in 1960. Rankin increased from 28,881 in 1950 to 33,935 in 1960, and Warren showed an increase from 39,616 in 1950 to 41,863 in 1960.

The assessed valuation of the three supporting counties is as follows: Hinds $203,983,873.00; Rankin $21,319,013.00; and Warren $41,990,228.00.

Although not supporting counties, Madison and Yazoo counties are in the Hinds district. Students are zoned by the Junior College Commission to both Hinds and Holmes Junior College at Goodman.

Wesley Head, Pastor Gets Promotion To New Church

Rev. Clay F. Lee, director of the Hinds Wesley Foundation and pastor of the Raymond Methodist Church for the past six and one-half years, has been named pastor of the First Methodist Church in Quitman, Miss.

The Rev. Lee, who is a former Bible and philosophy instructor at Hinds, assumes his new duties on Nov. 1.

He was graduated from Millsaps College in 1951. He attended Emory University where he received his B. D. degree in 1953.

In 1953-54, the young Methodist preacher was the associate pastor of the Capitol Street Methodist Church in Jackson.

He came to Raymond as pastor or the Methodist Church here in June of 1954.

Survey Says Many College Students Possess Frequent, Unusual Problems

By BELINDA HILL

So, you got problems. Well, a large number of students do at Hinds Junior College, a survey of adinistrative offices on the campus reveals. They're problems that reoccur from year to year and can be classified under definite headings.

The most frequent problem a newcomer to the campus faces is adjustment to the new life. This, guidance director A. L. Denton says, comes from a sense of not belonging to his new community. Many have never been away from home before and find the dormitory life strange and frightening. The lordly high school senior, finds himself in for a shock when he is placed at the bottom of the social picture again.

The next problem a student finds facing him is "how to study?" This is actually a serious one.

They're used to the home-work, question and answer type of teaching.

JOURNALISM MEET

Publication Students Attend Clinic On News, Feature, Sports Writing

Four representatives from Hinds Junior College attended the first annual Journalism Clinic conducted by the Clarion Ledger and Jackson Daily News in Jackson yesterday.

The four Hindsonian staffers who attended the clinic were Jean Rodgers, executive editor; Tommy Nance, assistant editor; Betsy Haynes, news editor; and Belinda Hill, feature editor.

The clinic consisted of four discussion groups and a tour of the Clarion Ledger and Jackson Daily News building. Jean attended the discussion on headline writing, copyreading, and makeup; Tommy participated in the sports writing group; Betsy took part in the general news writing confab; and Belinda attended the feature writing group.

A luncheon on the Heidelberg Roof concluded the day's activities.

COLLEGIATE FAD

Barber Shop Still Feels Flat-Top Rage From Dick Tracy Comic Strip

By NOLLIE COCHRAN

Several years ago a new-type hair grooming technique ignited a rage across this country that presented a new approach for the American barber. It was the flat-top.

It started on the college campuses of this nation. And it was inspired by a character from the popular Dick Tracy comic strip.

The carry-over of this collegiate fad is still felt in the Hinds Junior College Barber Shop. It's still a fad on most of the junior and senior college campuses of this state, although Hinds is the only college in the magnolia state where you can get your hair clipped in the campus barber shop.

Barbers Train

Hinds has a modern barber shop with excellent facilities. Ten barber students train in the state's only public supported barber shop.

Prospective barbers receive nine months training or 37 weeks in actual practice. Each student participates in a one hour lecture each morning before starting the day's hair clipping.

The department is unmatched in modern technical facilities. An array of cutting and sanitation equipment is available to the barbers. The combs and clippers are placed in an ultra-violet sterilizer cabinet sterilizer located at each chair after use.

Several different types of electro therapy equipment is used to a limited extent by the department. When used with different attachments, the equipment provides several currents.

The equipment is used to stimulate blood flow, relax tensions, and to remove warts and superflous hair. Little or no pain is suffered with the electrical treatments.

Hinds' barber shop has installed light therapy facilities. By use of the infrared light, the treatment of acne and dandruff is made possible.

Gets Working Knowledge

In the course of training, the prospective barber gets an excellent working knowledge of the tools needed in barbering.

The initial study is made of the steps and methods of shaving, proper hair cutting, bone and muscle structure of the head, neck and face, and the tissues, organs systems, and cells.

The next study is the nerve system and its importance in barbering. The study includes lessons in the blood vascular system, lymphatic system, respirtory system, digestive system, the skin, scalp and appendages, the different types of bacteria, hygiene and sanitation, skin diseases, electricity and light therapy, elementary chemistry, and successful barber shop operation.

The 10 trainees are Thomas Davis and Leon Sandford of Seminary; Roy Dyrb Stevens, New Hebron; Don Williams, Oakdale; Nobb Bobby Morrow, Purvis; Cleveland Mosley, Laurel; Billy Jack Patton, Saucier; David Bratcher and Johnny Rutland of Jackson; and Bobby Chandler of Canton.

Yanks Use Historic Edifice For Hospital In Civil War

By JEAN ROGERS

Almost one hundred years ago a Civil War general marched through the building where Hinds Junior College's weekly newspaper is printed.

The historic edifice was a converted hospital for wounded Confederate soldiers held as prisoners by the Yankee forces in Raymond during the Civil War.

The building, over a century old, is the home of Raymond's Keith Press.

Slave Relates Tale

A Negro slave confided to a Yankee guard that there was a treasure hidden under the floor of the building. That night the guard shielded himself with a blanket in the back of the building where the supposed treasure was hidden and chopped a hole in the floor.

No treasure was found by the disappointed guard, but the structure still bears the scars of the Civil War.

The crude hole still remains at Keith Press and has been covered by one of the two large flat bed Lee Presses.

Prints Paper

Mr. Thomas Keith, owner, stated that the press has been in operation since 1843 and for the past 27 years has been printing the Hindsonian.

Raymond is a town filled with historical Civil War memories.

General Sherman actually stayed in one of the older homes on the outskirts of the town.

Located within sight of Keith Press is the Raymond Courthouse, which is one of the oldest in the state, and one of the few of such structures which survived the Civil War.

POLL DISCLOSES

Emphasis Week Blasts Fresh Air

By EVA SIPES

". . .because it blasts fresh air into the closed minds of many of the students at Hinds," was one of the replies to the Hindsonian poll concerning the value of Religious Emphasis Week on the Hinds campus, held October 10—13.

Ninety-two per cent of the students polled felt that Religious Week is a worthwhile campus activity. Students had this to say for it:

"I feel that any endeavor on the part of the college to help fill in one of the vital spiritual facets of a student's life is worthwhile."

"Yes, it is, but why isn't every week an Emphasis week? It is of little use to go to church on Sunday and live a moral-less life all week long."

Makes Students Think

"It makes students stop during their fast and busy lives to think seriously about spiritual goals instead of the material goals."

"It helps to promote understanding between the various faiths."

Among those who expressed negative opinions, the following statement was made:

"If a person has an interest in religion he will pursue it and he does not need to have it pushed at him. We pay to go to college to learn subject matter, not to be religiously indoctrinated."

Merits Work

Only sixty-four per cent of the students polled attended any of the services except the assembly service Wednesday. Those who did were in 100 per approval over the merit of the week's function.

"What is Religious Emphasis Week," one student asked.

Is there adequate student response to the week? Seventy per cent of the students declared an emphatic "no."

"Most students were hardly aware that there was anything unusual about the week."

"Who is to determine what is 'adequate' student response? But I don't feel there is enough student participation."

". . .More or less, but the current negative attitude toward all religion on the part of self-important, half-educated students destroys most of its effect."

Another student thoughtfully stated, "I realize that you can't coerce people to attend what is not required but I feel the opportunity for exposing the student to religion should be provided since it can be beneficial in a religious, cultural, and social environment at Hinds.

'Please Limit Telephone Calls,' Deans

"Please limit your conversations," was the plea of dormitory deans this week as Hinds students jammed telephone circuits between girls' and boys' dormitories.

"Remember that with so many using the telephone, it may be difficult for everyone to find time if you over-use it," Mr. R. C. Benton, dean of men, pointed out.

He suggested that students also answer the phone when they are near it.

Mrs. Frances Lee, dean of women, urged students to consider the rights of other people in using the telephone.

Girls' Dean Lee Organizes New Campus Civic Council

Charlotte Berry, Mendenhall sophomore, has been elected president of the newly organized Girls' Civic Council, reports Mrs. Frances Lee, dean of women.

Other officers are Carolyn Gill of Johns, vice-president; Sara Luckett of Sharon, secretary-treasurer; and Pat Myers of Jackson, reporter.

Holds 1st Meeting

The group held its first organizational meeting yesterday and elected officers. Mrs. Lee outlined the purpose of the organization to the group and told the dormitory representatives their duties.

The council consists of 11 members. Two representatives from Main Dormitory, two from Northside Dormitory, four from Westside, and three sponsors makeup the new group.

Co-sponsors of the club are Mrs. Lee, Mrs. Lucille Keen, assistant dean of women, and Mrs. Carolyn Bowen, dormitory hostess.

To Check Rooms

Mrs. Lee says that the representatives will check rooms and assist their dormitory dean as a part of their new duties.

She contends that the new council will give the dormitory deans a chance to hear group problems discussed.

The group will discuss dormitory rules and regulations and ways of improving each dormitory's problem at its next meeting.

Methodist Group Stages Retreat On Local Campus

The Methodist Student Movement Fall Retreat concluded its weekend of activities Sunday on the Hinds campus.

The three-day event began Friday afternoon with registration by the Hinds Wesley Foundation. Rev. Thaxton Springhill, pastor of University Methodist Church and director of the Wesley Foundation at the University of Florida, was the featured speaker for the meeting.

Highlights of the state-wide meeting include worship services, workshops, discussions, and group singing.

Rev. Clay F. Lee, local Wesley Foundation director and pastor of the Raymond Methodist Church, served as director of the retreat.

The fall retreat afforded Methodist students with opportunities to stimulate their positive thinking and action toward the spiritual, missionary, social service, recreational, and cultural aspects of their daily lives.

The conference closed Sunday afternoon with a final speech by the Rev. Springhill.

Over 125 Methodist students from the state's junior and senior colleges participated in the meeting.

Speakers Campaign For Political Parties -- Dem, GOP, Independents

Three political speakers representing Mississippi's three party groups have made appearances on the Hinds campus in behalf of their candidates for president.

The three speakers were Jack Walker, Republican speaker; Ben H. Walley, Democratic speaker; and Mack Higging, speaker for the Independent ticket.

Jack Walker, as Republican speaker, was the first of the three speakers. Walker is an employee of the Jackson Moving Van, Inc., and in his spare time campaigns for the Republican presidential candidates.

Walley Speaks

Ben H. Walley was the second speaker of the series, speaking for the Democratic ticket. The topic of his discussion was "Presidential Election—1960." He presented a brief political history of both the Republican and Democratic parties in his speech.

The third speaker was Mack Higgins, a Jackson radio newscaster, speaking for the Independent slate. With the conclusion of his speech, the series was ended.

Asked Questions

After the end of each speech a question and answer period was held in the auditorium, during which the speakers were asked questions pertinent to the issues being discussed.

The series of speeches was sponsored by the International Relations Club, under the guidance of Miss Susan Brown and Mr. Thomas Stricklin, Hinds history instructors.

College officials were pleased with the attendance at the political speakings. Over 130 students attended each speaker's address.

Modern Language Club To Assemble Thursday Evening

The Modern Language Club will hold its bi-weekly meeting Thursday night, Miss Hilda Ree Davis, club sponsor, announced this week.

The meeting will be held in the Home Economics building at 6:30 p.m.

The purpose of the club is to acquaint members with the customs and history of French and Spanish speaking nations. It is organized especially to promote goodwill through correspondence, whether by personal letter or by newspaper features.

Officers of the club are as follows: Rose Earnest of Slate Springs, president; Tommy Nance of Jackson, vice president; Dot Gatlin of Forest, secretary; Corkie Lyle of Belzoni, treasurer; and Phillip Doiron of Vicksburg, reporter.

Florida Sophomore Heads Hinds Band For '60-61 Season

Larry McWilliams, sophomore from Madison, Fla., has been elected president of the 1960-61 Hinds Junior College Band.

Other officers elected are Burt Matheny of Florence, vice president; Barbara Beck of Bolton, secretary-treasurer; and Bill Matthews of Raymond, reporter.

The band, under the direction of Mr. Al Rowan, has performed extensively in the state and at nationally televised events.

The band performs at all Hinds football games with the Hinds Hi-Steppers.

Local Newspaper Group To Sponsor Junior College Newspaper Meeting

The Mississippi Junior College Press Association Fall Workshop will be held November 4-5 on the Hinds Junior College campus.

Registration will be $2 for each delegate and sponsor. The registration fee will include the banquet Friday night, and breakfast and lunch Saturday.

The participants in the conference are scheduled to send three copies of the first few issues of their newspapers in order that the speakers for the workshop can have a chance to study them. They will be in a position to discuss the good and bad phases of each publication.

Plans are underway for the completion of the program.

There will be no limit to the number of delegates from each school.

Jean Rogers, executive editor of the Hindsonian, is in charge of arrangements.

Rex Carson Picks 3-Man Committee To Write Charter

A three-member committee has been appointed to write a proposed constitution and by-laws for the newly organized President's Council.

Members of the committees are Mr. Robert Mayo, administrative assistant and sponsor of the council: Billy Boyt, Jackson sophomore; and Tommy Jackson, Jackson sophomore.

The rules committee included: Rex Carson, Jackson; Byrle Kynerd, Raymond; Tommy Jackson, Jackson; Rose Earnest, Slate Springs; Frances Nelson, Vicksburg; and Mr. W. C. Oakes, class sponsor.

2 Hi-Steppers Take Part In Manufacturers Ass'n Convention Entertainment

Two Hinds Junior College Hi-Steppers were part of the entertainment at the Mississippi Manufacturers Association Convention in Jackson last Thursday.

Eva Sipes and Gail Rushing, both of Forest Hill, were on the official entertainment program. Master of Ceremonies was Representative J. H. "Farmer Jim" Neal of Hinds County. Mr. Neal presented the two dancers to the association.

State Teams Face Rough Games

By TOMMY NANCE

The Magnolia State's big three football powers — Ole Miss, Mississippi Southern, and Mississippi State — all face tough gridiron battles this weekend.

The perfect records of the Rebels and Southerners are at stake when these elevens run up against Arkansas and North Carolina State respectively. State's Maroons seek to better their 1-2-1 mark, when they play host to the strong Memphis State Tigers.

TOMMY

The Number 1 ranking Ole Miss. Rebels, fresh from a 26-13 victory over the upset - minded Green Wave of Tulane, invade Little Rock Saturday night seeking to climb another step on the coveted National Collegiate Football Championship ladder.

Coach Pie Vann's Mississippi Southern gridders, in their first year under the major college-category, entertain N. C. State in the feature attraction of the annual Hattiesburg Homecoming celebration.

The Carolina lads, who tasted defeat for the first time Saturday, hold a fine 4-1 record. They have won over V.P.I 29-14, North Carolina 12-7, Virginia 26-7, and Maryland 13-10. Duke upset the Carolinians for their only black mark, 17-13.

Mississippi State and Wade Walker will have to be at their very best when the Tigers of Memphis State invade Starkville Saturday afternoon in another state thriller. The Maroons have won only against Arkansas State, but have thrilled thousands in games like last week's 20-17 loss to Georgia and Tennessee's 0-0 tie of two weeks ago.

We would like to see all three of these Magnolia teams come out victorious, but our crystal ball tells us only one will meet our wishes. That, being Ole Miss.

Hinds Over Lions

Standing alone on top of the Mississippi Junior College Football league this week is Pearl River. The Wildcats advanced to sole position as a result of open dates of the next two contenders, Hinds and Northwest.

We expect Dobie Holden's clan will still remain Number 1 for at least another week. It would be a major upset for the Trojans to knock Pearl River off their high pedistal, but miracles just don't happen now-a-days.

East Mississippi invades Raymond in what should be the main attraction in the circuit this week. Joe Renfroe's boys, who have won four games against one loss, could take this one if, and only if, the team is up to par or better. Those Lions are rough this year.

Itawamba looks toward the victory column this weekend, when Copiah-Lincoln invades Fulton. The Indians have played good ball and should scalp the Wolves of Wesson.

East Central, who collected a win over the only team to down Hinds — Delta, travels to Ellisville to meet the luckless Jones Bobcats. Although Jones marched over Perkinston this past week, the Warriors will have their shields and swords ready, to kill the Cats.

Rounding out junior college action, we see Holmes over Southwest, in what will probably be the lop-sidedest game this week. Northwest gets back into the picture this week, when they play host to Perkinston. The Rangers of Senatobia should come out victorious.

Puckett Benefit Game Sees B's Take 28-12 Win

Exploding in the fourth quarter with 28 points, the Hinds Junior College Bees routed the baby Majors of Millsaps to the tune of 28-12 in Vicksburg's Leo Puckett Benefit game Thursday night.

After a scoreless first half, the Purple and White eleven tallied in the third period after driving 71 yards on the kickoff. Fullback Jep Rush dove over for the six pointer. Only two minutes later, Millsaps crossed the glory line again and grabbed a 12-point lead. The second Major touchdown came on a 77 yard punt return by Thomas McFerrin. Both Millsaps extra points failed.

Eagles Break Loose

Determined not to be buried by the Methodists, Hinds broke loose in the final period on quarterback Don Fugate's passes to halfbacks Bobby Luckett and Clarence Peterson. These aerial attacks covered 50 and 19 yards respectively.

With only seconds left in the game, Bill Vaughn intercepted quarterback Bob Rutledge's flat pass and galloped 30 yards for the final Eagle score.

The four Raymond extra points made were by two-point conversions on Bobby Slayden's run and Luckett's pass from Fugate.

Statistic-wise, Millsaps outplayed Hinds the first three quarters, for the Majors reached the Eagle 15 before being hauled by a strong defensive wall on one drive. Hinds did not threaten during the entire first half.

Scooba Battles Hinds Saturday; Eagles Seek 5th Win At Home

Bouncing back into action after a week's "vacation," the Hinds Eagles prepare for one of their toughest opponents of the year in East Mississippi.

Coach Bob Sullivan's Lions invade Eagle Stadium Saturday night for a 7:30 tussle with the second place "Birds." It will be the first meeting between Hinds and East Mississippi since 1957.

Taking advantage of the open date, the Eagles have spent time in scrimmages, conditioning drills, and reviewing basics.

Hold Good Mark

Sporting a respectable 4-1 season mark, the Raymond lads have collected wins over East Central 14-0, Southwest 40-15, Itawamba 18-0, and Jones 26-0. The sole loss was at the hands of the Delta Trojans, 14-6.

East Mississippi, holding a 3-2 record, has won over title contender Pearl River, Itawamba, and Perkinston. The Lions have come out on the short end of the score against Jones and Northwest.

Form Single Wing

Operating from a single wing formation, the Lions will be strong on the ground, while the Eagles use a spread T-formation that gives them an opportunity to throw the ball.

Pearl River Takes Undisputed JC Lead With Victory Over Wolves; Eagles 2nd

Defending champion Pearl River Saturday night registered a slashing 36-0 victory over the Wolves of Co-Lin, and grabbed a thin lead at the expense of idle Hinds and Northwest.

The Pearl River team now has a 5-1 record as compared with a 4-1 record for Hinds and Northwest.

Delta Falls

The Delta Trojans, after defeating the Hinds eleven in a muddy tilt last Saturday night, were unable to maintain their winning habit, and lost to the East Central aggregation who squeaked by the Trojans by one touchdown, 7-0.

Jones moved into the win column for the second time this year with a 15-0 victory over lowly Perkinston, while the Holmes and Itawamba teams, ranked sixth and eighth, respectively, fought in a 21-0 battle with the Bulldogs given the edge.

Bounceball Mentor Troy Ricks Lists Newcomers For Hardwood Season

Although basketball season on the Hinds Junior College campus is nearly two months away, the Eagle basketeers are already preparing for the coming hardwood year.

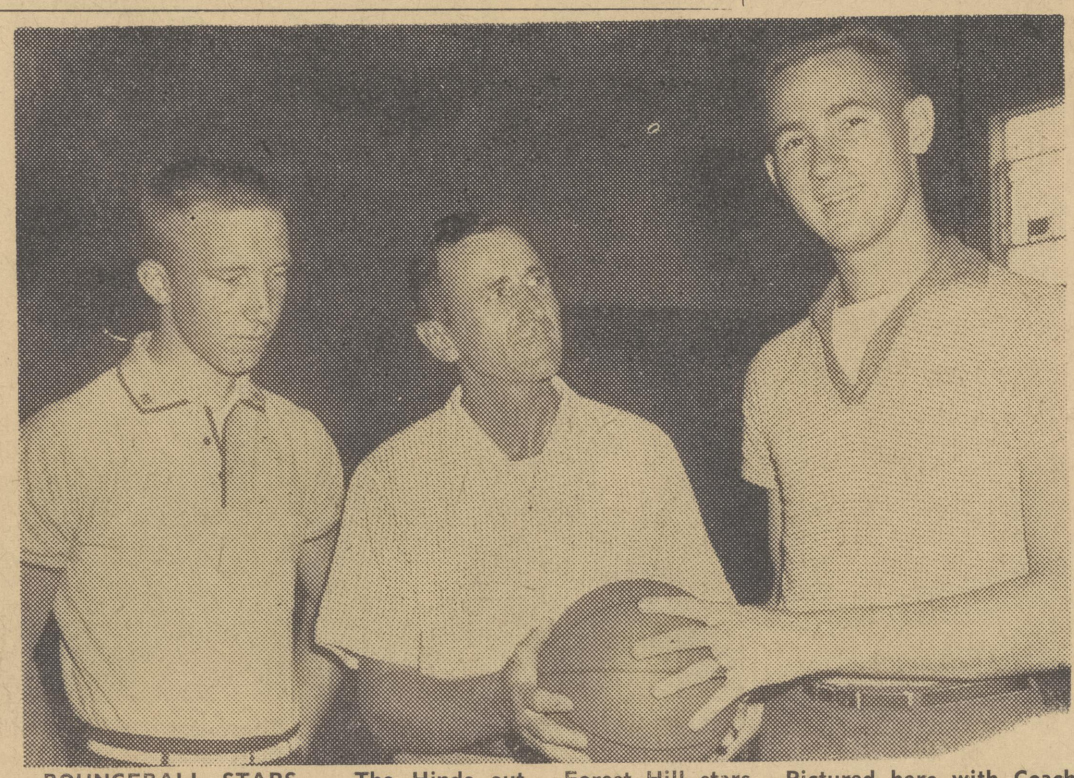
Coach Troy Ricks has lined up seven boys in the local area and two out-of-staters for the 1960-61 team. This year's freshmen are expected to be one of the finest crops in several years.

Clinton's Sidney Odom and Forest Hill's David (Red) Warrington and David Bridges head the list of newcomers. Pelahatchie provides three of the other four players in Paul McMillan, Graham Taylor, and Sammy Rhodes. Eddie Frith of Byram will also add strength to the Eagle bounceballers.

Out of state boys joining the Hinds five are David Yewell of Owensboro, Ky., who played in the annual Indiana-Kentucky All-Star game, and Wayne Hensley of Steele, Mo. Both Yewell and Hensley stand 6-4.

Warrington and Bridges were two of Forest Hill's first stringers and played a big part in the Rebel's success at the center and forward slots respectively.

Back court accuracy will be added by Odom, who owns one of the sharpest eyes in the junior college conference. Odom was one of the reasons for the highly successful year at Clinton last year.



BOUNCEBALL STARS — The Hinds outlook for the immediate future is brightened somewhat as Coach Troy Ricks is joined by two Forest Hill stars. Pictured here with Coach Ricks are David Bridges and David Warrington.

Run-Off Primary Set For Friday To Select Court

Hinds Junior College students will select its 7-member homecoming court from six freshmen and seven sophomores who won first round victories in today's election.

Students will select three freshmen maids from the following six contestants: Gwen Canoy, Sally Foy, Lynn Glisson, Ann Hardin, Betsy Haynes, and Eva Sipes.

The queen and three sophomore maids will be chosen from seven contenders: Martha Arrington, Linda Dickerson, Lyllian Lee, Carolyn Middleton, Jewel McNair, Delores Robinson, and Gail Rushing.

Frosh Nominees

Freshman nominees were Gloria Watson, Ann Hardin, Shirley Boatman, Eva Sipes, Carla Ware, Lou Ann Ford, Barbara Logan, Bettye Lloyd, Betsy Haynes, Pat Goodwin, Joann Beasley, Martha Claire Bryant, Carolyn May, Gwen Canoy, Gail Whitehead, Sally Foy, Lynn Glisson, Peggy Irwin, Frances Overby, Carole Noland, and Jane Smythe.

MR. ROBERT MAYO
Screens Colleges

Assistant Mayo Participates In Atlanta Confab

Administrative assistant Robert M. Mayo returned to the campus last night after a two day meeting in Atlanta, Ga.

Mr. Mayo is a member of a six man screening committee, a branch of the Standards Committee of the Southern Association of Colleges.

This committee is responsible for screening the credits and reports submitted by each member college of the association for deficiencies in the general make up of the schools. These deficiencies include errors in salaries, number of students, financial status, facilities, and scholastic opportunities offered.

President G. M. McLendon is a member of the Admission Committee of the association which studies and approves the applications of prospective colleges.

Group To Make Complete Plans At Overall Meet

The overall planning committee for Homecoming Day activities will meet tomorrow afternoon and make final plans for the homecoming festivities to be held November 12.

The day's activities will begin at 1:00 p. m. with the registration of graduates and purchase of tickets for dinner at tables set up at the gates of the football stadium.

The Hinds-Co-Lin gridiron action begins at 2:00 p.m. with the crowning of the queen scheduled for halftime.

Halftime entertainment will be provided by the Eagle Band and Hi-Steppers. The show will be climaxed by the crowning of the 1960 Homecoming Queen by President G. M. McLendon.

A special dinner will be served at 5:00 p.m. in the college cafeteria. Mrs. Marion Welch, committee chairman, and Mrs. Rudy Berryhill will be in charge of planning and preparing the dinner.

A special talent and variety show will follow the dinner at 6:30 in the College Auditorium. Mr. Leslie Reeves and Miss Glenda Rush are in charge of the show.

Open house will be held after the game on the campus. The girls' dormitory civic chairmen will act as hostesses for the open house in the girls' dormitories.

The classes of '60, '50, '40, and '30 will be honored at the festivities.

The reception committee for the queen and her court includes Mrs. Carolyn Bowen, Mrs. Robbie Dukes, and Mrs. Lucille Keen.

Staff Entertains Fall Press Workshop Meet

The Mississippi Junior College Press Association Fall Workshop will be held on the Hinds campus November 4-5.

A get acquainted tea will be given by President and Mrs. G. M. McLendon in the President's home on Friday afternoon. Mr. Purser Hewitt, executive editor of the Clarion Ledger, will be guest speaker at a banquet in the college cafeteria at 7:00 p. m.

During the two day workshop, delegates will hear professional newsmen discuss six different fields of journalism.

Speakers for the workshop are Jerry DeLaughter, Clarion-Ledger, feature writing: Charlie Dunagin, city editor of State Times, news writing; Bobby Pittman, Jackson Daily News, make-up; Richard Patrick, State Times, photography; Douglas Starr, Jackson Bureau of the Associated Press and Prof. Frank Buckley, head of Journalism Department at Mississippi Southern College, editorial writing.

Frosh Campaign For Office

Campaigns for freshman class officers are in full swing this week as "eye catching" posters fill every prominent spot on the campus.

Eva Sipes of Forest Hill was elected treasurer and Betsy Haynes of Edwards was elected reporter without opposition. The election for the other three offices will be held Monday.

Candidates for the top freshman class office are Conrad "Cosmo" Robinson of Clinton, and David "Red" Warrington of Forest Hill. Rodney Salassi of Vicksburg and Annette Gibbes of Learned are vying for the office of vice president.

The race for secretary looms between Pat Mitchell of Utica, Gwen Canoy of Magee, and Jean Rankin of Clinton.

Beware: Spooks, Goblins To Swoop Down

By CORKIE LYLE

"If you don't be good from now on the spooks and goblins are going to swoop down on you at Halloween."

How many times have we heard or told others this old cliche. And the time is drawing near for the "Big Pumpkin" to appear, although he will not bring a bag of goodies for all.

October 31, the last day of the tenth month, is one of the holidays celebrated in all 50 states of the United States. And Halloween will not be forgotten on the local Hinds Junior College campus.

We don't expect to see Hazel cruising around the heavens on a broom or goblins jumping from behind campus trees, but we do expect to celebrate this holiday in the jolliest of ways.

Anyone seeing a student entertaining himself in any various forms of extra antics should not be alarmed, but should remember that Halloween comes but once a year.

So, trick or treat, everybody.

Versatile Ability: A Must

What about your present and your future? Most young people give a great deal of thought to the matter of making a success—financial success.

No doubt you have been told before that your success will depend upon your ability. This is true, but such ability must be many-sided.

Ability for success is not limited to the qualification for performing a given task. Many other factors are involved. They may be called progressiveness or aggressiveness, initiative or acquisitiveness. Regardless of what it is called, it is something which causes people to get out of the ordinary ruts of life and climb to new heights.

Sometimes necessity drives one to grasp the ladder of success firmly and climb, hand above hand, until the top is reached. Sometimes it is an inward yearning that forces one to find a path that will lead to success.

We know that man must have ability to do his work to reach the top most rung of the ladder of success, but sheer ability in itself is not enough, for many of our most capable men and women are wasting their lives in poverty and despair —struggling in some rut which it seems they can never escape.

We must consider ability in the larger and broader sense —the ability to perform certain duties, an ability to take on additional responsibilities, and the ability to forge ahead at all times and under every adverse circumstance. We must remember above all that ability must be many-sided in order to succeed.

Outstanding Man Leaves

The faculty and student body at Hinds Junior College will deeply miss the influence of Reverend Clay F. Lee on the campus. He has been called to the First Methodist Church at Quitman, Miss.

Rev. Lee has been pastor of Raymond Methodist Church for the past six and one half years. During six of these years, he has taught Bible and philosophy at Hinds and has been director of the campus Wesley Foundation.

The guiding leadership of Rev. Lee has been instrumental in making Hinds' Wesley Foundation one of the most outstanding student-religious organizations in the state.

Like most great men, Rev. Lee is many-faceted. He is an intellectual man of God with a n unusual sense of humor.

Students and faculty members of all denominations will miss Rev. Lee's spiritual and moral leadership.

We wish the Lees great success and God's speed in their new work.

Test Fright Unnecessary

Many students will enter mid-term tests next week with mixed emotions.

Students usually approach test week with doubtful anticipation. Test week is a time when most students wish they had studied just a little harder, or paid closer attention in class instead of letting their minds wander.

Tests are essential. They provide instructors a written record of progress, and they provide an opportunity for student self-inventory.

Nine week tests aren't fatal, but we should face them with a determined effort to do our best. They do count.

What will you do—falter and fall or be victorious?

OFF THE CUFF

Spooks, Goblins Roam Campus Monday Evening

By JEAN RODGERS

Monday night, if you see a black object whizzing along in the moonlight on a broom, or if you spy some fairies dancing on the lawn, or if you visualize gho s t s breezing through closed doors, fear not — remember, it all started with the Druids.

JEAN

Yes, Monday, October 31 is Halloween. And, it did start with the Druids, an early people in Britain.

The original Druid name for Halloween was Samhain, or Summer's End. The day was set aside for an autumn festival after harvest.

Our modern idea of Hallowe'en parties, pumpkin, autumn leaves and cornstalks all originated with these people in their celebration.

Ghosts, fairies, elves, witches, and spirits roamed the land to harm the people. Thus, bonfires were built to scare away the weird creatures.

Along with the fires came ghost stories told by people who had lived to witness meeting the spirits which roamed by night.

Our name Halloween means hallowed or holy evening, because it falls the day before All Saints' Day.

OCTOBER, historically speaking, is an important month. October 12 is Columbus Day, the anniversary of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus.

On October 28, 1886 the Statue of Liberty was dedicated and the Chicago fire began October 8, 1871.

Among the famous people born in October were Dwight D. Eisenhower, William Penn, John Adams, Richard Byrd, Chiang Kai Shek, and Theodore and Eleanor Roosevelt. It's a matter of opinion as to whether the latter is famous.

After considering history, we still find that the most celebrated event of October by children of all ages is Halloween.

So, from the Halls of Hinds, have a happy haunted halloween.

BSU President, Mathematics Major Exerts Influence In College Clubs

By CORKIE LYLE

"Drop John Doe from second on Tuesdays and Thursdays and enter him in third on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday."

Anyone familiar with the Registrar's Office will recognize this procedure, and to Rose Earnest of Slate Springs, this is a comment she hears quite often in her daily routine of work.

ROSE EARNEST
Class Treasurer

Plans Education

Rose, an athletic red-head, plans to further her education upon graduation from Hinds at either Delta State or Mississippi College. Her plans thus far reveal that she is a math major and a very qualified one at that. She is a member of the honorary society of the Hinds campus, the Phi Theta Kappa.

But the P. T. K. is not the limit of her extra-curricular activities. Since she has been here, she has been a member of the Baptist Student Union, of which she is president this year, the Women's Athletic Association, and the Y. W.A. She is serving this year as chief executive of the Modern Language Club, secretary of the Engineers Club, and treasurer of the sophomore class. By being the top officer of these clubs, Rose is a member of the Presidents Council.

Lucky Hinds

Before Hinds was lucky enough to claim Rose, she attended Calhoun City High School. A member of the varsity basketball team for three years, Rose was also in the Future Homemakers of America, and on the paper staff. She also served as president of the senior class, and upon graduation was the salutatorian. In the annual Who's who, she was selected as senior girl most likely to succeed.

The Hindsonian takes this time to salute another popular and worthy sophomore. May Rose always be "entered" and never "dropped."

Truman spoke in Tupelo on behalf of John F. Kennedy, the Democratic aspirant for president. Police estimated the crowd at 8,000.

VALUABLE LETTER: On January 26, 1863, Abraham Lincoln penned a 94-word letter on White House stationery promoting Maj. Gen. Joseph (Fighting Joe) Hooker to commander of the Army of the Potomac.

YELL LEADERS — Leading the cheering squad for the 1960-61 football season are the Hinds cheerleaders. The group is composed of three freshmen and four sophomores. Traveling to all games are the following: Gwen Canoy, freshman from Magee; Ann Hardin, freshman from Vicksburg; Jimmy Cummins, freshman from Raymond; Peggy Massey, sophomore from Hattiesburg; Corkie Lyle, sophomore from Belzoni; Becky Legg, sophomore from Forest Hill; and head cheerleader, Carolyn Middleton, sophomore from Memphis, Tenn.

Hinds Student Earns National Degree

Jack Lee, a sophomore from Clinton, has recently been awarded the highest national degree given by the Future Farmers of America organization.

Only one boy out of every 1000 is qualified for this, the "American Farmer Degree." This year Mississippi presented the nation with nine award winners. Each of these winners are presented with a cash award as well as an all expense paid trip to Kansas City, Mo., for the national FFA convention.

The winners of the award were selected for their record in school activities, their own farming program, and scholastic ability.

Jack worked his way up through the ranks with farming programs which he worked on and devised by himself. In order to win the American Farmer Degree, Jack began in the FFA as a Green Hand. He graduated to a Chapter Farmer and then he obtained a State Farmer Degree.

VIA JET

Campus Sophomore Relates Exciting Details Of Trip To Hawaiian Islands

By JACK CURTIS

Although I've been lucky enough to have had big moments in my life, it's easy for me to pick the biggest.

Because of my father's selling ability, I have just returned from a trip "of a lifetime."—a trip to Hawaii.

The trip to Hawaii was an experience all by itself. We flew on the biggest plane in commercial use today—the Boeing 707 Jetliner.

We taxied down to the end of the runway and in a matter of 30 seconds, we were airborne. The plane leveled off at 35,000 feet, which incidentally is a little over six miles high. The gigantic jet zoomed along at 600 miles per hour.

Interesting Points Seen

Enroute to Hawaii we passed over such points of interest as Las Vegas, Zion National Park, Grand Canyon, and Continental Divide. The pilot said that the temperature outside the plane was 70 below when we passed over Grand Canyon.

The group was greeted by pretty Hawaiian hula girls who placed orchid leis on each visitor. They entertained with a hula dance, a famous Hawaii tradition.

The Reef, our hotel, was located on Wakiki Beach. Wakiki Beach is just like you see it in pictures, but even more beautiful.

Spends Free Time

Most of the free time was spent on the beach. On the second day we drove up in the mountains. The scenery was very beautiful.

Almost every meal contained various types of fruit. Pineapple was, of course, the most popular.

Visit Mountains

On a boat excursion one day, we visited the gap in the mountains through which the Japanese planes made their sneak attack.

We were guest at a Hawaiian Luai, a feast under the stars, the night before we left for home. After the meal, we were entertained by a group of Hollywood stars.

I enjoyed the trip very much. My only regret is that it didn't last long enough.

Registrar Tells 9-Week Campus Exam Schedule

The nine-week test schedule for the week of October 31-November 4 have been designated by Miss Mildred Herrin, registrar.

The schedule is as follows:

Monday, October 31 — Tests in 2nd, 4th, and 5th period classes.

Tuesday, November 1—Tests in 1st, 2nd, and 5th period classes.

Wednesday, November 2—Tests in 1st and 6th period classes.

Thursday, November 3—Tests in 2A, 3rd, 4th, 6th, and 7th period classes.

Friday, November 4—Tests in 3rd, and 7th period classes.

All students will meet their regular classes during the mid-term tests.

Report cards are not issued to the students. One copy is made which will be sent home to the parents.

The grade sheets for parents will be made beginning at 3 p.m. Monday, November 7.

A student who has dropped a course within four weeks of the end of the first semester (December 12 and after) will receive an "F" for the semester average in the dropped subject.

The nine-weeks grade is a progress report, therefore, students dropping after September 26 (the last date for dropping without a record of performance) will receive a "WF" or "WP."

In courses where no mid-term test is given (as PE, choir, etc.) it is requested that the grades be turned in as soon as possible.

Natchez Site For Baptist Students At State Confab

Hinds Junior College Baptist students, along with those from all over the state will gather in Natchez, November 4-6, for the State Baptist Student Convention.

Students attending from Hinds will leave on a bus at noon Friday, November 4. Students will stay in the homes of Natchez residents. The only expense will be for four meals plus $1 registration fee which must be paid before Friday, October 28.

The convention will be held at the Immanuel Baptist Church and the theme will be: "Committed to His Lordship".

Any Baptist student on the campus interested in attending the convention should contact Miss B. J. Frew, Rose Earnest, or Jimmy Davis this week.

Will Hinds Collect 6th Win At Perkinston?

PREPARE FOR THE BULLDOGS — Hinds Junior College will be bubbling over at the halfback slot when the Eagles travel to Perkinston Saturday. Local lads that will be seeing action are, front row, William Bass, Pete Carter, Donnie Swafford, Gerald Lester; back row, Byrle Kynerd, Clarence Peterson, Wilburn Williamson, and Bert Sullivan.

Eagles Invade Whitemen Saturday Seeking 1st Place Tie In Conference

Fresh from a victory over the East Mississippi Lions, the Hinds Junior College Eagles seek to add win number six to the chart when they fly to Perkinston Saturday night.

With Pearl River's Wildcats open for the week, the Birdsmen hope to climb back into a first place tie with the Poplarville eleven. A win this weekend will cinch the tie, but a loss to the Bulldogs would place the title position in a remote spot for the Eagles.

Coach Ed Evans and Assistant Bobby Holmes would like to register their second victory of the season after falling five times. The only win came against the strong Holmes 'Dogs in a wildly protested tilt.

Face Rebuilding Job

Perkinston has faced a vast rebuilding job this year due to the lack of players with college football experience. Seven returning lettermen are back at the Bulldog camp with three players who saw action in the junior college circuit last season.

The lettermen are Mac Breland, end; Kenneth De Fillpo, tackle; Glen Howell, center; Johnny Ryan, quarterback; Johnny Holtzclaw, halfback; William (Hobo) Jones, fullback; and Osceola Ryan, fullback.

Others See Action

Others who saw limited action last year are James Estes, tackle; George Hallstrom, tackle; E. I. (Buddy) Howard, center; and guard Claude Bilbo.

In previous games between the Hinds and Perkinston clubs, the Eagles have captured 14 wins against only six losses and one tie.

Hinds Eagles Remain In Contention

By TOMMY NANCE

While presidential candidates Richard M. Nixon and John F. Kennedy are squabbling over the values of Quemoy and Matsu, the Hinds Junior College Eagles are fighting for the coveted position of first place in the Mississippi Junior College football conference.

TOMMY

Coaches Ivan Rosamond and Joe Renfroe have led the Eagles through a very successful half season schedule and are looking toward their first gridiron crown in three years.

During the initial half of the Birds' chart, Hinds has scored 104 points compared with only 29 for its opponents.

Eagles Net 57

In team statistics Hinds has racked up 57 first downs, 38 rushing and 14 passing, against 46 for the opposition. A total of 1252 yards have been collected by the Raymond lads during the first half season, while they have allowed 780 against them.

The Eagles have completed 23 passes out of 59, while their opponents have connected on 26 out of 74. The main obstacle in the Hinds camp is the ability to collect those one and two-pointers after the touchdown. Out of 16 six-pointers, the Hinds squad has tallied on only four of these.

In individual statistics, we see that Wilburn Williamson is leading in kickoff returns with an average of 47.3 yards per carry. Johnny Daher is leading in individual yards rushing with a total of 490 on 88 tries. Williamson has a better average of 7.3, but has carried the pigskin only 27 times for a total of 198.

Kynerd Leads

Byrle Kynerd is leading the Birds in scoring with 26 points, while Williamson and Daher are following closely behind with 18. Donny Ross, a lad from Augusta, Ga. who has been laid out for the rest of the season due to a removed cartilege in his knee, scored 16 points in the first three games. Richard Mills is next in the scoring column with 12.

No single player can be given the credit for the success of the season, for it has been the efforts of the whole Eagle squad and coaches and all deserve praise for the tremendous abilities they have shown.

Hinds To Win

The Eagles should collect another win to their list when they travel to Perkinston for their seventh battle of the season. Sunflower plays host to Northwest in Moorhead Saturday, but should come out on the short end of the score.

Copiah - Lincoln and Southwest tangle in a meet at Wesson but we see the Wolves edging the Bears in a top conference game, statistic wise. In the only other game being played, East Mississippi tries its skill at entertaining Holmes of Goodman. This should prove to be the week's top classic and we see the Lions in an upset.

Local Gridders Score Early To Notch 5th Win

It took a 190-pound fullback from Atlanta, Ga. and an intercepted pass in the closing minutes of the game to defeat the East Mississippi Lions, 21-14 before a hometown Hinds crowd Saturday night.

Fleet-footed fullback Johnny Daher tallied twice in the initial quarter to set the Hinds Junior College Eagles up 13-0. Daher broke around right end and galloped 56 yards for the first Bird six-pointer. Halfback Byrle Kynerd kicked the extra point for Hinds' seven point lead.

Minutes later, Daher reached into the air and pulled down a Scooba aerial on the Eagle 15 and raced 85 yards for the second Raymond touchdown. The point after touchdown failed and left a 13 point margin for the home standers.

The third and deciding touchdown came with only 17 seconds elapsed in the second quarter. After an Eagle punt to the East Mississippi one-yard marker, the Lions punted and Kynerd took it on the 30 and raced toward the goal line before being pushed out of bounds at the one.

Four plays later and a five yard penalty, Wilburn Williamson scooted around the Lion's left flank for six and a 19-0 lead. Williamson took the pigskin and marched over for the two-point conversion.

Lions Tally

The two Lion tallies came in the third and fourth periods on one and three yard runs. Fullback Charles Box went over from the one and broke into the EMJC scoring column. Halfback Don Edwards connected on a pass from quarterback Billy Coleman for the two-pointed.

Leading Teams Keep Winning To Pace State Grid JC League

Again leading the Mississippi Junior College football circuit this week are the Pearl River Wildcats, as a result of a slim victory over the upsetting Delta Trojans, 14-12.

The Wildcats face an open date this week, while Hinds' Eagles and the Rangers of Northwest, title contenders, prepare for battles with Perkinston and Delta respectively. The Eagles remained in top contention with a win over the East Mississippi Lions, 21-14, in a Raymond classic.

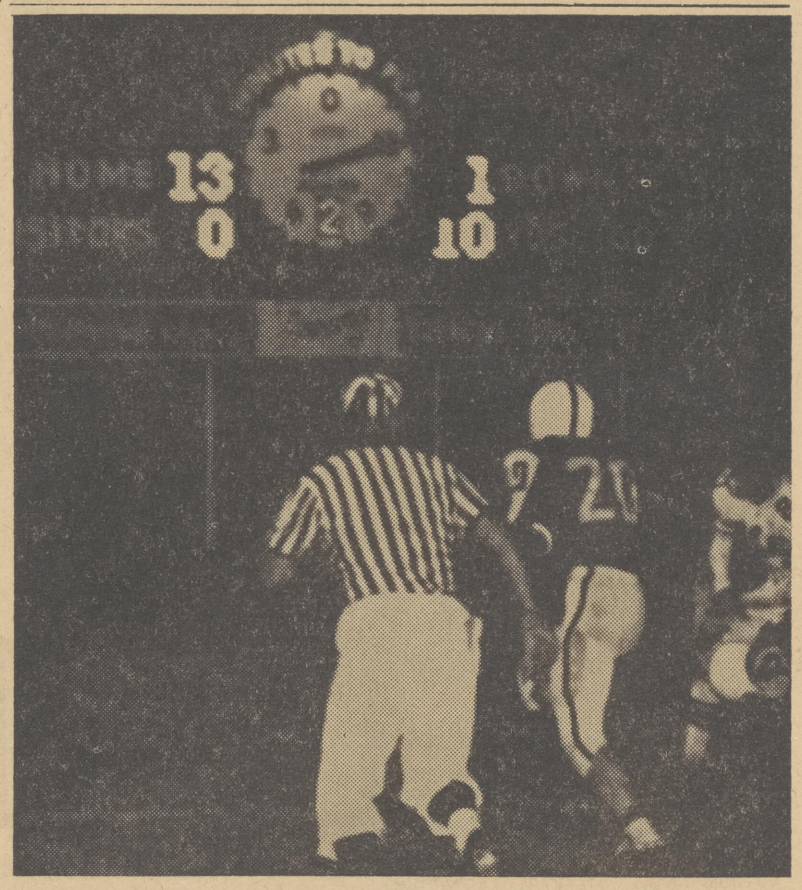
The Senatobia club took a 22-12 victory over the Perkinston Bulldogs in Perkinston Saturday to stay in a second place tie with Hinds. Both clubs support a 5-1 record.

Jumping from seventh place to the number four slot is East Central, who notched win number four with a 13-7 margin over Jones. Delta, East Mississippi, and Holmes hold identical records of three wins against three setbacks to throw the fifth position into a three-way tie. Each of these teams faced defeat Saturday.

In another conference game, Itawamba handed Co-Lin its fifth defeat with a 20-8 victory march. The win gave the Indians an even 3-3-1 mark and set them in eighth position.

Jones, Co-Lin, and Perkinston faced the short end of their scores in duels with the top teams. Jones now lists a 2-5 mark, while the Wolves of Wesson and the Bulldogs hold a 1-5 record.

Lowly Southwest pulled the major upset of the week with a 6-0 win over the Holmes Bulldogs. It was the first win of the year for the Bears, but it still wasn't enough to move them out of the cellar.



RUN REF RUN — Eagle halfback Byrle Kynerd is off to the races after he grabbed an East Mississippi punt during the second quarter of Saturday night's game. He chalked up 29 yards before being pushed out of bounds on the Lion one-yard line. Wilburn Williamson scored four plays later to give the Hinds squad a 21-0 advantage at halftime.—Photo by Rush.

VOLUME 27—NUMBER 9 HINDS JUNIOR COLLEGE, RAYMOND, MISSISSIPPI WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1960

Hinds To Celebrate Homecoming Festivities

President McLendon To Crown Regal Queen During Halftime

Hinds Junior College celebrates its annual homecoming festivities Saturday with a theme based on the "Parade of Progress in Education and Transportation."

The parade of progress will blend the college's colorful and rich past to a bright and modern future. The crowning of Linda Dickerson, 1960 Homecoming Queen, will be the highlight of the day's activities.

Registration of graduates starts at 1 p.m., followed by the 2 p.m. Hinds-Co-Lin kick-off.

President G. M. McLendon will crown the 1960 Queen during the halftime activities. After the presentation to the Queen and her court, the Hi-Steppers and Eagle Band will break into a special Homecoming Day performance.

In accordance with the progressive theme, a horse and surrey will carry the first maid, followed by maids in automobiles of 1920, '30, '40, '50, and '60.

Dinner will be served in the College Cafeteria at 5 p.m. for graduates and students.

"That Wonderful Year" is the theme of the talent and variety show at 6:30 in the Auditorium. Special guests — classes of 1930, '40, '50, and '60—will be recognized at that time.

A semi-formal dance will be held in the Girls' Physical Education Building at 8 p.m. For admission graduates must wear official name tage and students must present activity cards.

Linda Dickerson, Jackson Central graduate, will reign over a court of six maids. Sophomore maids selected in a student body election are Martha Arrington, Bruce; Gail Rushing, Forest Hill; and Lyllian Lee, Forest. Chosen as freshman maids are Eva Sipes, Forest Hill; Betsy Haynes, Edwards; and Lynn Glisson, Mize.

Rex Carson, sophomore class president, and David Warrington, freshman class president, head the list of escorts. Rex will escort the Homecoming Queen.

Other escorts named are Tommy Jackson, International Relations Club president; John Wilda, Circle K Club president; Larry McWilliams, Eagle Band president; Barry Marionneaux, Newman Club president, and Donnie Ross, football team representative.

A reception and the student-alumni dance, both to be held in the Physical Education Building, will end the day's activities.

Overall committee for the Homecoming event is headed by Mr. Irl Dean Rhodes of the Public Relations Department. Open House will be held throughout the day in the college dormitories. Guides will be posted throughout the buildings to show the campus to visitors. Mrs. Frances Lee, dean of women, will be in charge of open house committee.

PRESIDENTIAL RACE

Jack Kennedy Dumps Richard Nixon

Senator John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas reign supreme in the United States today.

The Democratic ticket defeated Republican aspirants Vice President Richard M. Nixon of California and United Nations Representative Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts.

Although the race was close all the way, it was reported that the Kennedy-Johnson ticket captured 50.3 per cent of the popular votes to the Nixon-Lodge total of 49.7 per cent. In the electoral college tally, Kennedy led Nixon 331 to 191.

Mississippi was the only state in the nation to bolt both parties. Mississippi voted for a slate of Unpledged Electors. It is uncertain how the eight votes from the state will be cast.

States carried by Kennedy in the South were Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, Alabama, Louisiana, Arkansas, and Texas. Only Mississippi, Tennessee, Florida, Virginia, Kentucky, and Oklahoma revolted against the Democratic party.

Hi-Steppers Win Sugar Bowl Bid; To Add New Costumes, Fancy Steps

The nationally famous Hinds Hi-Steppers and Eagle Band have been invited to perform at halftime in the 1961 Sugar Bowl Game, in New Orleans.

They received the invitation from Mr. Irwin Pouche, chairman of Mid-Winter Sports Association program.

This performance, which will be given in the "heart of Dixie" is the most outstanding honor the Hi-Steppers have ever received. Their performance will be seen by 82,00 Sugar Bowl spectators and 60 million television viewers.

Mrs. Alon Bee, Hi-Stepper choreographer, is designing new costumes consisting of top hats, tails, and canes for the performance.

The Hi-Steppers will leave the Hinds campus Saturday, December 30. They will remain in New Orleans Saturday, Sunday, and Monday for the game. They will return to the Hinds campus Monday night, January 2.

Plans Reveal Full Schedule

Open house will be held on the Hinds campus throughout the day as a part of the Homecoming festivities. Hostesses will be located in the dormitories to serve as guides.

The planned activities begin at 1 p. m. and, along with the queen's reign, end at midnight with the closing of the student-alumni dance.

The schedule of activities:

1:00 p. m.	Registration at Football Stadium
2:00 p. m.	Game: Hinds vs. Copiah-Lincoln
3:00 p. m.	Crowning of Queen
5:00 p. m.	Dinner in College Cafeteria
6:30 p. m.	Talent and Variety Show in Auditorium (Special Guests: Classes of 1930, '40, '50, '60)
8:00 p. m.	Reception and Student-Alumni Dance in Girls' Physical Education Building

Welcome Former Students

Welcome home graduates of Hinds Junior College. Welcome to your Alma Mater.

As the sands of time pass, Hinds changes physically, but the spirit and loyalty is evident. Friendliness has always been the traditional attitude of Hinds students.

This spirit of loyalty and friendliness is the linking factor which connects you, the alumni with the present students.

We hope your visit to our campus brings back happy memories of your days at Hinds. Memories which cannot be replaced or tarnished by the ages.

Our facilities are open for your enjoyment and convenience. Our campus is expanding yearly.

We hope you will take time out during your visit at Hinds to tour our modern new additions. Four major buildings have been completed in the last two years at Hinds — the Science Building, Girls' Physical Education Building, Southside Dormitory, and Northside Dormitory.

Plans are underway for an ultra-modern library building which has been long needed to accommodate the needs of an ever-increasing enrollment.

Progress has been the constant watchword of President G. M. McLendon—progress in carrying out the tradition of being among the top junior colleges in the nation.

Welcome to your ever growing home.

Goal Necessary For Best Achievement

A fitting subject for the beginning of a new nine-weeks is scholastic achievement. Although many facets of college life are available to students, the primary purpose of school is education.

Do you feel you have failed to meet your conscience's requirements concerning your grades? If so, you should strive to attain a higher goal. Determination and correct study habits will pave the way to scholastic achievement.

OFF THE CUFF

Woes, Worries Of Newspaper Editor

By JEAN RODGERS

Ah! the woes of an editor. . . endless writing. . .what to write?—This is the problem, and brother, what a problem it is.

JEAN

Of course many brilliant people always state, "write on school problems." That is as it should be. We need to point out the problems which have been neglected. But we need your help.

You, as students, can help by your letters—letters to the editor. If you feel that conditions exist which can be corrected, or if you have suggestions for improving activities or relations on the campus, then use your freedom of speech, and we will use the freedom of the press.

First, consider the importance of the subject. Is it a real problem? Then, write a letter of 200 words or less. This is your privilege.

When we receive letters, we give them careful consideration. If they are printable and if they present a real problem, we will use them on the editorial page of the Hindsonian.

This includes criticism of the Hindsonian. We, too, are open for criticism by all students.

It is the policy of the editorial board to print the news as it comes. And news is facts. Opinions come under the heading of editorials and columns. This is where we try to present the viewpoint of the students.

Your viewpoints can be presented only if we know your ideas and beliefs.

The basic part of our democracy is our freedom—freedom of the press, speech, religion—freedoms which keep communist from infiltrating our country and demolishing our democratic way of life.

We know, you will say, "what difference does it make now? We are just in college. We can't solve world problems." The time is now. The students at Hinds, along with students from other colleges, rule the world of tomorrow.

"But I can't write. I can tell you what I think, but I just can't write." Unless you are completely illiterate (and being in college—you aren't) you can write.

Writing is thinking. If you can talk, you can write. Write what you say. Others may not agree with you, but your writing is your own personality.

Don't just talk about school problems. Do something. . .Write!

It took him 113 days, but that included a month he stopped to visit friends along the way. He says he now has walked more than 16,000 miles since 1932, on four continents.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Hi-Stepper, Phi Theta Kappa Veep, Excells In Hinds Junior Activities

By GWEN CANOY

A girl architect? Yes, Belinda Hill, chosen as Sophomore of the Week, is planning a major in architecture. When asked if she thought being a girl would handicap her in this profession, she replied, "Architecture is probably considered a man's field, but as in many other occupations, women have proved their capabilites."

Standing 5'6 and weighing 117, Belinda is a bundle of delight. At Brandon High School, she captured many honors, some of these being voted friendliest, most intellectual, and most likely to suceed. She was chosen to represent her alma mater at Girls' State.

At the State Beta Club convention, she was elected state secretary, and a graduation she was presented the Activites and Scholastic Award.

ADDS MORE HONORS

Since Belinda has been on the Hinds campus, more honors have been tossed her way. Besides being a very efficient feature editor of the Hindsonian, she holds the offices of vice president of Phi Theta Kappa and editor of Baptist Student Union executive council.

BELINDA HILL
Brandon Lass

Other organizations of which she is a member are Science Club and Modern Language Club. This likeable Hi-Stepper was recently chosen to represent the Hindsonian at a journalism clinic in Jackson.

In her freshman year at Hinds, Belinda was a representative at the state Youth Congress.

Enjoys Swimming

As a senior life saver, Belinda enjoys swimming as one of her hobbies. Other favorite pasttimes are playing the piano, tennis, bowling, and sewing. An industrious dress designer, Belinda makes almost all of her clothes.

The Hindsonian extends best wishes for continued success and happiness to Belinda Hill, an all-round person.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Moo! Moo! Cow College

Miss Jean Rodgers, Executive Editor The Hindsonian,
Hinds Junior College
Raymond, Mississippi
Dear Miss Rodgers:

I happened to be browsing through the latest issue of your splendid student newspaper, Hindsonian, when I came upon a sub-head in a news article describing Hinds graduates attending a senior college. This sub-head, entitled "Enter Cow College," referred — of course — to Mississippi's largest university, Mississippi State.

We at Mississippi State University are second to none in pride and loyalty for our institution's curriculum and well-founded traditions. They have been established through over 82 years by scores of thousands of State alumni, many of whom attended your Junior College.

We have one of the finest reputations for an agriculture school of any college in the nation and certainly we are especially proud of this fact. Our school of agriculture has earned this reputation by its service to the state of Mississippi and its basic economic standard, farming.

We at Mississippi State University do not necessarily feel that we resent being called a "cow college" or a "moo U." We do, however, feel that these titles misrepresent our institution and, in effect, do discredit to our manifold purposes as an educational institution. I believe that further use of these phrases would be in poor journalistic taste in striving for accuracy and completeness.

Please receive my thoughts as constructive counsel towards a better student newspaper and not, in any manner whatsoever, as criticism. I wish you and your staff a progressive year and the limits of success.

Cordially yours,
Harley McNair, Editor
The Reflector

Editor's Note: We are glad to know that Mr. McNair reads the Hindsonian. We treasure his friendship and respect his journalistic ability. It's widely known in Mississippi that Mississippi State is called "Cow College." We are sorry we stepped on Mr. McNair's toes. However, we still think it is Cow College.

BROADWAY STARS — Doraine and Ellis, well-known stars in their own ranks, are presenting a performance of top songs from standard Broadway musicals. The husband-wife team has appeared nationally and world-wide throughout their careers.

DORAINE, ELLIS DUO

Broadway Group Presents Great Music Hits On Local Hinds Campus

Hinds Junior College has scheduled two outstanding entertainment events for its November Concert Series.

Tonight, Doriane and Ellis, a nationally known husband and wife team, will appear on the college stage at 8 p.m. Students may use their activity cards, but other tickets will be $1 for adults and $.50 for students.

The Doraine and Ellis duo is one of America's foremost singing team.

With headquarters in Charlotte, N.C., the couple travels all over the world to bring their colorful "Costumed Cavalcade of Broadway's Greatest Musical Hits" to the public.

Doraine and Ellis are frequently seen on college and university concerts series, at a wide variety of organizations and associations, and at hotel and supper clubs all over the United States. They have starred in every theatrical medium and on all major radio and TV networks.

Irene Bewley to Show

On November 15, Hinds will present Miss Irene Bewley, who is recognized as the Byrle Ive of the female world. She is one of the nation's leading authorities on Southern Highlands folklore, dialect and culture.

Miss Bewley has delighted audiences from coast to coast, performing in mountain settlements, metropolitan centers, at colleges and universities, at conventions, before educational groups and at leading clubs.

Irene Bewley will bring you entertainment as she interprets the vanishing culture with selections from: "Smoky Mountain Character Sketches", "Fools, Fueds and Furriners," "Tales of Tennessee Hills" and "A Poke O' Plunder."

Greek Edifices Characterize Historic Hinds

By EVA SIPES

Beauty, modernistic architecture, and a maximum of training characterize the physical and material structures of Hinds Junior College today.

However, Hinds in 1917 was only an outgrowth of the Hinds County Agricultural High School. Three buildings held the first year's enrollment of 117 students. A faculty consisting of eight members was hired to instruct the miniature classes. Mr. W. W. Taylor was elected as the first president.

The first year of college work was added to the high school curriculum in 1922. The first year of high school instruction was discontinued. Four years later in 1926 the second year of college work was added and Hinds Junior College was officially born.

Grants Membership

In 1928 the college department of the school was granted membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. By 1933 the "Home of the Eagles" had grown to fulfill an enrollment of 550 students.

While membership at Hinds Junior College was swelling, new facilities were being added to accommodate the increasing numdormitory were erected. Shops were constructed, campus driveways were paved, and a lighted football field were added during the expansion program.

In the meantime, the students busied themselves winning high honors in the different fields of literature, dramatics, sports, and debating.

McLendon Accepts

President G. J. Cain resigned to accept a position in the Mississippi State Department of Education, and Mr. G. M. McLendon became president in 1938.

The year 1944 brought the junior college football championship to Hinds. That same year Hinds placed five men on the all-state team.

The college expanded further in 1948 when a new practice field with semi-circular drive, a Music Hall, and a Science Building were added. A tragic event occurred during the 1949-1950 session when the original Science Hall burned to the ground. That same year the enrollment reached a total of 750, one of the largest in the school's 33 year history.

A more intensive program of individual guidance work was added to the school's educational program, an dthe college instituted night classes for adults.

Continues To Grow

Brought almost to full glory in 1960, Hinds Junior College continues to grow. An addition in the form of a new library is on the drawing table. The site is located near the girls' gym. Ideas are being discussed.

Today the campus contains more than 25 buildings, most of which are brick structure. The student body exceeds 1000 and the faculty is greatly increased. Knowledge is readily available through the many and varied courses that are offered in the school's curriculum.

Each and every student has an opportunity to treasure the past and work for the future when Hinds Junior College will become a bigger and better institution of learning.

3 TO SOUTHERN

J C Journalists To Get Scholarships

Three journalism scholarships will be awarded next year to three state junior college journalism graduates at Mississippi Southern College.

Professor Frank Buckley, head of the Journalism Department at Southern, made the announcement at the closing session of the state junior college press association Saturday on the Hinds campus.

Buckley said the press association will select the winners of the scholarships. The Southern Professor said two scholarships will be given to students going into editorial journalism and the other one going to an advertising and business journalist.

Rodgers Wins

Jean Rodgers, executive editor of the Hindsonian, was elected vice president of the association at the Friday afternoon session.

Other officers elected include Betty Coker, Northeast Junior College, president and Charlotte Thornton, East Central Junior College, treasurer. Secretary Barbara Collins, Jones Junior College, and adviser Miss Una Harris, East Central Junior College, were elected at the spring meeting.

The press delegates were entertained Friday afternoon at a tea in the home of President and Mrs. G. M. McLendon and Friday night at a banquet in the college cafeteria.

Hewitt Speaks

Clarion Ledger executive editor Purser Hewitt was the featured speaker at Friday night's banquet. At the formal opening Friday, Lee Baker, Jackson Daily News sports editor, spoke on sports writing.

Delegates heard a panel discussion Saturday morning on the "Ways of Improving Junior College Journalism." Journalists attended discussion groups on news writing, feature writing, make up, editorial writing, photography, and the Associated Press.

Leaders for the discussion groups were harlie Dunigan, State Times city editor, Jerry DeLaughter, Clarion Ledger; Bobby Pittman, Jackson Daily News;, Douglas Starr, Jackson Bureau of the Associated Press; Professor Buckley; and Richard Patrick, State Times.

9 Groups Attend

Delegations from nine junior colleges participated in the two-day conference. Colleges represented were Holmes, East Mississippi, East Central, Northeast, Itawamba, Delta, Jones, Perkinston, and Hinds.

The spring meeting of the association will be held at Northeast Junior College in Booneville.

Freshmen Choose Forest Hill Grad For Top Position

David "Red" Warrington of Forest Hill was elected president of the Freshman class in a student election last week.

Warrington, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Warrington, defeated Conrad "Cosmo" Robinson and write-in candidate Max Johnson of Raymond for the top executive post in the Freshman class.

Rodney Salassi of Vicksburg defeated Annette Gibbes, Learned, in the contest for the vice president's office. Elected as secretary of the class was Pat Mitchell of Utica. Pat eliminated Gwen Canoy of Magee in the first primary and Jean Rankin of Clinton in the runoff.

Eva Sipes of Forest Hill and Betsy Haynes of Edwards were elected treasurer and reporter without opposition.

Miss Sarah Nell Taylor, reading instructor, was elected co-sponsor by frosh class members.

This is the B-52. Advanced as it may be, this airplane has one thing in common with the first war-galleys of ancient Egypt...and with the air and space vehicles of the future. Someone must chart its course. Someone must navigate it.

For certain young men this presents a career of real executive opportunity. Here, perhaps you will have the chance to master a profession full of meaning, excitement and rewards...as a Navigator in the U. S. Air Force.

To qualify for Navigator training as an Aviation Cadet you must be an American citizen between 19 and 26½—single, healthy and intelligent. A high school diploma is required, but some college is highly desirable. Successful completion of the training program leads to a commission as a Second Lieutenant...and your Navigator wings.

If you think you have what it takes to measure up to the Aviation Cadet Program for Navigator training, see your local Air Force Recruiter. Or clip and mail this coupon.

Civil Air Patrol Organizes On Campus

An organizational meeting of the Hinds Junior College Civil Air Patrol was held last night in the music auditorium.

The group viewed a film on the history and purpose of the Civil Air Patrol. Speakers, both senior and cadet, gave further instructions on the duties of cadets.

The members of the C.A.P. are voluntary, and not obligated to any form of service.

The objectives of the group are four-fold. They are (1) air participation, (2) support Air Force installations, (3) aid in emergencies, and (4) provide air and space education.

The program at Hinds was started last Wednesday in assembly. Lt. Col. Charles Mitchell, Wing Commander of the Civil Air Patrol in Mississippi spoke to the students on the possibility of a squadron being formed.

Other guests at the assembly were the following: Major Bob Hand information officer; Col. Erwin Land, chief liason officer; Lt. Col. Secrist, director training, southeastern region; and Major Blurton, Air Force liason officer of the Mississippi Wing.

The assembly program discussed the growth of the Air Force from the time of Kitty Hawk to the present day. A discussion was presented on the cadet training program and the need of specialized officers.

Home Ec Group Visits Campus

The Block 2 Sub-district C Future Homemakers of America entertained approximately 1,000 high school girls yesterday, on the Hinds Junior College campus.

The theme of the fall meeting was "Teenage Consumers— Tomorrow's Homemakers."

Opening the business session was Lou Alice Hill of Brandon who is FHA secretary. Following the business session a devotional was given by the Flora Chapter.

The State Advisors of the homemaking education are as follows'; Mrs. Ann Webb of Flora, Mrs. Ruth Wallace and Mrs. Kathlyn Funk. The assistants to the state advisors are Mrs. Doris Oles of Clinton and Miss Rebecca Mason.

Preident G. M. McLendon and Mrs. Frances Lee welcomed the girls to the Hinds Junior College campus.

The Home Economics Department was open for visitation to the senior girls.

Prof Addresses English Majors At College Monday

Dr. Louis E. Dollarhide, professor of English at Mississippi College will address the English Club at their regular monthly meeting on Monday night, November 14, in Room 13 in the Administration Building.

The guest speaker's talk will be centered around to English majors basic preparation and his mastery of materials on the undergraduate level.

Dr. Dollarhide will be accompanied to the campus by a half dozen English majors at Mississippi College.

Circle K Members Select Eva Sipes New Sweetheart

Winning over a field of three nominees, Eva Sipes of Forest Hill was crowned the 1961 Circle K Sweetheart at the club sponsored Halloween Dance.

Club president John Wilda of Milwaukee, Wis., placed the crown on the freshmen coed after club members had voted for their respective candidates. Betsy Haynes, Edwards freshman, Martha Arrington, sophomore from Bruce, and Gail Rushing, Forest Hill sophomore, were queen candidates.

Outgoing sweetheart Jewel McNair of Clinton was on hand for the ceremonies at the festive dance. The Red Counts provided the music with a theme of "A French Cafe Street Scene".

Each candidate had to meet and talk with various members of the club before the voting was made possible, then all members voted secretly for their choice.

The Circle K, local service club on the Hinds campus, is sponsored by Mr. Jack Treloar, campus expediter and farm manager.

FANCY PRANCER — Leading the Hinds Junior College Eagle Band is Annette Gibbes of Raymond. The lovely lass is a freshman at Hinds. Annette conducts the band at all home games, parades, and other special shows.

Local Attorney Speaks To Law Group Meeting

Mr. Joe Moss, local attorney and state representative from Hinds county, spoke to the business law class last Wednesday.

His topic for discussion was "The Family." Aspects of the family were discussed from the points of: marriage, grounds for divorce, questions relating to alimony, child care and separate maintenance, the father as the head of the family, disposition of properties upon death of the parent, and the law of guardianship.

The last of the period was given to the answering of questions from members of the class.

Mr. Moss is a graduate of Hinds Junior College, Mississippi State University, and the Jackson School of Law.

Chemistry, Physics Profs To Conduct Round, Straight Slide Rule Classes

Emphasis will be placed on multiplication, power of numbers, and logarithms in the newly organized slide rule class.

This will be a short cut for the student in his working of difficult problems.

Mr. Claude Richard Adkins, an instructor in the Hinds Juior College chemistry department, will teach the circular slide rule. Mr. Frank J. Stephenson, a local trignometry and physics instructor, will give instruction in the straight slide rule.

Mr. Adkins expects 25 students to appear or round slide rule instructions, while Mr. Stephenson expects 55 students or lessons.

Although no credit will be given for these classes, it will benefit the student who majors in chemistry, physics, and engineering.

Co-Lin Duel Opens Homecoming Activities

By TOMMY NANCE

Just as Londoners flocked to Westminster Abbey for the crowning of Queen Elizabeth II, Hinds Junior College students and alumni will journey to Eagle Stadium Saturday for a 2 p.m. battle with the Copiah-Lincoln Wolves of Wesson.

One of the main reasons for the overflow of interest in this duel will be the crowning of Queen Linda Dickerson of Jackson during the homecoming ceremonies, but the superb showings that the fighting Eagles have shown in previous games will attract many.

This royal day will offer even more rejoicing if the Hinds club comes out victorious, for a win will give the Eagles a chance to throw the junior college race into a two-way tie, providing Hinds takes a win over Pearl River and Northwest continues to win.

The Wolves would like nothing better than to upset the highly-rated Raymond 11 and to put a damper on the homecoming activities. Co-Lin defeated Hinds in 1959 and 1958 by decisive margins, but the Wolfpack is still not leading the 32 year series.

It took nine games before the Eagles could collect a victory over Wesson during the days of Hook Stone. In the 1930's, Co-Lin won eight state football championships and tallied over Hinds seven straight games. But Hinds' memories aren't on the 30's, they are in the 50's, when the Birds racked up eight consecutive wins from 1949 to 1957.

Through the past five seasons, the Hinds gridders have won four homecoming duels, while faltering only once. The lone defeat came last year, when Holmes' Bulldogs dealt a 37-8 loss before a sparce Raymond crowd.

Other royal day scores in the past five years are Hinds 53, Holmes 6 in 1955; no homecoming in 1956; Hinds 35, Holmes 0 in 1957; and Hinds 23, Northwest 20 in 1958. The 1958 win came in the last three seconds of the game when Levi Barber booted a 25-yard field goal to give Hinds a victorious mark.

Coaches Joe Renfroe and Ivan Rosamond are working the Eagle ends on their passing attack, which has netted seven touchdowns this year, but is still hot-and-cold. "It will take a combined offensive and defensive show Saturday to win over the upset-minded Wolfpack," states Renfroe, "and we won't be able to eat on our record."

Eagles Tally Late For 7th Victory; Edge Holmes 8-0

Showing a foreign crowd just what a title contender in Mississippi junior college football is really like, the Hinds Eagles broke loose in the final stanza Thursday night to upend the Holmes Bulldogs, 8-0, before a large Goodman crowd.

It was the last road game for the Raymond lads and marked the seventh victory of the season against only one setback for the Birds. Holmes now sports an even 4-4 record.

The Thursday win gave the Eagles sole possession of the top position in the conference for two days. Pearl River and Northwest tallied over Itawamba and Copiah-Lincoln respectively to again throw the leadership into a three-way tie over the week-end.

The winning march came after a double try to tally three points for the homestanding 'Dogs on field goal attempts. The Eagles drove from their own 20 yard marker in 10 plays to score the only touchdown in the contest.

Fullback Johnny Daher collected 34 individual yards during the series of plays and added the finishing touch with a 14 yard sprint over right tackle for the six-pointer. Holmes was offsides on the first point-after-touchdown try, then Daher scooted over from the one and a half yard line for the extra two points.

'Dogs In Contention

Holmes was in scoring contention the entire game with three drives being halted inside the 25 yard mark. The first half saw the Bulldogs, under coach Billy Mustin, run out of steam on the Hinds 14. A 48-yard gallop by fullback Billy Hutton set up the play.

Halfback Ode Burrell added three more yards, but passes by Wayne Phillips and Felix Herring saw the scoring threat go dead. The Maroon and White clan from Goodman again threatened late in the first half, before being stopped on the 23.

With time running out in the third quarter, Burrell surprised the Eagle defensive wall on a fourth and one play and picked up 41 yards to the Hinds 23. Five plays later the 'Dogs were eating away at the three yard marker. After a five yard penalty, fullback Phil Strickland attempted a field goal and it sailed wide, but the Eagles were caught offside. The second kick, coming from the four, was no good and the Eagles took over on the 20 yard line.

SPORTS PREVIEW

Lions Don't Roar In Scooba

By TOMMY NANCE

There was no war dance over in Scooba last week or WAS there? One thing for sure, no peace pipe was smoked. The whole uproar came when East Mississippi President R. A. Harbour told newsmen that quarterback Billy Coleman was ruled ineligible after it was learned his parents had moved from Columbus to Mobile, Ala., following the school's second game.

With the ineligibility of its frst string quarterback, the Scooba club was forced to forfeit two of its three gridiron victories. These included a 21-20 win over Itawamba and a 35-0 shellacking of Perkinston.

TOMMY

As a result, the Bob Sullivan Lions now offer an unimpressive 2-6 record. The change was enough to move Itawamba into fourth place ahead of East Central and Holmes before last Saturday's games. The Lions are now in next-to-last place in the junior college standings.

Regulations require that parents of athletes live within the tax-paying area of the school, and when the Colemans moved, Billy was immediately ineligible. In our eyes, we believe a whole lot of embarrassment and bad publicity could have been prevented if the matter had been taken care of earlier.

Now as it stands, it looks as if Coach Sullivan or some other school officials are trying to play illegal players.

Perk's Stadium Best

Being sports editor, we get to travel and visit most of the state junior college campuses. Some we visit have exceptionally nice buildings, while others are a bit run down.

Included in our tours are the athletic facilities that each institution has to offer. Two weeks ago, while on the Perkinston campus at a ball game (incidentally Hinds won), we viewed one of the nicest and best built junior college football stadiums in the state. The Bulldogs might not have the best gridiron team in the state, but they surely can bark about their stadium.

Even though there is only one side, the concrete structure has a seating capacity of over 6,000 spectators. The press box, of which is special interest to reporters and other officials, is completely glassed in and holds 25 to 30 comfortably. We would like to extend our deepest congratulations to the Gulf Coast junior college and wish it continued success in its building program.

See Homecoming Win

Whether coincidentally or not, we see all home teams collecting wins this week. Hinds should capture a homecoming win over the Wolfpack of Co-Lin, Delta over East Mississippi, and East Central over Holmes in what should prove to be the game of the week.

3-Way Tie Still Looms In State J C Conference

A three-way tie looms in the Mississippi Junior College football conference as a result of Hinds, Pearl River, and Northwest collecting victories this past weekend.

The Hinds Eagles enjoyed a brief stay at the top of the ladder when they defeated the Holmes Bulldogs, 8-0, in a Thursday night duel at Goodman. Pearl River barely edged out a surprisingly strong Itawamba Indian club, 12-8, and Norhwest fractured Co-Lin, 51-12, Saturday to put the race back into a triple tie.

East Central and Itawamba have battled for a fourth place tie in the powerful JC conference with identical 4-3-1 records. With an even 4-4 mark, Holmes and Delta wind up the top division.

After East Mississippi forfeited two of its wins, Perkinston and Southwest have 2-5-1 records each and are deadlocked for eighth place. Following closely behind are East Mississippi's Lions and Jones with 2-6 records. The Wolves of Copiah-Lincoln comprise the cellar with their unimpressive 1-7 mark.

CONFERENCE STANDINGS

	W	L	T	Pct.
Hinds	7	1	0	.875
Northwest	7	1	0	.875
Pearl River	7	1	0	.875

Drama Troupe To Present 3-Act Comedy Tomorrow Nite

Hinds Junior College's drama troupe presents a rapid-action 3-act comedy tomorrow night at 8 p.m. in the college auditorium.

One sophomore and 10 freshmen are cast in the Lendon Players' fall production, The Imaginary Invalid. The production will be directed by Mr. Fred L. Brooks, speech and dramatics instructor.

The play relates how the mysteries of science can be played against the human mind to completely blind the characters to the scheming of the 'villians' of the story.

The leading roles in the fall comedy are played by Frances Nelson, Vicksburg sophomore, and Jack Roberts, Jackson freshman. Jack portrays Argan, the imaginary invalid, and Frances is Toinette, Argan's impish servant.

Also in the cast are Ernestine Hall, Vicksburg, as Angelique, Argan's elder daughter; Gwen Canoy, Magee, as Beline, Argan's second young wife; Elizabeth Strong, Raymond, as Louison, Argon's younger daughter; and Bob McGregor, Forest Hill, as Monsieur De Bonnefoi, a notary.

Holding the five remaining roles are Earl Lee, Mount Olive, as Cleante, in love with Angelique; Brooks Reid, Vicksburg, as Beralde, Argan's brother; Charles Seegar, Fayette, as Monsieur Duafoirus, a physician; Jim Cummings, Raymond, as Thomas Diafoirus, Argan's son; and Henry Brown, Jackson, as Monsieur Fleurant, as apothecary.

Rodney Salassi, Vicksburg freshman, is the assistant director.

Six committees have been named to handle lighting, make-up, publicity, ushers, tickets, properties, and set designing.

In charge of lighting is Conrad Roberson, Clinton. The make-up committee consists of Charles Daley, Jackson; Anna Maurejohn, Jackson; Kay Adams, Brandon; and Mildred Brown, Jackson.

The publicity committee is headed by Jim Moore, Vicksburg; Charley Daley, Jackson; Maxine Womack, Jackson; Peggy Irwin, Vicksburg; and Ruth Brinson, Terry.

Ushers for the production are Maxine Womack, Jackson; Peggy Irwin, Vicksburg; Nell Hall, Brandon; and Mary Louise West, Jackson; Ruth Brinson, Terry; and Eloise Wilks, Vicksburg, are in charge of tickets.

Anna Maurejohn, Jackson; Norma Ann Dunnam, Harriston; Sarah Bean, West Point; and Kay Adams, Brandon; are on the properties committee. In charge of the set are Mildred Brown, Jackson; Charles Daley, Jackson; and Jim Cummings, Raymond.

The play centers upon Argan, who in his egotism gives little regard to the people around him. He is about 55 and is in good health.

The basic theme running throughout the entire play is comedy blended with strong emotions. Argan's fear of death is the main emotion visualized throughout the production.

The Imaginary Invalid is the first of two productions to be held on the Hinds campus this year. The second production of the series is being planned for mid-April.

District Science, Math Members To Lay Groundwork For Meeting

Science and mathematics teachers from every county in the Hinds Junior College district will meet on the local campus Saturday morning, November 19 in the Science Building to map plans for the district conference in January.

Hinds, in cooperation with the state Department of Education—Division of science and mathematics, is sponsoring the conference for teachers of junior and senior high mathematics and science.

Dr. R. D. Boswell from the mathematics department at Mississippi State University and currently with the State Department of Education met with the mathematics staff Monday to make preliminary plans for the conference.

Represent Hinds

Taking part in the state conference from the Hinds math and physics departments will be Mr. F. J. Stephenson, Mrs. Emma Beemon, Mr. William T. Douglas, Mr. B. D. Spraberry, and Miss Lurline Stewart.

Those representing Hinds from the science department will be Mr. Claude R. Adkins, Mr. T. T. Beemon, Mrs. Genevieve Adams, and Mr. Edward Rosser Wall.

Hinds Society Honors Top 31 New Freshmen

An honor roll will not be published for the first nine weeks, according to Miss Mildred Herrin, registrar, but an informal Coke party was given Monday honoring 31 freshmen who attained a B average or above for the first nine weeks.

The Gamma Lambda Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa held the get-together in the girls' physical education building.

Among the freshmen honored were Marie Bacot, Gaines Bearden, Patricia Brown, Karen Church hill, Billy Franklin, Peggy Gregory, Ernestine Hall, Frances Keen, Nina Lee, Elsie Lynch, Dorothy McRae, William Manning, Linda Massingill, and Rae Millett.

Other Freshmen honored were Pat Mitchell, Kathryn Patrick, Tommy Pullen, Jean Rankin, Margaret Reader, Brooks Reid, Jack Roberts, Martha Steverson, Maxine Sullivan, Delores Taylor, Beverly Tucker, Betty Wadsworth, Lynda Walker, Linda Watts, Jerry Williamson, and Delene Willis.

THURSDAY PRODUCTION — "You imaginary invalid," Frances Nelson in the lead as Toinette, speaks her piece to Jack Roberts, playing the part of Argan. The Moilere play will be presented by the Lendon for the turkeys to be fleeing, but this lucky bird wants to remain where he is, under the hatchet of Hinds Honey No. 5, Una Jo Schaffer of Forest Hill.

OFF TO CHICAGO

Hindsonian To Send 4 Delegates To Collegiate Press Conference

Four Hinds students will leave the campus Saturday for the 36th annual Associated Collegiate Press Convention November 21-23 at the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago.

Jean Rodgers, executive editor of the Hindsonian; Corkie Lyle, managing editor of the Hindsonian; Betsy Haynes, news editor; Jewel McNair, editor of the Eagle; and Irl Dean Rhodes, staff sponsor, will represent Hinds at the convention.

During the three day press meeting the students will attend clinics on newspapers, photography, magazine and yearbook makeup.

The entire program will be sprinkled with well known names in all the areas of college journalism. Mr. Earl J. Johnson, vice president and general news editor of United Press International, New York, will be the convocation speaker.

Campus Observes Holiday Weekend With Activities

In observance of Thanksgiving on the Hinds Junior College campus, the traditional holiday dinner will be served in the college cafeteria Thursday at 5 p.m.

School holidays will begin Wednesday afternoon, November 23 at 3:30. Students will resume classes Monday morning, November 28 at 8:15.

School Executives To Attend Confab At Annual Meeting

President G. M. McLendon and three Hinds staff members will attend the annual meeting of the Commission on Colleges and Universities in Memphis on November 27-30.

Mr. Robert Mayo, administrative assistant, Mrs. Frances Lee, dean of women, and Miss Mildred Herrin, registrar, will accompany President McLendon on the trip.

President McLendon is a member of the committee of admission to membership, and Mr. Mayo is a member of the necrology committee, and the committee on standards and reports.

Take Time To Be Thankful

As Thanksgiving approaches we pause in grateful recognition and give thanks for the great promise of the future. Our founding fathers settled on the shores of this country, many with only the "promise of tomorrow," and the certainty of toil, but they came thankful for that tomorrow.

We are grateful for our democratic way of life, our freedoms of speech and personal freedoms. The privilege of education is a blessing. We learn to better ourselves and our country through higher education. For this, we are thankful.

We are thankful for Hinds Junior College. Although we are not always happy about some things, we are thankful and proud of our college.

Today, we face a challenge greater than any in our history. We must be imbued with the same unselfish zeal and humility that inspired our forefathers to face their "tomorrows" unafraid. They pledged their very lives and sacred honor to support the way of life of their new world and what the future held for them. We must face forward if we are going to be a shining example to the oppressed people of the world, and give them the assurance of a "new birth of freedom."

Thanksgiving Day is marked on the calendar, but thanksgiving itself is not a matter of time, but of spirit.

For all the many things of life, we take time out and give Thee thanks. We are grateful to God for his love.

Autumn Splendor Awes All

The crisp, cool air of November sweeps us into a brisk step as we cross the campus.

The air is permeated with the smell of fast-approaching winter. The odor of spruce, cedar, holly and pine surround and overwhelm us.

And the beauty . . . it is grand. Pages and pages could be written on the beauty. Just being alive to visualize the magnificient splendor of autumn is worth an entire book of space.

The leaves are a most impressive sight at this time. Turning their crimson red and gold, they break into patterns of most impressive beauty . . . beauty which cannot be captured or imitated successfully by even an artist's brush.

Dawn is breath-taking and sunset is splendid. Perfect touches for a gorgeous day.

Students Enjoy New Concert Series

Last night's presentation of Irene Bewley, folk singer, was the last of a two-fold concert series held in the college auditorium. The first program, which was presented a week ago, was Doraine and Ellis, popular singers.

The administration is to be commended for bringing two such cultural performances to the campus at no charge to students. They were presented for the entertainment of the studnt body.

OFF THE CUFF

Duty Of Citizens To Show Pride In Our Country

Disgrace, humiliated. . .but most of all. . . alone. Yes, this was Philip Nolan -The Man Without A Country.

JEAN

This is a short, fast-moving story by Edward E. Hale based on a man's damnation of his country the United States.

"Damn the United States! I wish I may never hear of the United States again." This was Philip Nolan's fatal statement on September 23, 1807.

More consideration should be given to this fictional character during this critical period in world history.

Criticism is wonderful. It is our privilege and duty as citizens of the United States. But, as citizens we should also be the first to stand up for our country—not condemn it as Nolan chose to do.

There is a great lesson to learn from Philip Nolan—love of our country. Our love needs to be surfaced for all to see. We must show pride in our patriotism.

It was a pathetically tragic fate which was dealt to Nolan—never to see or hear the name of the United States as long as he so lived.

After his exile he became a broken man in spirit. A man disgraced, humiliated, and so alone presents a sad depressing picture. We feel an inner sympathy for a man who, in one statement, loses his freedom.

When he died, May 11, 1863, a slip of paper was found in his Bible stating:

"Bury me in the sea; it has been my home, and I love it. But will not some one set up a stone for my memory at Fort Adams or at Orleans, that my disgrace may not be more than I ought to bear? Say on it:— In Memory of Philip Nolan, Lieutenant in the Army of the United States. He loved his country as no other man has loved her; but no man deserved less at her hands."

During this Thanksgiving season, we should take special time to thank Our Maker that we have a country.

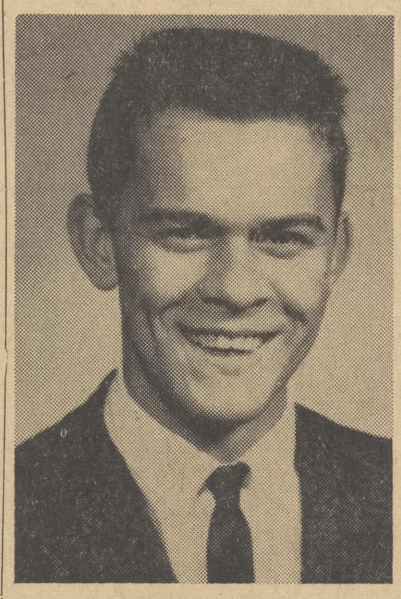
SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Bouncing, Bubbling, Buzz Adds Wit, Talent, Big Spark To Hinds Campus

By SUE WILLOUGHBY

In association, you can trust his judgment, appreciate frankness, enjoy his confidence, and admire his fine spirit of cooperation.

That's Corkie Lyle, a bouncing, bubbling, buzz from Belzoni. He's a darn nice selection as sophomore of the Week.



CORKIE LYLE
Possesses Rare Technique

"Silence is golden, Silence is real; but silence to me, Is another ordeal." That sounds like Corkie Lyle, he is witty, and he is good natured.

Excells In Activities

He excells in many activities, although his favorites are serving as cheerleader and as managing editor of the Hindsonian.

His line of accomplishments from the time his mother kissed him goodby and sent him to meet his first grade teacher in the fall of 1947 until the present are numerous.

When he arrived on the Hinds campus, he brought with him the coveted title of "Mr. Belzoni High" and umteen other honors. A few of the honors included homecoming king, student council officer, football team manager, basketball team manager, Hi-Y Club, Glee Club, annual staff, Junior Classical League, Beta Club, Press Club, B Club, and Photography lub.

Has Top Record

The likeable lad has added a few pages to his excellent record at Hinds. His highlights include Who's Who, Hindsonian editorial board, Religious Emphasis Week committee, Modern Language treasurer, Canterbury Club president, and President's Council.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Lyle can be proud of Corkle and his accomplishments.

Mississippi Southern College will welcome this witty, crew-cut whiz with open arms this fall.

Possesses Technique

He possesses a rare technique of talkative and friendly wit. You never know what he's going to say, because he doesn't know himself. He's the spark that ignites the fun.

He's a joy to know and to work with. With God's help, he'll live up to the expectations of his fellow students.

Hinds Junior College considers Corkie Lyle one of the top citizens to pass through her doors. He's a great guy.

President-elect John F. Kennedy may yet have to go to the House of Representative for a win in the presidential race. The oldsters, that is, political has-beens and forecasters, admit it is doubtful, but announced Friday that there is a possibility.

Ten states have absentee ballots and many will not be counted for weeks to come. Also, states such as Mississippi and Alabama have delegates with independent elector voters which could throw their votes for Nixon, although highly improbable. There is speculation that Georgia and Arkansas might follow suit.

Either way the votes are cast, there will be a majority of electoral votes for Kennedy.

Doraine - Ellis, Bewley Complete Fine Arts Series On Hinds Junior Campus

The first of the fine arts concert series to be held on Hinds campus was a great success.

Miss Irene Bewley, one of the nation's leading authorities on southern highland folklore, dialect, and culture, presented the final program in the auditorium last night.

The Doraine and Ellis team won the hearts and applause of Hinds students last Wednesday night as they presented "A Costumed Cavalcade of Broadway's Greatest Hits."

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis E. Lucas, as they are known at home in Charlotte, N.C., brought their well trained voices, a $50,000 costume wardrobe, and a repertoire of exerts from famous musicals to entertain us.

The dimpled tenor with the winning smile and his charming blond wife first appeared on the stage in a soldier uniform and blue sequinned gown. They sang "The Chocolate Soldier," (an English translation of the Venise Operetta) and Earnest Ball's "A Little Bit of Heaven" from the Broadway Show Heart of Patti Wack.

"May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You" by Merrideth Wilson made a very appropriate ending to this entertaining show.

Lamplighters Group Sends 2 Delegates To State Meet At Heidelberg Hotel

Two members of the Hinds Junior College Lamplighters Club and their sponsor attended the Mississippi State Home Economics Association Convention last weekend.

They were Martha Clair Bryant of Terry, Betty Shivers of Florence, and Mrs. Robbie Dukes, sponsor.

The theme of the meeting, held at the Heidelberg Hotel, was "New Explorations."

Highlight of the meeting was the banquet held in the Victory Room on Friday night.

Instructor, 3 Students Attend Clinic For Engineers Meeting At State U.

Mr. Wallace Wall, mechanical drawing instructor, and three students attended a workshop of the Junior Engineering Technical Society at Mississippi State Universty over the weekend.

Participating in the clinic were Blly Boyt, Jackson sophomore and Engineering Club president; Jimmy Hataway, Jackson sophomore; and George Tidwell, Newton freshman and vocational representative.

The Southeast Regional Leadership Conference was under the direction of Richard T. Fallon, executive director of JETS from East Lansing, Mich. Assistant directors were Don W. Mansfield, general employment assistant of the Consumers Power Company of Michigan.

Mr. Wall states "the JETS program is one of the best ways to explain our total industrial program at Hinds to various high schools in our district."

"There is approximately a 50 per cent difference in the number of students entering engineering," Mr. Wall adds, "and the number of who actually are graduating. Our goal is filling the gap between the large number."

Eagles Feast On Wolves To Take Homecoming Win

Chalking up the most points in three seasons, the Hinds Junior College Eagles displayed a highly offensive homecoming show Saturday afternoon and racked up a 47-8 victory over Copiah-Lincoln's Wolves.

Eagle fullback Johnny Daher and halfback Byrle Kynerd sparked the Raymond 11 with 25 points. Daher scored in the second and fourth quarters for his 12 points, while Kynerd collected both of his six-pointers during the third period. The extra tally for Byrle came after the first touchdown in the second stanza.

Williamson Scores 1st

After a scoreless first period, center Norman Agent pounced upon a Wolf fumble on the Co-Lin 49 to set up the initial second quarter touchdown. Taking 11 plays to march 49 yards, the Eagle scored on a 12-yard run by halfback Wilburn Williamson. The kick by Kynerd was good to give the Birds a 7-point advantage.

The second touchdown for Hinds came shortly after the kickoff, when Hinds end Charles Simmons hit a Co-Lin punter after a short fumble and tackle Don Gleason grabbed the ball on the four. Daher blasted into the end zone on the next play for the 13-0 halftime score.

With the start of the second half, Hinds continued to show superiority with its third touchdown of the afternoon. Halfback Donnie Swafford knocked down a Wolf punt on the 11 yard line with Gleason falling on the loose ball. Two plays later, Swafford raced into the end zone from the seven-yard marker.

Halfback Randy Rushing, quarterback Donnie Smith, and end William Jordan kept the Wesson 11 alive with its only score early in the third period. The four other Eagle tallies came on run plays by Kynerd and Daher, and on a 7-yard pass play from Bobby Luckett to Bert Sullivan.

RACKS UP YARDAGE — Hinds halfback Donnie Swafford picks up 16 yards in the second quarter of Saturday's homecoming game with the Co-Lin Wolves in Eagle Stadium. Wesson's Randy Rushing comes in to stop the Bird, but is knocked out of contention by an unidentified Hinds blocker.

Local Students Determine Game

By TOMMY NANCE

To be or not to be, that is the question." This is a familiar quotation from Shakespeare's Hamlet, but it can be applied in a modern-day version to Saturday night's game between the Hinds Eagles and Pearl River Wildcats.

The winner of this all-important tussle will become the state junior college football champs and whether Hinds succeeds is up to you—Eagle supporters. The local lads have allowed the fewest points scored against them with 57, while having scored 187. The Poplarville 11 has totaled 222 points, while allowing 100 for the opposition.

TOMMY

This is the first time in several years that such an important title has been played in Eagle Stadium and the 5,000 plus seating capacity of the stadium should be completely filled. We urge all to go out and support the Eagles for their first state championship in three years. It depends on you.

Athletic Director of Delta State College, David (Boo) Ferris has announced that Delta State will begin competition in a five-team athletic conference next fall.

The present plans call for competition in football, basketball, track, golf, and tennis, but a name for the conference hasn't been chosen. A meeting in Florence, Ala. in early December will iron out several problems that will face each charter school.

Members that have been announced are Delta State, Florence State Teachers College, Austin Peay State College of Clarksville, Tenn., the University of Tennessee Martin Branch, and Jacksonville State College of Jacksonville, Ala.

Eagles Take Championship

From the looks of things in our crystal ball, we see the Hinds Junior College Eagles as sole champions of the Mississippi Junior College Football Circuit.

In what to be one of the best games of the year, if not the best, we see the Renfroe-coached Eagles taking a six-point margin over the Pearl River Wildcats in a Raymond classic long to be remembered. We took a big swallow when we stated that Hinds will defeat the Poplarville clan, but when we said they would be sole champions, that means that someone is going to have to beat the other title contender, Northwest.

The Rangers travel to Grenada to close out their season Thursday and should face a rugged Holmes 11.

4 CAGE TEAMS

Ricks 5 Opens With Tourney

With the junior college gridiron season in its last week of regular competition, the bounceball year begins its action this weekend up at Goodman, when Holmes plays host to the Holiday Tournament Friday and Saturday nights.

Competing in the tourney are the defending champions Hinds Eagles, East Central's Warriors, Delta's Trojans, and tourney host Holmes Bulldogs.

Game time each evening will be at 7:00 and 8:30 p.m. The four teams will draw for opening games, and the two Friday night losers will play a preliminary game at 7:00 p.m. on Saturday, followed by the championship tilt at 8:30.

Hinds is still in contention on the gridiron, but this tourney will give basketball fans a good opportunity to witness some top cage games and get an idea of the strength of the teams in the central area for the upcoming season.

The Eagles will have five returning lettermen on the court this season. Norman Pace, 6-0, 175 pounder from Monroe, La. will pace the Troy A. Ricks clan at the forward slot. Center Dean Liles of Learned will probably be starting at the pivot position for Hinds.

Three guards from last year's top team are reported back on the Hinds campus in Billy Rhodes, Lewis Vaughn, and Byrle Kynerd. Rhodes, 6-0, 158 pounder from Pelahatchie, saw plenty of action last year and will be a probable starter in the initial game of the tourney for the Birds.

Pearl River Invasion Sets State Title On Edge For Hinds Birds

On many occasions in the past decade, the Hinds-Pearl River squabble has determined the state junior college football champion. The only difference in this year's classic is the date, for in the past, Hinds has always opened the season against the Wildcats, but this year's match is the curtain closer for both teams.

With Hinds, Pearl River and Northwest tied for first place, one will be eliminated this Saturday night in Eagle Stadium. The winner of the "game-of-the-year" will more than likely be a co-champ with Northwest. The Rangers meet five-time loser Holmes in a deciding battle at Goodman.

Dobie Holden's 'Cats, defending state champs, will be guided by nine returning lettermen from their "T" formation. Should the Poplarville clan add the Hinds Eagles to its black list, the Wildcats will clinch the sixth state championship or co-championship in the school's history.

Hinds has won seven top spots during the Raymond school's gridiron history, with four of these in the past eight years. The last Eagle championship came in 1957, when Pearl River was edged 35-32.

Fullback Reggie Frierson, a 156 pound sophomore from Picayune, will be leading the defending champs into the game, with strong support coming from quarterbacks Gene Gatewood and Wayne Willoughby; backs Larry Hunt and Billy Miller; guards Terry Davis, Gabriel Skipper, Jimmy Eiland, Ames Kitchens, and Charles Amacker.

Other top 'Cat performers include tackles Seymour Hartzog and Gregory Mitchell; ends James Boone and Emmett Smith; and centers Thomas Smith and Jerrell Wilson.

Coach Joe Renfroe states, "Our starting lineup will not be known until almost game time Saturday." Earl Hicks will probably be starting at the center slot for Hinds, with Sonny Penley or Don Fugate calling the signals. Bobby Luckett will be the main standby at the quarterback position.

At ends, Mike Vinson and Ronny Hayden will be probable starters, with able assistance coming from Richard Mills. Don Gleason and Wayne Sullivan will be at the tackle slots, with Ed Johnson and John Earl Calhoun among the reserves.

The guard position will see Tommy Hudson and Howard Freeman. Charles Simmons will be seeing plenty of action also. In the backfield, Johnny Daher will be at fullback, while Wilburn Williamson and Byrle Kynerd start off at halfback. Bert Sullivan, Donnie Swafford, and Bobby Slayden, also will see action.

WHAT AM I DOING HERE? — Tearing into the end zone for the second Hinds touchdown in the Copiah-Lincoln tussle, fullback Johnny Daher chalks up six of his 12 points to aid the Eagles in their 47-8 rout over the Wolves Saturday.

Debaters To Participate In Mid-South Tournament

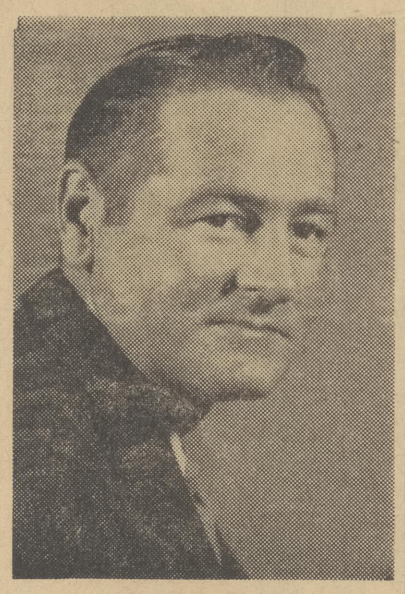
Two Hinds teams will compete in the Mid-South Debate Tournament to be held at Mississippi College Friday and Saturday.

The topic to be debated is "Resolved: That the United States shall adopt a system of Compulsory Health Insurance."

Each team will participate in six debates. The debating starts at 10 a.m. Friday and ends at 5:15 that afternoon. The second session of debate begins at 9:00 Saturday and the tournament ends at 12 noon with the presentation of awards.

The teams representing Hinds are Team I—Affirmative, John Wilda and Sally Baker; Negative, Earl Lee and Rodney Salassi. Team II—Affirmative, Carolyn Acuff and Belinda Hill; Negative, Delores Robinson and Frances Nelson.

The teams from Hinds will debate teams from Belhaven, Millsaps, Ole Miss, Southern, Mississippi State, MSCW, and Mississippi College.



MR. PAT SMITH
Debate Coach

The debates will be judged and the best teams will receive ratings of excellent.

Nominations Set In Tomorrow's Student Election

Nominations to fill 26 Who's Who honors will be made tomorrow. The recipients of the coveted Miss and Mr. Hinds Junior College titles will be selected by the student body at this time.

The polls will open at 8:30 a.m. and close at 3:30 p.m. Each voter will be given a nominating blank to write in his nominations. Students receivng the hghest number of votes will be in the first primary.

The first primary will be held Monday, December 5, and the second primary, Wednesday, December 7.

The nominees for Miss and Mr. Hinds Junior College must be sophomores and have at least a "C" average.

Other honors to be named are two freshmen and two sophomore beauties, best all-around boy and girl, most intellectual boy and girl, wittiest boy and girl, friendliest boy and girl, best boy and girl athlete, and eight campus favorites. Two boys and girls from the freshman class and two boys and girls from the sophomore class will be chosen as favorites.

Educators Return Today

Four members of the Hinds Junior College administrative staff returned to the campus today from an educators meeting in Memphis.

PRESIDENT McLENDON
"Successful Conference"

President G. M. McLendon, Administrative Assistant Robert M. Mayo, Dean of Women Frances Lee, and Registrar Mildred Herrin attended a three day conference at the Commission on Colleges and Universities.

President McLendon is a member of the committee on admission to membership.

Mr. Mayo is a member of the committee on necrology. This committee discussed standards and reports submitted by the member schools.

President McLendon described the meeting as 'very successful."

Yearbook Staff Puts Final Deadline; Teams Need 138 Sales To Reach Goal

The deadline for the purchase of a 1961 yearbook is December 15, Jewel McNair, Eagle editor announced today.

The Eagle staff set 700 as its goal for annual sales. Thus far, only 562 yearbooks have been sold.

Annuals sell for $5. Two dollars can be paid as a down payment and the remaining $3. may be paid in the spring.

Annuals may be purchased from any Eagle staff member. The staff has been divided into two teams. Charlotte Dunlap and Annette Gibbes are group captains. Charlotte's team is presently leading in annual sales.

Nancy Hamil, Carolyn Gill, and Jean Rodgers are ahead in the individual sales with 37 annuals sales each.

College Sends Delegates To Youth Congress On Capitol Hill Saturday

A delegation of five Hinds students has been selected to represent the college at the annual Youth Congress in Jackson December 2-3.

Byrle Kynerd, Raymond Sophomore; Evelyn DuBose, Jackson sophomore; Gwen Canoy, Magee freshman; Earl Lee, Mount Olive freshman; and Stewart Vaughn, Yazoo City freshman, have been chosen to represent Hinds at the conference, according to Mr. Fred Brooks, speech instructor.

Named as statisticians for the congress are Richard Mills, Forest Hill freshman, and Lynwood Corkern Jackson freshman.

Youth Congress is sponsored by the Mississippi Speech Association. The annual event will be held in the state capitol. Delegates to the congress are chosen from a field of high school and college speech students.

In a mock session of the Mississippi Legislature, students draft bills and amendments which they feel are needed for improvement of the state.

The House is composed of high school representatives, and college students comprise the Senate. Each school is allowed to present three bills on the floor of the legislature.

The director of the Congress is Mr. Eddie Collins, instructor at Millsaps College. Miss Olive Hay, Northwest Junior College instructor is the assistant director of the Congress.

The two-day congress will open with a joint session of both Houses of the Legislature.

"It is of great significance," stated Mr. Brooks, "that a great number of bills passed by previous youth congresses have later been enacted by the Mississippi Legislature."

IRC Membership To Hear German Guest Tomorrow

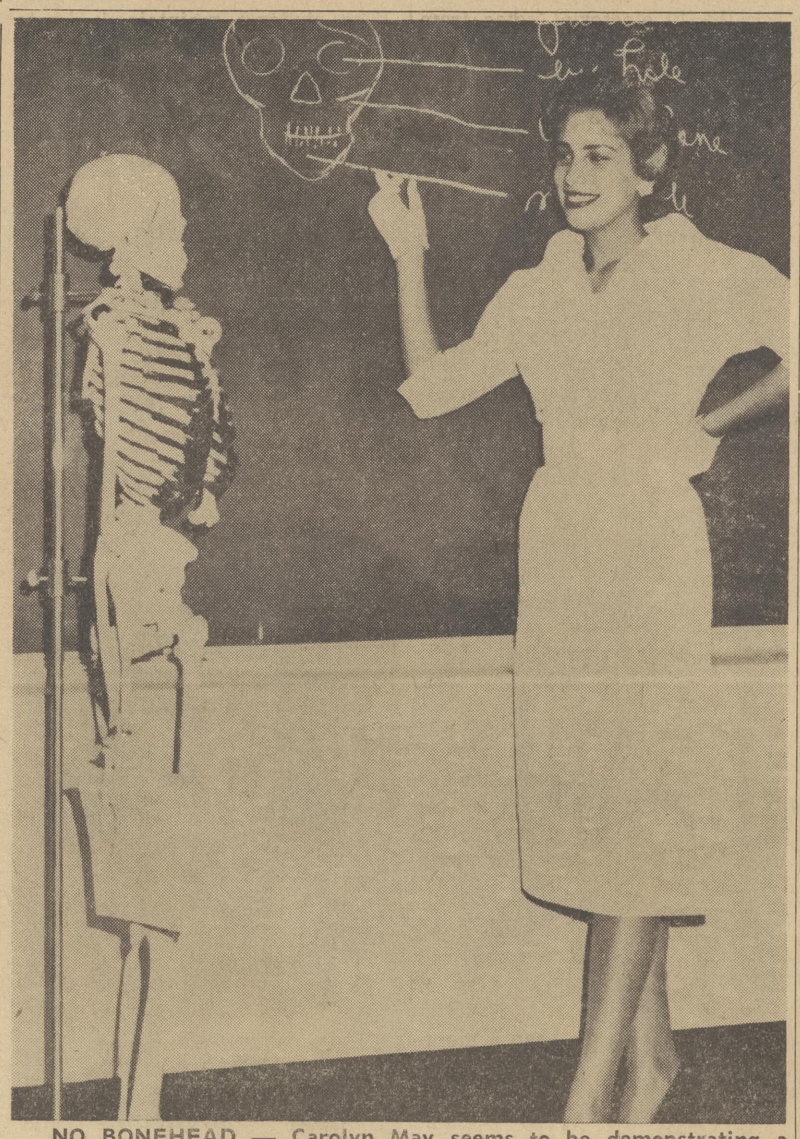
German-born Ingertraud Wodarz will be guest speaker at the International Relations Club tomorrow night at 7:15.

Miss Wodarz, a Fullbright scholarship student, is a Mississippi College student. She came to the United States with 107 other scholarship students.

After completing her schooling in May, Miss Wodarz plans to tour the United States and then began a teaching career in Germany.

The meeting will be open to all Hinds Junior College students and faculty members, according to Tommy Jackson, IRC president. It will be held in Room 9 of the Academic Building.

Mr. Thomas Stricklin and Miss Susan Brown, social science instructors, are IRC sponsors.



NO BONEHEAD — Carolyn May seems to be demonstrating a point to our dedicated bag-o-bones. If the skeleton were real, wonder if Hinds Honey No. 6, the Delta Queen, could get her point over a little better. She wouldn't have any trouble finding volunteers.

Band, Hi-Steppers Release 2 Christmas Parade Dates In Yazoo City, Vicksburg

Hi-Steppers instructor Mrs. Alon Bee and band director Al Rowan reported this week that the Hinds Band and Hi-Steppers would lead two Christmas parades in the Hinds area during the next week.

The Eagle Band and Hi-Steppers will be a feature of the Christmas parade in Vicksburg Saturday night. The second appearance will be at the Santa Claus parade in Yazoo City Tuesday night.

The Hinds group has turned down over a dozen invitations to Christmas parades and special shows in the last two weeks in order to begin preparation for the group's next major appearance—the Sugar Bowl on Jan. 2.

Mrs. Bee and Mr. Rowan have been busy working on uniforms, special costumes, props, and other items for the halftime of the Ole Miss-Rice classic.

The Sugar Bowl intermission program will be seen over NBC television with an estimated 60 million viewers.

'Let's Talk Mississippi'

"Let's Talk Mississippi." Can you?

In a recent editorial appearing in the State Times, Editor Oliver Emmerich ennumerated numerous facts to help us talk up Mississippi. Mr. Emmerich summarized a book form compiled by the Mississippi Chamber of Commerce entitled "Let's Talk Mississippi." Mr. J. M. Files is the chairman of the committee compiling the material for the book form.

Among the facts about Mississippi which were listed is that we have the largest cotton plantation in the world, which contains 38,000 acres

Also to be noted is the fact that Mississippi has the world's largest broiler plant, the world's champion corn grower, the world's largest pecan orchard and is the number one tree farm state.

Mr. Emmerich also brought out the fact that the oldest book in America is in the library at the University of Mississippi. It is an ancient Biblical manuscript written on papyrus.

It was pointed out that one of the best recommendations for a state is that Mississippi has more churches per person than any state in the Union. In 1957 we had one church for every 289 persons. The national average is one church for every 814 persons.

Indeed we do need to 'talk Mississippi! . . . Mississippi is the "greatest." It is the home of Hinds Junior College . . . it is our home.

Let's join hands with other Mississippians and let's talk Mississippi.

Grillology Majors Beware

Emily Post and Amy Vanderbilt are the country's leading consours of etiquette.

Many Hinds students could find some worthwhile notes from the Misses Post and Vanderbilt.

The first student who arrests one's attention each morning in the grill is a charming lass of a husky male who is unfortunate enough to have a defect within his semi-circular canals.

This is the person who finds it necessary to lean upon a male or female acquaintance, a wall, a counter, or some piece of furniture to maintain a modicum of equilibrium. Perhaps the college might institute remedial courses in balance or some such.

Most students use the excuse that college is to prepare them for future life and they must become "well-rounded." Their idea of well-rounded consists of about 80 per cent social and 20 per cent academic endeavor.

Vote In Campus Election

Tomorrow is election day. Nope, we haven't lost all our marbles yet. It is the annual Who's Who Contest.

So, what does that mean to us? The same privilege. We have the responsibility to vote.

We are to choose a Miss and Mr. Hinds Junior College. They will be representative of every student on the campus.

Remember, if you don't vote, you have no right to complain. Take part in school life.

See you at the polls.

Terry Honor Graduate, Hi-Stepper, Eagle Staffer, Captures Top Spot

By CAROLYN MAY

"You'd think she was quiet, but look at the twinkle in her eye." This old cliche perfectly describes the sophomore of the week, Charlotte Dunlap.

Hailing from Terry, Miss., 15 miles southeast of Hinds Junior College, Charlotte was voted most popular and friendliest girl in high school. She was also editor of the Terry High School annual.

Charlotte's popularity helped her get elected homecoming queen at Terry. Surprisingly enough, her sister was homecoming queen this past year, making Terry High School an old Dunlap stomping ground.

While furthering her education at Hinds, Charlotte has acquired the title of business manager of the college yearbook, the Eagle.

This Terry lass has been a member of the famous Hi-Steppers for two years. Charlotte serves as "Girl Friday" for Mr. A. L. Denton, guidance director.

Charlotte is planning to attend Mississippi College for Women next fall where she will continue her major in elementary education.

The Hindsonian extends its congratulations and best wishes to Charlotte. She will always collect and reap honors for Charlotte Dunlap, 'cause she deserves them.

A sea of beautiful jewels was our vision of Chicago at night from the 41st floor of the Prudential Building.

Corkie Lyle, Betsy Haynes, Jewel McNair, Mr. Irl Dean Rhodes, and this writer reached Chicago after an eventful 20-hour drive covering five states — Mississippi, Tennessee, Kentucky, Missouri and Illinois.

OUR HOTEL, the Conrad Hilton which is the largest hotel in the world, was the site of the convention. Our rooms provided a grand view of Lake Michigan.

After touring the Museum of Science and Industry Monday evening, we went to "Persian Paradise" a musical revue on ice in the Boulevard Room of the hotel.

THE PRUDENTIAL Building, which was previously mentioned, houses the fastest elevators in the world. Those going to the top floors travel 1400 feet per minute.

A dance was given in honor of the delegates at the hotel that night.

Business sessions and meetings of the 36th Annual Associated Collegiate Press Convention began Tuesday morning and continued through noon Wednesday. Jewel attended a course on putting out an annual, and Betsy, Corkie, and this writer, attended a course on the campus newspaper. Mr. Rhodes attended a special sponsor's course dealing with newspapers, annuals, and magazines.

DURING OUR spare time we went on a shopping spree at Marshall Fields, the world's largest department store. The gigantic store covers a solid block plus an addition across the street.

One of the highlights of our trip was eating at the fabulous Park Row Restaurant. It had "atmosphere.'

We were especially glad to meet fellow Mississippians representing Mississippi State University, University of Mississippi, Mississippi Southern College, and Missssippi State College for Women.

THE DIFFERENCE in accents from the various sections of the country was very evident. We had to ask the Northerners and Westerners to slow down in their speech for us to understand them. Mississippians were the center of attention when it came to talking—no one could understand how we could talk so slow—do we?

On the return trip we took a new route traveling through Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, and home to Mississippi.

OUR JOURNEY was a safe one. Our only encounter with the law was when a state trooper stopped Betsy in Indiana for what he called "ignoring a stop sign."

We returned to Mississippi happy, but tired on Thanksgiving Day.

Lynda Walker, a freshman blonde and Simpson County resident, has copped the runner-up position in the "Good Provider" contest, sponsored each year by the Times-Picayune.

A freshman at Hinds, Lynda graduated from Mendenhall High School last June and last summer ran the home, taking care of her brother and sister, while her parents, both teachers, were away at school.

Versatile in many ways, the tall attractive blonde chooses foods as her major projects, but supplements them with health, safety, leadership, public speaking, home improvement, citizinship, personality improvement, and recreation.

She is an accomplished musician and is a member of the Hinds band, and also numbers among her talents her paintings in water color, some oils, and crayons.

Lynda has been a consistent winner in county food and food judging contests and in 1959 was state winner in dairy foods demonstration. She served as reporter, secretary-treasurer, and president of her 4-H Club. She has also been a project leader in foods, and now is a junior leader.

This, however, does not end her list of accomplishments.

This year she was a state winner in the co-operative business contest and was awarded a trip to the American Institute of Cooperation in Berkeley, Calif.

For three years she attended the state junior leadership conference and for four years she attended the state 4-H Club Congress.

Lynda closed out her long line of honors by attending the National 4-H Congress in Chicago this week as a state winner in dairy foods.

Nelson, J. Roberts Spell Fun, Mirth In Lendon Players' Fall Production

By GWEN CANOY

The fall production of the Lendon Players given Thursday night, Nov. 17, was a great success.

"The Imaginary Invalid," written by Moliere, a famous French playwrite, featured Jack Roberts in the title role of Argan and Frances Nelson as the mischievous maid Toinett.

Other members of the cast included Ernestine Hall as Angelique, Gwen Canoy as Beline, Elizabeth Strong as Louison, Bob McGregor as Monsieur De Bonnefoi, Earl Lee as Cleante, Brooks Reid as Beralde, Charles Seegar as Monsieur Diafoirus, Jim Cummings as Thomas Diafoirus, and Henry Brown as Monsieur Fleurant.

The many pranks played on Argan by the other members of the cast kept the audience in laughter. Frances stole the show with her trick appearance as the strange little doctor who helped to cure the invalid by attempting to cut off Argan's arm and pluck out his eye.

Baptist Students Open Annual Bout For Moon Money

The Baptist Student Union began its drive for contributions to the Lottie Moon Christmas offering this week. The goal set for this year is $111.11.

Money collected for the Lottie Moon offering goes to the foreign mission field as a love offering.

In order to keep students informed as the drive progresses, the BSU has set up a poster picturing a world map with Christmas lights representing each place that the Southern Baptist have Mission Stations. The lights will be lighted as money is collected. Each light represents three dollars.

SPORTS PREVIEW

Tip The Apache Canoe, Tyler Too

By TOMMY NANCE

The two top junior college teams in the nation, Tyler of Texas and Long Beach, Calif., will meet Dec. 10 in the Junior Rose Bowl to decide the mythical national junior college championship.

This Pasadena classic will be the only bowl game in the entire nation featuring teams with unbeaten, untied records. Tyler ranks as the top team in most of the national JC rankings and Long Beach is rated just a notch below them.

TOMMY

Both 11's have made one previous appearance in the Junior Rose Bowl, with Long Beach whipping Boise (Ida.) 33-13 in 1950 and Tyler having bowed to Pasadena City College in a 28-26 thriller in 1951.

This year's battle should prove to be one of the best in the bowl's history. Long Beach's Vikings have compiled an overall record of nine wins against no losses and have won over three of the top 20 teams, two being in the top 10. Tyler, with a very impressive 12-0 mark, has totaled 331 points, while allowing their opponents to 106.

If our crystal ball was telling the truth, the Vikings should tip the canoe and Tyler, too. The canoe will be the one that will be carrying the Texas Apaches.

Mississippi Holds Record

Is it that Mississippi likes crowds or do crowds like the Magnolia State? You tell us, but while glancing over Junior Rose Bowl statistics, we noticed that in the years 1954 and '55—the two years that Hinds and Jones represented the East—larger crowds witnessed this colorful event than in any other years in the history of this gridiron battle.

The Hinds Eagles, first Magnolia state representative, journeyed out west in 1954 to meet the El Camino Warriors and returned home victorious. The bowl attendance was broken in this 13-7 victimization, with 54,633 viewing.

Again in 1955, a Mississippi team, Jones, represented the East in the classic and another attendance record was broken. A crowd of 57,132 watched the Bobcats face a 22-13 deficit by the Compton Tartars.

Since these two southern teams met on the California gridiron, the attendance has dropped to 37,149, 36,000, 50,797, and 49,923. Will a new record be set this year or will it have to wait until another Mississippi 11 visits the sunny state?

If the Californians are planning to wait we are afraid it will be a long time, due to the new recruiting system going into effect next year in Mississippi. May the Magnolia state hold another record!

Roundball 5 Adopts New Slogan; Battle Delta Quint Friday Night

Local Cagers Remember Gridiron Season For Moorhead Revenge

Revenge is the slogan this week on the Hinds Junior College cage floor as the Eagle basketeers prepare for their initial game of the regular season Friday night.

Playing host to Coach Troy Ricks' five will be Delta's Trojans.

During the gridiron year, Hinds was handed its first defeat by the Moorhead 11 and the local cagers fell in the consolation game of the Holmes Holiday Tourney to the Trojans.

The Eagles marched through regular season play last year, falling only to Mississippi State's freshmen and losing close decisions to Copiah-Lincoln, Perkinston, and Southwest.

Eagles Lead Standings

On top of the junior college bounceball standings, Hinds entered the South Mississippi tournament at Poplarville last year and tasted a 68-64 defeat at the hands of Southwest's Bears in the initial game of the tourney, thus eliminating the Birds.

STUDENTS RIDE BUS

Those students desiring to ride a student bus to Moorhead Friday night to view the Hinds-Delta basketball game should sign up in the President's Office before Thursday evening. A fee of $.50 will be charged to those riding the bus.

This year's chapter might well go into the history books as having a championship team, although top performers Larry Dowdy, Tommy Thompson, and Gerald Austin will be missed. Forward Dowdy and center Thompson graduated, while guard Austin transferred.

Troy A. Hicks, Hinds cage chief, has several promising stars up from the high schools for the current campaign.

At the pivot position, David Jones will probably get the starting role in early season games. Jones, 6-4 star who played ball with the Florence Eagles last year, collected three roundball letters in high school. David Warrington, 6-4 redhead from Forest Hill, and David Yewell, 6-4 ace from Owensboro, Ky., are other hopefuls for the center slot.

Dean Liles is the only returnee at the forward position, but should get able assistance from Bill Parkman, Graham Taylor, and Wayne Hensley.

Newcomers Pace Slate

Parkman, 6-3 forward from Clinton; Taylor, 6-4 Brandonite; and Hensley, 6-4 center and forward from Steele, Mo., will give Ricks' slate a host of newcomers.

Three lettermen from last year's five are placed at the guard slot in Norman Pace, Billy Rhodes, and Lewis Vaughn. All three played prominent roles in the Eagle victories last season.

Paul McMillan, 5-7 standout, and Sammy Rhodes, 5-10 star, hail from Pelahatchie where they aided the Chiefs to the runner-up position in state B-BB competition last year. Sidney Odom, David Bridges, and Eddie Frith will also add strength at the guard slots.

Neely Paces Tigers To Top Slot In Local Intramural Basketball

After the first week of basketball competition in the Men's Recreational Association, the Tigers are leading the pack with a perfect 3-0 record. Following closely behind are the Hawks, who maintain a 2-0 mark.

Hayward Neely tallied 22 points in last week's battle with the Wolves to put the Tigers on top, 71-67. Team captain Johnny Carter led his Hawks to a 56-55 victory over the Owls in another conference game.

Tying for third place are the Wolves and Owls, with even 1-1 records. Rounding out the standings are the winless Weavers and faculty team, with 0-2 and 0-3 records respectively.

The Tigers also won a decisive 58-23 game over the Weavers, in which Neely scored 24 points. Winning their first tilt, the Owls defeated the faculty five with a 78-21 margin.

GULFPORT CLASSIC

Wildcats, Texans Clash Saturday In Gulf Coast's Hospitality Bowl

Pearl River's Wildcats and the San Angelo Rams will be providing entertainment in the 1960 Hospitality Bowl in Gulfport Saturday night.

The third straight appearance of Dobie Holden's 'Cats is the result of a co-championship gained by the Poplarville 11 after defeating the Hinds Eagles, 24-6. Pearl River whipped the Rangers of Northwest 24-22, in regular season play to get the invitation over the Senatobia lads.

San Angelo (Texas) will be making its second bowl appearance to the Mississippi Gulf Coast. A winner in 1955, the Rams took a thrilling 13-12 victory from the Delta Trojans of Moorhead and are expected to give the Wildcats a real big Texas battle.

Rams Score 125

The Texans tallied 125 points in their final three games in chalking up an 8-3 record. Although losing three tilts, the Rams' point difference was only five, less than the 14-6 defeat of the Wildcats by East Mississippi.

Owning a two-game win string in the Magnolia Bowl, Holden's gridders need only to win this week's classic to take home the three and one half foot high game trophy for keeps. Previously, the Wildcats have put the trophy up for grabs, for it takes three wins to keep the Texas-size award.

Pearls To Perform

Halftime entertainment will provide interest for all spectators, in that San Angelo will bring its band and drill team to share the spotlight with Pearl River's band and String of Pearls.

All-American Tilt Features 7 State Gridders In West

At least seven Mississippi junior college players will be in the 1960 Junior College All-American football game December 10 at Albuquerque, N. M.

Northwest, co-champion of the gridiron, and East Mississippi dominate the Magnolia delegation by sending two players each. Halfback Bryce McCollough and guard Tommy Poff will represent the Rangers, while the Lions of Scooba contribute halfback Clyde (Baby Doll) Pierce and center Lew Cornelius.

Tackles Doug Taylor from Delta and Allen Fried of Holmes, and halfback Billy Baucum of East Central are other members of the All Star team.

Holidays Start Friday Week

In traditional Christmas Spirit, Hinds Junior College students will observe the holiday with a special supper in the cafeteria December 14th at 5 p.m., followed by a musical program in the auditorium at 7:30 p. m. presented by the college choir.

Students are requested to dress up for dinner to initiate the holiday spirit.

The girls' dormitories have planned a Christmas party on Thursday evening.

The holiday period will begin Friday, Dec. 16 at 3:30 p. m., with students resuming classes Tuesday, January 3, 1961 at 8:15 a. m.

College dormitories and the cafeteria will be closed for the entire 17-day vacation period. However, band and Hi-Stepper members will return to the campus on Dec. 26 to prepare for their Sugar Bowl appearance on Jan. 2.

NATIONAL CONFAB

Profs Participate In Reading Meet On TCU Campus In Fort Worth

Three Hinds Junior College instructors attended the tenth annual National Reading Conference November 30-December 3 at Texas Christian University.

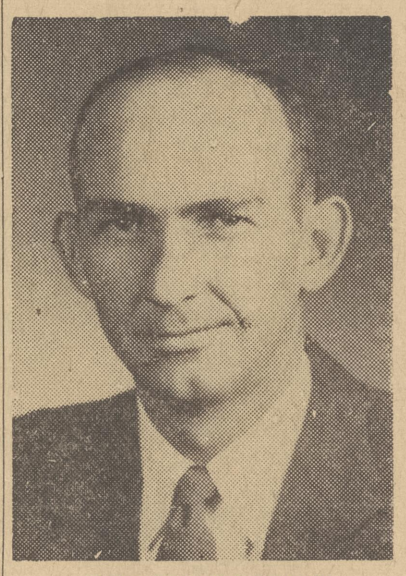
Miss Sarah Taylor, reading instructor; Mrs. Mary McKenzie, English teacher; and Mrs. Juanita Canterbury ,English instructor; represented Hinds at the conference held at Fort Worth.

Miss Taylor spoke to a class on literacy at Southwestern Theological Seminary during her trip. Her topic was "Techniques of Teaching Reading."

A total of 243 schools, colleges, and universities were represented. All delegates took part in a research project in the form of a questionaire.

The results were presented in a paper entitled "Integration of Reading Instruction with Regular College Offerings," by Dr. Phillip Shaw of Brooklyn College.

Choir To Present Yule Program, 'Christmas In America' Wednesday



MR. LESLIE REEVES
Choir Director

Reeves' Singers To Tell Season's Story In 22 Musical Selections

The Hinds Junior College Choir will present its annual Christmas program in the auditorium Dec. 14, at 7:30 p. m. This year's concert, entitled "Christmas in America, "will include 22 musical selections.

The traditional homelife at Christmastime will be presented in the first scene with familiar songs about Santa Claus and children's ideas of Christmas.

The five songs included are "Joyous Christmas Song," "Deck the Hall With Boughs of Holly,' "Up On The House Top," "Santa Claus Is Coming To Town," and "Away In A Manger,"

"Here We Come A Caroling," "Carol of the Bells," "Twelve Days of Christmas," "Jingle Bells," "White Christmas," and "Winter Wonderland," are the six numbers to be presented in the second scene.

The third scene will show the church with the most familiar and best-loved sacred carols. They consist of "Let Carols Ring," "Silent Night," "I Heard The Bells on Christmas Day," "Angels We Have Heard On High," and "Joy To The World."

The traditional manger scene will be the theme of the fourth scene. The choir will sing "Slumber Song of the Infant Jesus," "We Saw Him Sleeping," "In Winter Cold," "Night Journey of the Wise Men," "Shepherds Story," and "Adoramus te."

Miss Bell Lindsey, head of the English department, spoke to the Rankin County English teachers last Thursday, at Brandon.

Miss Lindsey's speech concerned the problems of students taking remedival English.

Library Announces Holiday Check Out Policy For Christmas Vacation Days

The library announced today its policy with regard to checking out books over the Christmas holidays.

Students who do not have overdue books or owe library fines will be given the opportunity of checking out books for use during the holiday period. Students who have overdue books or owe fines must clear their record before they will be eligible for this privilege.

Beginning December 14 books may be checked out and kept until January 4. All books checked out through December 13 will be due on or before December 16. A penalty of 25c will be added on all books kept over the holidays without permission.

The names of students with overdue books or a fine record will be posted on the bulletin board in the Administration Building and in the library hall on December 12.

Mills, Corkern Receive Youth Congress Awards

Two Hinds students, Richard Mills and Lynwood Corkern received certificates for serving as statisticians for the 13th Annual Youth Congress which met this weekend at the State Capitol.

A bill for abolishing the office of the Justice of the Peace presented by the Hinds delegation and authored by Earl Lee received a superior rating.

Held Joint Session

The Youth Congress held its first joint session Dec. 2. After committees met and reported bills out, the individual sessions of the House of Representatives, and the Senate met and each elected a presiding officer. The school students comprising the House elected Gary Roberson of Murrah as Speaker of the House, and the college students in the Senate elected Len Blackwell of Perkinston Junior College as President Pro Tempore of the Senate.

During a joint session of both houses Saturday morning, Gov. Ross Barnett spoke to the delegates on "Advantages of Living in Mississippi."

Some of the laws passed in both houses were bills for permitting the teaching of evolution in public schools, and abolishing capital punishment.

Awards Medals

The Congress concluded with the awarding of superior ratings to individual delegates for debating from the floor, the use of parliamentary procedure, prepared speeches, and outstanding bills.

It's Worth Spelling Out

The Circle K Club, under the capable direction of Mr. Jack Treloar, constructed two signs on the campus two and one half years ago as one of the service organization's projects for the year. We are grateful to the group for the long-needed addition to our campus. The signs fill a definite need.

They identify the name of our institution.

Both signs are in need of a coat of paint. We feel sure that the energetic Circle K'ers plan to use a paint brush before the year is out. We have one suggestion to make.

We are proud of Hinds Junior College and its name. We rank among the top junior colleges in the nation.

Therefore, we believe that the attractive signs on the highway at both ends of the campus stating the name of our college should spell out the Jr. in Hinds Junior College.

We feel sure the abbreviation was not an intentional mistake.

If a name's worth having, it's worth spelling out. Yes, that is exactly how we feel about our name, Hinds Junior College.

Keep Christ In Christmas

"What are you getting for Christmas?" "Did you see the new sports car trend? We've got to get one for Christmas." Yep, it looks like that is what Christmas is turning out to be.

The air becomes full of hopeful sounds . . . I want . . . . . I've got to have . . . I'd love to have . . . I'll just die if I don't get.

What is happening to Christmas? A state newspaper reported that storekeepers expect the period between now and December 25 to account for 17 to 20 per cent of the year's sales.

Commercial . . . that's what Christmas is coming to . . . Businesses promoting commercial parades. What has happened to the old fashioned practice of buying gifts for the thought . . . not to receive one in return.

Within the next 18 days let's return Christ to Christmas . . . return the true spirit of giving, not receiving.

December 14 . . . 'Dress Up'

Will history repeat itself? Only time will tell, and the time will be at supper December 14.

It will be the fourth time that a "dress up" supper has been held in the cafeteria this year. The first three times were when Doraine and Ellis, Miss Irene Bewley, and the Lendon Players presented programs in the auditorium.

Due to a lack of announcements very few people knew of the first two suppers, but the third was publicized enough for every student to be aware that it was a special event.

A tie and coat for boys and heels for girls will be in order for the Christmas dinner.

The choir will present its annual Christmas concert in the auditorium that night. This program is one of the highlights of the school year.

All students are encouraged to participate by "dressing up" for supper. Then give yourself a treat. Attend the special Christmas music program.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Churches May Merge Into 1 Unit

By CORKIE LYLE

A proposal has been warmly accepted this past week by the United States' largest religious denominations.

CORKIE

The proposal is to unite four of the United States' largest religious denominations.

The United Presbyterian, the Protestant Episcopal, the Methodist, and the United Church of Christ would be included in the pact. It will be called the "reformed and Catholic Church."

The number of ministers and priests present at the meeting applauded the motion, but that doesn't mean there will ever be such a formation. We hardly think people who are Methodists or what-have-you would be willing to give up their rites and acquire rites that belong to the other various religions.

STUDENTS RIOT: The students at Duke University rioted Saturday when they discovered they would not be allowed an extra Christmas vacation day. The extra day would allow many of them to view Duke in the Cotton Bowl.

Although riots are not the proper way to achieve anything, there is some sense in the one that took place on the Durham campus. We think the administration of this fine school should not bolster its attack, but should realize that it is the school's fault for having such an outstanding recruiting program and winning the Atlantic Coast Conference title.

NEXT PRESIDENT: Bishop Homer A. Tomlinson, General Overseer of the Church of God, has declared that he is still going to be the next president of the United States.

Bishop Tomlinson will appear December 15 at Mississippi Southern College. It was reported in the latest Student Printz that he will wear his robe and crown as "king of the world." The "world" will be an inflated globe, possibly the only world he will ever reign.

'Things That Go Bump In The Night'

By JEAN RODGERS

Two miners stopped at a gin mill one night on their way home for a drink. They spied an attractive girl at the end of the bar, and after a few drinks they offered to take her home.

It was a cold dismal night. One of the miners offered the girl his sweater because she had no wraps.

JEAN

About three blocks from her address, she insisted that they let her out of the car. She didn't want her family to know she had been picked up, she explained.

A few days later the miner remembered his sweater. Upon going to the address the girl gave him, he found that she had been dead for some time. This thought chewed upon his mind.

He became frantic . . . especially when the other miner was mysteriously strangled and drowned in plain sight without a living soul touching him.

After several trips to his doctor, one night he and the doctor went to the cemetery where the girl was buried. After they had almost completed digging up the coffin, the doctor left the miner alone to complete his work. They felt that if the girl was in the coffin, he hadn't really seen her and she could do him no harm.

Left alone in the creepy cemetery, the miner began prying open the box . . . Yep, the girl was there all right . . . with his sweater draped around her shoulders.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Clinton Girl, Chemistry Major Receives High Honors

By BELINDA HILL

One girl in several thousand has the intelligence, wit, and charm, to catch a West Point Cadet.

Hinds' own Rita Anderson must be one of the few who plans to spend her Christmas holidays in New York in a spin of parties, ice skating, dancing, and the multitude of other activities the Academy has planned to entertain its guests.

What kind of life has this unusual girl led? Rita lives on a farm four miles out of Raymond. She attended Clinton High School where she received many honors. Rita was a very active member of the Future Homemakers serving as their president, secretary-treasurer, and district reporter, a member of the National Beta Club, a member of the dramatic club serving as its secretary and taking part in both the junior and senior plays. She was a member of the "Target" staff, and to climax her high school days she tied for senior honors which is given to the student having the highest average during the senior year.

Since she arrived at Hinds, Rita has continued to add to her list of honors. Having one of the highest averages on the campus during her freshman year, she was elected to membership in Phi Theta Kappa at the end of her first semester at Hinds. How she had time to make such good grades is a mystery to many. She was a member of the Hi-Steppers, served as president of the Modern Language Club, and spent quite a lot of time with her present West Point cadet.

RITA ANDERSON
Intelligent Cutie

Since beginning her sophomore year Rita has been elected secretary-treasurer of the Science Club (she is a chemistry major), and is a member of the English Club.

Rita has never let all these activities interfere with her devotion to her church. She has held almost every office in Sunday School and MYF and many subdistrict offices. She is now serving as second vice president of Wesley.

Last summer Rita received an unusual church honor — she represented Hinds' Wesley at the Regional Student Leadership Training Conference at Lake Junaluska, N. C.

After graduation from Hinds, Rita plans to continue her study of chemistry at the University of Mississippi.

The Hindsonian staff extends its congratulations to Rita and wish her the best of everything in the future for she certainly deserves it.

READ, READ, READ

Library Tells Edition Purchases; Assistants Now Catalogue Books

During the month of November a purchase of approximately 150 books was made by the Hinds Junior College library, reports Mrs. Virginia Riggs, head librarian.

The book selections cover a wide range of fields, including the social sciences, English, business, social relations, biographies, bibliographies, documentaries, and music.

Mrs. Regina Goodwin and Mrs. Norma Faye Wall, assistant librarians, are now in the process of cataloging the titles.

The English books range from grammar studies to methods of writing. English Romantic Poets: "Modern Essays In Criticism," by Howare Abrams; Eighteenth Century English Literature: "Modern Essays In Criticism," by Clifford James; "English Literature in the Early Eighteenth Century, 1700-1740", by Bonamy Dobree; "Interpretations of American Literature," by Charles Feidelson; "Pronunciation of American English," by Arthur Bronstein; "Shakespeare and the Art of Tradegy," by William Rosen; and "Victorian Age: Prose, Poetry, and Drama," by John Bowyer, comprise the list of English references.

In the social relations field, "Looking Ahead to Marriage," by Clifford Adams; "When You Marry," by Evelyn Duvall; "Being Married," by Evelyn Duvall; "Dating Days" by Lester Kirkendall, are the selected books.

Books are also available for use on the topics of medicine, religion, science, psychology, philosophy, etiquette, poetry, international relations, politics, sports, hypnosis, economics, art, printing, radio, television and elementary electronics, teaching, chess and related recreations, law, sociology, literary criticisms, and lectures on the taking of tests.

Former Student Receives Aviation Efficiency Award

A former Hinds Junior College student was recently awarded with the Commandant's Aviation Efficiency Trophy for 1960.

Lt. Olen Sidney Akers of Flora, Miss., a member of the Marine Attack Squad 121, in Japan, received highest possible praise.

President's Group Sending Members To College Leader

A campus delegation plans to carry its plan for the releasement of girls from the dormitory between the hours of 9 and 9:30 in the campus grill to President G. M. McLendon in the near future.

At the recent President's Council meeting, the motion was approved and the delegation will appear before President McLendon sometime in the next few days.

The group is also undertaking the duty of planting shrubbery around the new dormitories. These plants will be purchased and placed around the dorms in the spring.

The group, headed by Rex Carson, is composed of the various presidents of the clubs and organizations on the campus.

Baptist Group Money Surges To Near Quota

The BSU-sponsored Lottie Moon Christmas Missions offering is increasing rapidly. Members have already collected more than half of their goal of $111.11. The drive ends Friday, December 16.

The Hinds students led the patients in several minutes of inspirational thoughts concerning the real meaning of Christmas. They they led the patients in games and served refreshments to them.

As its mission project for December, the Baptist Student Union sponsored a Christmas party for patients in the State Mental Hospital at Whitfield.

Carolers Planning Hayride, Songfest For Old Shut-Ins

Hinds students will participate in the annual campus-wide denominational Christmas Caroling party Monday night after the various religious organizations meet.

The carolers will leave the campus at 7 p.m. and go on a hayride to the Old Ladies Home in Jackson where they will spread Christmas cheer with traditional Christmas Carols. They will then return to Raymond and sing to the shut-ins in town.

College Debaters Score Wins In Mid-South Meet

At the Mid-South Debate Tournament held at Mississippi College December 2-3, Hinds scored impressive wins over four senior colleges and won by forfeit from Jones Junior College.

Hinds scored victories over Mississippi State University, Mississippi Southern College, Northwestern Louisiana College, and Louisiana Tech. Hinds was the leading team to win the tournament trophy going into the final rounds on Saturday but was eliminated by four losses to Mississippi College.

Louisiana Tech was the winner of the trophy.

Hinds debaters were: Team I—John Wilda and Sally Baker, Affirmative; Earl Lee and Richard Salassi, Negative. Team II—Belinda Hill and Carolyn Acuff, Affirmative; Delores Robinson and Frances Nelson, Negative.

Other Hinds debaters in attendance were Jim Sansing, Nollie Cochran, and Jim Weir.

Colleges represented in the tournament were Auburn, MSCW, University of Alabama, Delta State, Florida State University, Louisiana College, Millsaps College, Mississippi College, Mississippi Southern, Mississippi State, Ole Miss, Northwestern Louisiana College, Southwestern Louisiana University, Lousiana Tech, Jones Junior College, Hinds Junior College, and Southeastern Louisiana College.

Mr. Pat Smith, director of th Hinds Debate team, was satisfied with the outcome of his group, but states that they have plenty of work to do.

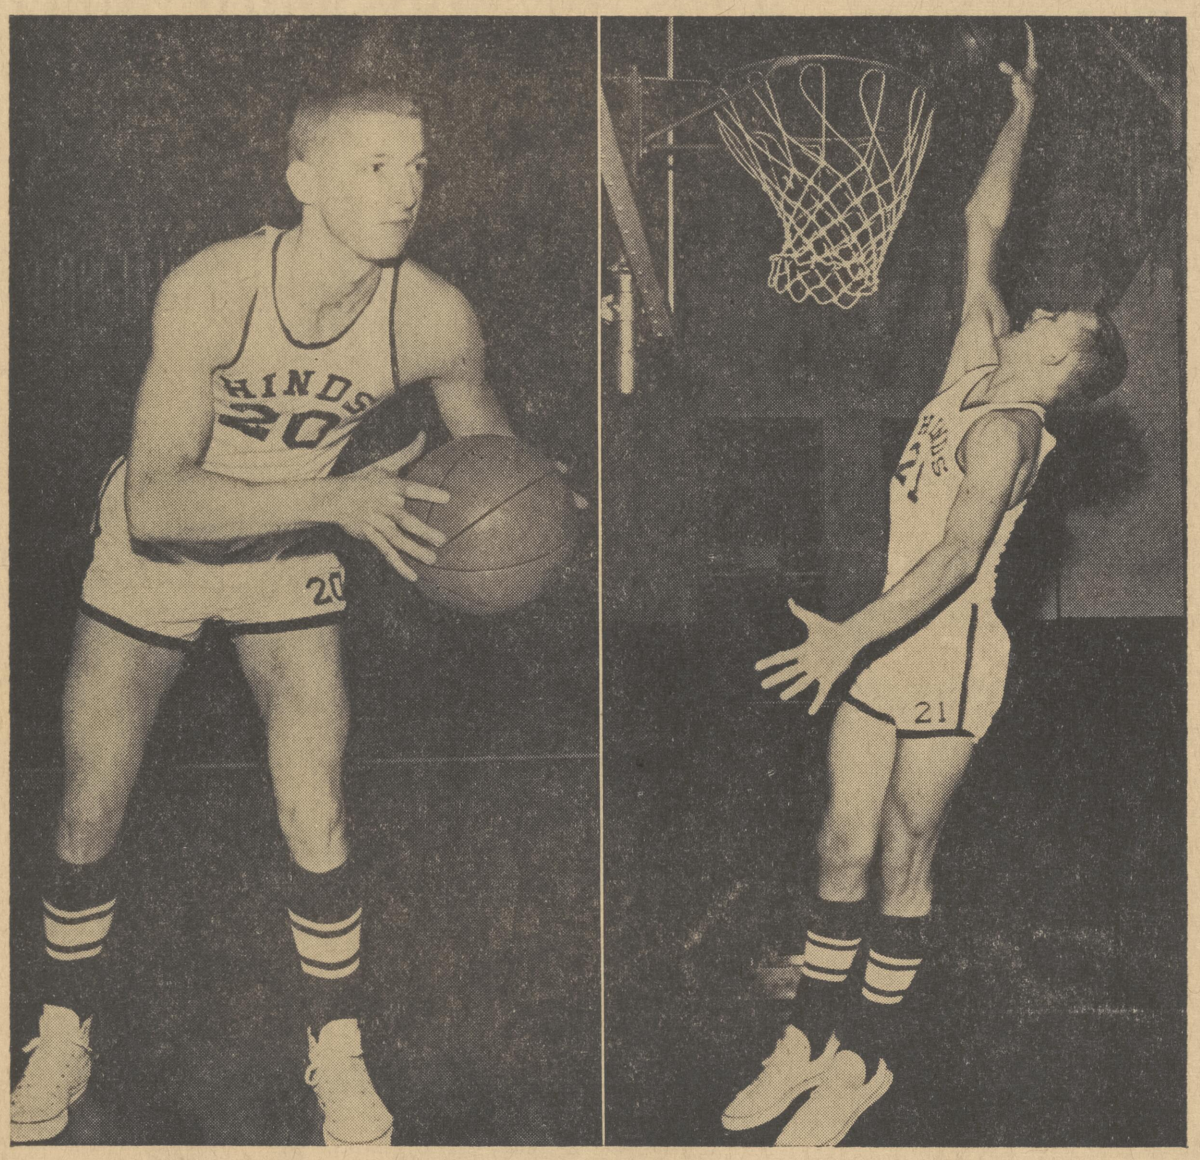
Cagers Prepare For Jones, State Battles



CAUGHT IN ACTION — Two Hinds basketeers are caught in action, in preparation for the week-end tilts with Jones and Mississippi State Frosh. The Eagles travel to Ellisville Thursday night for a conference match with the Bobcats. Jackson's City Auditorium will be the scene of Saturday's battle with the Starkville club.

Bobcats Play Host Thursday; MSU Provides Saturday Menu

By TOMMY NANCE

Flying into one of the toughest weekends of the basketball season, the Eagle cagers invade Jones' Bobcats Thursday in a 7 p. m. tussle.

Hinds, looking for its third straight cage win of the campaign, will still have bigger trouble Saturday, when the Birds meet the Mississippi State Frosh in Jackson's City Auditorium.

The hotly contested duel between the State freshman and Hinds will preceed the encounter between Starkville's varsity and Louisiana College.

Opening action in the downtown arena at 6 p.m., the Raymond club will do battle with the sharp-shooting winners over Clarke, Union University of Jackson, Tennessee, and Copiah-Lincoln.

Birds Take Win

The local Birds have captured victories over Co-Lin, 71-63, and Delta, 88-85, while losing its first three meets with Southwest, East Central, and Delta.

Mississippi State, forming the toughest opponent yet to face the Eagles, will feature Clinton's Doug Hutton, and Jim Wollcutt and Aubrey Nichols of New Hope. Two lads from Illinois, Stan Brinker and Curt Hayes, also will be featured along with many other promising SEC stars.

State Clashes At 8

The senior Maroons clash with the rugged Louisiana quintet in the headliner at 8 p.m. Stars from the University five that will be seeing plenty of action are Jerry Graves, Leland Mitchel, Jack Berkshire, and Red Stroud. Each of these boys has shown plenty of promise in previous games and should play dependent roles in the Saturday night tussle.

Hinds, after three opening losses, has bounced back into the picture and took a nip-and-tuck 88-85 win from Delta's Trojans last Friday night at Moorhead.

Hold Good Lead

Holding a relatively comfortable 10 point lead at halftime, the Eagles fought to maintain it in the second half, when the home standing Trojans began to sink those field goals.

Pacing the winners was Dean Liles, with 19 points while Norman Pace followed closely behind with 18. Other Eagle scorers were Wayne Hensley and Billy Rhodes, with 14, David Yewell, with 11, Lewis Vaughn, with eight, and Paul McMullen with four.

PERFECT MARK

Tigers Top Loop In Forfeit Win Over Faculty 5

Leading the race in the Men's Recreational Association again this week are the Tigers, who hold a perfect 4-0 mark. In the only game scheduled for the league leaders, the faculty team forfeited.

Wally Lee, Madison sophomore, paced the Hawks with 18 points in a 68-31 victory over the Wolves. The Hawks now hold a 3-0 record, while the loss of the Wolves left them a 3-2 chart.

Collecting their second win of the current season, the Owls tallied a 62-56 win over the Weavers. Pat Conerly, Jackson freshman, paced the winners with 12 points, while Morris Wright, Vicksburg freshman, led the losers with 13.

In other competition, the Wolves edged the Owls, 48-45, to take their third win. Ed Long, Puckett freshman, led in scoring for the winners with 17 markers, while Jim Sansing, Newton sophomore, chalked up 15.

Forfeiting two games in the past week, the faculty team now supports a very unimpressive 0-5 record.

Wildats Show Hospitality In Bowl

Showing just how powerful the Mississippi Junior College football circuit really is, Pearl River's Wildcats tore into the San Angelo, Texas 11, 50-20, for its third straight Hospitality Bowl win in as many years.

Saturday night fans saw a monopolistic scorer in Gene Gatwood as he pitched five touchdowns passes and two two-point conversions in addition to running one touchdown personally in the Gulfport classic.

With the third straight victory, the 'Cats gained permanent possession of the three and one-half foot high trophy.

Tallies In Every Period

Gatwood's pitching performance began in the first quarter on a two-yard pass to end James Boone. Again in the second period, he connected with a 36-yard scoring fling to Boone.

San Angelo's Rams didn't let the wild passing of Gatwood worry them too much in the first half, for the visiting Texans tallied twice as guard Joe Crausen recovered a bad pitchout in the end zone and fullback Gene Joffre pranced 18 yards for a second six-pointer. The score stood at a 14-14 deadlock at halftime.

'Cats Take Over

The turning point in the game was the third quarter when Poplarville's Gatwood got loose on three occasions and threw safely to end James Ginn two times. The other was a nine yard scoring aerial to halfback Fred Runte.

With only 11 seconds left in the game and the third unit of the Wildcats on the field, Mack Cochran chunked a 20-yard pass to Robert Young to give the Texans something to remember them by.

SPORTS PREVIEW

Hotrodders Get Hot Quick

By TOMMY NANCE

Why do we do it? Why do they do it? While glancing through a recent automotive magazine, we ran across a very informative article on the sport — hot-rodding.

Much to our surprise, we read with interest that hot-rodding in the United States during the last decade climbed to sixth place as a spectator sport. Considering the handicaps, the growth has been phenomenal.

The handicaps—complete ignorization by the press and television, or casting in the role of the pastime of delinquents — have hurt the sport considerably, but due to its growth we believe it should get more public attention.

TOMMY

Other sports are subsidized by public funds while hotrodders are left on their own to build their own strips, to standardize their own rules, and to promote their own activities.

Yet, ironically, to the rest of the world the achievements of American hotrodders have been nothing short of miraculous.

Europeans, who are considered motoring fanatics, have long prided themselves on the engineered efficiency of their engines. But now they are suddenly aware that a legion of eager, dedicated young mechanics have added new dimentions to racing and engineering initiative.

Therefore, we believe there is no reason for the press and air waves to "snub" this ever-growing American sport.

Kickball In Jackson?

With the forming of a Southern Professional Football League, inquiries by gridiron fans in this area are mounting as to whether Jackson might get one of the franchises.

Bill McCane, spokesman for the proposed 12-club league, lists Atlanta, Dothan and Montgomery, Ala., and Miami and Tampa, Fla., as member cities.

In an initial announcement by McCane, New Orleans, Jackson, Augusta, Ga., Charlotte, N. C., Birmingham, Ala., and Chattanooga, Memphis, Knoxville and Nashville, Tenn. were listed as possible sites for seven clubs not yet assigned.

With the completion of the new Mississippi Memorial Stadium, Jackson will have more than most other cities to offer as for a "home" for a pro-group. We sincerely believe that Jacksonians and Mississippians in the immediate locale would support such a club and wish all the best for the Magnolia capital.

'Dean' Tutors Local Troupe

Many know him by his easy going manners, but to most people, it is his ability to tutor a group of players through a successful basketball season that distinguishes him.

The individual could only be one man — Coach Troy Arlis Ricks. Ricks, who is known over the state as the dean of Mississippi Junior College basketball coaches, is in his eighth year as head roundball man.

Born in Wheeler, one of the hottest cage sections in the magnolia state, he journeyed to Delta State, where he picked up an All-American honor in 1941 at the national tournament in Kansas City.

A small town in north Mississippi, Stallio, was the first coaching job held by Ricks. Later he entered the junior college system at Wesson, where he led the Copiah-Lincoln Wolves to the best cage seasons in the history of the school.

Having enjoyed his best season at Hinds last year when the Eagles compiled a record of 18 wins and three losses in regular season play, Ricks will be seeking to pace the local lads through another successful year in the next few months.

Band, Hi-Steppers Prepare For Sugar Debut

SANTA'S HELPERS — Ole Saint Nicholas never had it so good as far as helpers are concerned. Six lovely Hi-Steppers will help provide a happy Christmas for all as they decorate the Hinds Yule tree. The girls are, counter-clockwise from bottom, Lynn Glisson, Mize; Eva Sipes, Forest Hill; Martha Arrington, Bruce; Linda Dickerson, Jackson; Gail Rushing, Forest Hill; and Lyllian Lee of Forest. These girls, six of the seven homecoming participants, are scheduled to appear with the nationally famous dancing troupe in the New Orleans Sugar Bowl, Jan. 2.

Precision Team To Receive NBC Top Attention

The pendulum of national attention swings deep into the heart of Dixie on Jan. 2, and the Hinds Junior College Band and Hi-Steppers will once again enjoy a coast to coast spotlight.

The Hi-Steppers and Eagle Band —110 strong—will execute their precision dance routine to an estimated 60 million viewers via of NBC color television from Sugar Bowl Stadium in New Orleans.

Hinds' nationally famed troupe will entertain at pre-game and halftime of the Ole Miss-Rice post-season classic. Eighty-two thousand spectators are expected to be on hand to view the bowl battle.

THE SUGAR Bowl invitation marks the third major bowl invitation for the Hinds dancers in their tour of gridiron fields from the Pacific to the Atlantic. They performed in the Little Rose Bowl in 1954 and the Gator Bowl in 1957.

According to President G. M. McLendon, the Hinds performers will leave the campus Saturday, Dec. 31, by chartered bus. A full program of variety entertainment which includes special meals and a New Year's Eve party has been planned for the group.

They will remain in New Orleans Saturday, Sunday, and Monday for the game. They will return to the campus late Monday night.

Mrs. Alon Bee, Hi-Stepper choreographer, and Mr. Al Rowan, have issued a special call for all band and Hi-Stepper members to report to the campus on Dec. 26 for final Sugar Bowl preparation.

SPORTING new costumes, the Hi-Steppers will be attired in white uniforms with red top hats, tails, and canes made especially for the Hi-Steppers' Sugar Bowl debut.

Director Rowan has purchased additional band uniforms and instruments for the major bowl appearance.

The theme of the performance will be "Dixieland Jazz."

Mid-Winter Sports Association program chairman Irwin Pouche, issued the invitation to the Hinds performers.

Students, Faculty Await Christmas

With some of their suitcases already packed, Hinds Junior College students and faculty members are awaiting the beginning of the Christmas holidays Friday at 3:30 p.m.

The 17-day vacation from the classroom will be a time for relaxation, fun, and good cheer for students and staff members.

The two-week period is the only chance during the school year that some out-of-state students get to return home.

Hinds students are planning many forms of activity during the holidays. Some are planning parties, family reunions, community activities, Christmas programs, while others will be engaged in other forms of activity.

One campus group, the band and Hi-Steppers will have their vacation cut short. They will return to the campus Monday, December 26, to polish out the "Christmas Day kinks" in preparation for their Sugar Bowl debut on January 2.

A considerable number from the student body will attend the Sugar Bowl festivities along with the band and Hi-Steppers. Other students and staff members are expected to be glued to their television set for the group's performance.

A chartered bus will carry the Hinds Junior College Board of Trustees and supervisors from Hinds, Warren, and Rankin counties and their wives to the Sugar Bowl on Jan. 2.

Inside The Hindsonian

Today's Hindsonian is a special 10-page Christmas issue packed with the latest campus happenings, interesting features, and colorful pictures.

The "Christmas Gift" issue is the largest in the history of the publication. Page one sports a four-color picture, a rarity in collegiate journalism, of six members of the Sugar Bowl bound Hi-Steppers. The Hindsonian is a pioneer in Mississippi collegiate color printing.

'God Bless Us Everyone'

Many, many years ago the birth of a child in Bethlehem changed the pattern of the whole world. This was the Christ who was born in a manger.

The birth of the baby Jesus gave a wonderful new hope to the world . . . a joy that still exists. It brought a new meaning to living.

Baby Jesus, so tiny in His mother's arms, came to earth to save the world. An infant so small, He became the most important man to ever live.

And, now we come to the time of year set aside to give thanks to our Creator for sending His only Son to the world to save us from our sins. December 25 is set aside as the time for rejoicing our Saviour's birth.

The spirit of Christmas is expressed throughout the land by carols, Christmas trees, wreaths, Christmas cards, and the practice of giving presents.

Christmas is a time of love. Imagine how Jesus must have loved us to die for our sins . . . to die to give us an everlasting peace . . . to die to give the world hope.

We hope that the true spirit of Christmas may shine through and touch the hearts and lives of everyone throughout the coming year.

Like the wonderful boy Tiny Tim, let us each bow our heads and pray "God bless us everyone."

Big Predictions For 1961

No one knows what the future holds for the year 1961. All anyone can attempt to do is make predictions. The world, apparently, is eyeing the United States and her new President-elect John F. Kennedy.

Mr. Kennedy will attempt to conduct a streamlined government . . . efficiency will be his keyword . . . his theme will be to cut out the red tape which has so neatly tied up the government.

Generally speaking it appears that the '61 Congress will be liberal . . . although Southern Congressmen and conservative Republicans will team together . . . Kennedy will hit a solid rock from the South . . . he will have a rough road along the civil rights path.

Nixon will open law practice in California . . . he might run for governor of the 'golden' state in '62.

Castro will still be sounding off . . . if he hasn't been assassinated.

As far as space is concerned the United States and Russia will continue to launch satellites . . . the moon will still be out of reach.

Lincoln will be reinaugurated at Washington some time this year for the Civil War centennial . . . Mississippi will secede from the Union.

The year 1961 will be one of the most eventful in history . . . colorful — unusual — meaningful — perhaps the very fate of the world will be decided.

Christmas Creates Legends

The spirit of Christmas brings forth many legends. One such legend is that of the pine cone. It is said that if you cut a pine cone lengthwise at Christmastime, you can see the imprint of the Baby Jesus' hand.

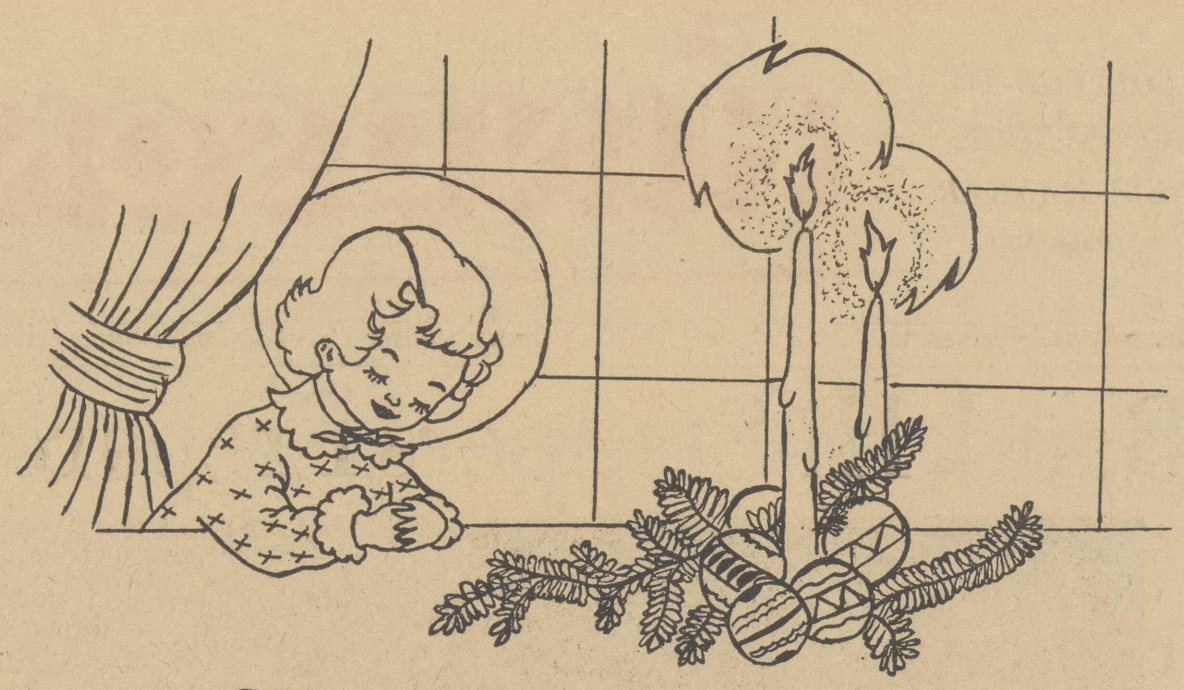
As the story goes the faithful pine sheltered the Holy family during their flight to Egypt. When Herod's soldiers passed by, the tree bent its branches to conceal the resting group.

After the danger passed, it is said that the tree was forever blessed.

Another story told during the Christmas season, is that of the origin of Christmas cards, which is credited to schoolboys of England a century ago.

At intervals these boys in boarding schools had to write home their progress to kind, but stern, parents. To brighten their not-so-good reports, the boys drew pictures of birds and flowers on their notes. During the Christmas season their decorations became more elaborate.

Adults began to take the idea, and through the ages it has become one of the most wide-spread customs.



May the Spirit of the Christ Child
And the gifts He brought to men
Be in your heart to bless you At Christmas-time again

Many Carols Inspire Story Of Nativity

By JEAN RODGERS

"Silent night! Holy night! All is calm, all is bright. . ." This is just one of many songs inspired by the Story of the Nativity. The spirit of God's Gift to man is brought forth in Christmas carols.

JEAN

Christmas comes from the English word Christes messe which means Christ's mass. The actual origin of caroling as a part of Christmas celebration is unknown.

One of the sweetest Christmas carols ever written is "Away in a Manger," which is of a German origin. It depicts The Christ Child after birth.

The French gave the world the beautiful carol "The First Noel." This song presents the Angels telling the shepherds and Wise Men of the birth of the Savior.

"A Child Is Born in Bethlehem" is credited to a Dutch origin. This lovely carol tells of the announcing of Jesus' birth to the world.

The French hymn "O Come, All Ye Faithful" was first written in Latin. True spirit and rejoicing of the Savior's birth is inscribed in this touching carol with the words ". . .Glory to God—In the highest, glory!"

Hundreds of carols have been written depicting the Christmas story in almost every language. Music is the universal tongue. And, what better music could be used to spread good cheer than Christmas songs. Music is the one language understood by almost every ear; it is the voice of the world.

A choice American composition is "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," which pictures a grand contentment in ". . .The World in solemn stillness lay, To hear the angles sing." What a miracle it would be if people today ever expressed a solemn stillness. How peaceful and rejoiceful it must have been!

What a joyous Christmas this would be if we would open our hearts and truly sing the spirit of Christmas depicted in carols . . . and mean what we sing. Perhaps it would bring "Joy to the World," as is expressed in this American Hymn.

Our thought for Christmas is "Peace on the Earth, Good will to men, From Heaven's all gracious King. . ."

Have a blessed Christmas!

Poet's Corner

By GWEN CANOY

In Bethelem many long years ago,
A Savior was born in a manger low.
Wise men came from fields afar,
Led there by a guiding star.
They brought gifts to the newborn king,
Frankincense, myrrh, and other such things.
Glad tidings spread throughout the land,
Delivered in song by an angel band.

Today, Christmas is a time for cheer,
For visiting friends far and near,
For Santa, bringing gifts galore,
To come down the chimney or through the door.
But during the celebration on Christmas Day,
Let's stop, and to God let us pray
Thanking Him that long, long ago,
A Savior was born in a manger low.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Sophomore Homecoming Maid, Bruce Southern Belle, Captures Top Spot

By LOU ANN FORD

A true southern belle—a perfect example is Martha Arrington, a brown-eyed beauty from Bruce. Martha's hobbies are water skiing, dancing, and cooking.

MARTHA ARRINGTON
Bruce Beauty

Martha, an elementary education major whose ambition is to teach elementary school, will be a January graduate. She plans to further her education at either Mississippi State College for Women or Delta State.

The pretty honey blonde stated that she chose Hinds for her first two years of college education because she thought it was the best junior college in the state.

She is excited about transferring to a senior college but is sure she will not find another college as friendly as Hinds.

Hinds has been very lucky to claim Martha, who is a versatile and an outstanding student. A member of the annual staff and Hi-Steppers, Martha was also sophomore homecoming maid and a candidate for Circle K Sweetheart. Last year Martha was elected a campus favorite. The Hindsonian sported Martha as the first Hinds' Honey of the year.

While attending Bruce High School, Martha was an honor student, high school beauty, a majorette, and a member of the Y-Teens. She attended several band clinics and received an excellent rating for her saxaphone solo at band contest.

It is nothing new for Martha to win beauty contests. She was selected "Little Miss Bruce" in the sixth grade and first alternate to Miss Bruce of 1959. This summer Martha was runner-up to Calhoun County's Forestry queen.

The Hindsonian staff extends best wishes to another popular and deserving sophomore. May she continue to succeed in her chosen activity.

Jewel McNair, Byrle Kynerd Win Top Who's Who Honors

Two Hinds County students walked off with the top honors in the 1960 Who's Who election held last week.

Eagle editor Jewel McNair was honored by her classmates by being chosen Miss Hinds Junior College.

Byrle Kynerd, sophomore class vice president, took three prize positions in this year's election. He was chosen Mr. Hinds Junior College, best all-around boy, and a campus favorite.

★ ★ ★

Jewel defeated Linda Dickerson from Jackson, and Byrle won over Rex Carson from Jackson.

Beauties chosen are Martha Arrington, Bruce, and Linda Dickerson, Jackson, representing the sophomore class. Freshman beauties are Eva Sipes, Forest Hill, and Sally Foy, Raymond.

Voted most intellectual wre Rex Carson, Jackson, and Rose Earnest, Slate Springs. They were chosen in the second primary over Brooks Reid, Vicksburg, and Sallie Baker, Miami, Fla.

Carolyn Middleton, Memphis, Tenn. sophomore, and Kynerd were given the honor of being best all-around. Earnest and Carson were eliminated for this title.

Forest Hill's Rebecca Legg and Belzoni's Corkie Lyle were picked by their classmates as the friendliest. They were chosen over Tommy Jackson, Jackson, and Betsy Haynes, Edwards.

Named best dressed on the campus were Lyllian Lee, Forest, and Sonny Penley, Vicksburg. Both are sophomores. Lyllian won over Una Jo Schaeffer, Forest Hill freshman, and Sonny defeated Gerald Holland, Brandon sophomore.

Johnny Daher, Atlanta, Ga., sophomore, was selected over Byrle Kynerd for best boy athlete. Gail Rushing, Forest Hill sophomore, was elected best girl athlete over Joanie Phillips, Pearl sophomore.

Wittiest are Linda Bratton, Bruce, and Rodney Salassi, Vicksburg. They were chosen in the second primary over Vicksburg's Peggy Massey and Jackson's Eddie Bryan.

Campus favorites from the freshman class are Eva Sipes, Betsy Haynes, David Warrington, and Rodney Salassi.

Elected as sophomore class favorites are Martha Arrington, Rebecca Lgg, Byrle Kynerd and Rex Carson.

By JEAN RODGERS

A good-looking versatile sophomore capped three top honors in the annual Who's Who contest sponsored by the Hindsonian.

Raymond's Byrle Kynerd was elected Mr. Hinds Junior College, best-all-around boy, and a campus favorite in the first primary election.

Awards and honors have been bestowed upon this sandy-haired favorite throughout his school years. He was chosen Mr. Raymond High School by his classmates during his senior year.

This all-around boy earned 15 letters in high school. They were four in football, four in basketball, two in baseball, three in track, and two in tennis.

Adding to his list of honors, Byrle was chosen most versatile, best boy athlete, and president of his senior class while at Raymond High School.

This year Byrle was selected sophomore class vice president. In last year's Who's Who contest he was named most dependable boy and a campus favorite.

Byrle is a member of the Circle K Club and the president's council.

To complete the picture of Hinds' popular Mr. Hinds Junior College, you must observe his spiritual growth. The religious character of Byrle is shown by his work in the Wesley Foundation. He is president of the college class at Raymond Methodist Church.

Future plans for the son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Kynerd include continuing his education at Millsaps College and then attending ministerial school.

Christmas Dinner Honors 'Lighters' At Club Meeting

The Home Economics Department was the setting Tuesday night, December 6 at 5:15 for an informal Christmas dinner for the members of the Lamplighters Club and their sponsor, Mrs. Robbie Dukes.

The food for the occasion was prepared in the foods laboratory by the members of the club with Mrs. Dukes acting as supervisor. The menu consisted of barbecued chicken, baked potatoes in a jacket, baked beans, tossed salad, Creole French rolls with garlic butter, coffee, and iced tea.

For desert Mrs. Dukes served old-fashioned pralines which she prepared.

The Home Economics classes are now in the process of making suits and skirts.

Administrator McLendon To Attend Junior College Conference In Texas

President G. M. McLendon will attend a two-day Administration Conference this week end in Dallas, Texas.

He will represent Hinds Junior College at the Administration Committee of the American Association of Junior Colleges to be held Friday and Saturday.

This meeting will be sponsored by the Kellogg Foundation. Through a financial grant the Foundation made possible the 1959 meeting.

The administration will discuss junior college problems during the course of the meeting.

Also on the agenda will be a planning meeting to arrange for the national meeting to be held in March at Washington, D. C.

President McLendon has attended two County Board of Supervisors meetings this week in Hinds and Rankin Counties. The Hinds County meeting was held in Raymond, and the Rankin County meeting was held in Brandon.

Mr. McLendon will attend a third supervisors meeting Thursday in Vicksburg. It is a meeting of the Warren County Board of Supervisors.

Graduating Sophomores Must Confer With Miss Herrin By January 16

All first semester graduates must contact Miss Mildred Herrin, registrar, before January 16. First semester ends January 30.

Each student must check with Miss Herrin to see if he has passed all the requirements necessary for graduation.

A $10 fee is charged each graduating sophomore for cap and gown rental. This fee also includes the purchase of a diploma.

Graduating sophomore students with a B or better average will be exempt from semester examinations.

The registrar's office is openly from 8:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday. On Saturday office hours are from 8:00 a.m. to noon.

Circle K Club Places 3 Christmas Trees --- Cafeteria, Campus Lawn

Three Christmas trees have been placed in strategic areas on the campus by the Circle K Club.

Members of the organization cut the trees down and erected them.

Committee members include John Wilda, Rex Carson, Bill Matthews, and Jimmy Davis.

The largest of the trees was placed in the college cafeteria and decorated by club members.

The corner of Shangri-La Dormitory for men is the site of another tree. The club members placed the third tree in front of Main Dormitory.

The large tree near the library building will not be lighted this year due to the extensive cost and labor involved in setting up the electrical systems and lighting fixtures necessary.

Circle K sponsor is Mr. Jack Treloar. Club sweetheart is Eva Sipes.

Open House In Dorms

Open house will be held in the college dormitories Wednesday and Thursday, according to Dean of Women Frances Lee and Dean of Men Clyde Benton.

Girls' dormitories were open from 5:30 until 7:30 p.m. today, and boys' dormitories will be open from 3:00 until 5:00 p.m. Thursday.

Students Pick Stylish Lassie For Miss HJC

By JEAN RODGERS

A stylish coed who edits the campus yearbook and whose ambition is to be a school teacher is Miss Hinds Junior College.

The fair-haired lass is Jewel McNair, a natural beauty. Among her honors Jewel is president of the twinked-toed Hi-Steppers, editor of The Eagle, and is a member of the Women's Athletic Association.

Last year she was chosen as a homecoming maid and Circle K sweetheart.

This dainty darling is true to her name—a jewel. She is a member of the Baptist Student Union and a member of Raymond Baptist Church.

The two-year member of the Hi-Steppers is a picture of Southern charm.

Courteous Jewel serves as an assistant in the Public Relations Office and is the copy editor of the Hindsonian.

She graduated from Clinton High School where she was a homecoming maid, secretary of the Beta Club, secretary of the Future Business Leaders of America, and a member of the band for four years.

Jewel's future plans are to major in business education at Mississippi State College for Women next fall.

Duke Seeks Stolen Royal Heirlooms

By CORKIE LYLE

Royal jewels that have been missing since 1945 may soon be recovered by Scotland Yard. The jewels, family heirlooms, belong to the Duke and Duchess of Windsor.

CORKIE

The jewelry, valued at $84,000, was stolen from the royal couple when they visited at Ednam Lodge near rural Sunningham.

Earlier this year the detective authorities caught a burgler who is said to have confessed stealing the royal possessions. Among the jewels were tie pins and rings that once belonged to Kind Edward VII, grandfather of the Duke.

COLLEGE TO REOPEN: Whitworth College, newest junior college in the state, will reopen its doors to students again in the fall of 1961.

After many negotiations with the Methodist Protestant Church and the City of Brookhaven, the agreement was reached for leasing the college and purchasing all the equipment from th former president, Sinclair Daniel.

Dr. Charles G. Allredge of Kosciusko was elected new president of the school. He has attended Birmingham Southern, Emory University, Indiana College, and the American Institute.

COUNCIL WARNS: The National Council of Churches, a Protestant group, has warned people that the United States of America should prepare itself for the time when it will not be able to count upon a majority support in the United Nations.

The Council's idea appears to be to preserve the United Nations against a public downgrading when that occurs.

Officially, it is reported that the United States does not fear the approach of such a time. The fact that the United States faces the time when she will have to knuckle under the desires of a foreign group is hard to believe.

Some churches advocate separation of church and state; they should practice what they preach.

FREE LUMUMBA!: The Soviet Union this past week demanded that the government of the Congo Republic free former Prime Minister Patrice Lumumba. Lumumba is in the custody of strong-man Colonel Mobutu.

The Reds demanded that their man-in-the-Congo be released from "a gang of murderers". This was the charge associated to Mobutu by Valerian A. Zorin, official Sovite Delegate to the United Nations.

The Russians seem to be facing a situation that has them on the spot again. Long live Mobutu.

College Infirmary To Get New Home During 2-Week Christmas Holidays

The Hinds Junior College infirmary will be moved over the Christmas holidays from its present location to a spot behind the new girls' dormitory.

The present hospital will be destroyed since an investigation proved that the building was not worth moving. The building to be occupied is presently an apartment housing members of the faculty. It will be renovated for usage after the Christmas vacation.

Occupants of the apartment will move into the girls' dormitory and other apartments.

Two apartments adjoining the infirmary will be moved to another location. The occupants of these buildings will not be moved from the building.

Immediate construction of the new library will begin in January. Initial construction will not develop into final building plans until early summer. The vocational agriculture building behind the academic building will be removed for final building preparations in the late summer. The building of the new library will be the third completed step in a new building program. It is expected that the new building will be ready for occupation in the fall of 1961.

'Santa' Mac Occupies Vital Position On Hinds Campus

By CORKIE LYLE

Some know him as President McLendon, some as Mr. Mac, and some as the little short, gray-haired man, but at this time of the year, let's call him ole Santa of Hinds Junior College.

We won't say that he'll visit all us lucky Hinds students, cause he'd be out of breath before he covered Hinds County. He wouldn't dare try to bring all of us a stocking of goodies, cause the school board would vote that down. He certainly won't come bounding down a chimney for there isn't one in the state he could go down.

Ole Santa of Hinds has been spreading the cheer for 23 years. He has been around just about as long as the Santa that covers the world in one night.

Mrs. Santa, ole Santa's charming wife, is about as familiar a face on the campus is his. She is a lady of sauve, sophisticated means. Mrs. Santa, always smiling and neat as a toy soldier, adds that rare touch of grace to Hinds Junior College.

Ole Santa and his Missus are familiar not only at Hinds, but everywhere the words "education" or "learning" are mentioned. The twosome have traveled far spreading the news of Hinds' wonderful and fabulous educational program. Whether they go by car, sleigh, or plane, the couple are sure to present Hinds in its finest.

Santa and his lady wish that they could wish each and every student at Hinds a very merry Christmas and a Happy New Year personally, but that would be highly impossible.

Modern Language Students Receive Pen-Pal Addresses

Students taking French and Spanish are this week receiving the names and addresses of their pen pals in foreign countries.

The pen pal craze on the campus was initiated by Miss Hilda Ree Davis, foreign language instructor.

The pen pals are living in Spanish and French speaking nations. Some students requested pen pals in Germany, Greece, Canada, and Belgium.

Other students not participating in a foreign language and are interested in writing to students in lands across the "waters" may contact members of the Modern Language Club or Miss Davis.

Miss Davis also has announced that the Modern Language Club will hold its bi-weekly meeting this Thursday night. The club will meet in the language classroom of the Home Economics Building.

Club Groups, Dorm Girls Map Socials

Dormitory parties will be held in all three girls' dormitories Thursday night. The parties will begin at 9:30 p.m.

During the course of this week, each girl has had a secret pal, referred to as Cappy pal, for whom she does something nice each day. Also, names were drawn in each dormitory for small, inexpensive gifts. Refreshments and entertainment have been planned for the upcoming parties.

BSU Plans Hayride

The Baptist Student Union is planning a campus-wide hayride and Christmas caroling party tomorrow night.

The BSU Council was entertained last Monday night with a Christmas supper in the private dining hall of the cafeteria.

The Women's Athletic Association had an all-night party last Friday night in the girls' physical educaton bulding. The members were entertained by recreation provided by the physical education department.

The Lendon Players, campus dramatics group, held their annual Christmas party Thursday night. The group listened to "The Christmas Carol", by Charles Dickens. In a candle-lighted room, soft Christmas carols were played while the group was served refreshments.

YWCA Parties

Young Women's Christian Association held its party Tuesday night. The church group participated in a Christmas program and enjoyed refreshments in the private dining hall of the cafeteria.

In keeping with the Christmas spirit, most of the college's organizations and clubs are holding Yule parties this week.

AT LODGE

Paper Staffers, Sponsor To Stage Annual Yule Confab Tomorrow Nite

In keeping with the holiday spirit, the staff of the Hindsonian will hold its annual Christmas party tomorrow night at the Lazy Log Lodge.

The Lodge, owned and operated by the Mississippi School Supply Company of Jackson, will be decorated throughout with themes of Christmas. The party, beginning at 5:30 and continuing until 9:00 p.m., will be held before the dormitory parties in Main, Westside, and Northside.

Eva Sipes of Forest Hill and Gwen Canoy of Magee are heads of the committee in charge of food and refreshments. Heading the committee of recreation are co-chairmen, Lou Ann Ford of Crystal Springs and Carolyn May of Belzoni.

Having drawn names earlier this month, the staffers will exchange inexpensive and "crazy" gifts. Each person on the staff was allowed to chose the name of another person on the staff.

Invitations have been sent to President and Mrs. George M. McLendon and Administrative Assistant and Mrs. Robert Mayo. Also to be present at the party are paper sponsor and Mrs. Irl Dean Rhodes.

Coeds Sport New Suits

When the Hinds Hi-Steppers dance their way into Sugar Bowl Stadium on January 2, they will be diked in new uniforms designed especially for the Sugar Bowl appearance.

Designed by Mrs. Alon Bee, Hi-Steppers instructor, the uniforms are white with red hats, tails and canes.

The 60 Hi-Steppers will be dressed in exactly the same uniform for the major bowl show. An estimated 82,000 spectators and 60 million television fans will see the Hi-Steppers in action.

The costumes feature red sequinned top hats and canes with red felt tails and lapels.

Each girl will wear a red felt bow tie with red sequins. The shorts will be trimmed with white silk fringe.

The Hi-Steppers, who will perform at pre-game and halftime of the Ole Miss-Rice post season bowl classic, will unveil a Dixieland jazz review for their Sugar Bowl debut.

PLANT EXPANSION

Slaughter Room Building Reaches Midway Point, Sheffield Reports

Construction of the new slaughter room at the Hinds Junior College Cold Storage Plant has reached the midway point, Grady L. Sheffield, plant manager, said this week.

The slaughter room, 30 feet wide by 60 feet deep, will improve the operation of the locker plant. The new addition will increase the capacity of the plant.

Walls in the slaughter room will be tile where they will be easier to keep clean. New equipment has been ordered for the plant addition.

Manager Sheffield reported that beef processing was up 20 per cent from last year's figures.

"The quality of our meat continues to improve each year," he commented. Sheffield attributed this to better farming methods in the Hinds area.

The college plant has ordered new printed paper to make a more attractive wrap for the consumer.

All meat passing through the plant is stamped.

The college-owned plant employs 12 people.

Erected in the latter part of July in 1939, the plant has been owned and managed by the college since that time.

A Com-er-phone, a communication system within the plant, is a relatively new addition to the plant.

It is the largest cold storage plant in the state.

Assistant manager is Talmadge McNair.

Camera Wizards Reveal Hectic, Exciting Adventures In Picture Taking Work

By EVA SIPES

The photographer has "taken" his picture. The latent image, in mysterious invisibility, rests within the film. With complete knowledge and the rapid calculation of an electronic brain, the photographer has completed the most difficult step in producing a photograph.

The next step is the transformation of the image to a definite picture.

This "black magic" process takes place in the shadowy depths of a dark room. It is the production center of the photographer. Here is where the attainment of a perfect picture or a blank negative depends upon the skill of the photographer.

Hinds Junior College owns one of the best equipped printing laboratories in the state. Located in the modern science building, its facilities are geared to the highest quality professional work.

If photos are needed in a hurry, one of the photographers can take several, develop them five minutes later, "wet print" them, and have the finished prints in 30 minutes. (Only Poloroid has them beat).

Head photographer, Johann Rush, from Jackson, knows there is no greater truth in photography than the old saying, "if it isn't in the negative, you can't get the print." Johann and his capable assistants have the major task of taking pictures for the Public Relations Department, Hindsonian, Eagle, and other publications.

Assistant photographers are Johnny Hammack of Jackson, Bobby Tadlock of Pearl, and Butch Magee of Jackson. Each of these assistants were head photographers in their respective high schools.

Three of the four photographers plan to take up photography as a career, and are gaining valuable experience while at Hinds.

CAMERA BUGS — Butch Magee, Johann Rush, and John Hammack serve the Hindsonian in their role of campus photographers. All three freshmen are residents of Jackson.

When asked what assignment they liked least, they had this to say:

Bobby: "All went o.k. until I was forced to climb the water tower in my band uniform to photograph the homecoming game."

Johnny: "I was a bit peeved when I was stopped from photographing Vice President Nixon from the press box without a press card."

Butch: "I just hate to work in the dark room at night with a skeleton down the hall."

Johann: "My worst assignment was the time I had to chase a wild turkey through a cornfield for a Hinds Honey picture."

ART CLUB BORN — The newly formed Art Club at Hinds elected as its officers Nancy Williams of Inverness, secretary; Sammie Thomason of Jackson, vice president; Lerona Gay of Jackson, president; Ann St. Clair of Jackson, treasurer; and Gerald Holland of Brandon, publicity chairman. The purpose of the group is to create interest in art on the campus.

New Group Plans Campaign On Campus

The newly formed Art Club, Alpha Rho Tau, is planning a campaign to create interest in art on the campus.

And the group's sponsor Mrs. A. L. Denton, head of the art department, and the new officers believe they are headed in the right direction.

Members of the selective organization have their own ideas about creating interest in the production or expression of what is beautiful or appeals to the faculty of taste.

Mrs. Denton says that art is the great leveler, and since the first cave man chiseled an illustration of a hunting scene on his wall, talent has never been a respecter of sex, creed or color.

Talents of art may swing in any direction, illustration, fashion, cartooning, children's books, portraits or designing.

One of the group's pet projects is to create understanding for modern art. The average person thinks that modern art is a conglomeration of objects and colors thrown together.

Most people with no previous art experience often have a very poor conception of classical art.

About 75 per cent of the people today do not have any definite ideas about modern art.

Librarians Busy Buying New Books For Pleasure, Research, Knowledge

Hinds Junior College librarians are busy bringing the college's library up to date.

The beginning of a new school year always calls for new research materials— some about long ago things or places and some about very recent events.

The new books added to the library include many subjects. Certainly no matter what a person's interest he can find something beneficial to him among the new books.

Art and architecture students will be interested in "The Art of Interior Design" by Victoria Ball and Aylesa Forsee's "Frank Lloyd Wright, Rebel in Concrete."

Several history books have been added. Two are: "Peter the Great, Emperor of All Russia" by Ian Grey; "Memoirs of World War I" by William B. Mitchell.

The additions include a number of business and law books.

Students desiring to improve themselves will find "Learning to Study" by William Farquhar helpful.

Of current interest to everyone are "Hawaii, the Fiftieth State" by Charles A. Borden; a book by newly elected President, John F. Kennedy, "Profiles in Courage," and two debate books on the question of compulsory health insurance.

Reading makes people think. Students can take advantage of the new books and read—for pleasure, research, and to increase general knowledge.

Wash 'n Wear Gets Staunch Support From Money-Minded College Bachelor

By DOT SMITH

No doubt about it, the campus bachelor is fast becoming one of the staunchest boosters of wash 'n wear.

It's true at Hinds and other colleges across the country. And who can blame him? He can save from 12 to 15 dollars a month on laundry and dry cleaning alone. Nowadays it's not unusual for the average student to have three of four shirts, at least two pairs of slacks (winter variety, included) and possibly one or even two summer and winter suits—all wash 'n wear.

Besides the economy angle, the student living away from home likes the built-in emergency factor of wash 'n wear. No matter how desperate the school-night situation, he can always peel off what he's wearing, pop it into the washbowl, and be all set to meet the next day's challenge.

With today's equally marvelous washday products, he doesn't have to be a laundry expert either. Excellent soaps and detergents and special wash and rinse conditioners such as Calgon do most of the work for him.

(Because short, low temperature wash cycles are mandatory for most wash 'n wear fabrics, soaps and detergents are less soluble, less effective, and therefore much more difficule to remove during rinsing. Calgon guarantees complete removal of all laundry products, thus preventing premature yellowing or greying.)

Unlike his feminine counterpart, the male coed reads and follows the hang-tags religiously. No tattletale grey for this fastidious guy.

Sun Dial Plays Important Part In American History

By SHIRLEY BOATMAN

A sun dial is an authenic and accurate means of determining time.

The sun dial had its beginning in America in the days when log cabins were in existance. In the beginning a sun dial was nothing more than an ordinary log placed in the front yard of a cabin. When the sun rays reached a certain portion of this log, the mistress of the house would begin preparation for the noon day meal. As the rays moved gradually down the log, other daily chores were performed.

Glance At Dial

Students at Hinds Junior College, do nothing more than glance at the sun dial here on the campus. They do not seem to realize the great importance this instrument has played in American history.

Located between the Academic and Administration Building is a circular concrete block. Placed in the middle of this block is the sun dial, which was erected along with the new buildings in 1951. At the present time it is not in working condition, but this portion of the campus has developed another purpose.

Spot For Couples

If you happen to pass there between classes or late in the afternoon you will probably see couples occupying the benches surrounding the sun dial. During the past few years it has become a favorite spot for couples.

One author has this to say about the sun dial:

"It spoke of moderate labors—of pleasures not protracted after sunset—of temperance and good hours. It was the primitive clock—the honorlogue of the first world. Adam could scarce have missed it in paradise. It was the measure appropriated for sweet plants and flowers to spring by—for the birds to apportion their silver warblings by—for flocks to pasture and be led to fold by—the shepherd carved it out quaintly in the sun, and turning philosopher, provided it with mottoes more touching than tombstones."

'HJC Ain't No Winter Resort'

Took myself to H.J.C.
For a little rest and ease,
Thought I'd make nothing but A's;
I'm thankful now for D's.
Thought I'd take a history course,
Had too many tests.
Then I took up literature,
The teacher knows the rest.
Turned my 'tention then to math.
Hoping, for a cinch.
Dropped that subject in three days,
Then I took up French.
Finding Latin was too hard,
Decided on B.S.
But when I entered the Science Class,
I flunked out like the rest.
Chemistry lab three times a week;
Biology as well.
But speaking of Psychology,
Oh, that's too sad to tell.
By this time to my mind came this little thought,
H. J. C. is a grand ole place;
But it ain't no winter resort.

Infirmary Offers Modern Medical Equipment, Supplies

By JOHANN RUSH

Nagging backache? Upset stomach? See Mrs. Rachel Robinson at the campus infirmary. She is the college's registered nurse who is on duty at all hours with the necessary equipment and medical supplies to aid students in case of accident or illness.

There are 14 beds there for patients who need to be watched overnight or those who may be ill.

Many of Mrs. Robinson's patients in recent months have been injuries from the boys' physical education classes, but now common cold is taking its toll.

Mrs. Robinson studied nursing one year in high school and one year in college. From college she studied three years in New Orleans. After her studies, she worked there for four years.

From New Orleans she was superintendent of the Phoebe Putney Memorial Hospital in Albany, Ga., for nine years.

Before she came to Hinds Junior College, she worked at the Hinds County Health Department for three years.

Also, in the infirmary between 7:30 and 8:00 in the morning, Dr. C. L. Hester of Raymond sees how the patients are coming along.

Dr. Hester studied medicine at Tulane and interned in 1956 at the University of Mississippi Medical School. He went in the service in 1958 and came to Raymond when he was discharged.

After Christmas, the infirmary will be moved behind Northside, the new girls' dormitory.

The infirmary is one of the many services offered by the college.

Whether it be for a hangnail or a bad upset stomach, the infirmary is the place to go.

AND A HAPPY NEW YEAR — The traditional Christmas cheer appears in a new form this year as lovely Lou Anne Ford appears on the holiday hearth. It will be a very merry Christmas indeed for anyone spending it with this Crystal Springs coed. Hinds Honey No. 8. —Photo by Rush.

College Instructor Lists Architectural Drawing As Class

A new course will be offered by the drawing department second semester, according to drawing instructor Wallace M. Wall.

It is drawing No. 175—architectural drawing.

The course is designed for students preparing to work in architectural offices, for trainees and junior draftsmen in architectural offices and foreman and tradesmen who want to know how to read blueprints and want to know how to prepare simple drawings.

It will be beneficial for everyday jobs and for estimators who want to learn the technical phases of modern building practice.

This is the B-52. Advanced as it may be, this airplane has one thing in common with the first wargalleys of ancient Egypt...and with the air and space vehicles of the future. Someone must chart its course. Someone must navigate it.

For certain young men this presents a career of real executive opportunity. Here, perhaps you will have the chance to master a profession full of meaning, excitement and rewards...as a Navigator in the U. S. Air Force.

To qualify for Navigator training as an Aviation Cadet you must be an American citizen between 19 and 26½—single, healthy and intelligent. A high school diploma is required, but some college is highly desirable. Successful completion of the training program leads to a commission as a Second Lieutenant...and your Navigator wings.

If you think you have what it takes to measure up to the Aviation Cadet Program for Navigator training, see your local Air Force Recruiter. Or clip and mail this coupon.

State Frosh Edge Eagles In 82-72 Tilt

Facing defeat for the first time in regular season play, the Hinds Eagles ran up against a strong Doug Hutton and Mississippi State Frosh five and became 82-72 victims before 2500 chilled fans in Jackson's Municipal Auditorium Saturday night.

The Baby Maroons jumped off to a quick 16-5 lead in the first four minutes and held off the fighting Birds with a semi-freeze in the final six.

It was sort of a revenge for the Starkville clan. The freshmen were upset by Copiah-Lincoln's Wolves earlier in the week to end a 23-game win streak.

Hutton Barks

Led by the accuracy of Hutton and his 25 points, Mississippi State showed shooting strength in Stan Brinker's 22 tallies. Guard Jim Willcutt of New Hope also added to State's total with 14.

Lewis Vaughn, Hinds ace, led the Raymond team in a losing effort with 18 points, followed by guard Billy Rhodes with 16. Forwards Wayne Hensley and Norman Pace pitched in 11 each and center David Yewell added 10 for the Ricks five.

Eagles Tame 'Cats

In other roundball activity last week, the Hinds cagers edged passed Jones, 67-65, before a partision Ellisville crowd. The Home-standings Bobcats held a 34-29 lead at halftime, but the Birds rebounded in the second half to capture the win.

Eagles Face Defeat At Summit

Holmes' Bears Capture 85-78 Win Over Hinds

Led by an offensive attack of forward Billy Holmes, the Southwest Bears setback the visiting Hinds Eagles to the tune of 85-78 Tuesday night.

The Bears, holding a comfortable 12 point lead at halftime, led most of the game by the sharp-shooting of Holmes and guard Butch Little, with respective 26 and 22 totals.

Guards Billy Rhodes and Lewis Vaughn paced the losing Eagles with 25 and 20 points.

It was the first conference home game for the Summit five and the crowd roared to approval by the seven-point deficit.

Other leading stars for Southwest were forward Paul Rushing, 12, guard Tommy Bass, eight and centers Bud Ginn and Smith with six. The only other scorer for the Coach Horace Homes clan was guard Davis with five.

Tallying Hinds' total were center David Yewell, with 12, forward Wayne Hensley, nine, forward Dean Liles, with seven, and forward Norman Pace and guard David Bridges, with six. Guard Sammy Rhodes finished for the Raymond club with three.

Tuesday night's game concluded all activity of the Hinds club until after the Christmas holidays. Four homes and four road tilts are scheduled for the Eagles during January, including Clarke, Holmes, Perkinston, and Pearl River away and Holmes, Sunflower, Co-Lin and Miss. State freshmen at home.

Tigs Pace Men's Rec League

With the holidays approaching the local campus, action in the Men's Recreational Association has slowed down to a snail's pace.

With only one intramural game of importance being played in the past few days, the Tigers still maintained the top slot in league competition by defeating the second-place Hawks, 58-38.

5 Make Up Wolves

Other teams in competition are the Wolves, Owls, Weavers, and the faculty five. Captain George Boone, Neil Clinkscaler, Edd Long, Roy Leech, Larry Dukes, Roland Walker, and Jimmy Lewis are members of the Wolves.

The Owls, having won two games, are made up of Tom Irby, Pat Conerly, Jim Sansing, Ronnie Giles, Wade Lee Overby, and Noble Martin. Representing the Weavers are Net Scott, Brooks Reid, Jim Moore, Tommy Pullin, Morris Wright, Everett Gibson, and Glen Griffin.

Winless Faculty Team

Composing the faculty team, which has yet to win a single game, are Coach Eddie Rogers, Thomas Stricklin, Rosser Wall, T. F. Rayburn, and Richard Adkins.

President Jim Sansing, Newton sophomore, states that a trip to the coast has been planned for the spring. Basketball games between Mississippi College and Millsaps will be played soon. Membership is still open to any dormitory student who wishes to enroll. A fee of $1 is charged to each member.

Vaughn Leads Eagle Cagers In Initial Games With High Scoring Techniques

After the initial three games of regular season basketball guard Lewis Vaughn is pacing the Hinds Junior College cagers in the scoring column with 46 points.

Vaughn, 5-9 ace from Forest Hill, is followed by center Dean Liles and forward Norman Pace, with 38 and 37 points respectively. Liles, who hails from Learned, led the Eagles in tallies with 19 for the Delta Trojan tilt.

A native of Monroe, La., Pace has racked up 18, seven, and 11 points in games with Delta, Jones, and the Mississippi State Freshmen respectively.

Tie with 32

Two Hinds players are tied with 32 points each. Billy Rhodes, guard from Pelahatchie, and David Yewell, freshman center from Owensboro, Ky. are in a fourth place tie for scoring honors on the Eagle five.

Wayne Hensley, Steele, Mo. forward, has totaled 31 points to finish the double column scoring for the Ricks clan.

Other Tallies

Three other Eagle basketeers have made the scoring ranks in the first three games. Sammy Rhodes has popped the net for seven points, while Paul McMullen and David Warrington have tallied four and one. McMullen was a standout at Pelahatchie last year, as was Warrington at Forest Hill.

In total scores, Hinds has racked up 227, while the opponents have added 232. The main difference came in the 10-point advantage that State Frosh gained in their 82-72 win. The Eagles have won over Delta, 88-85, and Jones, 67-65.

Raymond Residents Honor Eagle 11 With Supper For Successful Year

Mr. and Mrs. Chris R. Jones, owners of the County-Way Store in Raymond, will honor the 1960 edition of the Hinds Junior College football team with a steak supper Jan. 10 in Jackson.

With respect to the fine spirit and sportsmanship that the Eagles displayed throughout the gridiron season, the Joneses will treat the squad and coaches to the supper at Morrison's Cafeteria.

The honored guests will be coaches Joe Renfroe and Ivan Rosamond, guard Tommy Hudson, halfback Gerald Lester, quarterback Don Fugate.

Center Earl Hicks, guard Van Courson, halfback Wilburn Williamson, guard Vincent Aarons, halfback David Bass, end Richard Mills, guard Howard Freeman, end Donald Land, fullback Johnny Daher, end Donny Ross, end Ronnie Hayden, halfback Donny Swafford, tackle Ed Johnson, guard Fred Hancock.

Tackle Donny Gleason, end Willie "Buck" Russum, tackle Wayne Sullivan, halfback Byrle Kynerd, center Joe Haynes, halfback Bert Sullivan, halfback Clarence Pererson, quartetback Sonny Penley, fullback Bobby Slayden, guard charles Simmons, and center Norman Agent.

TEXAS SIZE

Long Beach Captures Bowl Win Over Tyler For Rose Bouquet

Aided by a 100-yard kickoff return and a dazzling aerial attack, Long Beach City College won its 10th game of the season in defeating Tyler (Texas) Junior College, 38-16, in the 15th annual Junior Rose Bowl game held in Pasadena, Calif. Saturday.

The Vikings were rated second in national rankings to the Texans before the bowl classic, but the victory gave Long Beach the mythical junior college football championship. It was the first loss in 13 games for the Warriors.

Before a crowd of 38,064, Dee Andrews thrilled the crowd when he took a lateral from Willie Martin on the opening kickoff and sprinted 85 yards for a six-pointer. Martin had caught the pigskin on the goal line and had returned it to the 15 when he handed the ball to Andrews.

The Texans fumbled six times in the initial half, three of them leading directly to costly touchdowns for the Californians.

Complete Gridiron Statistics Show Daher Leading In Individual Scoring

With the 1960 football season under the belt of the coaches, final statistics and tallies of the complete season have been released.

In racking up an 8-2 record, the Hinds Eagles scored 193 points, doubling the opponents' 81. The Renfroe 11 collected 125 first downs throughout the year, while holding the opponents to 11. Total yardage gained by Hinds was 2615, as compared to 2160 for the opposition.

Fifty-seven penalties were issued Hinds for a total of 518 yards taken away from the local boys. The opposition received 55 penalities for a loss of 584 yards.

Pass Completions

Out of a total 125 aerials, 41 were completed by the Hinds gridders, for a 33 per cent average. Sixty-one passes were snagged out of 166 by the opponents. In the department of pass interceptions, Hinds grabbed 17, while losing 10.

The punting average for the local Birds was high with an average of 34.2. The opponents booted the pigskin for an average of 33.2.

Johnny Daher led in individual rushing with a 5.9 average per carry. Daher also led in the scoring column with 56 points. Wilburn Williamson paced the Eagles in kickoff returns with an average of 32.9 yards. Byrle Kynerd followed closely behind with 27.5.

Freshman Shoots Foot Accidentally On Hunting Trek

Christmas came early for one Hinds Junior College student, but the type present that Ole Saint Nick brought Ed Frazier of Jacksonville, Fla. isn't one that many people would write to the North Pole and ask for.

Ed, football manager and track star, was returning from a hunting trip this past weekend and while pointing his rifle toward the ground the safety slipped and the hair trigger on his gun discharged.

As a result of the shot, Ed wound up with a bullet in his right foot.

Although it is not known for certain, it is feared that Ed might not be able to run track this spring. The loss will be felt by the Hinds cinder team.

Local Girls Hold 4-2 Mark

Holding a 4-2 mark in Jackson City League basketball competition are the Hinds Junior College Eaglettes. The club, tutored by Mrs. Peggy Swett, vies with company-sponsored teams in the city of Jackson.

Leading the team to four wins are Joan Phillips, Pearl, Linda Oakes, Louise, and Eva Huff, Byram. These three girls pace the local six at the forward position.

Tops At Guard

Barbara Carter, Jackson, Diane Collins, Florence, and Gail Rushing, Forest Hill, are guard standouts. Red Shivers and Burt Wynn, both of Pearl, aid the girls' team at the forward slot.

Guard substitutes are Nell Westmoreland and Elaine Mims of Raleigh, and Mary Jean Fugate, Jackson.

The WAA, like many other campus organizations, joined in the Christmas spirit and held it annual Yuletide spend-the-night party last Friday in the girls' gymnasium. Refreshments and games entertained the group throughout the evening.

Rebs To Gain 'Sweet' Revenge

By TOMMY NANCE

Yes, it's that time of year again. In just 11 short days, Ole Saint Nick will be coming down the chimney, bringing lots of candy and goodies to all good little children.

But the Ole Miss Rebels, like other bowl participants, won't be visited by the fat, jolly old fellow until a week later, after their post-season classic with the Owls of Rice in New Orleans.

TOMMY

Whether Santa brings them a new, shiny bowl for Christmas or some old, battered and broken switches will be up to the Johnny Vaught men from Oxford. If Jake Gibbs and company come through with a win, it will be the fifth straight bowl victory the Mississippians have collected.

Rice, entering the Sugar Bowl with an 8-3 record, will be seeking top support from All-American guard Rufus King. The Owls have captured impressive wins over Florida, Southern Methodist, Texas Tech, and Texas Christian. Squeaking past Tulane, Texas, and Texas A&M, the Houston lads fell before Georgia Tech, Arkansas, and Baylor.

Although only six points separate the total difference in the comparative scoring game with Arkansas, we pick the Johnny Rebs by 15 points.

Gophers Pick Roses

In the largest New Year game on January 2 of all, we see the Minnesota Golden Gophers tripping Washington to the tune of 24-10. Guard Tom Brown should prove too much for the West Coast 11. Washington's All-American tackle, Hurt Gegner will give the Mid-Westerners plenty of trouble, but it takes two to tango.

Out in Dallas, another big game will be taking place. The Southwestern Conference Champion Arkansas meet the Atlantic Coast grid king, Duke.

The Razorbacks, with All-Americans Lance Alworth and Wayne Harris entertain the Duke Blue Devils in a Texas-size game. Our crystal-ball picks "Faubus University."

Mizzou Eats Citrus Meal

Down in sunny, sunshine Florida, where the wild oranges grow, Missouri will feast on its Orange Bowl day.

Navy will sponsor the opposition, but should falter, even with Joe Bellino.

Other bowl contestants, with predicted winners first are Blue-bonnet-Alabama and Texas, Liberty-Penn. State and Oregon, Sun-New Mexico State and Utah State, and Tangerine- Citadel and Tennessee Tech.

Attend Sugar Bowl

With a little bit of luck and Sugar Bowl tickets, we expect to be down in New Orleans January 2 to view the Ole Miss Rebels and our Hi-Steppers.

Grid Wire Puts Hinds on Sports Map With Pick

Freeman, Hudson, Hicks Gain Honorable Mention In Top 11

Twenty-one Mississippi gridders have been announced to the 1960 Junior College Grid-Wire All-American teams. Johnny Daher, outstanding Hinds workhorse, was placed on the first squad of this annual selection.

Putting Hinds on the football map in national junior college rankings again, All-American halfback Johnny Daher was the only Mississippian to place on the first team of the Junior College Grid-Wire star-studded 11.

The 190 pound, 5-8 dasher received the most valuable player award in 1958, best back in 1957, and best blocker in 1958 in high school. He led the local Eagles in individual rushing with an average of 5.9 yards. Tallying nine touchdowns and one two-pointer after touchdown, he led the Birds in scoring with 56 points.

Dobie Holden's Pearl River Wildcats, Mississippi Junior College football co-champions, failed to place a single player on the first two teams, but landed Jerrel Wilson and Gene Gatwood on the third "dream" 11.

Tackle Howard Freeman, guard Tom Hudson, and center Earl Hicks, Eagle stand-outs, received honorable mention, along with 15 other magnolia staters. Holmes and East Central spotted three men each with special awards, while Pearl River and Northwest added two respectively.

Colleges with a representative in this choice selection are Perkinston, East Mississippi, Northwest, Jones, Co-Lin, and Delta.

Eight states contributed players to this first All-American team, including Illinois, Washington, Oklahoma, Kansas, New Mexico, Mississippi, two from Texas, and three from California.

JOHNNY DAHER
All-American Halfback

In the backfield are halfbacks Johnny Daher, Hinds, and Joe Searles of Pratt; quarterback Roger Staubach of New Mexico Military, and fullback Lonzo Irvin of Long Beach.

NO SOP COURSE

Varied Activities Offer Local Males Fitness In Gym Classes

By JOHANN RUSH

What is that shouting we hear? Could it be those cheers of victory coming from the direction of the boys' gym? Yes, another touchdown has been made.

Listen. What is that shouting we hear now? Oh, a free-for-all. No, no, just another touchdown.

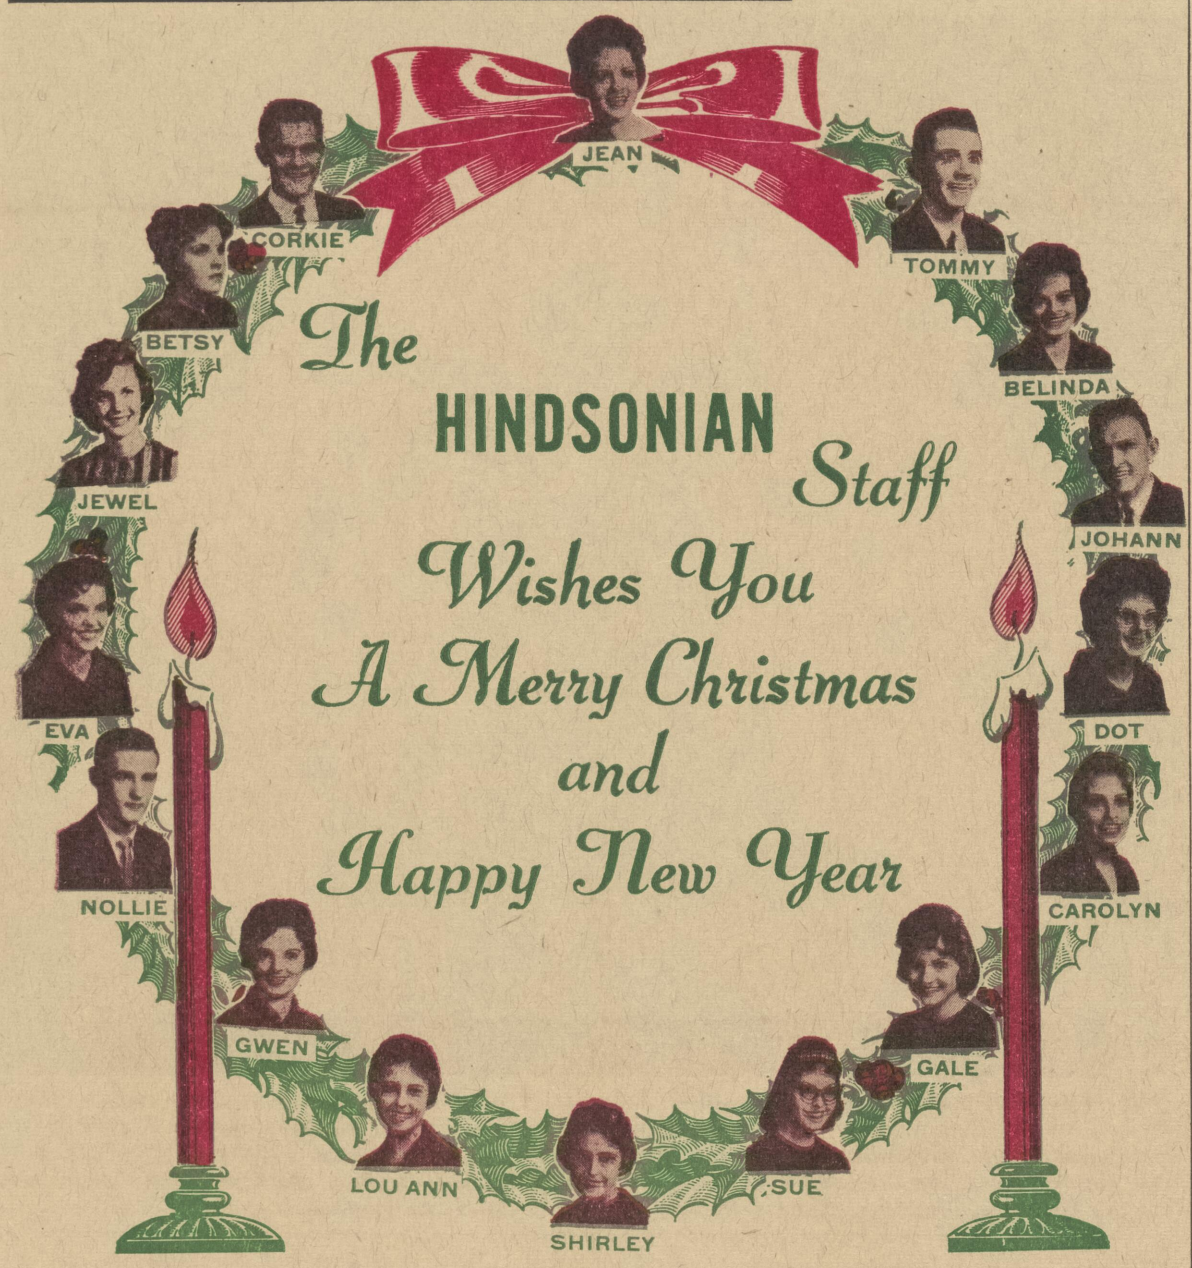
Football has been hard to play during these cold days, but those rejects from the gridiron are out there just the same. There is no more fun in the world than to run down the field at full speed for a pass to fall on your face on the wet frozen ground.

It has been debated whether the object of each physical education class is to win the most football games or to have the most maimed and disfigured men to be carried to the campus hospital.

All kidding aside, Hinds Junior College male students have a capable staff of instructors leading them in the best of the sports.

Coach Joe Renfroe leads the staff as Coaches Troy Hicks, Ivan Rosamand, Mr. Eddie Rodgers, and Mr. Clyde Benton are the instructors.

Some of the activities a physical education student at Hinds Junior College can participate in are weight lifting, tumbling, track, softball, football, and now, during these cold days, basketball. During the year each student participates in all of these activities.



Hangar Work Starts Soon At Hinds-Williams Airport

By CORKIE LYLE

A new hangar is being constructed at the Hinds Junior College-John Bell Williams Airport. The new hangar will be 10,000 square feet in area.

The main part of the new building will be 80 by 100 feet with a 20 foot lean-to roof. The lean-to roof will run the entire length of the building.

Bids have been presented to the college board. The low bidder was Thresher Building Company of Jackson with a bid of $16,321.64. The vocational department will operate the air-craft mechanics and flying school from the present hangar. No changes will be made in the present flying school.

Already two tanks have been installed for airplane gasoline storage. The terminal building will be renovated and the space will be rented to Nygren Flying Service of Jackson for offices, display, and ground school instructions.

Nygren Flying Service will lease the hangar for operation of the commercial flying school and the servicing of transit airplanes.

Mr. Robert M. Mayo, administrative assistant, states, "Nygren will be authorized to sell gas and oil and to perform the services needed for transit aircraft and to private planes which in the future will be stored at the airport.

"Activation of the airport is in keeping with the intent and purpose of the Board of Supervisors of Hinds County. When the group turned the airport over to Hinds in 1948, the administration stated that the port would serve the aviation needs of this area and promote general welfare of business and industry in the greater Jackson area.

"Experts and observers in aviation believe that jet aircraft at the new Jackson Municipal Airport will hinder the small places. We are further informed that small exective planes and student flying crafts present hazards to jet airliner take-offs and landings. We believe that Williams Field will experience great amounts of growth and flying activity. We'll begin within the next two months."

Four freshmen and 11 sophomores head the completed list of the 1960 Eagle staff released today by Jewel McNair, annual editor.

Assistant editor Carolyn Gill is a sophomore from Johns. Business manager is Terry sophomore Charlotte Dunlap. Named as assistant business manager was Johnny Miller of Jackson.

Martha Claire Bryant, Terry freshman, holds the position of feature editor. Snapshot editor is Jean Rodgers, Jackson sophomore. Mildred Brown, freshman from Jackson, is in charge of vocational section.

Responsible for the sophomore class section are Nancy Hamil, Carthage sophomore, and Ann Winstead, sophomore of Forest Hill. Carolyn Middleton and Becky Legg, sophomores from Memphis and Forest Hill, respectively, are in charge of the Freshman section.

Club editors are Jane Bennet of Jackson and Martha Arrington of Bruce. Both are sophomores. Puckett sophomore Johnny Carter and Terry sophomore Gerald Keyes are the sports editors of the Eagle.

In charge of the faculty section is Carolyn Gill. Photography editor is Johann Rush of Jackson. He is assisted by Bobby Tadlock of Pearl.

Other staff assistants are Mary Jo Sullivan, Jackson; Alice Matthews, Utica; Dot McRae, Carthage; Sandy Coker, Pearl; and Doris Thornton, Utica.

22 SELECTIONS

Choral Group, Ensemble To Present Yule Program On Campus Tonight

The Hinds Junior College Choir will present its annual Christmas musical program in the college auditorium tonight at 7:30 p.m.

This year's theme is entitled "Christmas In America". It will include 22 selections.

The choir will present 18 of the numbers, while the girls' ensemble will present four numbers. The songs will present Christmas at its best. They will depict Santa Claus and children's views of Christmas.

The girls' ensemble will present as their solos the following selections: "Away in a Manger", "Carol of the Bells", "Slumber Song of the Infant Jesus', and "In Winter Cold".

The girls' ensemble is composed of Ina Mae Ainsworth, Linda Hale, Suzanne Bright, Ernestine Hall, Annette Shaver, Shirley Hebron, Billie Jean Dawson, Bunny Cowart, and Delores Taylor. Linda Anne Bratton is pianist for the group.

Songs and carols to be featured by the choir are the following: "Joyous Christmas Song", "Deck the Hall With Boughs of Holly", "Up on the House Top", "Santa Claus is Coming to Town', "Here We Come A Caroling".

"Twelve Days of Christmas", "Jingle Bells", "White Christmas', "Winter Wonderland", "Let Carols Ring", "Silent Night", "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day', "Angles We Have Heard on High', "Joy to the World".

"We Saw Him Sleeping", "Night Journey of the Wise Men", "Shepherds Story", and "Adoramus te."

The choir is directed by Mr. Leslie Reeves. The director of the girls' ensemble is Mrs. Leslie Reeves.

Serving as pianists for the choir are Linda Anne Bratton and Bill Matthews.

Economics Prof Announces New Semester Class

Mrs. Robbie Dukes, home economics instructor, has announced the home economics department schedule for the new semester. Three courses will be offered; two for women only and one for both male and females.

A new course is planned for non-home economics majors. It will also be valuable for art students interested in costume designing. It offers a study of individual clothing problems— the selection and care of materials and ready-made garments.

The basic techniques of the Bishop method of clothing construction will be taught in two hours of laboratory per week and one hour of lecture. This course carries two hours credit and meets on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at the third period.

A course, Home Economics 90, will be taught to both males and females. This course is the same as Sociology 70.

It is offered to give a better understanding of the factors that contribute to the success and happiness in family relationships. This course meets on Tuesday and Thursday at the 6th and one-half of the 7th periods. It also meets on Tuesday and Thursday at the 2-A and one-half of the 3rd periods.

A course in foods, Home Economics 51, is required for home economics majors. It can be used as an elective for students in other majors. It gives three semester hours credit and meets Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at the 6th or 7th periods.

Students interested in taking any of the above subjects should sign up in the registrar's office when they make out their schedule.

Lettering Group Paints Christmas Posters At Hinds

The lettering class, Art 30—layout and design, taught by Mrs. A. L. Denton, is posting Christmas posters this week over the campus of Hinds Junior College.

The class, composed of some 19 or 20 students, taking it upon itself to do this deed in order to create more Christmas spirit on the campus.

These posters, bearing Yule cheer and depicting annual Christmas scenes, may be found on any or all bulletin boards on the Hinds campus.

Son-In-Law Of President Receives Formal Recognition On LSU Campus

Two faculty members and 10 students were tapped into the Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership honor society, at Louisiana State University last month. Among the 12 distinguished persons was Mr. Edsel E. (Tad) Thrash.

Mr. Thrash is the son-in-law of President and Mrs. G. M. McLendon of Hinds Junior College. He is married to the former Miss Jessie McLendon.

The LSU Reveille, campus daily newspaper, had the following to say about Mr. Thrash: "for his leadership, service, and conspicuous attainments in the fields of education, administration, athletics and military; as recipient of the degrees of bachelor of science and master of business administration from LSU; as former National Collegiate Athletic Association boxing champion in 1949 and 1950, and a member of the LSU Athlete's Hall of Fame; as a former member of the armed forces in World War II in the United States Navy, with a splendid record of Military service; as former boxing coach at LSU; as recipient of the Airhart Fellowship award for scholarship; as former member of the faculty of the College of Business Administration; as present director of alumni affairs; and as an outstanding teacher and administrator who has made valuable contributions to LSU, the city of Baton Rouge, and the state of Louisiana."

Musicians Participate In Meet

Mrs. Leslie Reeves and Mrs. Thomas Stricklin, music instructors, have participated in several Christmas programs in the past week and will be in more this coming week.

Mrs. Reeves was on the musical program at the Calvary Baptist Church in Jackson Sunday night. The program consisted of church and Yule-time songs.

Mrs. Reeves will also present her Cherub and Carole Choirs in a Christmas musical Sunday at the Raymond Methodist Church. These two young groups will present music ranging from children's Christmas favorites to the customary church carols.

Mrs. Stricklin participated in the Messiah production at Millsaps College and the Christmas pageant at Mississippi College this past week. She served as pianist for the two groups.

She was featured in the Jackson Symphony League program both Monday and Tuesday of this week. The group performed for the students at Murrah and Provine High Schools in Jackson.

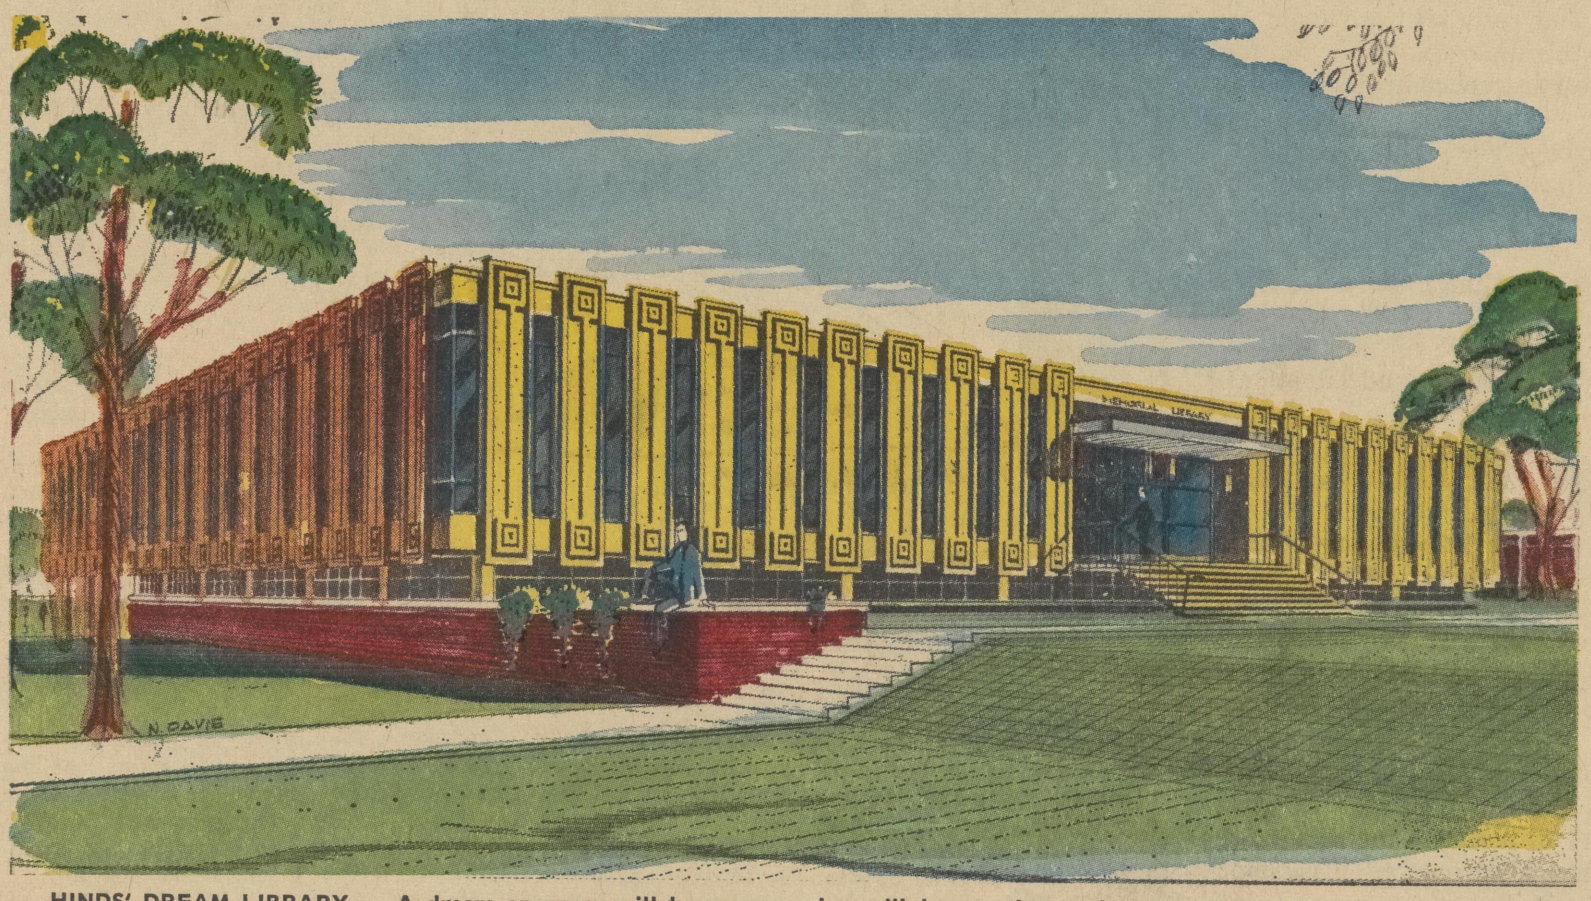
Dream Library Construction To Start Soon



HINDS' DREAM LIBRARY — A dream on paper will become a reality when ground breaking ceremonies hail the construction of Hinds Junior College's new library sometime next month. Designed on a long range plan to be the center of campus activity, the building will be an ultra-modern structure. Construction of the initial unit, as drawn by architect Jay T. Little, will cost $250,000. The proposed library will be constructed so that future expansion will permit addition of more rooms and other improvements.

Edifice Supplies Missing Hub In Education Wheel

Officials at Hinds Junior College will see a dream start becoming a reality when construction gets underway on a new library building early this year.

The new library, the missing hub in Hinds' educational wheel, is designed on a long range plan to be the center of campus activity.

Earth will be turned for the first unit of the ultra-modern library building soon after the contract is awarded in February. President G. M. McLendon and board chairman F. M. Greaves of Bolton will man the shovels in an informal ground-breaking ceremony.

Slated to cost a quarter of a million dollars, the building is planned to accommodate 384 students at one time. The first unit of the structure is being built with $150,000 from a state bond issue and $100,000 from local funds.

President McLendon and administrative assistant Robert M. Mayo have worked very closely with architect Jay T. Little in planning the initial unit of the structure.

Mrs. Virginia M. Riggs, head librarian, has contributed many ideas to the proposed edifice.

The proposed library will be constructed so that future expansion will permit the addition of more rooms and other improvements.

Some of the rooms in the proposed structure include reference, general reading, work, faculty, class, closed stacks, student meeting, mechanical and storage, and library work area.

A total of 23,512 square feet will make room for a 40,000 volume library.

With an anticipated enrollment of 4000 students, the edifice will be a streamlined structure.

A pool will be located in the center of the building. Modern equipment will be purchased for the building.

Hinds Next Decade

All We Need: $ $ $

The future is bright at Hinds Junior College. The college's board of trustees and administrative leaders want by 1970:

* An "adequate" library.
* Three new girls' dormitories.
* Two new boys' dormitories.
* Expand the present science building.
* Enlarge the student center building.
* A new fine arts building for music, art.
* An electronics laboratory in vocational department.
* An across the board levee from supporting counties — Hinds, Rankin, Warren, maybe Madison or Yazoo.
* Other vocational buildings.
* Improved faculty housing.
* Additional classroom space.
* Additional parking space on the campus.
* Rebuilding Shangri-La and Central dormitories.
* Enough money to stop worrying about the first 34 years of growing pains.
* New auditorium with enlarged seating capacity.

The man on the purse strings for the initial part of the decade is President G. M. McLendon. He can pull the strings. All he needs is a full purse.

He would like to see the cash roll in for a "complete library" and various other buildings. "An electronics laboratory in the vocational department will be one of our next buildings," President McLendon says.

Administrative assistant Robert M . Mayo desires "anything that helps improve the good name and standing of the college" . . . in other words—money.

The administrator who is on the spot as dean of instructions in Mr. M. F. Herring. Mr. Herring pleads the status quo, "I hope for continued high quality of teachers—and students."

Administration Releases Matriculation Fee Raise

Hinds' officials announced today that an increase in tuition will become effective September 1, 1961. For students residing in Hinds, Rankin, and Warren Counties, the registration fee will be $30 instead of the previous $25. This will pay for the student yearbook and publication.

Students whose parents reside outside the district will pay $5 per month out-of-county tuition in addition to the $30 registration fee.

An increase of $5 will be added to the monthly payments. This will go for dormitory upkeep. District students will pay $35 per month and out-of-district students will pay $40 per month.

Day student fees will be $5 more per semester making a total of $60 per year.

District boarding students will pay a total of $375 a year instead of a previous $320. Out-of-county students will pay a total of $420 a year in place of the present $365.

In the past students have had to purchase their yearbooks separate from semester matriculation fees. With this new plan, all registered academic students will receive their annuals without further charge.

Radio, TV Repair Student Passes On Campus Today

Henry G. McMaster, vocational student at Hinds Junior College, succumbed early this morning at the college infirmary. He was 48.

McMaster, majoring in radio and television repair, was returning from the cafeteria to his dormitory residence at 7:30 a.m. when he was suddenly stricken by a cerebral hemorrage. He passed away about 15 minutes later in the infirmary.

McMaster served in the United States Army during World War II. He was attending Hinds Junior College under the veterans program. Nearing the completion of his second year at Hinds, McMaster would have received his certificate of completion of the radio and television course January 31.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ora B. McMaster, and three children.

BAD FLYING CONDITIONS

3 Staffers Take Part In Search For Pine Bluff Executive, Pilot

Three faculty members from Hinds Junior College took part this past week in an air search for a Pine Bluff, Ark., business man.

The three instructors were Mr. Kennis Bryant, airplane flying instructor; Mr. B. A. Hill, auto mechanics instructor; and Mr. Alton Ware, body and fender department head. The threesome witnessed some of the "worst flying conditions" in their careers during the four-day search.

The Hinds party covered a 500-mile square area in the famous swampy Delta. The plane was found north of Rolling Fork. The body, identified as J. Harold Stacy of Pine Bluff, was found near the plane.

The charter for the Hinds chapter of Civil Air Patrol is expected to be approved next week and meetings will begin second semester. The meetings will be held twice a month for approximately two hour periods.

Instruction will be given in meterology, navigation, and aviation science at these meetings.

Mr. Bryant encourages students to join the CAP as Cadet members.

Time Slips Slowly Away

As we enter upon a new year we each receive a most wonderful gift. The gift is a package of time. In this package we find 365 days, 8,760 hours, 525,600 minutes, or 31,536,000 second.

This gift should be treasured as our most precious possession, but there is nothing we can do to preserve it for the future. It must be opened and used a little each day.

We cannot concern ourselves too much with the unopened portion of our package, and certainly we cannot be troubled over whatever part of the time alloted us for the year is used as we go along. We must concentrate each day on what that day means to us.

Today is all we can really know about. It is ours to enjoy and put to use. Yesterday is past and gone forever. Tomorrow may never arrive. Today is here now and belongs to us.

Today is the time to do all those things which we have intended to accomplish. We cannot expect to achieve all our hopes and aspirations in a single day, but we can use this day to set ourselves along the proper path of our good intentions.

We Were Just Thinking

"We Were Just Thinking" was the title of an editorial in the Miss Delta, Delta State's newspaper. Two choice sentences in the editorial were "But when we place Mississippi in its place with the nation, we must hide our heads with shame," and "Let's Talk Mississippi" — that is, providing we won't embarrass ourselves due to lack of decent topics of conversation."

We question whether or not the writer was "thinking!" Maybe he or she just couldn't find anything else to write about. He should 'hide' his head with shame for slandering Mississippi. If the esteemed author is ashamed of Mississippi, then why is he living in Misssissippi?

When placed on a balancing scale, the good things about our state by far outweigh the bad. Have we been having race riots? Do we have saloons on every corner? Are our schools integrated? Don't we have more churches per capita than any state in the union? Doesn't Mississippi help to support Delta State College along with numerous other colleges, universities, and junior colleges?

Isn't Mississippi the home of the most charming and polite people in the world—true Southern hospitality.

Fight Against Communism

The Communist party is attempting to corrupt the minds of Americans and overthrow our democratic way of life. It has begun its plight now against college students — our nation's future.

According to F. B. I. director J. Edgar Hoover, plans are being formulated by the Communist party for a new national youth organization

Evidence of infiltration of the evil force is seen in our society today. The vicious rioting, the forced integration movement, sit-ins, Cuban revolt against the United States — all these bear the symbols of Communism.

The key to our fight against Communism is education. If our people know of the conditions in communistic countries, surely America would stand firm against Communism — against becoming a dictatorship, a political ignorant country, a communistic wasteland.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"YOU'RE LATE AGAIN!"

NEWS IN BRIEF

Drew Pearson Blasts Barnett

By CORKIE LYLE

The loyal forces of Prince Boun Oum's government in Laos were reported this past week to have pushed back an invasion by Communist Rebels.

CORKIE

The Rebels supplied with guns and supplies by Red China, were reported to have seized four major cities, but Laotian forces were kindly holding their own. Pandemonium was seizing the small Southeastern Asian nation.

The Russians want to stop all aggression in the world today as long as it is not them that is guilty. What a policy to adopt for the spreading of so much propoganda.

BARNETT BLASTED: Governor Ross R. Barnett, Mississippi's little ole pride and joy, this state's preserver of our heritage, and Leake County's favorite son, was blasted by Drew Pearson recently.

On a recent trip to South America, Barnett could not help but talk about the "Nigger" situation in Mississippi. He made speeches in Argentina, which is 90 per cent white about "Niggers" but in Brazil, he was cautioned with the following statement: "If he makes that kind of speech in Brazil, they may do to him what they (Mississippians) do to Negroes. They'll lynch him."

This could be one of the reasons why the other Southern states didn't follow "that great state of Mississippi" in its recent bolt of John F. Kennedy's bid for president.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Versatile Jackson Boy, Circle K Member, Receives Weekly Honor

By JEAN ROGERS

First impressions, it is said, are lasting. And the impression one gets of this week's outstanding sophomore is excellent.

Jackson's versatile Billy Boyt was chosen to head the list of the new year's sophomores of the week.

This handsome young man possesses a quick smile and a brilliant mind. He is popular because of his well-rounded personality.

BILLY BOYT
President's Council Member

Billy graduated from Provine High School, where he was a member of the band for three years and was chosen band captain his senior year.

As president of the Engineering Club, Billy was chosen to be one of three delegates to the Junior Engineering Technical Society convention held at Mississippi State University.

Hinds' top sophomore this week is a member of the Men's Recreational Association, Circle K Club, Science Club, Presidents' Council, and Baptist Student Union Greater Council.

Although he follows a busy schedule, Billy takes an active part in church life. He is a member of Calvary Baptist Church in Jackson where he participates in Sunday School, Training union, and the Adult choir. During Youth Week at Calvary Billy was an active worker.

Billy's future plans reveal that his choice of a major is between chemistry and math. He will continue his education next year at Mississippi State University.

The Hindsonian staff is proud to take this opportunity to recognize such a deserving sophomore.

OFF THE CUFF

January, 1961-- Time For New Resolutions

By JEAN RODGERS

It's January, 1961— a new year. It's time for resolutions.

Everyone has some type of New Year's resolution to make, even if it is merely a subconscious thought.

JEAN

As usual we'll all begin by tackling our resolutions with an earnest vigor. We promise ourselves that it won't be like last year when we just accidently broke our resolutions.

Resolutions are like spring housecleaning. They provide ideal opportunities for us to weed out our most obvious faults and undesirable habits.

Maybe it's that dormitory room-could it use more than just a lick and a promise type cleaning? Now is the time to make amends.

Perhaps that roommate should be treated with more respect for his rights. After all they are human beings with feelings, and they usually receive the blunt of our anger.

The majority of resolutions come every year—study more, use the library, get up for breakfast, write or call home regularly, be extra friendly and courteous, and be attentive in class and assembly.

Personal resolutions are the utmost in importance. Improving the small not-so-nice characteristics should head our lists.

There is a definite need for resolutions by the government.

Our governor should resolve to stay out of Latin American countries after his little episode in Argentina where he talked about how we treat 'niggers' in Mississippi.

Kennedy should resolve to run a straight-forward government lacking the present red tape. . . .isn't it great he isn't an avid golfer. . . but then, the Kennedy's can afford more expensive recreation. . . . .at least there will be a change.

Sounder foreign policies. . .emphasis on education. . . better than ample defense. . .less talk, more work. . .these are but a few resolutions for our '61 government.

What Is Success?

It's doing your job the best you can,
And being just to your fellow man;
It's making money, but keeping friends,
And staying true to your aims and ends;
It's figuring how, and learning why,
And looking forward and thinking high,
And dreaming a little and doing much;
It's always keeping in closest touch
With what is finest in words and deeds;
It's being thorough, yet making speed;
It's struggling on with a will to win,
But taking loss with a cheerful grin;
It's sharing sorrow and work and mirth,
And making better this good old earth;
It's serving and striving through strain and stress,
It's doing your noblest—that's Success!

PLEASING BACKGROUND — and the gal, well, one glance at 19-year-old Linda Dickerson of Jackson backs up our boast that Hinds' girls are the prettiest in the U. S. A. Writer Relates Pleasures Of New Year's Bowl Game

By JEAN RODGERS

Polynesian tidbit appetizers, plus a main course of almond chicken, added to a desert consisting of coconut ice cream was the menu for the Sugar Bowl bound Hi-Steppers and band Sunday night at the Bali Hai on Ponchartrain Beach.

After leaving Hinds early Saturday morning, we arrived at Camp Le Roy Johnson which became our headquarters during the New Orleans trip. The camp is an Army transportation post. We occupied two barracks.

We ate supper Saturday night at Diamond Jim Moran's La Louisiane Restaurant. Following our meal we had our choice between a New Year's Eve dance or the movie, "Marriage-go-round."

After a worship service at the post chapel Sunday morning, we ate breakfast on the River Queen and took a tour of the boat.

"Sugar Bowl Salute" was the title of the television show on which the Hi-Steppers and band performed at noon Sunday. Then, the group moved to a small stadium where rehearsals were held for the bowl performance.

At pre-game the Hi-Steppers formed a circle and did their act while the band played "Ain't She Sweet". Immediately following the crowning of the queen of the Sugar Bowl within the Hi-Steppers' circle, the Eagle Band along with the American Legion band from New Orleans, Rice University band and Ole Miss band, played the "National Anthem".

The Hi-Steppers presented a stunning program at halftime for a very responsive audience. Sparkling in their new uniforms, the group plus the band 'stole' the show. The band and Hi-Steppers were at their best.

After the Sugar Bowl victory of Ole Miss over Rice, the delegation returned to the Hinds campus.

School Infirmary Offered For Sale, Announces College

Several renovations have been made during the Christmas holidays concerning buildings on the Hinds Junior College campus.

The entire cafeteria including Mrs. Marion Welch's office was repainted for the first time since its erection.

Two faculty apartments belonging to Mr. Rosser Wall and Mr. David Lewis have been moved in preparing for the new library.

The white 22 by 100 feet building so familiar to Hinds students as the infirmary is offered for sale on location with the purchaser removing the building and clearing the site.

January 10, 1961, will be the opening date for bids.

Yearbook Head Lowers Curtain On Annual Sale

The annual staff sold 650 annuals, Jewel McNair, Eagle editor announced Tuesday. This is 50 annuals shy of the reported goal.

Annuals have been ordered and some extras will be acquired for persons who did get an annual receipt earlier in the school year. The annual is sponsored by the public relations office.

The annuals cost a total of $5 each, or two dollars down and three dollars due when the yearbooks arrive in the latter part of April.

A total of six persons still have not picked up their annual school day pictures from the public relations office, Miss McNair also announced. These persons are urged to come by this office immediately and pick them up. They are James M. Tucker, C. W. Smith, Ted Smith, Herman Peavy, Joseph Alexander, and Jimmy Cochran.

Charlotte Dunlap of Terry is business manager of the Eagle.

Registrar Sets Schedule Finale For January 20

Regulations governing the planning of second semester students schedules have recently been released by the Hinds Junior College registrar's office. Student schedules may be completed any time between now and Friday, January 20, reports Miss Mildred Herrin, Hinds registrar.

Any student not having completed his schedule by the prescribed date will pay a penalty of $1 to have his schedule put on file in the registrar's office.

Local Lovers Find Embarrassing Moments In Grill; 3,582,647 Germs In Blob Causes Major Troubles

By JOHAN RUSH

What would you do if you strolled merrily into the grill with your favorite girl and walked up to the counter hand in hand, looked into her sparkling eyes while your hamburger cooked, dreamed beautiful thoughts of Saturday night, and placed your hand under the counter in a big blob of fresh bubble gum.

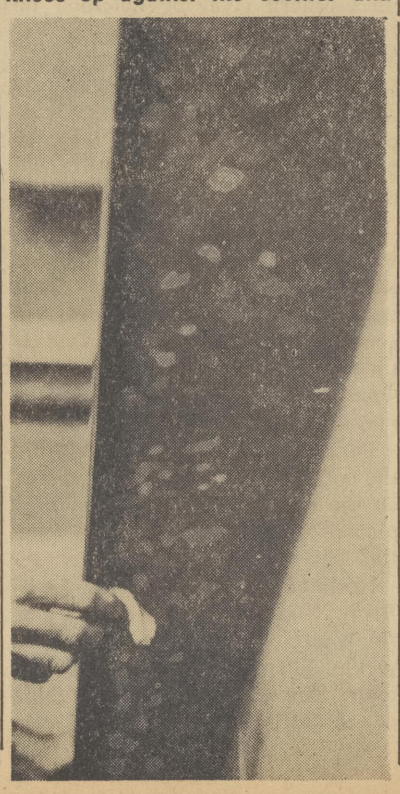
You would still look into her eyes but with different thoughts on your mind. Your hand is held fast. The blob seems to be growing bigger.

Your hamburger is done and the nice lady is waiting for her $.30, Your date is grasping your other hand tighter. Your mind panics.

Should you hand the nice lady a blob of gum with $.30 in it, shake loose from your girl, or just stnd there and grin.

Thousands of young college students are faced with this problem every day. What can young college students, leaders of tomorrow, do about this problem? Stop chewing gum? Stop going to the grill? Stop ordering hamburgers? Stop having dates? On the other hand, maybe students should stop going to the grill.

Actually, this is a serious problem. The tall fellows put their knees up against the counter and succeed in acquiring a large permanent blob. Even the short ones grab a hand full when they are trying to balance themselves.



Do you realize that there are 3,582,647 germs in every blob of fresh gum. (the number is even greater in the old blobs). Russia, on a big college clean-up campaign, is holding the number to 1,235,906 on fresh blobs. Now we can't let the Russians get ahead of us.

How can this messy spreading of germs be stopped? Have you tried rolling the used gum up in a little ball and sitting it in your window sill? In a few days it will harden and can be suitably used as a marble (for playing Chinese checkers). You can use the gum to fill in those cracks in the dorm windows.

Oh! Back to the counter in the grill. Students should respect our modern grill and not ruin the bottom of the counters with gum.

So what do you say gang! Let's stop putting gum under the counter.

Why not wrap it up in a sheet of paper and deposit it in a trash can.

There was a young fellow named Sample
With an appetite cheerfully ample.
He liked Coke with food!
If you like what's good,
Just follow young Sample's example!

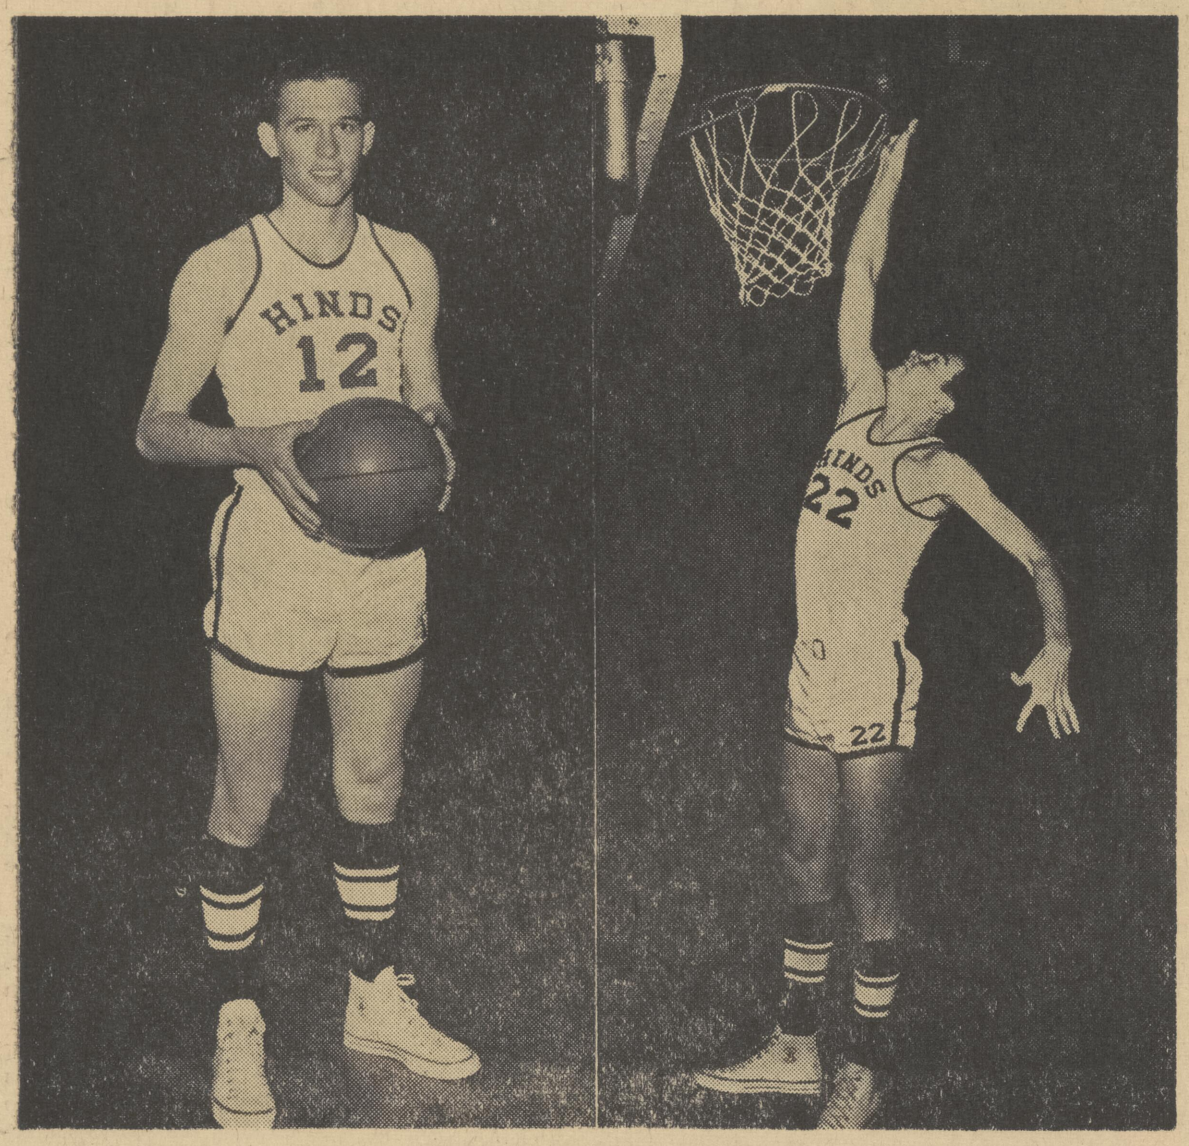
Weekend Battle Initiates Home Schedule



CAGE RETURNEES — With the Christmas holidays behind them, the Hinds Junior College basketeers are busy preparing for their initial home tilt Friday night with Holmes. Lewis Vaughn and Dean Liles, hailing from Forest Hill and Learned respectively, pace the Troy Ricks Eagles at the guard and forward slots throughout the current campaign.

Holmes Invades For Friday Clash; Eagles Travel Saturday To Clark

The stockings are full with basketball spirit, as a result of Ole Saint Nick's recent visit, and the Hinds Junior College cage quintet will be back on the floor this weekend with opponents to meet.

Slated to invade the Eagles' home nest Friday night, Holmes brings in a strong five, tutored by Coach Don Phillips. After their initial Raymond engagement, Troy Ricks' lads travel to Newton Saturday for a battle with the Baptists of Clarke.

Compiling an even 2-2 over-all record before the holidays, Hinds defeated Delta of Moorhead, a team that they play Tuesday night in Raymond, 88-85, and Jones' Bobcats, 67-65.

The Mississippi State freshmen, holding only one loss to Copiah-Lincoln in two years, knocked the feathers from the Eagles in Jackson last month, 85-75. The other loss and the only conference setback was to Southwest, 85-78.

After the January 10 match with Delta, Hinds will face Holmes again, Jan. 12, Perkinston, Jan. 20, Pearl River, Jan. 21, Copiah-Lincoln, Jan. 24, and Mississippi State frosh, Jan. 28 to close out the month.

On February 3, Clarke plays a return match with the Eagles on the Raymond court. February 4 sees the local cagers traveling to Wesson for a tilt with Co-Lin, while Southwest invades Hinds for a game Feb. 7.

Pearl River brings in its Wildcats to do battle with the Birds Feb. 10, while Perkinston winds up weekend play on the day after in Raymond.

Finishing up regular season games Feb. 14, the Hinds five plays host to Coach A. B. Howard's Jones Bobcats.

In the four tilts before the holidays, guard Lewis Vaughn of Forest Hill leads the Eagles in tallies with 66 points. He is followed by Guard Billy Rhodes of Pelahatchie with 57.

Scoring in the 40's are forward Dean Liles of Learned, center David Yewell of Owensboro, Ky., guard Norman Pace of Monroe, La., and forward Wayne Hensley of Steele, Mo., with 45, 44, 43, and 40 points respectively.

Rounding out the Eagle scoring are guards Sammy Rhodes of Pelahatchie, David Bridges of Forest Hill, and Paul McMillan of Pelahatchie, and center David Warrington of Forest Hill.

In total scores, Hinds has racked up 305 points, while the opponents have added 317. The main difference came in the 10-point advantage that State's freshmen gained in their 82-72 win. The Birds have won only by three and two point margins.

Freshmen on the Eagle bounceball squad that were outstanding players in high school are forwards Billy Parkman of Clinton and Graham Taylor of Brandon, center David Jones of Florence, and guards Sidney Odom of Clinton, and Eddie Frith of Byram.

Home town fans will get their first chance to view the Eagles in action Friday and after last year's top team, the folks should see a real battle.

SPORTS PREVIEW

Scribe Reviews '60 Sports

By TOMMY NANCE

That wonderful year, in which practically every sport drew its share of support, in which the Yankees finally met with steep opposition, in which a former delinquent regained the world's heavyweight boxing championship, and in which one man collected a record $73,716 in 11 months by hitting a round, white ball in the grass was 1960.

TOMMY

As we glance through the 365 pages of 1960, we see that a baseball player, who was placed at the tail-end of the batting order, ended the World Series with a home run. Performing this feat for the first time in history was Pittsburgh Pirate Bill Mazeroski, a smooth fielding second baseman.

The boxer, who gained national attention, was 25 year old Floyd Patterson. He became the first ever to regain the world's heavyweight boxing crown.

The golfer was Arnold Palmer, who took some of the top championships during the year. He won the United States Open and Masters and missed an improbable slam by a total of six strokes. He was evaded in the British Open by one shot and in the PGA by five.

Football Sparkles

Minnesota, a Big 10 gridder, became the nation's No. 1 team, followed by Mississippi's Rebels in final tabulation. Joe Bellino, Navy standout, captured practically every award offered in the field of football. He was voted the best back of the year, won the Heisman trophy and Maxwell, along with many others.

In the Olympics, the American five captured another gold medal in basketball competition. The stars were Jerry Lucas of Ohio State, Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati and Jerry West of West Virginia. Lucas also led his Buckeyes to the National Collegiate Championship.

The United States won 34 first-place medals compared with 32 four years ago in Melbourne for a second place standard in the World Olympics. The final total showed Russia leading 807½ to 564½.

In the winter competition, the U. S. took three gold medals to seven for Russia. Carol Heiss and Dave Jenkins, figure skaters, and the U. S. Hockey team triumphed at Squaw Valley Calif.

At The Race Track

Three-year-old colts attracted the crowds to the tracks in 1960 when Venetian Way won the Kentucky Derby for Bill Hartack's second Louisville success. Winning the Preakness, Bally Ache was sold for $1,250,000 then succumbed while in retirement. The Belmont went to Celtic Ash.

Such read the pages to one of the most interesting years in history. What will '61 be like? It will be a year of memorable events and of unusual excitement.

Tulane Boss Grabs Local 11 Performer

Howard Freeman, Hinds Junior College's all-state guard, has recently signed a football scholarship with Tulane University.

Weighing 211 pounds and standing 6-3, Freeman played his high school ball at Jackson Provine and was originally signed by Mississippi Southern College before coming to Joe Renfroe's squad last year.

Freeman, along with three other Eagles, received national attention last month by being named to the honorable mention list of the all-American team picked by Junior College Grid-Wire.

Freeman also is a track performer in the shot and discuss events.

Upon entering Tulane in September, Freeman plans to major in business.

Rangers, Wildcats Monopolize All-Conference Field Squad

Co-champions of the 1960 Mississippi Junior College football conference, Northwest and Pearl River, completely dominated this year's all-conference team as both 11's placed four apiece on the star-studded gridiron squad.

Northwest gained the edge over its southern rival by notching up the Lineman and Coach of the Year awards. Guard Tommy Poff, 5-9, 190 pounder, and Coach Jimmy Jobe, collected these honors respectively. Pearl River's 5-6, 130 pound quarterback, Gene Gatwood, won the title of Back of the Year.

Next in order of awards were East Central and Delta, with three each. Conference runner-up Hinds and East Mississippi were represented by two gridders. Copiah-Lincoln, Jones, Holmes, and Itawamba grabbed one place each on the All-Star team.

Perkinston and Southwest were the only grid teams not represented on the select group, although they placed men on the honorable mention list.

Hospitality Bowl victors, Pearl River Wildcats, placed center Jerrel Wilson, end James Boone, and tackle Seymond Hartzog on the team. The Rangers from Senatobia added halfback Bryce McCullough, quarterback George Lee and fullback Donald Pomeroy to the 11.

East Central Warriors on the squad are end Luther Cave, halfback Billy Barcum, and guard John Corbin Evans. Coach Jim Randall's Trojans of Delta placed tackle Douglas Taylor, guard Wade Perkins, and halfback John Wendell Bridges on the team.

Fullback Johnny Daher and guard Howard Freeman, outstanding members of Coach Joe Renfroe's surprise team this year, represented the Eagles on the chart.

East Mississippi landed end Truman Finchum and center Lew Cornelius on the team. Representing Co-Lin on the squad is tackle Tommy Canoy, while Jones, Holmes, and Itawamba are represented by end Harry Brockmeyer, halfback Ode Burrell, and Herman Seymore respectively.

Gaining honorable mention selections are eight Hinds Eagles. They are end Mike Vinson, tackles Don Gleason and Wayne Sullivan, center Earl Hicks, halfbacks Byrle Kynerd, Donny Swafford, and Wilburn Williamson, and guard Tom Hudson.

Hudson, along with Daher and Freeman gained national recognition last December in another all-star poll.

Circle K Club Sets Goal For March of Dimes Drive

By BETSY HAYNES

The 1961 March of Dimes fund-raising drive at Hinds Junior Collebe is being sponsored by the Circle K Club, according to club president, John Wilda.

A goal of $200 during the month of January was set by the group.

Backing the special drive is a 6-member committee headed by Jimmy Davis of Canton. Other members are Larry McWilliams, Madison, Fla.; Bill Matthews, Raymond; Joe L. Ferguson, Utica; Charles Bobo, Natchez; and James Weir, Newton. Eva Sipes of Forest Hill is the Circle K sweetheart. She will help in promoting the drive.

Hinds Junior College students and teachers are among the 70,100,000 persons contributing annually to the March of Dimes. The campaign, sponsored by the National Foundation is working "to lead, direct and unify the fight against polio."

Circle K members have placed March of Dimes posters and containers in strategic positions on the campus. Donations made be to any Circle K member or deposited in the 'dime' containers.

Donations collected by the Circle K Club will go for further research in the fight against birth defects in Mississippi.

The 1961 new March of Dimes Poster Girl, Linda Gail Breese, is one of the 250,000 children born in this country each year with some significant birth defect.

Registrar Releases Exam Schedule

For the convenience of students and faculty, the schedule for first semester exams is being shown once more in the Hindsonian.

The schedule will be as follows:

Administration Plans Change In Summer School

Hinds Junior College will not offer summer school for high school students this year. For 1961, the college's intent is to stress the many and varied facets of work that Hinds has to offer.

More college courses will be offered to increase interest over a wider range of subjects. Offerings on the vocational and vocational-technical level have been greatly expanded compared to previous summer school sessions.

Prior to the change in summer school, high school students earned one and one-half units of review work, the maximum credit recognized by the State High School Accrediting Commission and Southern Association for summer schools.

Now only college students may earn the twelve semester hours in the ten-week session.

The 1961 session of summer school will open June 12. It will consist of two five-week terms, closing in August.

Registrar Views Slight Increase In Enrollment

An increased enrollment of over fifty persons is expected at the beginning of the new semester, announced Miss Mildred Herrin, registrar.

First semester ends January 20, with the completion of final examinations. The second semester begins January 23.

A freshmen orientation day was held January 5 for those freshmen planning to enter Hinds second semester. A total of 16 people participated in the testing. Another testing period will be held January 23 for students missing the first set of tests.

Students presently attending Hinds must have their schedules completed by January 20. A penalty will be charged to students who have not completed their schedules by that time.

Dr. Haake To Talk To Student Body During Exam Week

Guest speaker for the assembly program next week is Dr. Alfred P. Haake, author, lecturer and consultant to General Motors. He is being brought to Hinds by the Mississippi Petroleum Committee.

Dr. Haake is the author of Faith and Fact, an analysis of religion and economics.

Administration Lets Contract; Nickles and Wells Capture Bid

Completion of the ultra-modern Hinds Junior College Library is expected for October 31, 1961. The contract for the building was let to Nickles and Wells Construction Co., Inc., of Jackson on January 5, according to President G. M. McLendon.

Jay T. Liddle of Jackson is the architect for the construction.

Construction of the new library is to begin immediately on the campus. The contract price for the building is $292,481.56 which includes architect fees.

"Every effort is being made to complete the library by the set date," stated President McLendon. "It is hoped that no difficulties will occur to delay the completion date."

President McLendon and board chairman F. M. Greaves will break ground for the building in an informal ceremony.

The modern structure will accommodate 384 students at one time. Finances for the proposed library are coming from a state bond issue and local funds.

Rooms included in the proposed building are reference, general reading, work, faculty, class, closed stacks, student meeting, mechanical and storage, and library work area.

To allow for the addition of more improvements and room, the streamlined structure will be built with the idea of future expansion.

Contributing many ideas to the planned edifice is head librarian, Mrs. Virginia M. Riggs. Mrs. Riggs became head librarian this year.

Modern equipment will be purchased for the 23,512 square foot library. With an anticipated future enrollment of 4,000 students, the library will hold 40,000 volumes.

Plans for the edifice include a pool to be located in the center of the building.

President McLendon and administrative assistant Robert M. Mayo have worked in the planning of the initial unit of the structure of the new library.

6 Hinds Students Terminate Work At End Of Semester

Hinds Junior College will graduate six sophomores at the termination of the first semester. These six students will receive their diplomas along with the rest of their class in the May graduation exercise.

Only two of the six plan to continue their education this next semester. They are Martha Faye Arrington of Bruce and Rebecca Legg of Forest Hill. They both plan to enroll at Delta State in Cleveland.

The other four plan to complete their schooling next fall at various colleges, after working through this next semester. They are Nell Hall of Brandon, Pat Turnage of Jackson, Pat Smith of Carthage, and Delores Robinson of Brandon.

A few presently attending Hinds Junior College will transfer to other colleges or seek jobs. If one is transferring, he must see Miss Herrin in order that she may mail the transfer in time.

Staff Member Attends Confab

A Hinds Junior College faculty member is attending a White House Conference on Aging in Washington, D. C. this week.

Mr. Irl Dean Rhodes, public relations director at Hinds, was one of 24 delegates appointed by Gov. Ross Barnett from the State Legislature to represent Mississippi at the Conference.

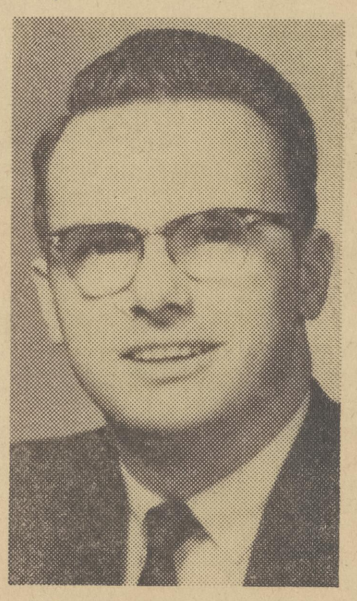
"Aging With a Future — Every Citizen's Concern" was the theme of the 3-day meeting. Registration began Monday at the Statler-Hilton Hotel.

There were eight group discussions on aging, and Mr. Rhodes will attend the division on housing.

Mr. Rhodes, a Hinds Junior College and Mississippi College graduate, is sponsor of the Hindsonian and Eagle.

Graduating from Hinds in '57 Mr. Rhodes is a former Mr. Hinds Junior College and a campus favorite. He was editor of the Hindsonian for two years.

Mr. Rhodes is a member of the House of Representatives. He is a representative from Rankin County.

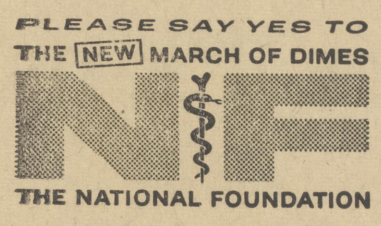


MR. IRL DEAN RHODES
Mississippi Delegate

Say Yes To 'Linda'

"Look Mommy, I'm not afraid."

These gallant words come from a little four-year-old girl with sparkling eyes and a radiant glow. The lass is about to take her first steps without the help of her crutches. She is Linda Gail Breese of Columbus, Ohio, the 1961 new March of Dimes poster girl.



Linda is one of 250,000 children born yearly in the United States with a birth defect. She suffers from a crippling condition known as spina bifida—open spine—and hydrocephalus—water on the brain.

Every day more and more knowledge is helping to solve the mystery of birth defect. This can only be done through contributions to the March of Dimes . . . contributions which allow for research and study, training, and aid to patients.

It is too late to help Linda. But, the March of Dimes is studying ways to help her live with her disability. Linda doesn't want or need pity . . . she only wants a chance. This chance can be given to her and thousands like her through contributions to the 1961 March of Dimes.

On the Hinds' campus, the Circle K Club is sponsoring the March of Dimes drive during the month of January. Let's join with this outstanding organization and contribute our 'dimes' to fight the disease which cripple children for the rest of their lives . . . children, like Linda, who can't fight back.

Dorm Coeds Need Walks

The girls in Northside Dormitory need sidewalks connecting the dormitory to the system of sidewalks at the recreation hall. Also, a walk is needed leading from the domitory to the science building.

Hinds is a rapid-growing college. Improvements take time, but certain improvements should be made first.

Presently, the girls in this lovely new dormitory have to use a service drive and parking area to reach the main section of the campus. There are vast lapses of pavement in this area, and on rainy days the mud begins to ooze. Definitely this isn't good for shoes.

With such a beautiful fast-expanding campus, it must be a simple oversight. It is a shame to mar this lovely picture with broken pavement and muddy paths.

Exam Time Draws Near

Next week marks a significant event at Hinds. It's semester exam week. At this time students will be given an opportunity to test the knowledge they gained during the previous semester.

This time will mark graduation for some, credit towards graduation for others, and failure for a few.

In the next few days special emphasis should be put on reviewing and studying. The up-coming exams are of a most serious nature. The grades made this time are permanent. They will remain with your records.

Remember, the time to study is now.

Publication Editor Salutes Newspaper Sponsor

By JEAN RODGERS

While the cat's away, the mice will play, so to speak. In this story the 'cat' is our newspaper sponsor, Mr. Irl Dean Rhodes, and the 'mice' are the Hindsonian staff members.

JEAN

Seriously speaking, Mr. Rhodes, better known to all as Irl Dean, is attending a meeting in Washington, D. C., and since he is not here to veto this column, we'd like to dedicate it strictly to him.

To those who are not personally acquainted with him he is the director of Public Relations at Hinds and sponsor of the Hindsonian and Eagle.

Irl Dean's background speaks highly for him. It shows that he is competent and well-liked. At Brandon High School, Irl Dean was business manager of the annual, editor of the school paper, vice president of the student council, a member of the Beta and FFA Clubs, all during his junior year.

While a senior at Brandon, Irl Dean served as president of the student council, sports editor of his school paper, editor of the annual, and he received his State Farmer's Degree in FFA.

At Hinds during his freshman year, Irl Dean was elected president of his class, editor of the Hindsonian, and was chosen most courteous boy and a campus favorite in the Who's Who contest.

Perhaps the most prized honor he received was when he was chosen Mr. Hinds Junior College during his sophomore year. Also that year he was again editor of the Hindsonian, most likely to succeed, and campus favorite.

The former Miss Jo Ann White is the wife of our esteemed sponsor. The lovely Mrs. Rhodes is a former Hinds Hi-Stepper.

Irl Dean is a member of the Mississippi House of Representatives from Rankin County.

The Hindsonian staff is proud of its' sponsor and considers him to be 'tops' in his profession.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Governor Barnett Turns Down Bid To Inauguration

By CORKIE LYLE

The very Honorable Ross R. Barnett, exalted governor of Mississippi and king of all "Impossibilities", has encountered another "impossibil i t y" This time it's the inauguration of John F. Kennedy as president of the United States of America.

CORKIE

But this time the South's most supreme preserver and do-good-for-Mississippi leader is not alone. He is joined by New York's Governor Nelson Rockefeller and three other such political leaders.

Barnett has fallen out of grace in the eyes of many people since Mississippi rolled with Ross toward the hour of near destruction. And some of us thought Gartin was so terrible. Oh well, only three more years. Glory!

COLLEGE MAY CLOSE: At this moment the future of the University of Georgia is at stake. This factor is due to the admission of two Negro students, Charlayne Hunter and Hamilton Holmes.

Both were due to register Tuesday, but a court order caused a delay. After some time the Negroes were allowed to complete registration. However, neither of the two students attended classes Tuesday.

Is it worth the cost of an education when it is the dearest possession in the world today to shut down a school of such high learning? Think of the many students who will eventually apply for jobs and be turned down. What will they say? "I couldn't get the education I needed because my college shut down when two American Negroes entered", for instance???

CENTENNIALS BEGIN: Centenials began across the Southland this past week with wild, noisy reenactments of battles and seceedings from the Union.

South Carolina and Mississippi, the number one and two states in the secession act, got off to a fast start in the centennial action. South Carolina put on its best before 20,000 persons in Charleston. Cadets from The Citadel fired on the Union ship, the Star of the West.

In Jackson, the Mississippi legislators voted overwhelmingly to secede from the United States.

" 'Tis easy enough to be pleasant, when life flows along like a song;

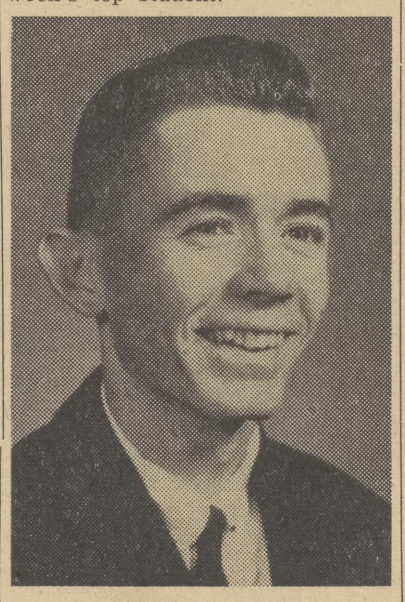
The lines of the above poem by E. W. Wilcox could well have been written about Tommy Nance, this week's top student.



TOMMY NANCE
Versatile Sophomore

He possesses many admirable traits. He is possibly the most courteous, dependable and deserving young man on the campus.

Tommy has what it takes to be a success in life. At Hinds he has grown in knowledge, spirit, and usefulness.

His greatest contribution to the campus has been his untiring efforts on the Hindsonian. He was sports editor last year, and this year he is serving double duty as assistant editor and sports editor.

A few of the honors tossed his way include cheerleader for two years, home room president, sports editor of the school newspaper, Red Cross representative, delegate to the Mississippi Association of Student Councils, Mississippi Safety Conference delegate, treasurer of honorary journalism society, vice president of the Spanish Club, member of the student council, and two letters as a member of the golf team.

He was the reporter for the Modern Language Club last year.

Tommy is currently serving as vice president of the Wesley Foundation and vice president of the Modern Language Club.

It's a joy to know and work with such a dependable person. You learn to respect him in many ways.

He has the qualities of a great person—sincerity, trust, and consideration.

May future years bring him the best things a rare and deserving individual would choose.

College Sophomore Keeps Tradition; Continues Hinds Education Policy

By CAROLYN MAY

When President G. M. McLendon awards Carolyn Gill her junior college diploma in May, it'll mark the eleventh student from the same Rankin County family to receive a diploma at Hinds Junior College.

All of the diplomas have been presented by President McLendon since 1938. Mr. and Mrs. John I. Gill of Johns, Miss., are the proud parents of one of the largest complete families to attend Hinds. Mr. Gill is a farmer.

Eight of the 10 members of the Gill family who have graduated continued their education at senior colleges.

What's more, the youngest member of the family, Kenneth Gill, will enroll at Hinds as a freshman this fall. He is a senior at Pearl High School.

Carolyn Gill, a sophomore at Hinds, is majoring in elementary education and is planning to attend Mississippi Southern College this fall.

Four members of the Gill family graduated from Mississippi Southern. They are Earl Gill, who majored in industrial arts; Ruth Gill Smalhout, who majored in elementary education; and Sara Gill Johnson, who majored in home economics.

Sara is now teaching at Copiah-Lincoln Junior College, and Ruth is a housewife.

Grady Gill, Hazelhurst's basketball coach, and Jean Gill Porter, an elementary education major who is teaching at Anguilla, received their degrees from Mississippi College.

Lucille Gill Shotts, a Belhaven graduate, majored in elementary education and is now a housewife.

Guy Gill attended Mississippi State University. He is a radio technician for the Mississippi Highway Patrol.

After graduating from Hinds, Fred Gill transferred to Sam Houston Teachers College in Houston, Texas, where he majored in industrial arts. He is a teacher at Sweeney, Texas.

The ninth Hinds graduate from the Gill family, Helen is a secretary for the State Board of Health. Dot Gill, another graduate, is employed by Southern Bell and Telegraph Company.

Librarians Seek Books; Due Before Examinations

All library books which are overdue must be returned and fines paid before examinations start. A list of students who are not clear in the library is posted on the bulletin board outside the Registrar's office.

The fines may be paid to Mrs. Riggs, Mrs. Wall, Mrs. Goodwin, or the student librarian. The fines must be paid by next Monday.

Local Pranksters Call Ambulance To Campus

By CORKIE LYLE

Tuesday night at approximately 11:00 p. m., someone placed an anonymous phone call to the Baldwin Funeral Home in Jackson requesting an ambulance.

The voice asked that an ambulance be sent immediately to the front of Shangri-La Dormitory to pick up Mr. Mike Rabalais, local psychology instructor. The person stated that Mr. Rabalais was sick and needed to be rushed to the hospital.

Nearly all students residing in the four boys' dormitories ran to Shangri-La to investigate the happening. Surrounding the ambulance, the boys asked all sorts of questions, such as "What Happened?" "Who got hurt?" and "What are y'all doing here?"

This little escapade could result in something tragic in the future. The stunt, although amusing to some of our local students, might result in the little black sheep story. You know the one that cried "Wolf, Wolf" three times, and when he did it the fourth time no one came, and the wolf feasted on his tender chops.

This incident proved embrassing to the ambulance driver as well as to the administrators of our school. Acts such as this are for children, not for young adults (supposedly) attending Hinds Junior College.

So I ask you, along with President McLendon, refrain from such childish and simple pranks.

Amusement Head Presents Reviews To Drama Group

Frank Haynes, Jackson Daily News Amusement Editor, spoke to the Lendon Players last Thursday night about his recent tour of Broadway theaters and the better known off Broadway theaters.

The best known of the productions Mr. Haynes reviewed included: "Advise and Consent," "Camelot," "Fiorello," "Gypsy," "My Fair Lady," "Miracle Worker," "Music Man," "Toys in the Attic," and "Do-Re-Me."

In addition to reviewing shows playing now, Mr. Haynes discussed plays that are opening in the near future. He told the club about some of the tradition of the American Theater.

After the meeting the Lendon Players and their visitors were served refreshments. The group chatted informally with Mr. Haynes about other interesting aspects of entertainment as they ate.

Graduates Must Contact Office By January 20

All Hinds Junior College students scheduled for first semester graduation are instructed to contact Miss Mildred Herrin, Hinds registrar, before January 16. The first semester ends January 20.

Each student must meet with the registrar to determine whether he has successfully completed all the requirements necessary for graduation.

Each graduating sophomore is charged $10 for cap and gown rental. The purchase of a diploma is included in this fee.

Exemption requirements have been set on a basis of the prospective graduate's academic record. Those students having a B or better average will be exempt from the examinations.

The registrar's office is open from 8:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday. On Saturday office hours are from 8:00 a.m. to noon.

Public Relations Releases Bulletin On Dormitory Fee

A new brochure and a poster have been compiled by the Public Relations Department at Hinds. The new materials will be sent to high schools and prospective students.

The brochure explains how a dormitory student will be able to attend Hinds for $1.50 per day, and it includes information concerning the increase in tuition of $5. For all dormitory students there will be a $5 fee per month which includes room and board. Also listed on the brochure are the benefits of Hinds Junior College.

The posters will be distributed in high school areas surrounding Hinds. Post cards will be available for students desiring bulletins and other information concerning campus life at Hinds.

Local Music Department To Present Spring Opera

The Mikado, an opera in two acts, will be presented by the Hinds Junior College Music Department in the early spring, it was announced today.

Tryouts will begin the week following semester examinations. The tryouts will be held the entire week and the parts will be awarded to the most deserving applicant the following week.

The players will use authenic costumes for the leading roles announced Mr. Leslie Reeves, director of the Japanese musical. The music for the production has already been ordered and some of the students of the music department have heard recordings of the selection.

The Mikado deals with an ancient Japanese folk legend brought to the stage by the versatile Authur Sullivan. The production was first presented in London in 1885, directed by W. S. Gilbert. The play was an immediate success in England.

The plot of the opera deals with Nanki-Poo, son of the emperor of Japan. Nanki-Poo is desperately in love with Yum-Yum but so is Ko-Ko, Nanki-Poo's bosom enemy. Nanki-Poo, Yum-Yum, and Ko-Ko form a formidable triangle that reaches its climax in the second act.

Mikado, the emperor, wants Nanki-Poo to marry Katisha, an elderly lady of the royal court. When Nanki-Poo finds this out, he searches for the lost Yum-Yum. He finds her in due time, but the chief executioner of Japan has to kill someone himself every month or he will be led to the gallows. His result is Nanki-Poo.

Nanki-Poo is finally relieved of his tension and the play has a fairy tale ending with Nanki Poo wedding Yum-Yum and Ko-Ko marrying the elderly Katisha, much to the Mikado's delight.

Miss Glenda Rush, local campus piano instructor, will accompany the student production at the piano.

Spectators Pick Baseball Tops

By TOMMY NANCE

What is your favorite sport to watch? In a recent study made by the American Institute of Public Opinion, the popularity of baseball is still tops.

The impact that television has made on certain sports, as compared with studies made 12 years ago, sees America's national pastime, baseball, slipping but still maintaining its top ranking.

TOMMY

With nearly nine out of ten United States homes having a TV set, football has gained more popularity than any other sport. Whether this new media is the sole reason for the gridiron's interest gain or not, 21 percent prefer to watch two 11's battle.

On a run down of the nation's top spectators sports, baseball holds 34 percent of the interest, with football following. Basketball takes nine percent of the fan's approval, while bowling and wrestling capture five.

Males Choose Baseball

Differences in favorite sports show up in an analysis of the current study by men and women. The males are likely to select baseball, football, or boxing, while the feminine group picks basketball, bowling, and wrestling.

Fourty-one percent of men choose baseball, while only 27 percent of the women prefer this sport. The biggest difference in preference is bowling, with eight percent of the women holding an interest, while only one percent of the men enjoy watching the pins fall.

Education Plays Part

The popularity of sports also varies by education levels. Persons with college training prefer football, while high school and grade school levels choose baseball.

Although wrestling does not appear in the top five favorites of persons with collegiate backgrounds, it is the No. 3 choice of persons with grade school education.

What is your favorite sport to watch? Here on the Hinds Junior College campus, football and basketball lead the way with girls preferring the cage action over the gridiron showings, while the masculine sex chooses football by a narrow margin over basketball.

Women Faculty Upsets Girls Team In Annual Cage Contest

A nip-and-tuck battle all the way, the Hinds Junior College feminine faculty members edged pass the sophomore girls, 13-8, in a hotly contested battle last night in the Raymond gym.

The game, which was sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association, is an annual affair and all proceeds go to the girls' club.

Leading the faculty squad to their win was Mrs. Peggy Swett, with able assistance coming from Miss Mildred Herrin, Mrs. Frances Lee, Mrs. Robbie Dukes, Miss Glenda Rush, Miss Sarah Nell Taylor, and Mrs. Ella Goodwin.

The sophomore girls were led by Red Shivers, Joan Phillips, Dot Gatlin, Bert Wynn, and Barbara Beck.

Under the sponsorship of the WAA, Hinds' representative in the Jackson City League basketball competition took a win over the Bombers Monday night to lead the standings.

Tallying 31 points for the Eaglettes was Joan Phillips, followed by Linda Oakes' 17 and Eva Huff's eight. Gail Rushing, Diane Collins, and Barbara Carter played at the guard slot for Hinds.

Eagles Invade Goodman Thursday For Cage Battle With Holmes 5

Victims Falter To Hinds Cagers For Double Win

With three big wins under Coach Troy Rick's belt, the Hinds Junior College cagers travel to Goodman Thursday night and face Holmes' Bulldogs in the second encounter of the season.

Hinds basketeers, having defeated the same quintet Friday night in the Raymond gym, 87-55, will be invading with more experience and a better knowledge of defensive play, of which Holmes is well known.

When the Eagles hit the cage floor at 7:30, David Yewell of Owensboro, Ky. will be at the pivot position, with guards Norman Pace of Monroe, La. and Lewis Vaughn of Forest Hill and forwards Wayne Hensley of Steele, Mo. and Dean Liles of Learned backing him up.

Eagle "Red Shirts"

Others seeing action in previous games that will be on hand Thursday are forwards Bill Parkman and Graham Taylor, center David Warrington, and guards Billy Rhodes, Sidney Odom, David Bridges, Eddie Frith, Paul McMillan, and Sammy Rhodes.

Holmes will be playing host with an array of stars, headed by Bill Fugate.

After the Goodman tilt, the Hinds five will "retire" for a week of semester ecaminations.

Birds Fly By Holmes

In the previous tilt with Holmes, Hinds soared to an 87-55 win for a home crowd approval, with David Yewell leading the pact in scoring with 15 points.

Wayne Hensley tallied 13 and Norman Pace made good 12 points in setting the Eagles to their third win. The Eagles were in command all the way and had a 34-22 halftime lead.

Clarke Bows To Power

In Saturday night action, Hinds set a new state junior college record in scoring with 131 points. Dean Liles led the attack with his personal 51 points and another state record for Hinds. The final score read Hinds 31, Clarke 115.

Ricks' clan has also won decisions over Jones, 67-65, and in a pre-season tilt with Copiah-Lincoln, 71-63. Falling for three consecutive times at the first of the season, Hinds lost to Southwest, 87-82, East Central, 93-89, Delta, 73-67, and in regular conference play to Southwest again, 85-78.

Trojans Fall Under Wings Of Eagles Tuesday In 68-63 Basketball Tilt

The versatile Hinds cagers collected their third straight and fifth win of the season Tuesday night over the Delta Trojans, 68-63, before a well-pleased audience.

Lewis Vaughn, Forest Hill ace, and Dean Liles paced the home town Eagles in the scoring column with 22 and 21 points respectively.

It was the second win of the season over the Moorhead five for Coach Troy Ricks' lads and a well-deserved win at that. Playing a tight defense and a fast ball club, Hinds went ahead early in the game, but was never more than eight points in the lead. The initial half ended in a 31-31 deadlock.

Other leading scorers for Hinds were Billy Rhodes, ten, David Yewell, six, Wayne Hensley, five, and Norman Pace, four. Delta was led by guards Wayne Byrd, with 16, and Charles Hastings, with 11.

Three Trojans poured in eight points, while two tallied six. Those scoring eight were Dave Holder, Joe Adams, and Bobby Gibney, while Charles Fitts and Ed Kelly racked up six.

The game was full of personal fouls, with Hinds being handed 14 and Delta, 17, although Lewis Vaughn was the sole player to foul out.

Men's Club Finishes Initial Half Of Season With Tigers On Top

The Men's Recreational Association of Hinds Junior College has just completed its initial half of sporting activities with the termination of the intramural basketball games.

The Tigers finished as the top team, with a perfect 6-0 mark, followed by the Hawks and Wolves with 3-1 and 4-2 respective records. Winding up the bottom half of the standings are the Owls, Weavers, and the faculty five.

Holding a 2-3 record, the Owls gained a fourth place position ahead of the Weavers' 1-4 and the faculty's 0-6 mark.

Offering every campus student the privilege of enjoying intramural sports, the MRA has a varied program lined up for the second half of the year and urges anyone interested to contact any club member to get more information concerning the organization.

For every club member, the advantage of having extra curricular activities to do is simple, for each boy belonging to the MRA is eligible to enjoy the activities offered in the private club room.

Equipped with weights, ping pong tables, and parlor games, the room is opened every day for members to enjoy.

VOLUME 27—NUMBER 16 | HINDS JUNIOR COLLEGE, RAYMOND, MISSISSIPPI | WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 25, 1961

Profs Attend Session With MMA Heads

Two members of the Hinds Junior College faculty attended a meeting of the Mississippi Manufacturers Association in Jackson last week.

Mr. Robert M. Mayo, administrative assistant, and Mr. Walter H. Gibbes, vocational coordinator, attended sub-committee meetings on student-industry relations.

The educators met to discuss ways in which to build a better climate for industry in the state as well as for new industry coming into the state. The confab was divided into three divisions—public schools, junior colleges, and senior colleges.

The subcommittees were primarily concerned with ways to provide plant visits for students, and ways to set up industrial information bureaus. In these bureaus both students and parents could become better acquainted with the employment possibilities or advantages of employment in Mississippi industries.

Consideration was also given to the establishment of industrial showcases to provide a better understanding of the complex practices of the industries.

The last topic on the agenda was the distribution of printed material in Mississippi to advertise the advantages offered by the local businesses.

"Our primary objective," said Mr. Gibbes, "is to place before incoming industries some of the fields of industrial training in the state, and especially the phases of vocational and technical training offered at Hinds Junior College."

Former Student Tells Experiences With Color Slides

Miss Mary Will McKenzie, a former Hinds student, presented an assembly program today with color slides on her recent visit to Iran.

Miss McKenzie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. McKenzie, who are instructors on the Hinds faculty. She was an International Farm Youth Exchange delegate through 4-H Club work.

Forest Hill High School will participate in next week's assembly program. Mrs. Ferguson, assistant high school principal, will be in charge.

College To Build Fallout Shelter

Officials at Hinds Junior College approved today the construction of a college-owned Fallout Shelter, according to Mr. Robert L. Crook, State Civil Defense Director, and Mr. Rosser Wall, campus Civil Defense representative.

The Fallout Shelter will be located in a sub-surface area on the north end of the practice football field. Size of the shelter will be 10 feet by 10 feet square.

State director Crook said that the signing of the contract for the local shelter must be completed by February 1. The State Civil Defense Council will pay $250 for the construction of the unit.

One of the requirements to acquire the shelter is to open it to the public for six months. After that time the college will have complete ownership of the shelter.

Mr. Wall received President G. M. McLendon and Administrative Assistant Robert Mayo's stamp of approval this morning before giving Mr. Crook the "go ahead" signal on the project.

The shelter will be built in connection with the state office and the office of Civil and Defense Mobilization. It will be a protective measure from radioactive fallout.

A committee of the National Academy of Sciences, in a recent study of national preparedness, concluded: "Adequate shielding is the only effective means of preventing radiation casualties."

When the shelter is completed, a Civil Defense group will be organized on the campus.

Purpose of the group will be to study the fallout safety steps. Some of the areas they are interested in include attack warning signals and what they mean, community plan for emergency action, protection from radioactive fallout, first aid and home emergency preparedness, and the use of Conelrad — 640 and 1240 on AM radio — for official directions.

Math, Science Profs Map Plans For 8-County Meet

In cooperation with the Science and Mathematics division of the State Department of Education, Hinds Junior College is sponsoring a district workshop for teachers of junior high and senior high science and mathematics on February 11.

Science and math teachers from schools in Hinds, Warren, Rankin, Yazoo, Copiah, Claiborne, Issaquena, and Madison counties are being invited to the conference.

Registration will be held in the Science Building from 9:00-9:30 and coffee will be served. After a general meeting at 9:30 the participants will divide into groups according to the subject they teach.

Assisting the local science and mathematics departments in planning the workshop are Mr. R. C. Roberts, State Supervisor of Secondary Science Education, Mr. Lamar Fortenberry, and Dr. R. D. Boswell from the mathematics division of the state Department of Education.

Taking part in the state conference from the Hinds math and physics departments will be Mr. F. J. Stephenson, Mrs. Emma Beemon, Mr. William T. Douglas, Mr. B. D. Sprayberry, and Miss Lurline Stewart.

Those representing Hinds from the science department will be Mr. Claude R. Adkins, Mr. T. T. Beemon, Mrs. Genevieve Adams, and Mr. Edward Rosser Wall.

Miss Lurline Stewart will serve as chairman of the math division of the conference and Mr. Rosser Wall will be chairman of the science division.

Debaters Prepare For Trips

The members of the Hinds Junior College debate team started racking their brains for new facts this week in preparation for an exhausting schedule next month.

The team will attend three tournaments during February. A four man team, two alternates, and other club members will compete in the State Junior College Debate Tournament at Southwest Junior College on February 11.

The team will also debate in the Gulf States Invitational Tournament to be held at Mississippi Southern College February 17 and 18, and at the University of Mississippi's Invitational Tournament February 24 and 25.

Team members also plan to attend other tournaments in the spring.

Locker Head Gets National Position

Mr. Grady L. Sheffield, college cold storage manager, has been chosen as Mississippi's representative to the National Institute of Locker and Freezer Provisioners.

Mr. Sheffield was chosen by R. A. Johnson of Eupora, who is the president of the Mississippi Frozen Food Association.

This association sets up research projects. These research projects can be carried out by the processing plant.

Initial Library Work To Start Next Month

Actual construction will start on the college's new library next month, college officials said today.

"The contractor is anxious to start construction as soon as the weather clears," President G. M. McLendon said today.

The missing hub in Hinds' education wheel, the library is designed on a long range plan to be the center of campus activity.

Contractor for the project is Nickles and wells Construction Co. Jay T. Liddell is the architect.

The contract price for the building is $292,481.56. When completed and equipped, the total cost of the structure will be near one-half million dollars.

Another study is underway on the campus to determine what to do with the area of land between Northside Dormitory, Westside Dormitory, and the College Cafeteria.

A topographic survey is being made by engineers to explore all possible uses of the area. The study is expected to be completed in the spring or early summer.

It will determine the placement and height of the new sidewalks. The survey may recommend that the tennis courts between the buildings be abolished and turned into a flower garden.

The survey is the first step in a 10-year plan to eliminate driveways in certain areas on the campus in an effort to beautify the grounds.

Faculty Releases Events Calendar For Local Grads

The annual commencement exercises for graduating sophomores have been set for 11 a.m. Sunday, May 21, and 10:30 a.m. Friday, May 26.

Speakers for both programs will be announced at a later date.

Participation of each graduate in both program is required for receiving a diploma; however, all credits acquired at Hinds are transferable regardless of whether or not the student participates in graduation exercises.

All sophomores who are to receive a diploma and who maintain a "B" average throughout the entire second semester will be eligible for exemptions from final exams.

February 6 is the last day for registration and for changing schedules. Spring holidays are March 16-17, followed by mid-semester tests, March 20-24.

President McLendon, Dean Lee Visit Central High To Recruit Students

President G. M. McLendon and Mrs. Frances Lee, dean of women, interviewed prospective Hinds students at Jackson Central High School today.

The two administrators conferred with students who are interested in attending Hinds for the summer or fall sessions. Pamphlets and catalogues were given to the prospective high school seniors.

Mrs. Lee, a former Central High counselor, was one of the judges for the annual beauty pageant for the high school year book last Saturday night.

Linda Dickerson, Hinds homecoming queen, was introduced to the audience as the 1959 Most beautiful.

Kennedy Initiates New Era

With last Friday's inauguration of President Jack Kennedy, a new political era has begun in the United States. The Democratic Party holds the reigns of executive power for the next four years.

The nation is beginning to settle down to wait and watch the youthful Kennedy in action. There is some question as to whether Kennedy's program will be basically liberal or middle of the road. His position in the government calls for a touch of both liberalism and conservatism. Although his campaign was initially liberal, he has toned down to an almost happy medium by adding a pinch of conservatism. How long will this last?

The country is standing on a razor-sharp edge as far as integration is concerned. A definite answer to the problem will have to be decided during the Kennedy reign. Southerners, especially Mississippians, stand at a tense vigil awaiting the first actons concerning the racial problem. Will Kennedy be able to solve the problem? It's very doubtful.

Congress will be Kennedy's stronghold or his downfall. To fulfill his plans Kennedy will have to be backed by the Congressional group.

Rarely is Kennedy's name seen in print without some mention of his attractive wife, Jackie. Mrs. Kennedy is the youngest First Lady in United States history. Making herself right at home in the White House mansion, Jackie's well-suited to the position considering her personality, intelligence, and social background.

Kennedy has a hard row to hoe. But, backed by a strong core of advisers, a brilliant mind, and a forceful will, his frontier movement may get America moving.

Staff Welcomes Students

The Hindsonian welcomes each new student and returning student to the Hinds Junior College campus for the second semester.

If this is your first time to attend Hinds, we feel that you will gain experience, knowledge, and lasting friendships.

Perhaps you have been out a semester and are returning to continue studies . . . welcome back.

Hinds has much to offer each student. Guidance and friendship are around every corner. Hinds has one of the friendliest student bodies and faculties to be found anywhere.

The educational opportunities on the campus are vast. A well-rounded program in almost every field is available.

We hope that you will enjoy your stay at Hinds and that you have a very profitable semester.

Critical Semester Starts

A new semester began Monday . . . the slates are clean. Everyone is beginning with equal grades. Everyone has a fresh start. The grades we make this semester depend upon what we do right now when we have an open record.

The semester is all important to sophomores. It is the determining point of graduation or failure. To freshmen it will determine the credits earned toward next year's work.

Graduating sophomores who maintain a B or better average may be exempt from final exams in May. This may not seem so important presently, but when the time rolls around for that cramming period before finals it would be a relief to just skip the examination period—legally.

OFF THE CUFF

Editor Disagrees With Survey Of Society Expert

By JEAN RODGERS

Teen-agers today live in a world of their own. More and more people in this age group are being cut off from adult society. These theories are based on a study by Dr. James Coleman, associate professor of social relations at Johns Hopkins University.

JEAN

Two years of sifting through survey results brought four basic factors to light which Dr. Coleman claims are spoiling modern youth.

The first reason discovered was automobiles, because many teenagers feel an adult independence behind the wheel. Perhaps this is true, but shouldn't it be? Isn't it just a natural part of growing up?

Over-emphasis of athletics was the second reason given by Dr. Coleman of how youth is being spoiled. Let's face it, sports are here to stay, and what better place can good sportsmanship be developed than in schools.

The third reason was the tendency of the scholar as one who is out for himself and who puts others at a disadvantage. The average teen-ager is naturally looking out for himself. . .but isn't everyone.

As big a social bug that today's teen-ager is, they really care for others. . .the opinions of other people is all important.

Social cliques is the fourth reason for condeming teen-agers. Now when did adults not have social cliques? With clubs, teas, banquets, and balls, the adult clan is strictly an open bunch. . . no sir, they don't stay in groups. It is just the little harmless group known as teen-agers who get the blame for everything.

Perhaps Dr. Coleman should just continue his study . . . after all teen-agers have been around for a long, long time.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Tom Dooley Dies Of Cancer

By CORKIE LYLE

America lost one of its foremost representatives of goodwill this past week. The representative was Dr. Thomas Dooley, 34.

CORKIE

Dr. Dooley, sometimes referred to as the "jungle doctor", was one of the cofounders of MEDICO (Medical International Cooperation Organization). It is a non-profit, non-sectarian health service.

Dr. Dooley became dedicated to administering to the ailing when he served in the United States Navy in 1954. He was in Laos at the time when the Communists were annexing North Viet Nam to their chain of satellite nations. Although he lacked money to carry out his rescue and medical plans, he was still very determined to carry out his chief purpose in life.

He wrote a book called "Deliver Us From Evil" about his experiences in the struggle for freedom of the small Southeastern Laotian kingdom. The proceeds from this novel totaled $34,00. He followed up with a best seller entitled "The Night They Burned the Mountain."

Dr. Dooley died of cancer just one day after his 34th birthday. To the very end he never ceased in completing his efforts for the betterment of mankind and the blessings of modern medicine to persons without hope. He died in his sleep in Memorial Hospital in New York City.

His main dream was for peace on this earth and preservation of peoples health. He toiled in the tropical jungles hour after hour without pay to make some child happy, to heal some minor wound, or to perform a major operation in one of his many small hut-like hospitals scattered across Laos.

Dr. Dooley went out of this world without pain at the time of his death. For the last few years, his life was one of unbearable pain and torture. His spine was nearly severed by the dreaded disease, but he never complained until in the end he could restrain no longer. He departed from this world in the happy fantasy of sleep.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower had the following to say about Dooley: "It must have been a source of heartened gratification to realize that in so few years he has accomplished so much for the good of distant peoples and have inspired so many others to work for all humanity."

We cannot state it any other way: Dr. Tom Dooley was one of the greatest Americans in the last half-century. He was the idol of many Americans, including this writer. He believed in his work so whole-heartedly that nothing could stop him but death.

He did not relish in his moments of triumph as many do today; they were only things that assurred him that the people were behind him.

Requiescat in pace—for he deserved it more than any person in many a year.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Circle K Member, Band President, Exhibits Interests In Musical Field

By SHIRLEY BOATMAN

From the cool of the night comes a low, sad note of the blues. Trumpeting this sad melody is Florida's Larry McWilliams.

Since he has been able to hold a trumpet in his agile fingers, Larry has had an astute interest in music and its history as well as its future. This talented young music lover boasts the honor of being a member of the Florida Lion's All-State Band for two straight years.

Larry has increased his ability in music over the years. He is currently majoring in music and is president of the Eagle Band. He has preformed in solo as well as group performances on campus and off during his one and a half year stay at Hinds.

Although Larry's main interests are in the field of music, he was also active in sports and other extra-curricular activities at Madison High School in his home town. He lettered in football, baseball, and track over his high school years. During his junior year, his team won the North Florida Conference, one of the toughest in the state.

President's Council member Larry is also a member of the local Circle K Club. Practicing occupies most of Larry's time, but he does find time to chat in the grill, visit friends, and give all he meets a cheery hello.

Wit, charm, neatness, intelligence, and good looks are only a few of the virtues that this week's sophomore of the week possesses.

The staff and editors of the Hindsonian extend best wishes to Larry in future years. May he make music in the future as he has in the past.

Feature Editor Extends Welcome To New Students

Dear New Students:

We of Hinds Junior College know that you will be busy as you begin your work here, but we want you to take time out to become active in the various religious organizations on our campus.

Every morning immediately after breakfast at 7:15 we have morning watch. This is an interdenominational meeting lasting about 10 minutes in which the students start the day with quiet music and meditation. A good beginning means a good day.

Monday nights at 6:15 the various religious denominations meet separately. They include: the BSU for Baptist Students, the Wesley for Methodists, the Westminster Fellowship for Presbyterians, and the Canterbury Club for Episcopalians. The Newman Club for Catholics meets Wednesday night at 6:00.

Tuesday night every other week the BSU sponsors YWA's for Baptist Girls interested in missions.

Wednesday night the denominations jointly worship in a vesper service.

On Sundays the churches of Raymond welcome the students staying on the campus over the weekend.

We hope you will choose to be active in as many of these as possible.

Sincerely,
Your fellow student
Belinda Hill

'Stepper Choreographer Popular Contest Judge

Mrs. Alon Bee, director of the Hinds Junior College Hi-Steppers, was a judge in the annual contest this year for the selection of Jackson's Outstanding Young Man.

The contest is sponsored annually by the Jackson Junior Chamber of Commerce. The winner of the contest was Wirt Yerger, Jr., head of the Republican party in Mississippi. Mr. Yerger played an active part in the bid of Richard Nixon as president of the United States.

Mr. Yerger was the unanimous choice of all the judges in the contest. It was his second time to be chosen for the distinguished service award.

Mrs. Bee also judged the Soso High School beauties after her Hi-Steppers returned from a triumphant presentation in the annual Sugar Bowl.

Last night Mrs. Bee judged the beauties at Murrah High School in Jackson.

Local Instructor Speaks To Group At King Edward

Mrs. A. L. Denton, Hinds Junior College art instructor addressed the Concordia Women's Club of Jackson on January 24.

Mrs. Denton chose as her subject, "Women In Art". She pointed out the various types of art and the way certain women have expressed their views in these fields. She also expressed that men have acquired certain ideas from women in the past and will do so in the days to come.

Mrs. Denton presented various paintings demonstrating the types of artwork over the years. The canvases were reproductions of famous women authors' works.

Mrs. Denton is the instructor of art courses offered at Hinds. She teaches art appreciation, layout, and design, beginning art, and oil painting.

President of the Concordia Club is Mrs. Alon Bee, and Mrs. Nicholas Dennery acts as program chairman for the club of fifty limited members.

Faculty Members Make Revisions In '61-62 Catalog

Data for the 1961 publication of the college catalog will be sent to the printer March 1.

Faculty members are making some revisions of material. It is anticipated that some new courses will be added for the 1961-62 edition to take care of the steadily increasing enrollment.

New courses will necessitate additions to the faculty personnel.

Descriptions of new buildings now in the making will also appear in the new publication.

It is anticipated that the new library will be ready for use by September 1.

Students Exhibit Various Personalities; 1037 Seats Provide Full House Weekly

By BELINDA HILL

1037 seats—yes, that means that by compulsion 1037 blank little faces are staring at the stage as chapel time approaches at HJC.

Have you ever wondered what's behind each blank expression? The first thought is probably "Wonder what we'll have today?" When that question is answered, the face emits a dismal sigh and resigns itself to an hour of torture.

Now whether the program is interesting or not makes little difference for the little blank faces didn't come to see or hear the program anyway.

Let's examine a few types that are always present at assembly.

The bookworms and the lazy bugs that partied too much to study the night before will always bring their books. Of course, studying in chapel is rude and is not allowed; however, it is very profitable if the microphone is not working or the guest speaker has a soft voice so as not to disturb the line of concentration. (Why do we always have a speaker?)

It is also an advantage to this group not to sit on the back three rows of the balcony because it is always too dark there to see a book.

Most students feel sorry for the poor "A's". They are persecuted just because their names begin with the first letter of the alphabet. Now who can feel safe studying on the front row? And its next to impossible if you're lucky enough to sit by the duty teacher. You really can't sleep or daydream on the front row either because the commotion on the stage keeps disturbing you.

If you're lucky enough to be a sophomore "A" you don't have to worry quite as much about stage noises, but its still suicide to study or sleep when one can be seen so well.

The most impressive thing to do would be to focus the eyes on the speaker and at least look interested; however, that is hard to do because the little rail (to keep unbalanced sophomore students from falling into the laps of poor unsuspecting freshmen) is right in the line of vision to the speaker's face.

If you've ever tried, you know its impossible to look interested in a speaker without a head. It just can't be done. You could slouch down and look under the rail, but then you'd be so comfortable that you'd probably go to sleep.

The other alternative is to crane the neck and look over the rail; however, it usually isn't worth all that effort since you weren't interested anyway.

Many students really need the few winks of sleep they try so hard to get this period. After all they did have a bull session till 3 a.m. in the morning.

It would only seem polite for their neighbor to snore softly himself, refrain from unnecessary movements, and keep all comment down to a dull roar. (Take note: it is an unforgivable error in etiquette to jab one's sleeping neighbor with the elbow—besides it would be embarrassing if he yelled.)

Let's take a hasty glance at the weed fiend. He's having a nervous fit to get out of that seat and grab a second for one cigarette before he has to run to class.

Guess it's time to close with this type 'cause our reader is probably late for class also.

Liz Rolls "Butterfield 8" Hard Way

By DOT SMITH & LOU ANN FORD

LIZ ROLLS '8' HARD WAY: The first of the post-holiday movies that Hollywood sent our way was "Butterfield 8," now at the Lamar. Someone recommended it on the grounds that Elizabeth Taylor is. . . well. . .mmm-ruff!! Miss Taylor is mmm-ruff, indeed!

And there are several inspiring, not to say uplifting shots of her.

Unfortunately, the anatomy lesson had to be embedded in a story and the story is a mess.

Miss Taylor plays Gloria Wondrous, a girl who definitely has big problems. A fatherless child of 13, she had an ugly affair with her mother's suitor, a father substitute just yearning to be placed in some case study. Since then, she has been sleeping around in an epic attempt at personal therapy.

SHE THINKS she has found True Love at last with Winston Liggett (Laurence Harvey), a Yale man who married into wealth and turned wastrel to hide from a wasted life. Another nut in this Freudian cake is Gloria's childhood friend-protector Steve (Eddie Fisher).

His girl friend thinks he's really in love with Gloria and insists that he chose between them.

To conveniently clear up these problems, Gloria dies in an auto accident. Liggett decides to go out "searching for his pride." He tells his wife he'll probably be back, which is a very neat way to save your soul, your marriage, and a million dollars all at the same time.

There is some good dialogue in the film, probably lifted from O'Hara's novel, but what could be the point of this rambling plot? The little suspense and moral tension generated by Liggett's deep involvement with Gloria and his sense of shame is dissipated by an accidential death.

Eags Hope To Break 'Jinx' In Weekend Tilt

When the Mississippi State Maroon freshmen invade the Hinds campus Saturday night, the local Eagles will be looking for their first win over the Starkville cagers in two years.

In a previous Jackson meet, the frosh tallied a 10-point margin in the final minutes to setback the Hinds club, 82-72. It was Clinton's Doug Hutton who did the trick for the up-state university in scoring 25 points.

Aubrey Nichols, Curtis Hayes, Stan Brinker, and Jim Willcutt will also be pacing the John Hutchinson-coacher team to preserve its mark against the Raymond squad, while Hinds will be trying to break their record and add another win to its column.

Hoping to break the State "Jinx", Coach Troy Ricks will pit David Yewell of Owensboro, Ky., at the center slot; Billy Rhodes, Pelahatchie, and Lewis Vaughn, of Forest, at guard; and at the forward positions will be Learned's Dean Liles and Wayne Hensley, of Steele, Mo.

Probable assistance will come from David Warrington, Forest Hill, and David Jones, Florence, at the pivot, Graham Taylor, Brandon, and Bill Parkman, Clinton, at the forward spot, and Norman Pace, Monroe, La., Sidney Odom, Clinton, David Bridges, Forest Hill, Eddie Frith, Byram, and Paul McMillan anrd Sammy Rhodes, of Pelahatchie, at the guard positions.

Coach Troy Ricks' cagers, winners of the south division and over-all runner-up of the state junior college loop year before last, and were top rated before the final tourney last year, have shown a well-balanced versatile attack in their first five games.

Mississippi State's frosh coach, Jerry Simmons, feels that he has one of the strongest yearling teams ever assembled, next to last year's undefeated five, and is trying to build the first year men into outstanding cagers for varsity use in years to come.

Take Doubleheader

In the past weekend road action, Hinds' roundball five fell before the Perkinston cagers, 89-65, and tallied a five-point win over Pearl River's Wildcats, 89-84.

Other important conference victories for the Birds are over Holmes, 87-55 and 93-81, Delta, 68-63 and 88-85, and single wins have come over Jones, 67-65, and Clarke, 131-115.

Losses that affect the conference record were to Southwest, 85-78, and to Perkinston.

SPORTS PREVIEW

Mississippi Southern College?

By TOMMY NANCE

If it weren't for exchange papers, this writer would soon run out of ideas for columns each week and this edition is certainly no exception. In a recent Student Printz, Mississippi Southern's weekly newspaper, one-half of the editorial page was devoted to the changing of the college's nickname.

It seems that the only official title ever adopted for the Hattiesburg college is "Confederates", but few have ever heard of this name and the school slogan now is known as the "Southerners."

TOMMY

However, as stated in the college's paper, to say that students of Mississippi Southern College are Southerners is comparable to saying that residents of the state of Mississippi are Mississippians. The name is correct, yet is still redundant.

We certainly agree with the author of this editorial in that it does sound repetitious and the name is certainly due a change, but we disagree on his choice—Golden Giants.

Giants Doesn't Apply

To term all the athletic teams Golden Giants is rather absurd, for although it does apply rightly to the basketball squad, it doesn't fit on a football or baseball team. The Printz offered the following questions to its readers to uphold its side of the offer—why should a play-for-pay team like the New York Giants bear their name? And, in baseball, why should the San Francisco Giants have such a title?

After a little research, we have found the answer to these unknown questions. In regard to the San Francisco Giants, formerly New York, the first pro-team on the field was made up of extra tall men, thus the title of Giants originated.

Our Choice

In due respect to the editorial's author, we would like to offer our choices or aids in finding a suitable name for MSC. In thumbing through the pages of Frank B. Menke's Encyclopedia of Sports, we noticed that the Baltimore Orioles acquired their name from the predominant bird in that area, but we don't advise Southern's students to go bird watching and take a poll of the most popular.

Generals Best

Our choice of titles above, "Golden Giants", "Confederates", "Southerners", and Coach Pie Vann's pick of "Black Knights", is "Generals". Due recognition goes to the reknown figure of General Nat, who has gained public acclaim over the past seven years on the Hattiesburg campus and we believe that if a figure such as he has survived for these past years, a name as such will stick in the minds even longer.

Feminine Sports Writer Describes Personal Observance At Cage Game

By DOT SMITH

With the examinations over and all my homework done, I decided to trot down to the boy's gym last night and watch a game called basketball. It was my first, but I'll tell you now, it wasn't my last.

I finally found a seat by one of my suite-mates and facing a half-filled room, I watched the handsome Hinds Eagles trample the Copiah-Lincoln Wolves, 92-70. I still don't know why they call them Wolves, 'cause they look like everybody else.

Well, the action began when two groups of boys came out of two little doors at the far end of the room. They were attired in basic outfits of white, with maroon trimming and lettering. The enemy wore a royal blue uniform with crimson and gray edging. A small red stripe adorned the shorts.

The color scheme of the laceless outfits was further carried out with matching knee socks. White sneakers were worn for added comfort and to cushion the noise, for the room wasn't built like a soundproof stage.

As the program advanced, the object of the game came into focus. The team who threw the round leather ball in the bottom-less fish net the most won the game. The counter was one of my teachers, not that I was surprised, 'cause I knew he could count, but I had always thought of him as something else besides a button-pusher.

Besides the students running around on the floor, there were two old men with stripped shirts. My friend told me they were harmless but I had read about those escaped convicts and I was scared.

At last a bell rang and everybody on my side of the room yelled, but the other side was quiet. I saw all the people leaving the room, so I decided to go back to my little ole bed and get a good night's sleep. That was what I wrote in my diary, but only those who attended the fight can really enjoy reading it.

Powerful Hinds Erupts On Eagle Court With Copiah-Lincoln Win

It looked like Sherman's troops invading Georgia, but it was the Hinds Junior College cagers cutting another notch on their win column Tuesday night in the Eagle gymnasium with a 92-70 victory over the Copiah-Lincoln Wolves.

Coach Troy Ricks' five was in command all the way, gaining a six-point margin in the first few minutes of play. Kentucky center David Yewell, of Owensboro, tallied the initial six points for the home-standing team and later went on to pace the Birds for 19 points—nine field goals and one free shot.

Eags Win

It was the eighth win of the current campaign against only two losses for the Raymond squad and now the Eagles are awaiting the weekend match with the Mississippi State freshmen.

Forward Dean Liles of Learned racked up 15 points, Norman Pace picked up 14, and Billy Rhodes of Pelahatchie added 10. Others breaking into the scoring column were Lewis Vaughn and Sidney Odom, six; Graham Taylor, five; Wayne Hensley, Paul McMullan, and Sammy Rhodes with four; and Bill Parkman, David Jones, and Eddie Frith with two.

Murphy Scores High

Capturing top honors for the losers were center Ed Murphy, with 17, followed by guards Leonard Smith, 13, and Cliff Smith, 12. Adding other scores were forwards Dick Douglas, eight, Charles Fortenberry, six, Robert Parson, four, and Doug Falvey, two.

Guards M. K. Turk ripped the net for eight points, while Donald Walker tallied two.

Holding a relatively comfortable 48-34 lead at halftime, the Eagles saw the Wesson five climb within seven points in the initial minutes of the second half. But only a few shots pushed the local lads to a 20-point advantage.

BENNY SPLAIN
Local Ring Star

Local Sophomore Fights In 'Gloves' Ring Tournament

With the Mississippi Golden Gloves Boxing Tournament set for January 31 and February 1, Hinds Junior College's Benny Splain is holding workouts in the Jackson airbase gymnasium.

Splain, a sophomore who has entered ring competition for three straight years, is one of Jackson's hopefuls in the upcoming tourney as a novice welterweight fighter.

Arles Crouch, former state Golden Gloves champion, and two other Jacksonians will be pacing the Capital City's boys also. Crouch is an open welterweight contender while Charles Splain and Al Roland fight in the novice bantamweight and novice lightweight divisions respectively.

The two-day tournament will be held in Jackson's Municipal Auditorium and reserve tickets are on sale at Central School Supply and advance sale tickets will also be available at the Deposit Guaranty, First National, and Jackson-Hinds Banks.

REAL BEAR, TOO

Professional Grid Star Joins Hinds Athletic Staff For Year

A former All-SEC tackle and a current star on the Chicago Bears professional football squad has been named part-time coach and scout at Hinds Junior College.

Earl Leggett, who is an ex-Hinds and Louisiana State grid star, will aid the Raymond athletic staff in his off season as a scout and assist with spring football drills, according to athletic director Joe Renfroe.

Hailing from Jacksonville, Fla., Leggett made all-state honors at Hinds in 1952 and '53 and received All-American Junior College awards in 1953. He was also a member of the Little Rose Bowl championship team in 1954.

Signing with the Chicago club in 1957, he has completed four seasons with the Bears.

He is married to the former Bobbie Wroten of Harriston and is the father of two children, three year-old Earl, Jr., and two year-old Dana Carol.

83 New Students Register For Second Semester Study

The HINDSONIAN
Highlights of Hinds
VOLUME 27—NUMBER 17 HINDS JUNIOR COLLEGE, RAYMOND, MISSISSIPPI WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1961

Final Enrollment Deadline Set For Monday --- Herrin

The number of new students enrolling at Hinds Junior College for second semester studies has now climbed to 83, according to Miss Mildred Herrin, Hinds registrar.

A list of 56 freshmen and 26 sophomores accounts for 82 of the new students, with one special student enrolled. Thirty-one of the new students have taken residence in the college dormitories.

Mississippi leads a field of five states contributing to new second semester students with a total of 75. Second in number is Lousiana with four, followed by Alabama, Texas, Pennsylvania, and Florida with one each.

The first semester ended January 20 with the completion of final tests. The second semester began January 23.

A freshman orientation day was held on January 5 and another on January 23 for those freshmen planning to enter Hinds second semester.

February 6 is the final day for enrolling in second semester classes.

Reeves Announces State JC Choral Festival At Hinds

The Hinds Music Department will play host to the Mississippi Junior College Choral Festival, March 11, Mr. Leslie Reeves, department head, announced today.

Mr. Loren Davidson, music director, Louisiana State University, will be the guest conductor of the one day confab featuring the junior college choral groups of the state.

Each college will present a 15 minute musical arrangement at a preappointed time during the festival.

Other members of the Hinds Music Department who will participate in the day's activities are Miss Glenda Rush, piano instructor, and Mrs. Marjorie Stricklin, organ teacher.

MAYO ATTENDS MEET — Mr. Robert M. Mayo, public relations vice president of the MPTA met with officials at the Safety Meeting of the Midwinted Conference of the Mississippi PTA Congress in Jackson last week. They discussed safety within the school. Others are left to right, Mrs. J. Earl Rhea of Jackson, secretary of the Mississippi PTA Congress; Mr. Mayo of Raymond, administrative assistant at Hinds Junior College; Mrs. H. D. Worthy of Oxford, president of the Mississippi PTA Congress; and Captain T. V. Warren, Jackson safety chairman.

Anderson, Reid, Ferguson, Halsell Earn High Marks

Three Hinds Junior College sophomores and one freshman have earned 3.0 averages during the past semester to lead the list of 72 students on the current honor roll, reports Miss Mildred Herrin, Hinds registrar.

Rita Anderson, Bolton; Joe L. Ferguson, Utica; and Sara Halsell, Jackson; are the three Hinds sophomores capturing the highest academic honor. Brooks Reid, Vicksburg freshman, is the lone representative of the freshman class in the perfect record class.

To acquire an honor roll position a student must compile a semester average of 2.2 to 2.5. Those students receiving "special honors" must have earned a semester quality point average of 2.6 to 3.0.

Students winning special honors are as follows: Irene Adkins, Raymond, 2.6; Rita Anderson, Bolton, 3.0; Sallie Baker, Jackson, 2.9; Charlotte Berry, Mendenhall, 2.6; Patricia Brown, Utica, 2.9; Joe L. Ferguson, Utica, 3.0; Dot Gatlin, Forest, 2.8; Peggy Gregory, Jackson, 2.7; Ernestine Hall, Vicksburg, 2.7; Sara Halsell, Jackson, 3.0; Nancy Hamil, Carthage, 2.6;

College To Sponsor District Mathmetics, Science Workshop On February 11

Hinds Junior College is sponsoring a district workshop for science and mathematics teachers in junior and senior high schools on February 11.

Teachers from counties invited to this conference are Hinds, Warren, Rankin, Yazoo, Copiah, Claiborne, Issaquena, and Madison.

Mr. R. C. Roberts, State Supervisor of Secondary Science Education; Mr. Lamar Fortenberry, affiliated with the state Department of Education; and Dr. R. D. Boswell from the mathematics division of the State Department are making plans for the workshop.

Participating in the state conference from the Hinds math and physics departments will be Mr. F. J. Stephenson, instructor of physics and math and Mrs. Emma Beemon, Mr. William T. Douglas, Mr. B. D. Sprayberry, and Miss Lurline Stewart of the math department.

The Hinds science department will be represented by Mr. Claude Adkins and Mrs. Genevieve Adams, chemistry instructors, and Mr. T. T. Beemon and Mr. Rosser Wall, local zoology and biology instructors, respectively.

Miss Lurline Stewart will serve as chairman of the math division of the conference and Mr. Rosser Wall will be chairman of the science division.

Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Beemon will be the hosts at the coffee hour. Mr. B. D. Sprayberry will be in charge of the registration during the day.

Registration, from 9:00 til 9:30, will be held in the science building. After the general meeting at 9:30, the participants will be divided into groups according to the subject they teach.

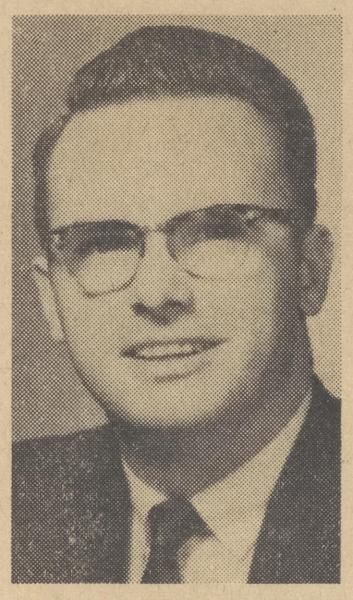
Public Relations Director Rhodes Accepts Position In Rankin County

Hinds Junior College public relations director Irl Dean Rhodes has been named executive manager of the Rankin County Chamber of Commerce, according to an announcement by J. C. Murray, Chamber president.

He will assume his duties on February 16, 1961.



MR. IRL DEAN RHODES
Takes New Post

Mr. Rhodes will succeed Tom Shows, who has accepted a position as assistant manager of the Pearl River Valley Power Association in Columbia.

A native of Rankin County, the new 24-year-old Chamber Manager is a member of the State Legislature from Rankin County.

Mr. Murray stated that he felt that the Chamber was very fortunate to secure the services of Mr. Rhodes and that he would render valuable services to the county as Chamber Manager. He further stated that the Chamber would permit Mr. Rhodes to serve out his present term as a member of the legislature from Rankin County.

When contacted regarding his appointment as Chamber Manager, Mr. Rhodes stated that he was happy to accept the appointment and have a part in the development of his native county.

He further stated that after his present term as a member of the legislature expires, he would devote his entire time to the work of the Chamber, and would not be a candidate for re-election in 1963.

Hinds Junior Beauty To Represent Campus In Roto Cover Girl Contest

Eva Sipes of Forest Hill will represent Hinds Junior College in the 1961 Dixie Roto Campus cover girl contest, sponsored by the Times Picayune of New Orleans.

Eva is Hinds' top beauty by virtue of her receiving the most votes in the annual who's who beauty race. Eva, is the fourth Hinds annual entrant in the contest which includes schools in Mississippi and Louisiana.

Beauties will appear in the issue of the Dixie Roto magazine featuring a picture of each entrant. The girl receiving the greatest number of votes will be Dixie Roto's campus girl of 1961. Her picture will be taken and printed in color on Dixie Roto's cover as soon as possible after balloting.

Eva, a favorite on the Hinds campus, was also a member of the Homecoming Court and was chosen Circle K Sweetheart this year. While in high school, Eva served as treasurer of the Beta Club and secretary of the senior class. Eva was also business manager of the annual and a member of the Hall of Fame.

Eva succeed's three other entrants that Hinds has sponsored in the past. Hinds entered Patty Carter in 1956-57, Peggy Sanford 1957-58 and Sue Bell 1959-60.

Prevent Traffic Accidents

Plans for the Mississippi Highway Patrol are based around cutting traffic accidents to a minimum. The rate of deaths caused by traffic accidents in Mississippi in 1960 was higher than any previous records.

Some 618 persons died on Mississippi highways and streets during the past year. The majority of these deaths could have been prevented possibly. With additional care, with an extra ounce of attention, with a little caution perhaps, these tragedies could have been halved.

Being torn to bits in an auto accident is definitely not the best or easiest way to leave this world. The idea is just plain gruesome.

Public Safety Commissioner T. B. Birdsong stated recently that the patrol will spend more time working to improve traffic conditions in 1961 in an effort to reduce accidents and fatalities on the highways.

The patrol is doing its part. Now the rest is left up to the individual driver and pedestrian. It's left up to the parents who allow their children to roam the streets.

It is left up to us . . . our lives and the lives of others are in our hands.

Cuban Tribunal Indicts 6 Americans

By CORKIE LYLE

Monday was the big day in the lives of six Americans being held by Premier Fidel Castro in Havana. The six learned their indictment of crimes against the regime of the bearded tyrant.

CORKIE

Saturday the men were tried before an army tribunal composed of four of Castro's hand-picked army officers. The trial lasted but three hours. Court-appointed defense attorney requested acquittal or deportation for most of the six.

Fidel seems to be seeking harmony with the United States. Since his little escapade with the Commies, he has gradually fallen short of his mission to overtake the entire world.

BIG MAN ON THE SEA— Rebel leader Henrique Galvao still held the world in awe yesterday as he still could not make up his mind to put into port or not. Mr. Galvao is the skipper (presently, that is) of the liner Santa Maria, formerly belonging to Portugal, but presently in doubt as to its owner.

President-elect Janio Quadros of Brazil has described Galvao as an old friend and will allow him to put into any Brazilian port without harm. The port under consideration in Recife, a major coastal city north of Rio de Janeiro.

With the 600 plus passengers aboard Mr. Galvao can not afford to do any harm. He is constantly under the surveillence of approximately six navies. With so many lives in his hands at this point, he might as well "give up the ship."

AMERICANS FLEE: The United Nations command announced Monday that some 164 Americans have fled from the terror-ridden regions of the Congo.

The large group fled the eastern section of the strife-torn nation where reports indicated as accelerated military operations against pro-Lumumba forces.

With Kasavubu and Mobutu in power and Lumumba in prison, seems like things would be sort of cooled off in the African nation by now. Due to Communist infiltration, though, the Congo will remain the eyesore of the world for a long time to come.

Writer Warns To Slow Down, Observe, Enjoy

By JEAN RODGERS

Slow me down, Lord! Yes, that's exactly what the majority of us need . . . a good slowing down.

JEAN

We need a time to stop and take stock of ourselves, our possessions, our friends, and our world.

A short poem from Guidesposts magaine, 'Slow Me Down, Lord, describes the slowing down we need:

SLOW ME DOWN, LORD!

Amidst the confusion of my day, give me the calmness of the everlasting hills. Teach me the art of taking minute vacations . . . of slowing down to look at a flower, to chat with a friend, to pat a dog, to read from a good book. Remind me to look upward at the towering oak, and know that it grew tall and strong because it grew slowly and well. Slow me down, Lord.

Slow down and enjoy life . . . . what a grand philosophy! Don't get so completely involved in work, study, or play, that you can't enjoy the beauty of nature.

The weather this week has been beautiful . . . clear, crisp days . . . much nicer than last week's rain, sleet, and generally messy weather.

Slow down and enjoy people. . chat with a friend . . . make a new friend . . . take life as it comes . . . live for today.

Read a good book . . . dig a classic from the library shelf. . . slow down and read.

Observe the tall, graceful shape of the trees . . . the struggle of grass to survive . . . the calmness of the wind . . . the couples wandering hand in hand . . slow down and enjoy the blissful peace of dawn and sunset.

Slow down and live.

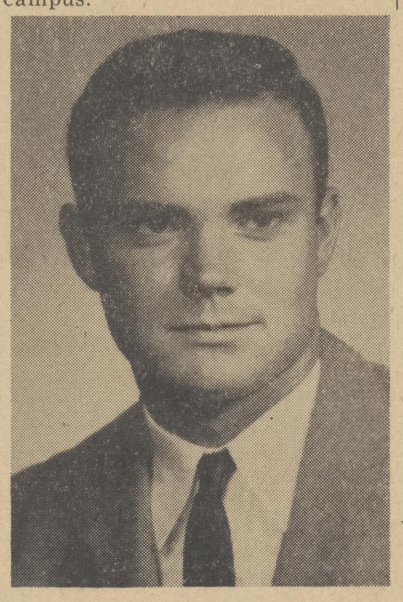
IRC President, Future Flying Ace, Receives Paper's Weekly Award

By BELINDA HILL

"I shall endeavor to enliven morality with wit, and to temper wit with morality." Although this quotation is taken from the Spectator, No. 10 by Steele and Addison, it seems to be the philosophy of an outstanding sophomore on the campus.



TOMMY JACKSON
Engineering Major

This week the Hindsonian salutes Tommy Jackson, rare combination of wit, intelligence, determination, energy, and a born leader.

Tommy is extremely versatile in both his interests and his activities. In high school he was a member of the student council at Provine, the band, Hi-Y, Spanish Club, Red Cross, homeroom president, and president of the Tennis Club.

After attending Mississippi State for a year, Tommy came to Hinds and immediately took his place among the best liked students. Tommy is a member of the President's Council, Eagle Band, the Circle K, President of the International Relations Club, and served as a homecoming escort.

During the summer of 1959 the campus hero of the week worked in Maine at Takajo, the second largest camp in the nation for boys.

Last year Tommy was a member of the Famed Blue Knights Drill Team of Mississippi State and traveled with them to perform in numerous Southern cities.

As an aeronautical engineering major, Tommy is now connected with the flying program at Hinds and is helping build a new airplane engine in an old frame. The whole plane is covered with a new fabric and Tommy describes it as "beautiful."

After graduation from Hinds Tommy plans to attend Auburn and finish his degree in engineering and get a masters degree. He also plans to join the Marine Aviation Cadet Program and eventually get a commission.

With this combination of education and experience, Tommy plans to pilot either executive aircraft or work for an air lines.

The Hindsonian staff wishes the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Jackson great success as he continues preparing himself for a great life.

Local Campus Newspaper Celebrates Annual Birthday With Great Progress

Staff Writer Reviews Past With Pleasure

By EVA SIPES

Poems, campus news, and romantic interests composed the articles of the first edition of the Hindsonian. Begun in 1933, the college newspaper was mainly contributed to by journalism students.

The first editor was Skipper Patrick, who is now serving as bureau chief of the Associated Press in Kansas City, Mo. He is a brother to Mr. J. B. Patrick, Hinds history instructor.

Celebrating its 27th birthday this year, the Hindsonian has developed into one of the top collegiate newspapers in the state. Today the Hindsonian has expanded to coverage of national and state news, sports previews, features on school and campus, editorials, and the latest campus happenings.

Group Does Make-Up

It is as near professional in make-up and layout as a group of amateurs can make it.

The Hindsonian, the state's only weekly junior college newspaper, is a pioneer in Mississippi collegiate color journalism. The campus weekly printed a full four-color picture in the spring of 1957 for a first in Mississippi and one of the first in the country. It has printed several since that time.

The newspaper grew to a four-column paper, then in 1958 it became a five-column regular tabloid size. This is the same size as many of the metropolitan daily papers of today.

Flipping through the yellowed pages of past Hindsonians you find many items of interest to Hinds students. The year 1935, with Hinds Junior College in its 18th year, saw approximately 500 students enrolled, 300 in the college and 200 in the high school division. Mr. G. J. Cain was president at that time.

'35 Marks Progress

Also in 1935, Hinds students were filled with pride when they received on the campus the "latest Ford model bus," elaborately streamlined and furnishing all the comforts of present day traveling.

The next year, 1936, initiated Grady Sheffield as editor-in-chief of the Hindsonian. Mr. Sheffield is currently serving as manager of the campus Frozen Food Locker Plant.

Another editor of the Hindsonian was Joyce Herring, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Herring, dean of instruction. Miss Herring kept the Hindsonian mechanism running smoothly.

Homecoming Day 1939 proudly presented itself on November 23. In March, 1936, Hinds Junior College was granted a Phi Theta Kappa charter.

Mr. McLendon Takes Over

Issue No. 1 of 1938 carried a front page splash of Hinds' new president—Mr. G. M. McLendon.

In the meantime, Hinds was growing, growing. And so was the Hindsonian.

Mr. Pat Smith, widely-known Mississippi novelist and Hinds English instructor, took a firm editorial stand as editor in 1943-44.

Staff adviser Irl Dean Rhodes was editor during the years of 1956 and 1957. He was followed by Wayne Trotter, who is a journalism major at Mississippi Southern.

Ethridge, Ex-Editor

David Etheridge, a junior at Ole Miss, was the editor last year. This year's editor Jean Rodgers has devoted many hours to this year's paper, probably more time to Hinds Junior College than any student on the campus.

The Hindsonian has always tried to keep up good journalism standards. The campus public has given the publication solid support.

The Hindsonian has won the best all-around junior college newspaper in the state more than all other newspapers combined. It has won more first place Associated Collegiate Press ratings than any other junior college publication in the state.

Our goal: The best college paper in the state.

Traxler Purchases College Hospital; To Move One-Half To School Airport

The old campus hospital was purchased by Mr. Vick Traxler, barbering instructor in the vocational department. Mr. Traxler paid $300 for one half of the building.

This section of the infirmary is being moved this week.

The other half of the building will be moved this week to a location at the airport. Mr. B. A. Hill, another vocational instructor, will move to the airport when the necessary renovations have been made to the structure.

Hinds' campus infirmary is currently located in the white building north of Northside Dormitory.

Science Students Urged To Review McGraw-Hill Book

The new 15 volume McGraw-Hill Encyclopedia of Science and Technology was recently added to the Hinds library, according to Mrs. Virginia Riggs, head librarian.

The edition has 2015 contributors and is located on the reference shelf in the library.

The reference work deals with the basic concepts, the terminology, and the latest discoveries in the expanding fields of life science, physical science, earth science, and engineering.

"All science students particularly are urged to become acquainted with this extroardinary selection," stated Mrs. Riggs.

Methodist Group Plans Discussion For Weekly Meet

The Hinds Junior College Wesley Foundation, meeting in the new girls' gymnasium at 6:15 Monday evenings, will be presenting a most unusual program Monday.

With five organization members and one faculty advisor taking part, the program will consist of a panel discussion entitled "Christianity Versus Atheism".

Taking the view point of Atheist are I. M. Beasley, Raymond, Rita Anderson, Clinton, and Ellis McKay, Canton. On the side of Christianity are Byrle Kynerd, Raymond, and Mr. Leslie Reeves, music instructor.

A Valentine party has been planned for Feb. 13 and all Methodist are invited to attend. Anyone who is planning to attend should get in contact with I. M. Beasley, president or Rev. W. T. Mangum, Wesley head and pastor of the Raymond Methodist Church.

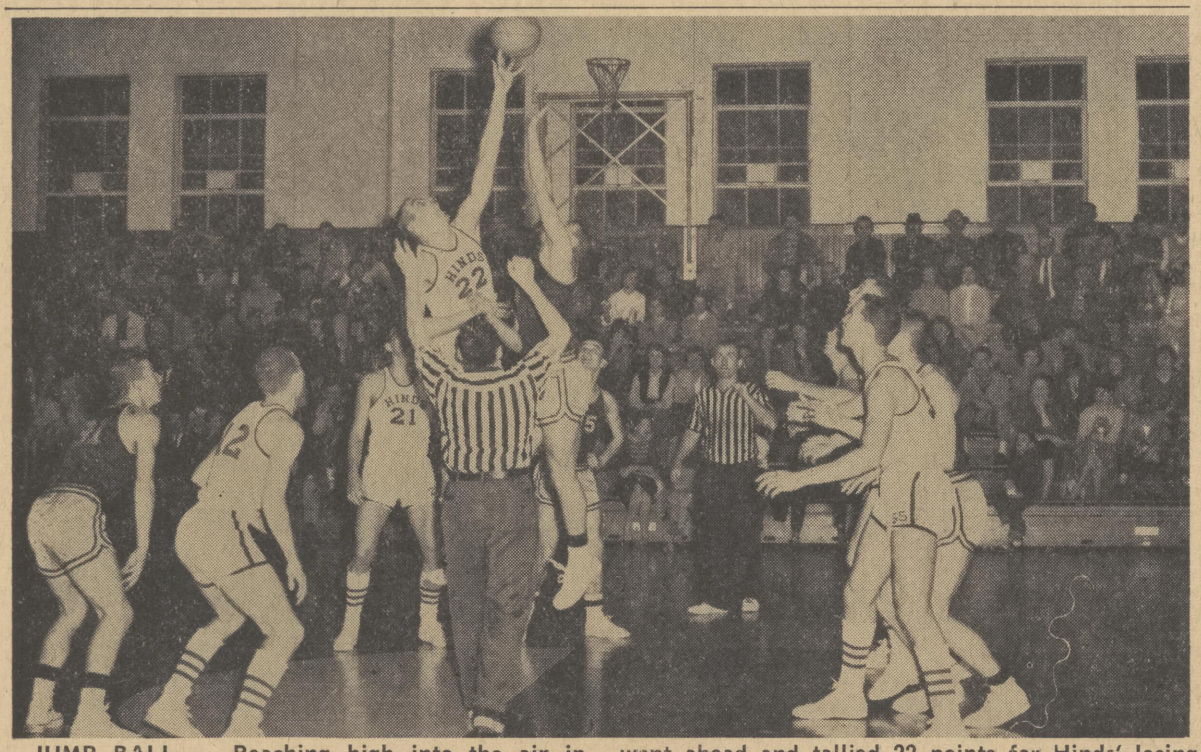
Clarke Poses As Block For Eagle's 10th Win



JUMP BALL — Reaching high into the air in Saturday night's match with the Mississippi State frosh, forward Dean Liles gets the tip against an unidentified Starkville cager. Newton Baptists Seek Upset Victory On Hinds' Home Court

When the Clarke Junior College basketeers invade the Hinds gymnasium Friday night, each one on the cage floor will well remember that January 7 match when two state junior college records were broken.

During the initial appearance between these two teams, Hinds set a new scoring mark with 131 points, while forward Dean Liles of Learned paced the Eagles with 51 tallies and another Mississippi record breaker.

No one on that Newton arena's floor will forget that game and the Baptist will be seeking revenge from Coach Ricks' five this weekend.

Holding an 8-2 conference mark through this past weekend's action, the Birds begin their string of five home games and last stretch of tilts before the ever important divisional tournaments. Last night's meet with Copiah-Lincoln at Wesson terminated the road schedule for the Raymond crew.

Ricks, known as the dean of Mississippi Junior College basketball coaches, will be depending on center David Yewell, forwards Liles and Wayne Hensley, and guards Lewis Vaughn and Billy Rhodes at the starting positions.

Liles, who has been one of the top guns in the previous Eagle victories, led the way for Hinds' losing effort this weekend against the frosh of Mississippi State. Scoring 22 points out of the team's 72, he was consistent throughout the entire game, but the Starkville intruders were too strong and poured on 28 points in the last half to take their fourth straight win over Hinds in the past two years, 81-72.

The home-standing Eagles were never ahead of their opponents, and managed a 68-67 marginal deficit early in the third quarter. This was the only threat to the Maroons in the game.

Only two other Birdsmen scored in the double figures. Foward Hensley and guard Vaughn notched up 17 and 12 points respectively. Other tallies came from Yewell with six, Rhodes, five, David Jones, four, and Norman Pace and Paul McMillan with three apiece.

Mississippi State was led by Stan Brinker, with 30 points, while able assistance came from Doug Hutton and Aubrey Nichols, with 18 and 17. Jim Willcutt and Chuck Minor were the only other scorers for the Baby Maroons with seven and four.

After Saturday's tilt with Clarke, four southern opponents invade the Eagle's home. Southwest comes in on February 7, followed by the Pearl River and Perkinston matches the following weekend. February 14 ends the regular season for Hinds and Jones' Bobcats will be providing the opposition.

Local Chess Popularity Grows

By TOMMY NANCE

Is it a national trend from brawn to brains or is it a new fad in America today? I'm speaking of the most intellectual and the most cosmopolitan of all games of skill — chess.

The game, which is about the fastest growing contest in all 50 states, has reached every nook and cranny on the Hinds Junior College campus. Both boys and girls alike are enjoying this thought-provoking pastime.

The origin of chess is lost in remote antiquity. During medieval times, all knights were forced to play the game, for it taught them strategy and comprehensive understanding of fighting techniques.

TOMMY

Today national and international contests have been held regularly since Benjamin Franklin brought it into prominence in America.

The name is a corruption of the Persian shah, meaning king, and the word "checkmate" is derived from the Persian Shah mat, "The king is dead."

With the recent interest explosion for chess, America is fast becoming Russia's chief opponent, for the best young chess players in the world are Americans. Proof of this is that the American college team beat the Russian college students in a stunning upset in Leningrad recently.

Hoping to increase enthusiasm on the campus, we have written the above and will try, in simple detail, to set you up for your first game.

First of all, you need a chess or checkerboard, which is divided into 64 squares colored, as a rule, alternately black and white. Each of the two players has a set of 16 men apiece-king, queen, two bishops, two knights, two rooks, or castles, and eight pawns.

Each piece moves accordingly to specific rules, with the object of each player being to take the men of his opponent in order to checkmate the latter's king. Checkmate is accomplished when the king cannot move without being open to attack from an opposing man.

MRA ACTION

Competition Stiffens In Men's Rec Group As Tigs Take Lead

With a week and a half elapsed in the new semester, the Men's Recreational Association is well on its way in basketball competition.

In recent activity, the Tigers toppled the Eagles, 108-66, to maintain their hold on first place. Charles Trest led the winners with 29 points, while Donny Ross tallied 35 in the Eags' losing effort.

Johnny Carter's 14 points paced the second-place Hawks to a 55-43 victory over the Owls. Pat Connerly was the leading scorer in two Owl tilts. He racked up 16 in a winning effort against the Wolves, 56-43, and sank 18 in the losing effort against the Hawks.

Through weekend action, the Tigers hold a perfect 9-0 mark, followed by the Hawks' 5-1, the Owls' 5-4, and the Wolves' 4-5. Finishing out the standings are the Weavers, with a 2-5 record, and the winless Eagles, who have lost nine games.

Wesson Bows To Ricks Clan For 2nd Loss

With four Eagles scoring in the double figures, the Hinds cagers racked up win number nine in conference standings last night with a victory over the Copiah-Lincoln Wolves, 81-72.

It was the second win for the Birds over Wesson this season and set the Ricks clan high on the ladder in junior college competition.

Forward Dean Liles and guard Billy Rhodes were high men in the scoring brackets for Hinds with 18 points apiece, followed by center David Yewell's 14 and guard Lewis Vaughn's 12.

Center Ed Murphy sank 21 points in the Wolves' losing effort, while forward Robert Parson tallied 20. The only other double figure man for the south Mississippi five was forward Dick Douglas, with 12.

With a see-saw battle most of the game, the Raymond lads held a slim 37-35 lead at halftime.

Student Picks Up Victory In Opening Golden Glove Bout

Hinds Junior College boxer Bennie Splain won a close decision in the opening night's round of the Mississippi Golden Gloves in Jackson last night.

Splain is scheduled to fight in the finals of the novice welter weight division tonight.

The Hinds fighter backpeddled and counter-punched for two rounds last night, then body-slammed his way to a close decision over Houston's Tommy Harrington.

Splain's slamming lefts in the final stanza proved to be the turning point. A sophomore at Hinds, he is from Jackson.

A former Hinds student, Buddy Miles of Jackson won a close decision in the novice light weight division.

Cinder Coach Ivan Rosamond Prepares For 1961 Field, Running Track Events

Hinds Junior College head track coach Ivan Rosamond is preparing for the upcoming cinder season for the Raymond thinclads this spring.

Rosamond, who replaced Frank Young as track mentor and assistant football coach last year, will be aiming at the state title after a third place mark of last year in junior college competition.

With the active season still about a month away, Rosamond is getting his track schedule set up to be ready for the initial meet.

Seven Returnees

Several boys already have begun individual practice, but an accurate list of all planning to try out is unavailable. Returning this year are seven boys, who did outstandings jobs on the track team last year.

Howard Freeman, Jackson, is expected to aid Hinds in the discus event, while Wilburn Williamson excells in the broad jump, 440-yard run, and mile run.

Pearl Speedy Back

John Dewitt, Pearl speedster, is back on the Hinds campus and will give aid to Rosamond's 808 yard run event. Taking part in the Eagle mile relay and high jump are Donnie Ross and Wally Lee, from Augusta, Ga. and Madison respectively.

Raymond's Byrde Kynerd will be leading the Birds over the bar in pole vault activity, while Mike Vinson of Puckett races in the mile run division.

Most all track events will be represented by Hinds boys if the material is good enough. State junior college events include the 100, 220, and 440 yard dashes, 220 and 120 yard low hurdles, mile run and relay, high and broad jumps, discus, pole vault, and shot put.

Weather Cancells Action For Girls' Bounceball Squad

Bad weather and icy roads cancelled action for the Hinds Junior College Eaglettes last week, but the local girls resume activity tonight in the YWCA tournament.

Tutored by Mrs. Peggy Swett, the local six holds a respectable 4-0 record, second only to Pine Sol's 5-0 mark. The Bombers, with a not-too-impressive 1-2 chart, follow in rank.

Russell Company and Belhaven College wind out the Women's Open league competition, with 1-5 and 0-4 records respectively.

Joan Phillips, Pearl; Linda Oakes Louise; and Eva Huff, Byram pace the Hinds group at the forward position. Guards are Barbara Carter, Jackson, Diane Collins, Florence, and Gail Rushing, Forest Hill.

Red Shivers and Burt Wynn, both of Pearl, aid the girls' team at the forward slots, while Nell Westmoreland and Elaine Mims of Raleigh, and Mary Jean Fugate, Jackson, are guard substitutes.

The state tourney will terminate this season's action in Jackson's Air Base gymnasium, Feb. 17 and 18.

8-County Math, Science Workshop Set Saturday

Eight central Mississippi counties will be represented on the Hinds campus at a science and mathematics district workshop.

Junior and senior high science and mathematics teachers will convene on the campus from Hinds, Warren, Rankin, Yazoo, Copiah, Claiborne, Issaquena, and Madison counties.

Coffee Hour At 9

Registration and a coffee hour will be held in the science building from 9:00-9:30. A general meeting will be held at 9:30. At this time the welcome will be given by President G. M. McLendon.

The session will divide into group meetings at 10:00. The three divisions are the mathematics group, physical science group and the biological group. A second group meeting will be held after lunch at 1:00 p.m.

At 2:30 the closing general meeting will be held with the adjournment set for 3:00 p.m.

Making plans for the workshop are Mr. R. C. Roberts, State Supervisor of Secondary Education; Mrs. Lamar Fortenberry, affiliated with the State Department of Education; and Dr. R. D. Boswell from the mathematics division of the State Department.

Representing the Hinds science department in the workshop are Mr. Claude Adkins and Mrs. Genevieve Adams, chemistry instructors, and Mr. T. T. Beemon and Mr. Rosseh Wall, local zoology and biology instructors, respectively.

Hinds Math Staff

From the Hinds math and physics department participating in the conference are Mr. F. J. Stephenson, physics and math instructor, and Mrs. Emma Beemon, Mr. William T. Douglas, Mr. B. D. Spraberry, and Miss Lurline Stewart, all in the math department.

Serving as chairman of the math division for the conference is Miss Lurline Stewart. Heading the science division will be Mr. Rosser Wall.

Host at the coffee hour will be Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Beemon. In charge of registration during the day is Mr. B. D. Spraberry.

Graduating Sophomores Must Make Application This Month

All sophomores who expect to take a diploma at the end of the second semester session, must make their application by Tuesday, February 28. The second semester ends May 26.

Orders for the diplomas will be made March 1, according to Miss Mildred Herrin, registrar.

To apply for a diploma, each student must check in the registrar's office to see if he has met all graduation requirements and pay a $10 graduation fee at the business office.

Commencement exercises will be held Sunday, at 11 a.m. May 21, and 10:30 a.m. Friday, May 26.

Participation in commencement exercises is required for those students who receive a diploma.

All sophomores who will graduate and who have maintained a "B" average throughout the entire second semester, will be eligible for exemption from final examinations.

Officials Employ Library Assistant For College Staff

Mrs. Alfrieda Moore, of Crosby, has filled a vacancy in the college's library staff, according to an announcement by President G. M. McLendon.

A graduate of Mississippi Southern College, Mrs. Moore received her B. S. degree in library science in 1957.

Mrs. Moore was the head librarian at Jefferson Military College in Washington, Miss., during the school year of 1958-59.

Mrs. Moore replaces Mrs. Regina Goodwin, who is doing graduate work Louisiana State University.

English Professor Smith Assumes Public Relations Post Next Week

Mr. Pat Smith, local English professor, will assume duties as director of public relations on February 16. He will succeed Mr. Irl Dean Rhodes, who will become head of the Rankin County Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Smith, holder of two degrees from Ole Miss, a B. A. and a Master's in English, is not new to the public relations field. He was at one time the director of the Vickers, Inc. in Jackson.

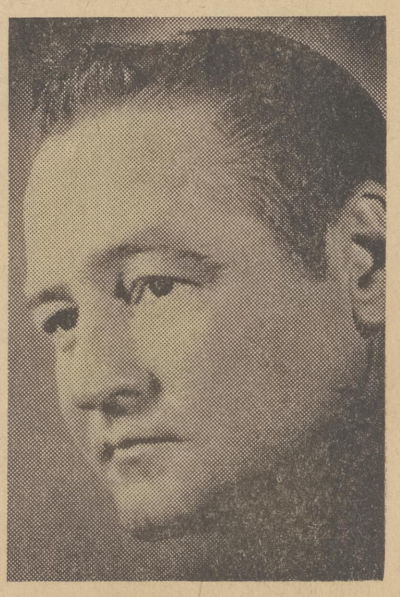
Mr. Smith attended Hinds Junior College and continued his studies at the University of Mississippi. He was editor of The Hindsonian both his freshman and sophomore years at Hinds. His journalistic knowledge furthered him into writing a national best seller, The River Is Home.

In 1957 ,Mr. Smith was chosen as the outstanding young man in Mississippi and received the Distinguished Service Award. This particular citation was awarded him for his service in his community by aiding youth in spiritual and physical growth.

Mr. Smith returned to the Hinds Junior College campus in 1959 after an absence of 14 years. He is sponsor of the Debate Club on the campus and accompanies various groups on trips to literary and public relations conventions.

Mr. Smith will become the sponsor of the college newspaper, The Hindsonian, when he assumes his duties on February 16.

Mr. Smith is married to the former Iris Doty. The couple have two children and reside on the campus. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Smith. The elder Smith heads the Southern Mississippi Highway District as Commissioner.



MR. PAT SMITH

Gamma Lambda Chapter Taps 22

Twenty-two Hinds students have been invited to join the Gamma Lambda chapter of the Phi Theta Kappa, junior college honorary scholastic society.

A total of 10 sophomores and 12 freshmen will be initiated into the organization at a later date. The sophomores are invited on the scholarship basis of having maintained a 2 point average during their freshman year and the first semester of their sophomore year. Freshman must be on the special honor roll which consists of having a 2.6 average or better for the first semester.

All members selected for the honor must be approved by a faculty committee based on scholarship, leadership, and character.

Sophomores selected for the club are Jeanette Barron, Raymond; Charlotte Berry, Mendenhall; Ione Johns, Pelahatchie; Mayly Jue, Vicksburg; Dean Liles, Learned; Sarah Luckett, Sharon; Jewel McNair, Clinton; Bill Matthews, Raymond; Joan Phillips, Pearl; and John Wilda, Shorewood, Wisconsin.

Pledges from the freshman class are Irene Adkins, Raymond; Patricia Brown, Utica; Peggy Gregory, Jackson; Ernestine Hall, Vicksburg; William Manning, Jackson; Jean Rankin, Clinton; Margaret Reader, Jackson; Brooks Reid, Vicksburg; Jack Roberts, Jackson; Betty Wadsworth, Vicksburg; Lynda Walker, Braxton; and DeLene Willis, Brandon.

Membership is open to students who attain certain scholastic averages and who qualify in character and leadership qualities. Its purpose is to promote scholarship, leadership, and fellowship among junior college students over the country.

Meetings are held 2-A period Monday in the class room of the girls' gym.

Let's Respect Our Elders

"I didn't mind too much when I couldn't find a parking spot near the Administration Building, but when I saw a student's car parked in President McLendon's reserved spot — that was too much!"

So spoke a disgruntled, angered student this week. And rightly so. This picture of student disrespect is outrageously obnoxious.

This isn't meant to be a "preachy" editorial. It isn't. We're deadly serious about this subject. And it's not just the disrespect shown toward faculty and administration members' parking privileges that gets us angry. It goes a lot deeper than that.

What it all boils down to is this: just what do students think of their professors? Is there anything that sets them apart as persons worthy of student consideration? Or are they just a few more people to fight out for parking space, money, etc.??

We happen to believe in the great majority of our faculty members. They serve and teach — at a pay much too low for their positions. They deserve our respect . . . as educators, as elders and as human beings.

Disease Spreads At Hinds

The Hinds campus is becoming infiltrated with a very contagious 'disease'—criticism of others—or, better known as gossip.

Students and teachers are becoming more and more apt to criticize each other without any thought or explanation. The criticism begins to grow and to nourish until it reaches the stage of malicious gossip.

In this world where we all have to live with one another, there is not much room for the vicious gossip that infiltrates the majority of lives.

An English teacher recently noted during a class discussion that a conversation couldn't last any length of time without some mention of a human being. Just try to carry on an intelligent conversation without mentioning any person's name —dead, or alive—and see how dull the talk becomes.

Live and let live . . . an admirable philosophy. None of us are perfect; we all make mistakes. Mistakes would be a lot easier to correct if everyone followed the Golden Rule concerning the private affairs of others.

Old Capitol Boosts Pride

The restoration of the Old Capitol in Jackson is a mark of progress in Mississippi. It will be opened as a historical museum to attract tourist to Mississippi.

The remodeling depicts the former grandeur which once was the keynote of the formidable structure. It will be a top attraction in Mississippi this year during the Civil War Centennial.

The edifice will also be a unifying force of pride among Mississippians . . . pride in history and state government.

Although it will be open in March, the capitol is already receiving much attention by Mississippians and tourists alike.

The historic building is being restored at a cost of $1,617,948. Surely this is not too much to help boost the pride of Mississippi and its historical status.

Plenty Booze In Dry Mississippi

By CORKIE LYLE

The state of Mississippi took in almost $3,000,000 from taxes gathered from illegal liquor from January through the month of November, it was reported this week.

CORKIE

A total of 326,591 cases of whiskey and 115,249 cases of wine were imported into Mississippi from neighboring states. At least 90 per cent of the wholesale liquor came from the state of Louisiana.

Warren County recorded the most cases of whiskey and wine received. Others rounding out the seven were Harrison, Rankin, Leflore, Hancock, Adams, and Bolivar.

Mississippi is the only dry state in the union. Oklahoma made liquor legal two years ago. With so much money pouring into the state treasury, looks as if the Mississippi legislature during its next session would follow in the paths of the other 49.

The money acquired could be put to very good use in education, school teacher salaries, old age benefits, and other public operations. This matter should be one of the top items of the calendar in the next session. Why not give the money to the state, instead of the local bootleggers?

* * *

WHOSE HOME IS IT?: The local government in Shippey, England, ordered Robert Morris to remove 500 green tiles from the roof of his home because they did not blend with 13,500 red ones on his home.

Just shows that the United States isn't the only nation in the world today where a man can't live and do as he pleases.

* * *

IT NEVER FAILS: Appearing in the "Covering the Cross-Roads" column of Jimmy Ward, editor of the Jackson Daily News, was this interesting note.

"TV announcer with mounting voice: 'We have just received a news flash of a catastrophe, the like of which has never been known to man, but first a word from our sponsor.'"

How true!

PRESIDENT KENNEDY plans to recommend this week to the new Congress legislation to boost the present $1 per hour minimum to $1.25 in two stages and to extend coverage to about four million additional workers. The law now applies to about 24 million. The proposal is a campaign promise. Mississippi's Congressional delegation is expected to vote against the plan.

REPORTS continue this week that a Negro had received preliminary acceptance into the University of Mississippi. Although classes continued on a normal schedule Wednesday, officers patrolled the campus as rumors mounted.

OFF THE CUFF

Valentine's Day: Time To Express Love For Others

By JEAN RODGERS

Come next Tuesday, February 14, people all over the world will have an opportunity to express their love for others through gifts, cards, and simple greetings.

Presents and messages are sent expressing love to friends, family, and sweethearts. The quaint and sentimental tradition has lasted long in the hearts of young and old alike.

The true origin of St. Valentine's Day is unknown, but many legends have been handed down through the ages as to how the special love day originated.

JEAN

One legend comes to us from ancient Rome. In the olden days a lottery was held for the young people. It always fell in the month of February. The young people, hoping to find their true love, gave presents to each other, thus originating the custom of giving valentines.

As Christianity came to the world, February 14 was named in honor of several saints named Valentine, and through the ages the Roman lottery became an annual event on that specific date.

Nature plays the key role in another theory as to the origin of the day. It centers upon the European belief of the Middle Ages that birds began to mate on February 14.

The present-day method of celebrating Valentine's Day is by sending valentines to your loved ones, or giving candy or some other special token of affection.

Really origins don't make much difference. It is a great day . . . a happy one.

On this February 14, make an extra special effort to show love to everyone in some little way. Be sure you try to make someone else a little happier . . . it will make you happier in the long run.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Campus Music Wizard Stacks Up Long Honor List In Brief Period

By EVA SIPES

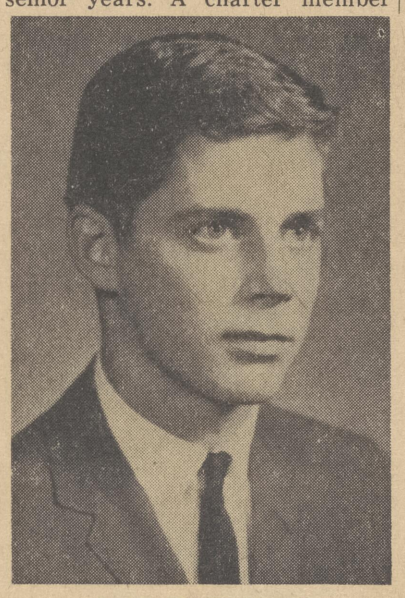
Broadway's finest can hardly boast a finer or more versatile talent than that exhibited by Bill Matthews of Raymond.

Displaying interest in an amazing variety of fields, Bill has piled up honor after honor.

In high school Bill was student body president his junior and senior years. A charter member of the Beta Club, Bill also participated in musical and dramatic activities. He was a member of the chorus and a four-year veteran of class plays.

Wins Honors

In the annual Who's Who poll his senior year, Bill was designated friendliest boy, most likely to succeed, most intellectual, and most versatile.



BILL MATTHEWS
Music Maker

The rhythmic beat of music can best tell the story of Bill's life for he has acquainted himself with practically every phase of it possible. Bill is currently majoring in music at Hinds and has proven himself many times to be the mainstay of campus musical groups.

Has Music Love

This talented young music lover has been a member of the college band for two years. He has also been active in the Circle K Club and the Wesley Foundation.

Bill's freshman year saw him serve as an officer of the Lendon Players.

The Hindsonian staff is proud to take this opportunity to give praise to a deserving individual. May Bill always continue to make music in our hearts.

New Bulletin Tells Hinds' School Slate

A summer school bulletin and a vocational brochure will be released in February.

The new 12 page vocational brochure will be released the latter part of this week by the Public Relations Department. The multicolored pamphlet went to press earlier this week.

The cover is a basic white with orange and black lettering centered around deep blue halftones.

The brochure presents the Hinds engineering technical program. Fields of opportunity in industry is the major topic of the booklet.

Filled with numerous pictures, the brochure lists the various types of diagnostic equipment available in the vocational shop.

The simple one-page summer school folder will be published later in February by Miss Mildred Herrin, registrar.

A listing of courses offered, amount of credit, opening and closing dates, expenses, and recreational facilities, are a few features compiling the black and white bulletin.

Students Observe Vocational Week On Local Campus

This week is Vocational Emphasis Week on Campuses all over the nation. The Baptist Student Union is sponsoring the special programs on dedicated vocations in connection with the observance of the week on the campus.

At 7:15 Morning Watch each morning special speakers are bringing brief messages about the importance of christian dedication in their chosen vocations.

The schedule of speakers for the remaining week is Mr. Joe Bennett Mississippi Power and Light representative, for Thursday morning and Mrs. Lee Mayo, English instructor, for Friday.

At BSU Monday night the emphasis was also upon dedicated vocations. Farley Earnest, a cousin of Rose Earnest, and Jerry Rankin, twin brother of Hinds' Jean Rankin, brought special messages in song and testimony. Both boys are students at Mississippi College.

The purpose of the week has been to show students that whatever vocation they may choose, they can be of great service to God in every part of their work.

First Lady Relates Many Experiences In 23 Years At Hinds Junior College

By LOU ANN FORD

Pi Kappa Alpha has its dream girl, Sigma Chi has its sweetheart, but Hinds Junior College has Mrs. G. M. McLendon, wife of President McLendon.

Mrs. Mac, as she is affectionately called, is a member of the Raymond Presbyterian Church. It was the naming of a Sunday School Class after her that she refers to as her most wonderful honor.

This group presented her with a silver tray inscribed with a poem and the date of the presentation.

Mrs. McLendon acts as official hostess to the annual press conference and the faculty receptions in September. She is the hostess also at various civic and college functions throughout the year.

Her secret for a successful party: "Always plan things well in advance. I have plenty of help from the school and from the town ladies who are very generous with flowers or candy when needed", Mrs. McLendon states.

MR. G. M. McLENDON
President's Lady

She recalls some of the events that have happened during her reign at Hinds as first lady. One night a group of foreign exchange students serenaded the McLendons with foreign songs. Thinking that the students were angry with them, she and Mr. Mac were worried. But, fortunately, the group did it as a compliment to them for their understanding and hospitality.

Mrs. McLendon's hobby is cooking. She states that she loves to cook, but never gets to try out many of the recipes that she has collected over the years.

Mrs. McLendon relates that she is still a country girl at heart and loves to reside in Raymond because of the friendly atmosphere and warm friendship extended by the Raymond citizens and the students of Hinds Junior College.

Frosh Lad Makes Recording Debut With Own Songs

A Hinds Junior College student has cut his first record on the new K&M label.

Murry Kellum, an 18-year-old Florence lad, wrote his own songs which he sings with The Ramblers.

The record has already been released and made its debut on Teen-Tempos last week.

"Love Wagon" and "Brand New Baby" will be hailed shortly by The Ramblers.

Circle K Club's Drive Nets $49.10; Money Goes To March of Dimes Fund

The annual March of Dimes drive on the Hinds Junior College campus ended March 31. The drive was conducted by the local Circle K Club.

The donations acquired by the club totalled $49.10. This amount was made possible by the donation cups, an informal dance, and a person-to-person crusade after the Wednesday chapel meeting.

The money was collected this past week by the New March of Dimes County Chairman, Mr. Jack Treloar. The money will be added to other amounts gathered over the state by various club and social groups. The money will be used to prevent and aid the crippling defects suffered by children in the world today.

Jimmy Davis, sophomore from Canton, was chairman of the club drive. He was assisted by Joe L. Ferguson, Utica; James Weir of Newton; Darry McWilliams, Madison, Fla.; Bill Matthews of Raymond; and Charles Bobo, Natchez.

The proposed goal was $200.

DAVIS BEACONS

Modern Language Group Assembles; History Of Spaniards Main Feature

Beginning a series of studies on Spain, the Hinds Junior College Modern Language Club will hold its bi-weekly meeting Thursday night in the Home Economics building at 6:30.

Miss Hilda Ree Davis, language instructor and club sponsor, announces that the program will cover the geography, principle cities, and history of the European country.

With the purpose of the club being to acquaint members with the customs and history of French and Spanish speaking nations, the members hope to promote goodwill through correspondence, whether by personal letter or by newspaper features.

The members are amidst writing to their pen-pals, which they received through the help of Miss Davis.

Anyone that is interested in joining the club for the second semester is urged to contact Miss Davis or any of the club officers. Rose Earnest of Slate Springs serves as president, while Tommy Nance, Jackson, serves in the vice-president position.

READING FOR ALL

Librarian Reveals New Purchases; December, January Total 120 Vols

Additions to the Hinds Junior College library for the months of December, 1960 and January 1961 totalled 120 volumes, Mrs. Marvin Riggs, librarian, announced today.

The new books deal with every subject from business law to a glossary of literary text; from Roosevelt to a manual on common beetles and from the natural history of nonsense to antique collecting.

Among the authors are such well-known ones as de la Roche, Faraday, Frasconi, Post, Vanderbilt, Van Doren, Schevill, and Ritholz.

Among the books now on the shelves are The Living River by Isaac Asimov, Celia Garth by Gwen Bristow, The Republican Roosevelt by John Morton Blum, Freshwater Fishes of Mississippi by Fannye Cook, Morning at Jalna by Mazo de la Roche, The Modern Psychological Novel by Leon Edel, See and Say by Antonio Frasconi.

Basic Electronics by Bernard Grob, Ten Great Mysteries by Howard Haycraft, Republic Ascendancy by John Donald Hicks, Southern Life In Fiction by Jay Broadus Hubbell, Anatomy of Leadership by Eugene Emerson Jennings, Success In Marriage by David Robert Mace, Here's To You, Miss Teen by Mary Sue Miller, Keats by John Middleton Murry, Tammy, Tell Me True by Cid Ricketts Sumner, Robert Frost by Laurance Thompson, Where The High Winds Blow by David Walker, Oliver Cromwell by C. V. Wedgewood, Streamline Your Reading by Paul Andrew Witty, and Ernest Hemingway by Philip Young.

The library opens everyday during the week at 7:30 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. and then again from 7:00 p.m. until 9:00 p.m. Assistants are Mrs. Rosser Wall, Mrs. Alfreida Moore.

All the above books and many more are available for the students or faculty member at any time. Books are also on reserve for students requiring special reports or themes.

Found: An Electric Razor On Campus Behind Boys Dorm

An electric razor was found last Wednesday, February 1, behind Eastside Dormitory for boys. The razor was found shortly after 5:30 p.m. by a Hinds Junior College student.

The razor is now in Mr. Clyde Benton's office in Central Dormitory awaiting the owner. If anyone has lost or knows someone who has lost an electric razor, see Mr. Benton in his office.

The owner of the mechanical device may receive it upon giving an accurate description of the lost article.

Students May Pay Final Payment On '61 Annual In Public Relations Office

Students desiring to pay the final payment on their 1960-61 annuals may do so in the Public Relations Office at their earliest convenience, Jewel McNair, Eagle editor announced today.

The final payment is $3, completing the total cost of $5 for the yearbook. Students have from now until the date the annuals are received to finish paying the amount due.

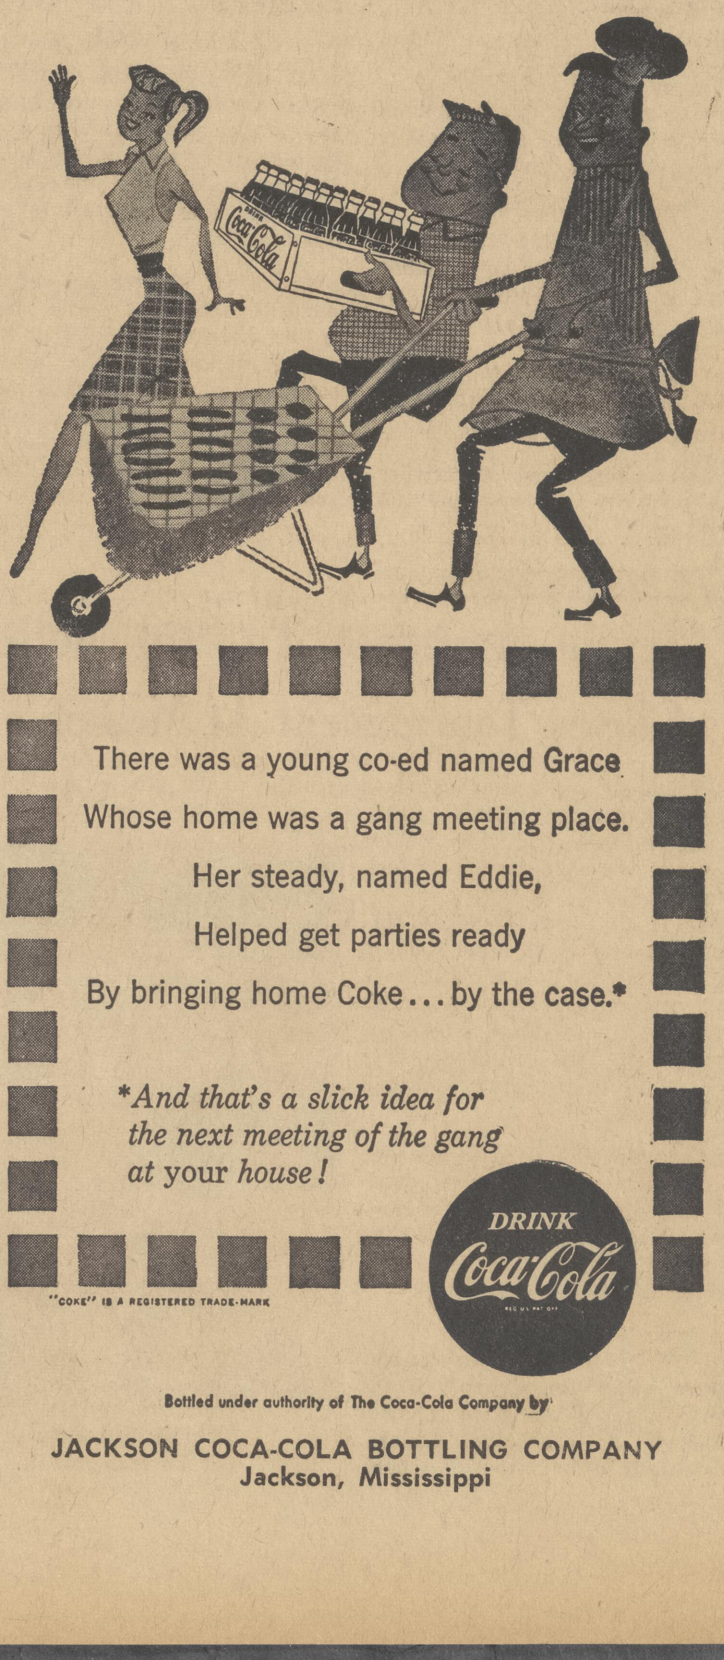
The annual is expected to be released around the first of May, Miss McNair further stated.

Catalogue Material Goes To Printer This Friday, Reports Hinds Registrar

Material for the 1961-62 Hinds Junior College catalogue will be sent to the printer this Friday, according to Miss Mildred Herrin, registrar.

All revisions to be made by any faculty member must be in Miss Herrin's office by 3:30 Friday afternoon.

The bulletin will be released some time in April.



Hinds Opens Weekend Cage Activity Against Wildcats

Opening the last weekend of regular season cage action, the Pearl River Wildcats invade Friday night for a return match with Coach Troy Ricks' Eagles.

Saturday night entertainment will stage Hinds against Mel Carpenter's Perkinston Bulldogs on the Raymond court, with a preview of the upcoming South-Mississippi junior college roundball tourney in focus.

These two southern visitors will receive some real "Maroon and White" hospitality, when the Hinds quintet hits the hardwood floor. Gaining starting berths for the Raymond crew will be forwards Dean Liles and Wayne Hensley, center David Yewell, and guards Lewis Vaughn and Billy Rhodes or Norman Pace.

In previous meets Hinds came out victorious over Pearl River, 89-84, but fell to the hands of the Perk group, 89-65. These three quintets are among the top basketeers in the state.

Perkinston, holding one of the best records in the conference, will be led by three top scorers in guards Ford Turner and Jack Ainsworth and forward Ron Johnson. Center Jimmy McArthur will do the tall work for the Bulldogs at the center slot.

In last weekend's battle with Clarke, Hinds' starters built up a quick 59-44 lead by halftime and were able to rest the second half, with replacements seeing most of the action.

It was the second win over the same team for the Birds, but the visitors held the locals to a 97-72 score, instead of the wild 131-15 tilt earlier in the season.

Liles was high man with 27 points, while teammates Yewell, Rhodes, and Vaughn collected 20, 18, and 11 points respectively for Hinds.

SPORTS PREVIEW

Female Basketball Turns Taboo

By TOMMY NANCE

For the past six years, Hinds has lacked a feminine representative on the cage floor, as have all other colleges and universities in this area. What we are wondering now is whether there is due cause or not.

We noticed in a recent Jackson sports column that Clinton's Linda Puckett will not be able to continue her basketball career at the school she had chosen.

TOMMY

Planning to enroll at Wayland (Tex.) Baptist College this fall, Linda won't be able to participate in women's basketball, for the school's board of trustees announced recently of the discontinuing of the sport.

This Texas college is only one of many in the nation, which is putting a halt to this activating sport for the, let's say, "weaker sex". Hold off girls!

Provide Good Exercise

One of the main reasons in the closing of Mississippi Junior College girls' basketball in 1954 was because of the improper Administration in the handling of the teams. Unsportsmanlike conduct developed during the games between fans and players.

Most colleges and universities today have a well-organized and diversified curriculum in physical education and Hinds is certainly no exception. The intramural programs on the campus give every student a chance to share the values of playing as a contestant.

Intramural sports can give the average player the same kind of benefits that the highly skilled athlete derives from the varsity program.

No Business Program

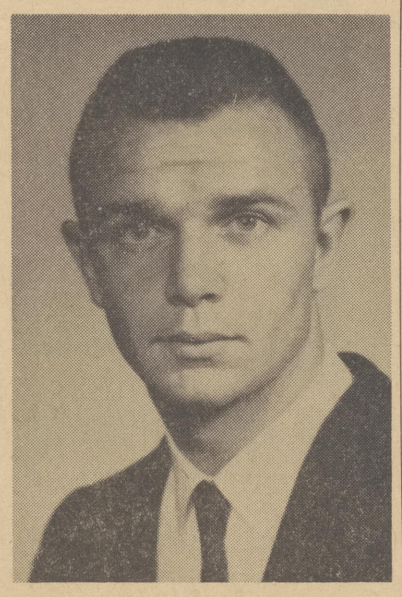
Athletics provide wholesome recreation when they are sports and not a business, when they encourage the release of tensions and anxieties, when they allow time and energy for study and other activities.

The effect of the sport had an opposite feeling towards most of the girls at the time of discontinuation, for the fun turned to drudgery, Their emotions were tied in knots and the tensions multiplied. So is the case in many colleges today, but what are we doing about it —Nothing.

MOST PROMISING NOVICE

Splain Advances To Mid-South Gloves Tournament At Memphis

Voted the most promising novice in the recent Mississippi Golden Gloves tournament, Bennie Splain is in Memphis, Tenn., now preparing for the Mid-South Golden Gloves tourney of champions, which opened today.



BENNIE SPLAIN
Off To Memphis

The Hinds Junior College sophomore is one of 16 state fighters representing the Magnolia state in ring competition. Another Hinds graduate, Buddy Miles, who is a student at Mississippi Southern now, made the trip. Both boys hail from Jackson.

Splain won the right to advance to southern competition by pounding his way to a decisive victory over Hattiesburg's John Mills Thursday night in the novice welterweight division.

Another local student, David Bratcher, racked up opening tournament wins to advance to the finals, before falling to Charles Faulkner of Mississippi College. Bratcher is in the barbering school.

Tigers Win Men's Recreational Cage Meet With 10 Wins

The first semester basketball tournament of the Men's Recreational Association was completed last week. Five teams competed in the event.

Winners of the tournament were the Tigers who ended the season with a 10-0 record. Captain of the six-member squad is Charles Trest, Pelahatchie freshman.

Other members of the victorious team are Hayward Neely, Harrisville sophomore; Robin Carter, Brandon freshman; Jimmy Carruth, Summit freshman; Joe Dickerson, Jackson freshman; and Wiley Fisher, Yazoo City sophomore.

Captains of the remaining participating teams are Roland Walker, Florence sophomore; Jim Sansing, Newton sophomore; and Jimmy Davis, Yazoo City sophomore.

The club members voted at the last meeting to reorganize the teams and select new captains for the second semester competition.

According to M. R. A. president Jim Sansing, plans are being made for a club party to be held at the Raymond Lake lodge in two weeks.

Meetings of the M. R. A. are held every Tuesday at 6 p.m. in the M. R. A. room of the boys gym.

The club, under the leadership of coach Eddie Rodgers and Mr. Clyde Benton, sponsors tournaments in basketball, softball, ping-pong, and tennis. This is the second year the club has been organized.

Summit Bears Rip Eagle Basketeers For 1st Loop Loss At Home, 79 - 60

Unbeaten Southwest Upends Hinds Quintet With Fast-Breaking Attack

A dangerous band of husky Bears rode into town undefeated last night and six hours later, they roared out the same way.

The result of the recent visit was a 79-60 shellacing brushed on by Coach Horace Holmes' Southwest cagers. It was the initial conference loss for the Eagles on the home court.

Taking advantage of all the Hinds miscues and a 12-point margin at halftime, the Pike Countians rallied in the first quarter toward their road victory.

Guard Sal LaRock and center Bud Ginn were the sole scorers for Summit's clan in the double figures. LaRock sank eight field goals for his 16 tallies, while Ginn racked up five shots from the floor and 10 points.

Vaughn Paces Birds

Tipping in 15 points in Ricks' losing effort, guard Lewis Vaughn shot for six field goals and three charity tosses. Forward Dean Liles hit the double bracket with 10 points on five field goals.

Marking the only lead for the home squad, forward Wayne Hensley garnered a free throw in the opening minutes of play to put Hinds ahead, 1-0.

It was the third conference setback for the locals against 10 wins, while the southern opponents have failed to witness a loss.

Eags Take Edge

Although the Raymond club captured a slight edge of percentages over Southwest, the deficit wasn't justified. Hinds totaled eight of 16 free tosses, while the Bears tallied seven of 17.

Other Hinds stars notching into the scoring column were guard Billy Rhodes, nine, center David Yewell, and forward Wayne Hensley, six. Four points were made by center David Jones, and guards Norman Pace and Sidney Odom. Bill Parkman, freshman forward, tallied two.

Hinds To Host State Festival On March 11

Top Brass Tells Director, Plans For JC Singers

(See Pictures Page 3)

Plans are being made at Hinds Junior College for the annual Mississippi Junior College Choral Festival to be held here Saturday, March 11.

Members of the Hinds choir are making the final arrangements and preparations for the 500 students from over the state who will participate in this year's festival.

According to Mr. Leslie Reeves, head of the Hinds Music Department, Mr. Loren Davidson, Louisiana State University music director, will be the guest conductor of the music festival.

The following junior college choirs have indicated that they will participate in this year's program: Itawamba, Northeast, Northwest, Delta, Holmes, East Mississippi, East Central, Copiah-Lincoln, Pearl River, Perkinston, Southwest, Jones, Meridian, and Hinds.

Each of the participating schools will present a 15 minute program during the day. All musical arrangements will be presented at a preappointed time during the festivial.

The evening concert will consist of two parts. Each participating school will present one number in variety style. This group of numbers will be followed by the festival choir singing the selected festival music.

Library Building Ready To Take Structure Shape

With the foundation work underway, construction of new Hinds Junior College library is under way. Caterpillar machinery levelled the ground for the proposed building last week.

The structure, costing a total of $250,000, is the latest addition to the expanding Hinds campus. The building is designed on a long range plan to be the center of campus activity.

With an anticipated enrollment of 2,000 students in coming years, the new library will cover 23,512 square feet and will make room for 40,000 volumes.

President G. M. McLendon and Administrative Assistant Robert M. Mayo have worked closely with Jay T. Liddle in planning the initial unit of the structure. The library will be constructed so that future expansion will permit the addition of more rooms and other improvements.

Nickles and Wells Construction Co., Inc., of Jackson was the low bidder on the modern edifice. The company is scheduled to complete construction by the last of October. With good working conditions and ample supply of construction materials, the deadline will be reached, according to the contractor.

The structure will accommodate 384 students at one time. Finances are coming from a state bond issue and local funds. State bonds total $150,000 and local funds amount to $100,000.

Some of the rooms in the structure include work, reference, general reading, faculty, class, closed stack, student meeting, mechanical and storage, and library work area.

Mrs. Virginia Riggs, head librarian, has contributed much to the plans and proposals for the new building.

Upon completion of the unit, the Hinds College will have completed the missing hub in its educational wheel.

Debate Team Participates In Ole Miss Tournament

Hinds debaters lost the South Mississippi Junior College tournament to host team Southwest by two points Saturday.

The Hinds team led going into the final round by 10 to 6, and needed but one point to win the trophy. The Southwest team had lost every round up to that point, but the judges announced that they had decided to count the last round as a tie and award the points to the host team.

Previous to this loss, Hinds debaters had won over Mississippi State, Mississippi Southern, Louisiana Tech, and Northwestern Louisiana College, all in the Midsouth Tournament, and had also defeated Jones Junior College and Pearl River Junior College.

This week the Hinds teams will participate in the University of Mississippi Invitational tournament, and Monday night they will perform for the Mendenhall Lions Club.

Four Hinds students entered individual events in the speech contest. They are Kay Adams, Brandon, oral interpretator; Tom Cockran, Jackson, after dinner speaker, Jack Roberts, Jackson, dramatic reading; and Jim Sansing, Newton, impromptu speaking.

Mr. Pat Smith, English instructor and debate sponsor, and Mr. Fred L. Brooks, speech instructor, accompanied the group.

Phi Theta Kappa To Install 22 New Members Tuesday

Twenty-two pledges of the Gamma Lambda Chapter of the Phi Theta Kappa at Hinds will be initiated Tuesday, February 21, at 6:30 p.m.

Hosts for the service will be alumnus and faculty members who belong to the organization.

President Rex Carson will preside over the initiation ceremonies, while Belinda Hill, vice president, and Rose Earnest, secretary, will take active parts.

All officers and present members will participate in the program along with the pledges.

A reception will be held in the auditorium immediately following the ceremonies.

Miss Mildred Herrin, registrar, is sponsor of the club.

Annual Staff Makes Shipment

According to Jewel McNair, editor of the '61 Eagle, the last shipment of the Hinds yearbook was mailed today and is expected back around the first of May.

Highlights of the '61 Eagle will consist of sections including administration, classes, features, activities, sports, and snapshots.

An air of mystery always surrounds the dedication of the annual which is kept a secret until it comes out. Members now serving on the Hinds staff to which the annual has been dedicated in the last few years include: President G. M. McLendon, Miss Lola Allen, Mr. T. T. Beemon, Mrs. T. T. Beemon, Miss Mildred Herrin, Mr. J. R. Harris, and recently retired Miss Gertrude Davis.

The annual staff consists of 12 sophomores and four freshmen.

Carolyn Gill of Johns is assistant editor to Jewel McNair. Business manager is Charlotte Dunlap of Terry.

The position of feature editor is held by Martha Claire Bryant, a freshman from Terry. Snapshot editor is Jean Rodgers, Jackson sophomore. Mildred Brown of Jackson is in charge of the vocational section.

Nancy Hamil and Ann Winstead, sophomores from Carthage and Forest Hill, are in charge of the sophomore class section. Memphis' Carolyn Middleton is responsible for the freshman section.

Club editor is Jane Bennett of Jackson, and Johnny Carter of Puckett and Gerald Keyes of Terry are the sports editors of the Eagle.

Other staff assistants are Corkie Lyle, Belzoni; Alice Matthews, Utica; Mary Jo Sullivan, Jackson; Dot McRae, Carthage; Sandy Coker, Pearl; and Doris Thornton, Utica.

Take Note Sophomores

Tuesday, February 28, is the final day for graduating sophomores to make application for a diploma.

Miss Mildred Herrin, registrar, says that orders for the diplomas will be made on March 1.

65 FRESHMEN

New Student Total Reaches 92

Ninety-two new students have enrolled for the second semester, according to records from the Registrar's Office.

The final list includes 65 freshmen, sophomores, and one special student. Thirty-four of the newcomers are housed in the college dormitories.

Five states are represented by the newly enrolled students. They are Mississippi 75, Louisiana four, Alabama one, Texas one, Pennsylvania one and Florida one.

February 6 was the last day for second semester registration and changing schedules.

The two-day spring holidays will be held March 16-17. They will be followed by mid-semester tests, March 20-24.

Commencement ceremonies for graduating sophomores will be held at 11 a.m. Sunday, May 21, and 10:30 a.m. Friday, May 26.

Speakers for the two programs will be announced later in the spring.

Sponsor Leaves Position

The Hindsonian closes an era in its history with this issue of the paper.

Our sponsor, Mr. Irl Dean Rhodes, is leaving with this edition. We shall truly miss the influence of this versatile man.

Yes, Irl Dean is truly versatile. The 24-year old public relations director is also a representative to the Mississippi State Legislature. He is a former Hinds student and Hindsonian editor.

In the Who's Who contest of '56, the students really knew what they were doing when they chose Irl Dean as Mr. Hinds Junior College. Through the past few years he has continued time and again to prove his worthiness of this honor.

Irl Dean is constantly moving upward in the world. His ability will lead him high upon the wings of success.

He is resigning his post at Hinds to assume the position of executive manager of the Rankin County Chamber of Commerce.

Few people actually know of the massiveness of the work that Irl Dean has done for Hinds. The extra hours he has spent on the Hindsonian and Eagle are numerous. His work is tedious; it requires much intellect.

The Hindsonian and Eagle staffs will not miss him merely as a sponsor, but we shall miss the friendship and guidance he has so devotedly shown to us.

The two publication staffs plus the faculty and students at Hinds extend a fond farewell and best wishes to Irl Dean—he deserves it.

Spring Weather Moves In

Spring has sprung, as the saying goes . . . or, so some of the romantic-minded couples on the campus seem to think. But, our little sample of spring weather will, more than likely, be short-lived.

The warmth of the air has bluffed many of the trees into budding out in a pretty attire. The clover and grass is beginning to perk up into shape to start out a new season.

Back to the romance. Couples have been scattered everywhere over the campus. Love is in full bloom, even if spring has not quite made a debut.

It is a time when oldsters wish they were young, and youngsters are young. With weather like this everyone loves everyone . . . maybe we could get a patent on it.

Failures Hit New High

More students failed two or more subjects first semester than ever before in the history of Hinds Junior College.

Reflecting upon this situation, President McLendon stated that it was from a lack of an objective or an interest in the work.

We must find, first, a need for a purpose to study . . . to achieve. Then, we must find our objective, or goal . . . for ourselves as individuals.

Time is an all important element in life. Allocate enough time for studies, recreation, social life — all phases of life—is all important.

To do this each of us must find ourselves . . . what we want in life.

Natives Kill Premier Lumumba

By CORKIE LYLE

Patrice Lumumba, trouble-making, ousted premier of the Republic of the Congo, is dead. The Communis t -inspired leader of the freedom-fanatics was killed, or as the m o r e interested would say, assassinated.

CORKIE

Lumumba-Rumba was k i l l e d when he and two aides were reported to have fled from a prison at Stanleyville. Communists say the forces of Joseph Mobutu fixed the whole event, and this writer is inclined to agree with the Reds on one and only one subject.

The killing is supposed to strike up the ole band of civil war in the equatorial kingdom (???) of Kasavubu and Mobutu. With one fanatic out of the way and after things cool off a little, the Congo should turn out to be one of the nation's foremost in Western contention.

It was a black Monday in the Congo in more than one way!

MORE CUBAN ANTICS: The Fidel Castro-controlled government of Cuba has announced that it is planning to mint plastic coins, instead of having the coins minted at Washington, D. C. The government reports that the move occurred when the Cubans could not afford to buy coins.

Only goes to show that the poverty stricken government of Cuba is continuing to be short of capital. Seems as if the little ole trade discontinuation with Cuba has the rascals on the way down from their little ivory tower.

LOW, LOW PAY: The state of Mississippi pays its teachers the lowest salary of any state in the United States. California and Florida rank in the top of the paying division.

Although Mississippi was last in teacher pay, the state did rank number one in percentage of increase. The amount was 130 per cent.

HOT TIME FOR A WHILE: New Orleans was really rocking yesterday. It was Mardi Gras; French for Fat Tuesday.

Ridiculous costumes, gala parades, singing and dancing in the streets were all part of the festivities for the Lenten season. The highlight of the day was the King of Zulu parade, the only Negro carnival activity which has not been cancelled in the teeming city.

Have fun; it only comes once a year!

Help Prevent Common Colds: Cut Out Kissing

By JEAN RODGERS

One of the most dangerous of all types of germs go breezing along in the aid almost unnoticed and definitely unhampered.

JEAN

The contagious g e r m s, left to float at will, are a menace to mankind.

As vicious as little devils, cold g e r m s (Pardon us, we mean virus . . . everything has a highfalutin' name nowadays) swarm over campuses, towns, villages, and squires throughout the whole world.

The fastest way to transmit the foreign particles is by a simple sneeze or cough . . . or using another's personal belongings.

One way to prevent colds which was mentioned in Paul Harvey's column recently that can't be neglected is don't kiss. As hard as it may seem to follow this rule when you have a cold, it must be done. Others must be regarded.

Easier than not kissing . . . in the spring weather we are having . . . will be staying out of crowds and not talking right into a person's face.

Colds are raging on the campus presently. They can overcome you without any notice . . . they are sneakery than a fox chasing chickens.

Among the dangerous places where the infectious germs abide are at restaurants, elevators, ballgames, auditoriums . . . let's face it . . . they are everywhere.

The ill-bred germs creep and crawl into every corner. They hide ready to spring upon any unsuspecting individual.

Isolation is impossible. Then, how do we prevent catching, or being caught by the menace, the cold germ? There is no one answer. Think of others when you have a cold and hope that they are doing the same for you.

Take Vitamins.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Pretty, Perky, Personality-Packed Student Takes Top Weekly Award

By BELINDA HILL

Pretty, perky, personality-packed, Serie Dungan, from Port Gibson, receives top honors on the campus this week.

Serie, who is a business major, can usually be found hard at work behind a typewriter in the business office to which she is quite an asset.

SERIE DUNGAN
Works In Office

If you don't find Serie here, you will probably find her in the grill because her favorite hobbies are eating and dancing or perhaps you will find her in her room deeply engrossed in a game of rummy.

Like other outstanding sophomores, Serie was active in many things during her high school years. She was head cheerleader, a member of the Beta Club, the girls' chorus, the K. S. Sorority, the annual staff, the paper staff, serving for three years as an officer and member of 4-H club, and taking part in the senior play.

Besides working in the business office, Serie manages to take part in many activities on the Hinds campus. She has been a member of the Hi-Steppers and has meant quite a lot to the group and the group to her.

Serie isn't planning to attend school this fall, but if she changes her mind her choice of schools will be Delta State College.

Congratulations to Serie Dungan, a very deserving Sophomore of the Week.

82 Take Part In Math, Science Workshop Here

"It was the best conference of its kind that I have ever attended."

That's how Mr. W. T. Douglas, local math instructor, described the district science and mathematics workshop held on the campus last Saturday.

Eighty-two high school and junior high teachers registered at the one-day confab. Teachers from 25 high different schools participated in the workshop.

Nine counties were represented. Representing Hinds were President G. M. McLendon, Mr. A. L. Denton, Mr. Walter H. Gibbes, Mr. B. D. Spraberry, Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Beemon, Mr. W. T. Douglas. Mrs John P. Adams, Mr. Rosser Wall, Miss Lurline Stewart, and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Adkins.

Schools according to their counties are as follows: Copiah—Crystal Springs three and Hazlehurst five; Madison — Madison-Ridgeland two and Canton three; Claiborne—Chamberlain-Hunt three; Warren—Vicksburg Cooper three, Culkin one, and Vicksburg Carr three.

Hinds—Forest Hill two, Byram three, Raymond three, Central one, Provine three, Murrah seven, Enochs two, St. Joseph three, Hardy three, Chastain two, and Bailey one.

Rankin—Florence three, Pelahatchie one, and Brandon one; Attala—Ethel one; Yazoo—Hollybluff one and Yazoo City two; and Washington—Greenville one.

Mr. B. E. Gandy represented the State Game and Fish Commission. Science supervisor was R. C. Roberts from the State Department of Education.

The mathematics group met in the physics room with Mrs. Lurline Stewart presiding. She presented Dr. R. D. Boswell who spoke on "What's New In Mathematics?"

The group was about evenly divided between math and science teachers.

Beauty Officially Enters Dixie Roto Pageant Contest

Hinds Junior College beauty Eva Sipes has officially been entered in the 1961 Dixie Roto Campus Cover Girl contest.

Sponsored by the Times Picayune, New Orleans newspaper, the contest is open to all colleges in Louisiana and Mississippi.

A beauty from each college will appear in an issue of Dixie Roto magazine, Sunday feature section of the newspaper. The girls receiving the greatest number of votes will be Dixie Roto's campus girls of 1961. The winner's picture will appear in color on Dixie Roto's cover later in the spring.

Eva is the fourth Hinds entrant in the annual contest.

12-Page Brochure About Department Rolls Off Press

A 12-page vocational brochure was released yesterday by the public relations department.

With a cover centered around dark blue halftones, colors include orange, black, and white.

The brochure has a total of 33 pictures about the vocational program, campus activities, and courses offered. Copy includes information on the engineering technical program and vocational program.

The pamphlet answers questions concerning fields of opportunity, entrance requirements, cost for technical training, the college, fields of study, training men for industry, and extra-curricular activities.

Young Women's Auxiliary Group To Attend Supper At Parkway Thursday Eve

In connection with YWA Focus Week the officers and several members of the Hinds organization of the Young Women's Auxiliary will attend an associational supper at Parkway Baptist Church, Jackson, Thursday, February 16.

Officers of the YWA who will be attending are President Phyllis Covington, Enlistment VP Nancy Hamil, Program VP Beth Strong, Secretary Mary Elizabeth Hudson, and Arrangements Chairman Mildred Brown.

Council Selects Corkie Lyle For Vice President's Position

Corkie Lyle, managing editor of the Hindsonian, was elected vice president of the Mississippi Diocesan Council of Canterbury Associations Saturday at Rose Hill, Episcopal Church center of Mississippi.

Mike Thompson of Millsaps and Helen Murphy of Perkinston Junior College were elected president and secretary of the conference respectively.

Others representing Hinds at the conference were Anna Maurejohn of Jackson, Steve Kirchmayr of Vicksburg, and Joel Mallery of Natchez.

Colleges represented at the meet were Perkinston, Millsaps, Mississippi College, Mississippi State College for Women, Mississippi State University, Ole Miss, Mississippi Southern, and Hinds.

HINDS GRADUATE

English Prof Displays Unusual Talents

By NOLLIE COCHRAN

Once in a very great while you meet an instructor who has that little something extra. The rarity at Hinds Junior College is Mr. Pat Smith.

Mr. Smith, English instructor at Hinds, and the person displaying many unusual characteristics, is a graduate of Hinds. A native of Mendenhall, he graduated from Hinds, where, incidentally, he was editor of the Hindsonian, at the age of 16.

His seventeenth year found him in the senior class at the University of Mississippi. His education was interrupted for a tour of duty with the U. S. Merchant Marines. After serving a two year stretch he returned to Ole Miss and in 1947 graduated at the incredible age of 19.

Mr. Smith's first attempt at fiction was an immense success. His novel, The River is Home, published in 1953, was a national best seller and received the fiction award of the International Society of Mark Twain, and the Gold Medal award for fiction in Canada. At the time of publication he was the youngest published novelist in America.

His searches for writing assignments have carried him all over the world. England, France, Italy, Spain, Denmark, Holland, Sweden, Algiers, Panama, Japan, Korea, Canada, Germany, and Mexico, are some of the countries he has visited.

This affable young teacher has captured several awards and honors since his graduation from Ole Miss. In 1953 and again in 1956 he was named Mendenhall's Outstanding Young Man. In 1956 he was awarded the Distinguished Service Award by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce by virtue of being named Mississippi's Young Man of the Year.

In his lifetime he has been an automobile dealer, a magazine editor, a novelist, and college instructor.

SPORTS PREVIEW

State Mourns Stuart's Death

By TOMMY NANCE

And so to rest! One of Mississippi's greatest sportsmen was put to rest this past Saturday in Starkville and all in the Magnolia state bowed their heads for a final prayer for Coach Clyde (Heifer) Stuart.

The 57-year old assistant head coach of Mississippi State University died of a heart attack just several hours after a gall bladder operation in a Starkville hospital Friday. He was known all over the South for his tremendous courage and enthusiasm which he displayed in his many years of tutoring, not only for the athletic field but for the classroom.

TOMMY

Coached At Hinds

His past two years at State were only a climax to the wonderful life, both physically and spiritually, he had led. Before returning to his upstate alma mater, he coached at Mississippi Southern, Meridian, Forest, Newton, Gulfport, and at Hinds.

While on the staff at Hinds, he tutored such state junior college standouts as Morris Grent, Gordon Simmons, James Griffin, Sam Ridley, Burke Duckworth, Willie Nail, Wilson McCreary, Sonny Speights, and Top Wallace. All of these boys received all-State awards while on the gridiron representing the Eagles.

Builds Good Mark

He built an impressive 22-12-4 overall record during his 1939-1944 years, on the Raymond campus, but set Southern into sporting headlines while at the Hattiesburg school.

During Stuart's own college days, he was a backfield star at Mississippi State and had the reputation of being one of the keenest students of the game the State of Mississippi has ever known.

A Clyde Stuart Memorial Scholarship Fund is being formed at State. All money contributed will be used for the education of his two teenage sons, Sonny, 19 a sophomore at the University, and Kelly, 14.

Lend Helping Hand

As Jimmy McDowell, State Times sports editor, writes "Any sportsman who got a kick out of football should also lend a helping hand" and we wholeheartedly agree. Since Stuart was a friend to many here on the Hinds campus, we think it would be appropriate to send a contribution from the college.

Send your contribution, large or small, to Bob Hartley, Mississippi State University, State College, Mississippi. It will be one deed that you will never regret.

Seasonal Finale Sees Eag's Take Win Over Visiting Jones Bobcats

Hinds Chalks Up 12 Wins During 18-Game Slate

Staging a last minute rally, the Jones County Junior College Bobcats ran out of steam before a jam-packed partisan Hinds crowd last night in the Eagle gymnasium and fell to the Eagles, 82-76.

Both teams battled evenly during the initial half with coach Troy Ricks' cagers gaining a narrow 34-28 lead at intermission. The hotly contested tilt hit full steam during opening minutes of the second half, with Hinds taking control of the ball and a 14-point margin with three and a half minutes elapsed in the third period.

Number 12

With superior accuracy and a well-balanced defensive attack, the local club was able to collect their 12th conference win against four defeats. Jones now holds a 11-6 mark.

Pacing the speedy Birds was guard Billy Rhodes, who notched up 18 tallies to his total. Center David Yewell, sank 14 points, while guard Lewis Vaughn and forward Norman Pace scored 12. Center David Jones chalked up 10 points at his pivot slot.

Smith Paces Losers

Jerry Smith, center, was the high man for the Ellisville squad with 26 netters, followed by center Ronald Russum's 12.

The victory marked the last seasonal game for the Hinds Eags and completed another successful season for Troy Ricks' students.

REBOUND CONTROL — Saturday night's match with the Perkinston Bulldogs proved fatal for the local Eagles, but Hinds' David Yewell and Wayne Hensley, 40, seem to be controlling the backboards. The southern competitors took the tilt, 91-87. Photo by Rush.

Network Picks Freeman, Daher As Top Grid Stars

Jackson radio station WJQS, has chosen Johnny Daher and Howard Freeman to receive individual trophies for their showings during the 1960 pigskin season.

Receiving the most outstanding player award is Johnny Daher, who was chosen on the Junior College Grid — Wire All-American team. He led the Eagles in individual rushing with an average of 5.9 yards per carry. Tallying nine touchdowns and one two-pointer after touchdown, he led the Birds in scoring with 56 points.

Howard Freeman won the outstanding lineman trophy, with his superior play during the season. As a result of his effort, Howard was also awarded a scholarship to Tulane University in New Orleans.

Freeman not only excells on the gridiron, but on the track team as well. He performs in the shot and discuss events for Hinds.

Hinds Eagles Settle For Weekend Draw In Contests With Cats, Dogs

After a Friday night feast on Wildcats meat, the Eagles thought that 'Dog food wasn't a delicious desert, so the Perkinston cagers plucked away at Hinds' feathers and grabbed the last pull before the buzzer rang Saturday.

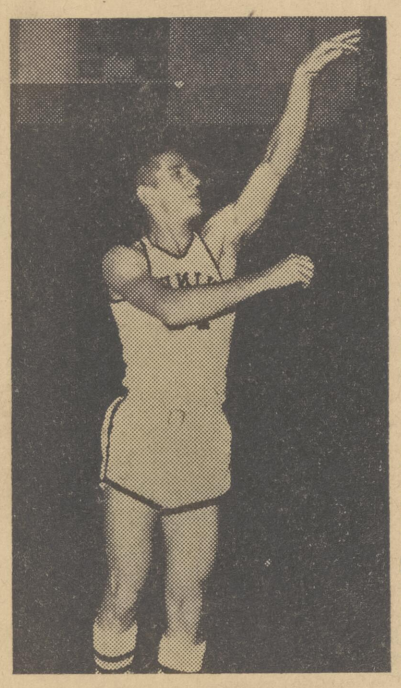
Thus was the case of last weekend's results in battles with Pearl River and Perkinston's Bulldogs. Hinds built up a comfortable 44-28 halftime lead Friday night against the Poplarville five, but had to withstand a last minute rally to down the visiting cagers, 82-78.

Guards Lewis Vaughn and Billy Rhodes paced the nets with 18 and 17 points respectively, while forward Wayne Hensley narrowed the gap with 11 tallies.

Saturday night action saw Hinds face defeat for the fourth time in conference play this season.

Hensley and David Yewell took the scoring reigns for Hinds with 23 and 12 totals. The Eagles held a 45-40 margin at intermission, but the Bulldogs rallied in the second half to overtake the Hinds lead and chalk up the second win over Hinds this year.

South-District Cage Tournament Set For Hinds Campus



PAUL McMILLAN
And the score goes . . .

Jumping into the host's role next week, the Hinds Junior College Eagles entertain the South Mississippi Junior College cage tournament February 23, 24, and 25.

Five southern teams will be bringing in their year's showings and will be hoping to pull the title out of the bag. Last year's champions, Pearl River, are a little weaker under the boards but will be strong competition in upholding their title.

Lead Pack

Southwest and Perkinston, racking up the leading conference marks in the south division, will be top contenders and are the "teams to beat" in the tourney. Southwest is led by center Bud Ginn and guard Sal LaRock, who have been the main stays during the year for the offensive Bears of Summit.

Perkinston's Bulldogs, under the tutorship of Coach Mel Carpenter, will bring in guards Ford Turner and Jack Ainsworth, forward Ron Johnson, and center Jimmy McArthur to pace the "Gulf Coast" college in the classics.

2nd Place Eags

Hinds, Jones, and Copiah-Lincoln round out the cagers in south contention, with Hinds voted a probable second place tie with Perkinston. Jones, who did battle with the hospitable Eagles last night, brings in a not-too-impressive record, but plenty of reserve power.

A. B. Howard's Ellisville Bobcats have failed to win the state crown since 1946 and would like nothing better than to advance to the finals this year.

The Wesson visitors will depend on center Ed Murphy, and guards Leonard Smith and Cliff Smith with their offensive attack, while center Ed Murphy provides the Wolves with defensive action.

Northeast Tops

In previous state cage titles, the Northeast five holds a slight edge over Poplarville's Pearl River 5-4. The Booneville clan has pocketed the state junior college cage trophy five times.

These championships include every title game the upstaters have participated in and sports Northeast a perfect average. Pearl River has fallen only once in their bid for the top award.

Hinds' history for the bid to the state title is brief and involves only two games. The Eagles fell to Southwest in 1959 and Jones in 1946.

While the south division tourney is being held on the Raymond campus, Itawamba will be playing host to the north junior college tourney in Fulton. The two finalist in the secular divisions will meet later for the over-all state crown, at a sight to be named.

NEW MEMBERS — Looking at the new copy of the Golden Key, Phi Theta Kappa magazine, are, left to right, Pat Brown, Utica; Lynda Walker, Braxton; and Delene Willis, Brandon. With the newly initited members is Miss Mildred Herrin, sponsor. The three girls were among the twenty-two pledges who were initiated in last night's Phi Theta Kappa ceremony.

GAMMA LAMBDA CHAPTER

Phi Theta Kappa Initiates 22 New Members In Last Night's Ceremony

Twenty-two pledges were initiated into the Gamma Lambda Chapter of the Phi Theta Kappa last night in a ceremony in the college auditorium.

Twelve members of the freshman class qualified for membership in the honorary organization with special honors of 2.6. These pledges are Irene Adkins, Raymond; Patricia Brown, Utica; Peggy Gregory, Jackson; Ernestine Hall, Vicksburg; William Manning, Jackson; Jack Rankin, Clinton; Margaret Reader, Jackson; Brooks Reid, Vicksburg; Jack Roberts, Jackson; Betty Wadsworth, Vicksburg; Lynda Walker, Braxton; and DeLene Willis, Brandon.

Ten sophomores having a grade average of 2.2 or above were initiated. They include Jeanette Barron, Raymond; Charlotte Berry, Mendenhall; Ione Johns, Pelahatchie; Mayly Jue, Vicksburg; Dean Liles, Learned; Sara Luckett, Sharon; Jewel McNair, Clinton; Bill Matthews, Raymond; John Phillips, Pearl; and John Wilda, Shorewood, Wisconsin.

The invitations were issued on the basis of grades and unanimous recommendation or character of citizenship by active members of the chapter and the faculty.

The invitations ceremony was directed by Rex Carson, chapter president, and Miss Herrin, society sponsor. Other members of the scholastic fraternity participated in the initiation.

A reception honoring the new Phi Theta Kappa members was held after the ceremony for the families and friends of those initiated. Girls from the Home Economics Department served as hostesses at the reception.

B S U Sponsors M C Vespers

The Hinds Junior College Baptist Student Union is invited to be in charge of the vesper services tonight at Mississippi College.

Anne Spencer is in charge of the program, "You—A World Baptist." Other Hinds students participating in the program are Jimmy Davis, Rose Earnest, Belinda Hill, and Nancy Hamil. Jean Rankin and Billy Boyt will read the scripture.

Earl Lee will lead the singing and Barney McCann will serve as pianist. Ernestine Hall will sing the special music for the service.

After the program the Hinds students will eat supper together before returning to school.

The Hinds BSU also has charge of the vesper services on our own campus tonight. Jean Rodgers is in charge of the program and will read the scripture. Mary Elizabeth Hudson will serve as pianist and Charles Daley will lead the singing.

Recently made plans of the BSU include a Summer Missions program and activities beginning the middle of next month. The goal set for summer missions this year is eighty dollars. This money will be used to send six Mississippi students to home and foreign mission fields for the summer. The fields included in the Mississippi sponsored program are Korea, Hawaii, Colorado, Wyoming, Ohio, and New York.

The total goal for the state of Mississippi this year is three thousand dollars.

Hinds Debate Team Scores Wins In Senior College Competition

Lee Receives Excellent Award--- Marks Junior College Record

Hinds Junior College debaters scored eight wins in the University of Mississippi Invitatonal Debate Tournament to bring their season victory total over senior colleges to fourteen.

Hinds, the only junior college entry, tied as the team with the third best winning record in the tournament. Hinds won four victories over Arkansas State, three victories over Delta State, defeated the Ole Miss team, and missed winning over teams from Howard University and M.S.C.W. by only one and two points.

In debates with Mississippi senior colleges, Hinds has won victories over teams from the University of Mississippi, Mississippi State, Mississippi Southern, and Delta State. In out-of-state competition, Hinds has defeated Northwestern Louisiana College, Louisiana Tech, and Arkansas State.

Earl Lee, Hinds freshman from Mt. Olive, was one of five debaters selected to receive the certificate of excellence for overall performance in the Ole Miss tournament. Lee's selection marked the first time ever that a junior college entrant received this honor.

In individual debate ratings, John Wilda was rated superior against Arkansas State and Howard University; Sallie Baker was rated excellent against Arkansas State and superior against Howard University and Belinda Hill was rated superior against Arkansas State and excellent against Delta State.

Frances Nelson was rated excellent against Arkansas State and M.S.C.W.; James Weir was rated excellent against Delta State; Carolyn Acuff was rated excellent against Arkansas State, and Rita Anderson was rated excellent against Arkansas State.

The Hinds debaters will close their season this week in the Gulf States Tournament to be held at Mississippi Southern College. Representing Hinds will be Earl Lee, Sallie Baker, Belinda Hill, and Frances Nelson.

★ ★ ★ Singers Plan For Weekend JC Festival

Fourteen state junior colleges are making preparations to attend the annual Mississippi Junior College Choral Festival to be held here Saturday, March 11.

According to Mr. Leslie Reeves, head of the Hinds Music Department, Mr. Loren Davidson, Louisiana State University music director, will be the guest conductor of the music festival.

Members of the Hinds choir are making the final arrangements and plans for the 500 students from over the state who will participate in this year's festival.

The following junior college choirs have accepted the invitation to participate in this year's program: Itawamba, Northeast, Northwest, Delta, Holmes, East Mississippi, East Central, Copiah-Lincoln, Pearl River, Perkinston, Southwest Jones, Meridian, and Hinds.

Each of the participating schools will present a 15 minute program during the day. All musical arrangements will be presented at a preappointed time during the festival.

The evening concert will consist of two parts. Each school will present one number in variety style. This group of numbers will be followed by the festival choir singing the selected festival music.

Registrar Urges Students to Map Plans for Future

Graduating sophomores who plan to attend a senior college next year should begin to make applications for admittance, states Miss Mildred Herrin, registrar.

In order to secure proper housing and transfer, a student should take immediate action.

Scholarships and loans are open to students who wish to continue their education, but are in need of financial aid.

There are three major sources which have helped past Hinds graduates in obtaining loans. The Student National Defense Act is sponsored by the Federal government in aiding students. The Field Cooperative Club and the Pickett and Hatcher Educational Fund are two major sources for loans.

In connection with graduating sophomores, Miss Herrin announced that the ten dollar diploma fee must be made by February 28.

Heads To Attend AAJC Meeting In Washington

President G. M. McLendon will attend the 41st Annual Convention of the American Association of Junior Colleges, to be held at the Sheraton Park Hotel, Washington, D. C., February 28-March 3, 1961.

Accompaning Mr. McLendon will be Assistant Arministrator Robert M. Mayo, Registrar Mildred Herrin, and Mrs. McLendon.

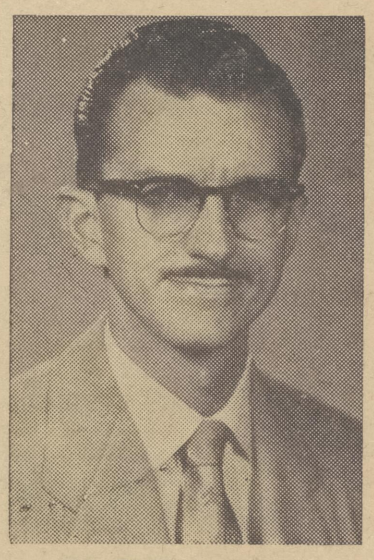
The theme of the meetings is "America's Stake in the Junior College."

The American Association of Junior Colleges has its national headquarters in Washington and represents over 500 of the junior colleges in the United States. These junior colleges are joined together in the AAJC to stimulate their professional development and growth.

Representing many different types of institutions, the Association voices the interest of junior college education as a whole.

3-ACT COMEDY

Players To Give 'Three Blind Mice'



MR. FRED L. BROOKS
To Direct Comedy

A modern three-act comedy will be presented by the Lendon Players at 8 p.m. April 13 in the college auditorium.

Three Blind Mice, by Guy Bolton, has been chosen as the spring production, according to Mr. Fred L. Brooks, speech and dramatics instructor.

Tryouts for the eleven member cast will be held March 1. All students who are interested in dramatics may participate in the casting. There are five male and six female roles to be filled.

The Lendon Players sponsor two productions yearly. The Imaginary Invalid was the fall comedy which the club presented.

Service Clubs Do Good

We hear a great deal of discussion about service and service organizations. However, we wonder how many people know the meaning of service as it is used by members of service clubs. Service is no longer a catch-phrase or an advertising slogan. It has become an essential part of business and professional success.

Service is not the same as honest value for money received. It is something more than this, for it is given free and voluntarily.

Performing a service in a graceful and considerate way requires considerable tact and diplomacy. The unselfish attitude of an individual's responsibility to fellow humans comes from an inward development.

We all have a responsibility to those around us because no man can be completely independent and isolated. We must develop a helpful attitude toward others.

Recognition of the fact that we cannot live alone is but a starting point in learning to serve others. Service is the means by which humanity progresses and prospers.

Paper Welcomes Sponsor

The Hindsonian staff wishes to express a deep sense of gratitude to Mr. Pat Smith, who is the new paper sponsor effective with this issue.

Mr. Smith is the newly appointed public relations director at Hinds. Our staff is thoroughly looking forward to working with such an efficient person.

Renowned as a writer, Mr. Smith is well equipped with a vivid personality, high intelligence, and originality to be outstanding in the field of journalism and public relations.

The River Is Home is the title of Mr. Smith's popular novel.

Not only does Mr. Smith enjoy the fame of being a writer, but he is also outstanding in the field of debate. He has given his time and energy for the past two years in sponsoring the Hinds debate team.

The staff is anticipating a progressive and outstanding second semester working with Mr. Smith.

Eagles Need Our Support

Hinds Junior College has a winning basketball team this season. To continue its success in the tournaments this weekend, the team will depend upon several factors — the team itself, coach, student body, and school spirit.

The team needs our help. Yes, each one of us must work and work hard. In order to make for continued success of our team, each and every one of us must be prepared to take every opportunity to help bring victory by three simple factors — school spirit, attendance at games, and a winning attitude.

The basketball team and college officials are depending upon the co-operation of every student during the closing season.

Our presence at the tournament will convince the coach and players of our support and our desire for victory.

OFF THE CUFF

Washington's Maxims Still Valid Today

By JEAN RODGERS

JEAN

At the age of 16, George Washington, whose birthday we are celebrating today, wrote more than a hundred maxims of good conduct.

Some of the maxims were his original works, and some were taken from his reading. They deal with subjects ranging from etiquette to virtues.

The following ten were taken from the magazine section of this week's Times-Picayune:

1. Associate yourself with men of good quality if you esteem your own reputation.

2. Speak not evil of the absent for it is unjust.

3. Show not your self glad at the misfortune of another though he were your enemy.

4. Be not hasty to believe flying reports to the disparagement of any.

5. Let your recreations be manful, not sinful.

6. Be not angry at table whatever happens and if you have a reason to be so, show it not. Put on a cheerful countenance especially if there should be strangers present, for good humor makes one dish of meat a feast.

7. Play not the peacock, looking everywhere about you, to see if you be well deck'd, if our shoes fit well, if your stockings sit neatly, and clothes handsomely.

8. Mock not nor jest at anything of importance. Break no jest that are sharp, biting and if you deliver anything witty and pleasant abstain from laughing thereat yourself.

9. When you speak of God or His attributes, let it be seriously and with reverence.

10. Labour to keep alive . . . that spark of celestial fire called conscience.

What an insight Washington had on the nature of mankind.

A remarkable man was he, our first president. He did much for the United States in helping start and maintain a political freedom.

He is to be respected and admired as a great forefather and as our first president.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Wesley President, Member of YMCA Holds High Position On Campus

By CAROLYN MAY

"That's all there is; there is no more" stated I. M. Beasley while introducing herself to the Hinds Junior College student body in a campaign speech. When asked about her name, I. M. explained that her parents were in hopes of having a boy named Irving Mack Beasley, Jr., so she was named the nearest thing to Irving Mack, which would be I. M.

I. M. BEASLEY
Future Accountant

Among her many honors are President of Wesley, member of the President's Council, Phi, Theta Kappa, and Young Women's Christian Association. I. M. was chosen to attend the Regional Leadership Training Conference at Lake Gunaluska, North Carolina last summer. Being a member of the Hinds Hi-Steppers, she was chosen by her fellow members as treasurer of this famed group.

I. M. has chosen accounting as her major. After graduating from Hinds she will further her education at the University of Mississippi.

Kennedy Appoints 48 Men; But Passes Over Mississippi

By CORKIE LYLE

President John F. Kennedy has announced the picking of 40 Southerners for posts in the new administration. Every state in the South was represented in the appointments except Mississippi.

CORKIE

North Carolina with 10 and Tennessee with eight led the states with the most men picked. Although Tennessee has gone Republican in the last three presidential ballotings, it made no difference in the appointments.

It is not surprising that Mississippi had no men appointed to the administration. With our state going to the Uupledged spot on the ticket and supporting neither major party, I think Kennedy was justified in omitting a selection from the Magnolia state.

Some of the distinguished men of our state are just as qualified as those appointed, but that is not the question. Since Mississippi didn't cast any votes for Nixon, looks like Kennedy would have liked that and gave some real Southerners jobs. Or some might say!

VALUABLE STUDENTS: Mississippi schoolboys are soon to be worth more than ever before. May sound kind of odd, but it's the truth. The government is now going to spend more money per child in Mississippi schools than in any other state in the nation.

The worth of the student this next fall will be $29.67 and then the following year will jump to $33.-80. In New York, the value per student is only $15.00. This is another good jump in Mississippi's education program, following the surprising increase in percentage in Mississippi state teachers pay.

LUCKY FOR LBJ: The luxurious private plane of Vice-President Lyndon Johnson was found Monday smashed in a pasture with the co-pilot and pilot dead.

They were the only two passengers aboard the plane. Johnson himself was on his ranch near Johnson City when the plane crashed. The Convair 240 was on a 65-mile jaunt from Austin to the veep's ranch.

Lucky for the United States that LBJ was not on board the plane when it crashed or ole Adlai Stevenson would move up to the vice-presidency and where would we be? Long live LBJ!

STILL STRIKING: Workers at the Gulfport Piping Company remained on strike yesterday because of their refusal to work under a non-union superintendent.

The men walked off their jobs when a union superintendent was fired and replaced by the non-union employee.

The same type of labor situation is being used in Laurel at the huge Masonite plant.

Modern Language Group Assembles; Americas Topic

The Modern Language Club, under the sponsorship of Miss Hilda Ree Davis, will hold its bi-weekly meeting tomorrow night at 6:30 in the Home Economics Building.

The subject of the program will be Central America, with students enrolled in French and Spanish presenting the parts. The discussion will deal with language, customs, country, and cities, with parts presenting life as it is carried on in Spanish-speaking nations.

The club welcomes any person interested in listening or joining the language group. If interested, contact Miss Davis or any student enrolled in a foreign language on the campus.

Assistant Mayo To Deliver Speech To Cooper PTA

Mr. Robert M. Mayo, Administrative Assistant at Hinds Junior College, will address the Parent Teachers Association meeting at Cooper High School of Vicksburg tomorrow night.

The Hinds official will speak on the topic of "Education To Meet The Changing Times." The trip, only one of many made by Mr. Mayo, will start the "ball rolling" for various speeches at functions and school meetings in the college area. Mr. Mayo has recently visited Pearl High School in Rankin County.

Letter Policy

All letters to the HINDSONIAN editor must be signed. Names will be withheld on request.

Letters do not necessarily reflect the policy of the paper or the opinion of the editor. Letters should not be longer than 200 words.

State Convention Selects Hostess As Chief Officer

Hinds education instructor and dormitory hostess Mrs. Lucile S. Keen received the high honor of being elected Regent of the Mississippi Society of the Daughters of the American Colonists at a convention held this past Friday in Jackson. The office is for a three year term.

Mrs. Keen, who was nominated by the official nominating committee of the organization, will succeed Mrs. M. D. Gilchrist of Columbus.

The new Regent also attended the joint luncheon of the ADC and the Daughters of Founders and Patriots of America. Mrs. Bruce Nicholson, guest speaker, used as her topic "Heraldry, Handmaid of History."

Mrs. Keen, a former assistant dean of women at Mississippi Southern College, is in her first year of duty at Hinds. She is a native of Kosciusko and a graduate of Mississippi Southern.

Methodist Group Plans Discussion For Weekly Meet

A special program has been planned for the Hinds Wesley Foundation Monday night.

In view of recent controversy over liturgical jazz, the program will consist of a recording of one of the jazz albums and a discussion on the pros and cons by members of the organization.

Wesley, which is the Methodist group on the campus, is planning several programs for the upcoming months that should prove very interesting to junior college students.

President I. M. Beasley invites anyone who is interested to the Monday night meeting in the girls gym at 6:15.

Women's Guild Honors Canterbury With Hamburger Supper At Bolton

The Women's Guild of St. Mary's Episcopal Church of Bolton entertained the Hinds Junior College Canterbury with a hamburger supper last Monday night.

The group, chaperoned by club sponsor Mr. Bill Oaks, traveled by car to the parish house of the church. Making the trip were Steve Kirchmayr, Sue Stevens, Anna Maurejohn, Kay Kimble, Joel Mallory, Chester Butler, Marty Mellon, and Corkie Lyle, club president.

After refreshments of hamburgers, baked beans, fruit cake, ice cream sticks, and Cokes, Corkie Lyle presented a talk on the Rose Hill conference that was held the previous weekend.

The local club has as their project this semester the filling of envelopes for Lenten self-denial offerings. The envelopes will be sent to the National Council and to Okolona College for Negroes at Okolona, Mississippi.

Priest-in-charge of the local Canterbury is the Rev. James Butler of St. Mary's.

Calculus, Physics Classes To Travel To Michel Forums

The calculus and physics classes of Hinds Junior College will go to Mississippi College at Clinton both Thursday and Friday to hear speeches by Walter C. Michels.

Dr. Michels — internationally known as "Mr. Academic Physics" —will lecture and talk informally with the students in several sessions on elementary physics.

Dr. Michels' lecture on Friday is entitled "Science and Liberal Education". He serves as editor of the "International Dictoinary of Physics and Electronics".

Miss Lurline Stewart and Mr. Frank Stephenson will accompany the groups both days.

Young Balladeers To Present Show At Baptist School

The Brothers Four, nationally known young singing group, will present a special singing program at Mississippi College March 2.

The group, composed of four extraordinary young balladeers, will present their program at Nelson Hall Auditorium. Admission price is $2 for tickets in advance and $2.50 for tickets at the door.

The performance will be presented at 8 p.m. at the Clinton school.

Anyone on the Hinds campus wishing to attend the event may buy tickets in advance from Frances Nelson, Vicksburg sophomore.

Magazine Group Cancels Roto Cover Girl Contest

The Dixie Roto Campus cover girl contest, sponsored by the New Orleans' Times Picayune, has been called off, it was announced yesterday.

Eva sipes, Hinds Junior College's entrant in the annual event, was notified yesterday by mail that the contest had been postponed. The letter did not state the cause of the cancellation, but stated "due to circumstances beyond their control."

The magazine also extended to the contestants their sympathy in the calling off of the contest, and thanked them for their consideration in supplying pictures and information.

Last year's entrant in the contest was Miss Sue Bell, now Mrs. Bobby Skipper of Florida.

Paper Staffers Journey To Vicksburg Attraction

By CORKIE LYLE

With foods ranging from oysters to spaghetti, mixed with laughter and excitement, add a little pinch of satire and comedy and you have the annual trip to Vicksburg enjoyed Wednesday night by the Hindsonian staff and sponsors.

Departing for the "red carpet city" at five o'clock, the caravan of four cars met at Tuminello's, one of the many fine eating establishments in the town.

After ordering the meal, the group and this writer literally vovered the place, looking at the interesting souvenirs and other objects. One big event in the life of one staffer was her first glance at a martini being served some local couple next to her table.

After a delicious meal, the group departed for the famed river steamer Sprague. On board, we witnessed the simply rich melodrama, Gold In The Hills. With its authenticity in costume and dialogue, the production was an immediate hits in the eyes of our group.

Composed of various citizens of Vicksburg in original casting, the play is presented annually by the Vicksburg Little Theatre. Using only local talent, many students of Hinds Junior College have made their theatrical debut on the showboat.

The play deals with the typical villian-hero-herione type drama. With action shifting from the farm to the city to the farm, the audience is kept in swells of laughter and, occasionally, pity for the poor, love-stricken heroine.

Making the trip were Jean Rodger, Tommy Nance, Belinda Hill, Carolyn May, Lou Ann Ford, Eva Sipes, Gwen Canoy, Johann Rush, Jewel McNair, Charlotte Dunlap, Martha Clair Bryant, Johnny Miller, Mary Jo Sullivan, Nancy Hamil, and this writer.

The group was sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Irl Dean Rhodes and Mr. and Mrs. Pat Smith. Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Mayo.

Guidance Leader Represents HJC At Clinton Confab

Mr. A. L. Denton, Hinds guidance councelor, represented the college at a conference of vocational guidance counselors held at Mississippi College on Friday, February 17.

Highlights of the day included registration, group meetings, panel discussions, and a luncheon. The panel discussion topic was "How our agencies can work together in vocational guidance."

The meeting, which was sponsored by the Mississippi Guidance Association, closed with a conference summary.

Hinds Arena Cleans Up For Regional Tourney Thursday

An invasion of bounceballers will be heading toward the Hinds campus tomorrow for the South-District Junior College basketball tournament. Six teams move in to vie for the top, coveted position as the southern champion.

Pairings for the tourney, along with the north classics, were completed Monday in Jackson and were immediately announced by B. L. Hill, state supervisor of the junior colleges.

The northern tourney will be held in Fulton this weekend with Itawamba seeded in the initial slot and playing host to the Yankee teams.

The two divisional tournaments will furnish the field for next week's over-all meet with the champion and runner-up from the respective circuits. The pairings will determine the state champion, but the site hasn't been announced. A northern club will play host to the over-all tournament.

Southwest's Bears and Itawamba's Indians are the best choices to emerge as the two champions. Behind top-seeded Summit in the South are Hinds, Jones, Perkinston, Copiah-Lincoln, and Pearl River, in that order.

Itawamba will be the probable pacer in the northern division, followed by East Central's Warriors, the East Mississippi Indians, and Northwest's Rangers. Holmes, Delta, and Northeast round out the seven competing quintets in the north.

The schedule for the tourney on the Hinds campus is as follows: Thursday — Jones vs. Co-Lin at seven and Southwest vs. Pearl River at 8:30. Friday night activity begins with the Hinds vs. Co-Lin-Jones winner, while Perkinston clashes with the winner of the Southwest-Pearl River champion. The finals will be held at eight Saturday night.

Northeast and East Mississippi battle at seven Thursday night to open the northern classics, with Itawamba and Delta following at 7:30. Holmes' Bulldogs meet the Northwest club at nine.

Friday night action begins with East Central doing battle with the Northeast-East Mississippi victor at seven. The Itawamba-Delta wnner clashes with the victor of the Holmes-Northwest champion at 8:30.

Consolation games and championship finals will start at seven and 8:30 respectively.

Ricks' Birds Battle Victor Of Jones-Wesson Tussle

Gaining a bye in first night activity, the Hinds Eagles jump into action Friday night for their initial tilt of the South Mississippi junior college cage tournament.

Coach Troy Ricks' lads, seeded second in the regional tourney, will meet the victor of the opening round match between Jones and Copiah-Lincoln. The Ellisville quintet matches arms with the Wolves of Coach Alton Ricks Thursday at seven p.m.

Jones Pacers

Should Jones take the win, the Bobcats will bring in a strong five, including centers Jerry Smith and Ronald Russum. Four other members of Coach A. B. Howard's squad that will be ready for action are Carl Bass, Bob Cradic, Gene Tullos, and Carlos McDaniels.

If the Wesson visitors upset Jones, Co-Lin will be paced by such stars as center Ed Murphy, guards Leonard Smith and Cliff Smith, and forward Dick Douglas. Charles Fortenberry, Robert Parson, and Doug Falvey, all forwards, will give valuable aid in substituting roles.

Top 5 For Birds

The host Eagles will put center David Yewell, guards Billy Rhodes and Lewis Vaughn, and forwards Dean Liles and Wayne Hensley at the starting positions.

If the Eagles win in Friday competition, they will vie with the top club from the opposite bracket.

SPORTS PREVIEW

Students Rate Poor In Spirit

By TOMMY NANCE

As in previous years, Hinds will be the center of attraction of junior college sports fans this week. Sporting eyes from every corner of the state will look down on the Raymond campus during the South Mississippi junior college basketball tourney, and what they see will solidly depend on us, as fellow Hindsonians.

During the Eagles' reign over the gridiron several years ago, writers and coaches all over the state and South looked upon Hinds with respectability, but will they again view the college with the same eye?

During the past couple of years, new groups of students have passed through the columns and halls of the beautiful Hinds campus, but they seem to just pass and not leave anything.

Spirit Leaves

The buildings are the same, with the exception of several new ones, but the spirit which long characterized the college's students is here no more.

TOMMY

In a recent cage contest with Jones, the mighty Eagles captured an important conference victory over the Bobcats, but they did it all by themselves, with no help coming from the student body.

The visiting Ellisville fans went away without a conference victory, but took home a well deserved mental win, in that they completely ruled the Eagles' nest in the spirit department. You say, but its the official score that does the winning. Well, if there is no spirit, how can the team win? Yes, they did it that time, but how many more times will they do it?

Players Feel It

While eating lunch with several cage stars the other day, we overheard one of them talking on the spirit shown by the students. He stated that at Hinds he didn't get the incentive as he did in high school because there existed no spirit. He also stated that several times he got the feeling of "not caring whether we won or not."

Hinds ranks high among junior colleges all over the state and nation, but she must hide her head when the subject of spirit comes up. Now is the time to lift those thousands of heads and show the state that we aren't ostriches, but Eagles, who fly high in every department.

Eags Hold Edge

Coach Ricks' cagers certainly have the advantage in the tournament, playing the host role, but even this won't be strong enough to calm down such teams as Southwest, Perkinston, and the other south-division contestants.

It isn't too late to get behind the team and support them in the upcoming divisional tourney, but if we sit back and let the others do it, we won't last long.

Eaglettes Place High In Female Tourneys; Locals Take Awards

Three Hinds Eaglettes were chosen among the top players in the recent "Y" Tournament and Independent League classics.

The girls, Joannie Phillips, Gail Rushing, and Barbara Carter, placed on the YWCA all-star team and were chosen on the all-tourney squad among the independents.

Hinds, currently holding second place in the Jackson Women's City League, placed third in the 12-team matches at the Jackson "Y", with Pine Sol and the Bombers pacing the groups.

Phillips Gets Award

Under the sponsorship of the Jackson Recreational Department, the second tourney saw Eaglette Joannie Phillips picked as the most outstanding player.

She was judged on her sportsmanship and ability, but her 31 point shooting average in the three games that Hinds participated in didn't hurt.

Hinds' representative squad meets the Bombers tonight for one of the final games of the season.

The girls, coached by Mrs. Peggy Swett, wind up their schedule next week against league teams.

Joannie Phillips of Pearl, Linda Oakes of Louise, and Eva Huff of Byram, pace the Hinds group at the forward position. Guards on the Raymond team are Barbara Carter, Jackson, Diane Collins, Florence, and Gail Rushing, Forest Hill.

Other Aids

Red Shivers and Burt Wynn, both of Pearl, aid the female team at the forward slots, while Nell Westmoreland and Elaine Mims of Raleigh, and Mary Jean Fugate, Jackson, are guard substitutes.

After the cage season, members of the Women's Recreational Association, which sponsors the Eaglettes, will begin spring activities.

Golf, tennis, and other outdoor sports will be taking the spotlight and the WAA will lead the way. With the junior college owning a nine-hole golf course, many students will be teeing off from the greens at the first break of the weather.

Eagle Basketeers Complete Season With Top Record

With the completion of tournament play, the Hinds quintet will have chalked up another successful cage season on the hardwood floor.

The Eagles, who have been guided through nine top basketball years by Coach Troy Ricks, finished regular season activity last week with the Jones Bobcats.

The 82-76 victory over the visiting Ellisville five climaxed a respectable 12-4 conference record for the 1960-61 edition of Ricks' squad.

2 Teams Win

As we thumb through the pages of this year's scores, we see the Hinds Birds losing only to two different teams, both being double losses.

Summit's representative during the roundball season tackled Hinds twice and emerged with 85-78 and 79-60 wins. The other victorious quintet was the Perkinston Bulldogs, who racked up 89-65 and 91-87 wins.

State Runneth Over

The Mississippi State frosh took wins on engagements with the local five and captured two decisions, 82-72 and 81-72. It was the second consecutive year that the upstate Maroons totaled double wins over Hinds.

In notching up 12 victories during the season, the Eagles twice set back Delta, Jones, Holmes, Pearl River, Copiah-Lincoln, and Clarke, once at home and once on the road.

Practice Matches Take Spotlight In Men's Rec Group

The Men's Recreational Association, under the sponsorship of Coach Eddie Rodgers, is amidst practice basketball games, getting ready for new league play.

After a Tiger championship in recent cage competition, new teams have been chosen and activity will begin the latter part of this week or the first of the next.

Only four teams have been grouped and a complete schedule for these will be completed by Coach Rodgers late this week. After basketball season, club members will engage in spring sports, including softball, tennis, golf, and other independent recreations.

New membership is still open to those who are interested in intramural sporting events. Also, the MRA room is equipped with weights, ping pong tables, and other parlor games for its members to enjoy.

Variety Of Campus Activities Fills Month Of March

By JEAN RODGERS

The windy month of March has found the Hinds campus filled with a variety of activities. It is jammed-packed with meetings, holidays, exams, a movie, dances, assembly programs, and other such activities.

Leading off in the parade of events today is the tryouts for Three Blind Mice, to be presented April 13 in the college auditorium. After the selection of the cast, rehearsals will be held throughout the month.

Tomorrow, March 2, the Hinds choir is presenting a movie, "On the Waterfront," to raise money for a spring choir trip. The film will begin at 6 p. m. in the auditorium.

An X-Ray machine will be on the campus March 8 to give chest X-rays to all students and faculty members. Also on the agenda for the day will be an assembly program presented by the Hinds choir.

A choral festival will be held on the campus the weekend of March 11. Fourteen junior college choirs will be visiting the campus at this time.

The speech department will be in charge of assembly on March 15.

A time that all students and faculty members are heartily looking forward to is spring holidays, which will be held March 16-17. The two-day holiday will be held during the Mississippi Educational Association's annual meeting in Jackson.

DID SOMEBODY SAY MARCH?

The long-awaited holidays are closely followed by nine-week exams, which will be held March 20-24. This is often the deciding point between failure and passing. Out of necessity some Hinds students will be spending the holidays studying.

In two consecutive weeks there will be speakers in assembly from the University Medical Center in Jackson. On March 22, Dr. Alton Bryant will speak, and March 29, Dr. Arthur Guyton will be in charge of the program.

A record hop is being sponsored every Tuesday night by the Phi Theta Kappa in the Recreation Hall from 6 p. m. to 7 p. m. Admission will be fifteen cents per person or twenty-five cents per couple.

Adding to the month's activities are two trips being made by members of the administration. Presently, President G. M. McLendon, Assistant Administrator Robert M. Mayo, Registrar Mildred Herrin, and Mrs. G. M. McLendon are attending the annual convention of the American Association of Junior Colleges in Washington, D. C.

Dean of Men Clyde Benton and Dean of Instruction M. F. Herring are representing Hinds at the National Conference on Higher Education to be held in Chicago March 5-8.

All in all, March gives the appearance of being one of the year's busiest months. There are enough activities to keep all students occupied.

VOLUME 27—NUMBER 21 HINDS JUNIOR COLLEGE, RAYMOND, MISSISSIPPI WEDNESDAY, MARCH 1, 1961

Hinds Debaters End Season

Hinds Junior College debaters closed their most successful season ever against senior college competition by taking four wins in the Gulf States tournament held at Mississippi Southern College this past weekend. Hinds has a season total of eighteen wins over senior college teams.

In three major tournaments this season, Hinds debaters scored one win over the University of Mississippi, five wins over Mississippi State, one win over Mississippi Southern College, three wins over Delta State College, three wins over Northwestern Louisiana State College, one win over Louisiana Tech, and four wins over Arkansas State.

Hinds debaters for the season were John Wilda, Sallie Baker, Frances Nelson, Belinda Hill, Carolyn Acuff, Earl Lee, James Weir, and Rita Anderson.

Representing Hinds in the Gulf States Tournament were Earl Lee, Sallie Baker, Frances Nelson, and Belinda Hill. The group was accompanied by debate coach Pat Smith.

Hinds was the only junior college entrant in the tournament, and Hinds debaters went against the very top debate teams in the South and Southwest to gain an impressive record of four wins. Southern Methodist University was the winner of the tournament championship trophy.

AWARD WINNER

Hinds Choir Members To Sponsor Movie For Fund-Raising Program

The Hinds Junior College choir is sponsoring a full length movie to be shown Thursday night at 6 p.m. in the college auditorium.

On the Waterfront, starring Marlon Brando and Eva Marie Saint, will be presented. The Academy Award winning film is part of a fund-raising drive for the choir's annual spring trip. The route of the spring trip has not been released yet.

A concession stand will be operated by choir members. Popcorn and cokes will be sold.

Admission is fifty-cents per person.

The committee for the movie presentation consists of Annette Shaver, chairman, freshman from Vicksburg; Barney McCann, freshman from Jackson; Carl Foster, sophomore from Vicksburg; and Mary Jean Liggett, freshman from Raymond.

Mr. Leslie Reeves is the choir director and sponsor.

Social Study Instructors To Meet At Ole Miss Conference March 10-11

Mr. Thomas Stricklin and Miss Susan Brown, social studies instructors, and possibly others are tentatively planning to attend the 1961 workshop for Junior College Social Studies Instructions to be held on the University of Mississippi campus March 10-11.

The theme of the workshop is "The Role of The Social Sciences On The New Frontier." All meetings will be held in the Alumni House of the University.

Registration will be held at 9 a.m., followed by a general assembly meeting.

The key speaker at the confab is Dr. Iredell Jenkins, chairman of the Department of Philosophy of the University of Alabama.

A symposium on the social sciences will be held giving special emphasis on the following individual fields: history, economics, political science, philosophy, psychology, and sociology.

The main feature of the sectional conferences will be a discussion on junior-senior college relations in the social sciences.

The two-day meeting will adjourn at noon, March 11.

'Three Blind Mice' Casting Set Today In College Auditorium

Lendon Players To Produce 3-Act Comedy On April 13

Tryouts for the Three Blind Mice, a three-act comedy sponsored by the Lendon Players, were held in the college auditorium this afternoon.

Written by Guy Bolton, the play will be presented at 8 P. M. April 13 in the auditorium.

The cast, consisting of eleven members, has five male and six female roles.

The leading characters in the play are the three blind mice -- Pamela Mason, Elizabeth Mason, and Moira Mason. Pamela is an attractive, vibrant twenty-one year old girl who plays the pretense of being an heiress. She is deeply concerned with the welfare of her two sisters.

Elizabeth is the more conservative of the sisters. She acts as a secretary-companion to her sister, Elizabeth, in their plot to catch a rich husband. The younger sister, Moira, is a pretty, vivacious girl, nineteen years old. She is impish in quality.

Among the other characters in the play are Henry Trowbridge, a hard-working lawyer who is handsome but somewhat pedantic in manner; Edna Parker, who is a well-known, sophisticated-looking gossip columnist in her late twenties; and Stephen Harrington, a pleasant, intelligent young man who is unsure of his position or of himself.

Additional roles in the production are Conrad Harrington, a middle-aged man who has never worked for a living; Mrs. Alice Bramber, who is a few years younger than Conrad and is Stephen's guardian; Albert DuPont, who is an attractive young man; Mr. Cord, the hotel manager; and a hotel waitress.

Also being cast are several extras who are guests at the party.

The plot evolves around the three sisters who are in search of wealthy husbands. After selling their farm, the girls put all of their money into one big visit to an expensive vacation resort.

One of the sisters pretends to be the rich and desirable Miss Mason, while the other two pretend to be her personal maid and secretary-companion. The idea behind the crazy scheming of the sisters is to marry one to a rich man and hope that he has rich friends.

Mr. Fred L. Brooks, sponsor of the Lendon Players and speech instructor, will direct the play.

Author Addresses Hinds' Students On Magnolia State

Mr. Jim Files, vice president of First Federal Savings and Loan Association in Jackson, spoke in assembly this morning on "Know Mississippi Better."

Mr. Files is the author of "Know Mississippi Better," a compilation of facts about Mississippi.

The holder of a bachelor's degree from Louisiana Tech and a Master's from the University of Utah, Mr. Files is the chairman of the Let's Talk Mississippi committee of the State Chamber of Commerce. He also serves as a Colonel on the staff of Gov. Ross Barnett.

A captain in the Air Force Reserve, Mr. Files is a veteran of World War II. He is married and the father of four daughters and a son.

College Pride .... A Sin?

College pride is — we hope — a pardonable sin, if sin it may be called.

In Zanesville, Ohio, the Chamber of Commerce makes this statement:

"Zanesville is an exceptionally rich city; so rich, in fact, that every blade of grass has a green back, every bird has a bill, the chimneys have their drafts, and maids wash our front doors with Gold Dust; every horse has a check, and every ditch has two banks; even our streets are flushed and the lawns get a rake-off; every cloud has a silver lining and every flower in the city has a scent; when you put a five dollar bill in your pocket you double it, and when you take it out you find it increases. Now do you want to live here or not?"

Zanesville, Ohio, is not the only place which must be pardoned for its pride. The new South has it too. Mississippi has it and Hinds Junior College has it.

It is not necessary to exaggerate when speaking about the fine qualities and opportunities at Hinds, because in this case, truth is stronger — if not stranger — than fiction.

Hinds is an all-around college. It excells academically, morally, socially — in all phases.

Be Neat .... Don't Litter

With the installation of a new fountain-type drink machine in the campus grill, the Eagles' Nest, a small problem has been created on the campus. It is necessary for all drinks to be served in paper cups. This necessitates a disposal problem — at least to a minority of students.

Paper cups have been found littering classrooms, corridors, walks, and the campus lawn. As before stated, this negligence represents a minority of students. We can truthfully say that the majority of Hinds students are respectful of public property.

The new drink machines were installed for the enjoyment and benefit of the students. In using crushed ice, the machines provide students with colder, more refreshing drinks.

The addition of the machine is just one step in advancement toward more modern student recreational facilities. We must continue to show our appreciation and our desire for bettering campus facilities.

Post Office Fights Back

Postmasters throughout Mississippi are trying to track-down sources of obscene literature in the mail. This is in compliance with the new policy statement in the field of law enforcement against mail obscenity which was issued by Postmaster General J. Edward Day.

"We are confident that the general public realizes there are stern laws against this type of corrupting activity and that other law enforcement agencies throughout the country will cooperate with us in bringing to our attention cases that require investigation or action," stated Postmaster General Day.

Although there has been no evdence of obscene literature through the mails at Hinds, there is always an ever-threatening possibility for it to begin. In cooperation with the postoffice officials, we should contact them at the first sight of any obscene literature in the mail.

Tragedy ... Something To Remember

By JEAN RODGERS

It is only natural that we, as mere humans, often feel sorry for ourselves for no real reason at all. Perhaps that is fitting—we gain a sort of self release. But when we see a real tragedy strike close at hand, then we should pause and thank God for giving us a whole and healthy body.

Such a tragedy has struck the campus of Hinds Junior College. Perhaps you are not even aware of this fact. When you search the grim, realistic horror of this situation, you will indeed pause and give thanks.

Little Theresa Millwood was, just six short weeks ago, as healthy and as happy as a three-and-a-half months old child can be. Her father, Eugene Millwood, was a Hinds student, learning the trade of a machinist. The Millwood family had no apparent troubles. Then the world suddenly turned dark.

Theresa developed broncholitis, then a stomach virus. She finally had to be taken to the hospital. In the hospital she had a heart failure, then days and nights of suffering. Her parents suffered too.

JEAN

Theresa's troubles have caused her to have brain damage. She could possibly be blind. In a few days she will have to undergo a delicate brain operation to remove the damaged tissue. If she lives, what kind of a life will Theresa enjoy?

School is no more for Eugene Millwood. His lost class-time has caused him to lose his GI check. What was once a dream has now become a shattered memory. But human sorrow cannot be measured in days or minutes or dollars.

Life can take sudden, terrible turns—turns which we often do not understand. Perhaps it is better that little Theresa is too young to know what is happening. But her parents know.

We have much to be thankful for. Do not curse life if it is treating you well.

English Major, Veteran Hi-Stepper Homecoming Queen Receives Honor

By MARY JO SULLIVAN

"Smile and the world smiles with you." This is the motto of Nancy Hamil, our sophomore of the week. Nancy's beaming smile is a ray of sunshine even in the darkest hours.

Nancy has the reputation of being dependable and willing to lend a helping hand wherever she is needed. Her winning personality was rewarded when, at Carthage High School, Nancy was elected the most courteous and friendliest girl in her class.

CARTHAGE CUTIE
Nancy Hamil

Further proof of her outstanding popularity and ability while in high school was her election as FHA president, cheerleader for four years, football queen for two years, DAR Good Citizenship Girl, and FFA Sweetheart.

Nancy's talents have continued to be recognized during her two years at Hinds, where she has given her best to each of her activities. Much of Nancy's time and energy has been devoted to the annual and the English Club, where her labor has been greatly appreciated. Nancy is also a member of the famous Hi-Steppers and Phi Theta Kappa.

The Hindsonian staff wishes to extend its congratulations to Nancy and wish her the best of everything in the future, for she certainly deserves it.

WUS Program of Action Available Around World

By CORKIE LYLE

The Government of the Union of South Africa passed legislation which in 1960 closed universities to African students and segregated them in three tribal colleges.

CORKIE

A South African Committee for Higher Education (SACHED) was formed. SACHED has been able to establish a tutorial system of education for non-whites. University teachers participate in the program as tutors, and the students will study with them for five years to attain their degree, which will be a B.A. from London University. The annual tuition per student is $280.

With the legislative action, SACHED represents the only remaining possibility for native South Africans to obtain adequate university training. With all the trouble in the Congo, this need is quite well known.

Among the projects of the World University Service, besides the one above, is one in Nigeria to provid housing so that more students, who are waiting for admission to University College, Ibadan, can obtain education. An ambitious African program, for which money is being raised, will institute health services at universities in six countries.

The rebuilding of dormitories at the University of Conception in Chile has been undertaken by WUS after the devastating earthquakes. Ten units accommodating 22 students each are being constructed. The Rector of the WUS saying that more units need to be built before the University starts the new academic year in April is quite true.

The earthquakes in May and June left 1000 students in need of housing at the University. Not only were dormitories destroyed, but also the boarding houses where several hundred students lived.

The above accounts are only a few of the many jobs that the WUS has undertaken to help students in various countries. Whether these students suffer from food, housing, or schools, the Service does its best to supply ample benefits.

The WUS is an organization, non-denominational, that takes as its objective the helping of man's fellow-man, whether he be black or white, or yellow or brown. With the prayers and monetary aids of many Americans, work will continue in a more rapid step. Aid the WUS in every way.

Announce Final Choir Arrangements; Fourteen Colleges To Be Represented

The annual Mississippi Junior College Choral Festival will be held on the Hinds campus Saturday, March 11, with fourteen state junior colleges participating.

According to Mr. Leslie Reeves, head of the Hinds music department, Mr. Loren Davidson, Louisianna State University music director, will be the guest conductor of the festival.

Members of the Hinds choral group are making the final preparations and arrangements for the 500 students from over the state who will participate in this year's program.

Students from the following junior college choirs have indicated that they will participate in the festival: Itawamba, Northeast, Northwest, Delta, Holmes, East Mississippi, East Central, Copiah-Lincoln, Pearl River, Perkinston, Southwest, Jones, Meridian, and Hinds.

Each of the participating schools will present a 15-minute program during the day. All musical arrangements will be at a pre-appointed time during the festival.

The evening concert will be divided into two parts. Each participating school will present one number in variety style. This group of mem-in variety style. This group of numbers will be followed by the festival choir singing the selected festival music.

Dean's Daughter Receives Finalist Merit Scholarship

Judy Herring, daughter of Dean and Mrs. M. F. Herring of Raymond, has been named a finalist in the 1960-61 National Merit Scholarship Program.

Judy attained finalist status by her distinguished performance on two tests and upon endorsement by her high school. About six-tenths of one per cent of the seniors in each state received the awards. About 9,800 seniors across the nation received finalists status.

Judy was notified of her being selected two weeks ago by the National Merit Scholarship Program. Each year this group sponsors tests for high school seniors with high scholastic averages and intellectual quotients.

Judy is a senior at Raymond High School and plans to attend Hinds Junior College this next fall.

Announce Hours For X-Ray Unit On Local Campus

The Mississippi State Department of Health will send an x-ray bus to the Hinds Junior College on March 8. The bus will stay on campus all day.

All students and faculty members are urged to have x-rays made. The bus will be parked in front of the boy's physical education building.

The bus will take x-rays between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 12:00 noon, 1:00 p.m. and 4:00 p.m., and from 6:30 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. for night students.

History Teacher To Participate In Society Meet

Dr. Thomas E. Stricklin, Hinds faculty member, will attend the annual meeting of the Mississippi Historical Society to be held in Jackson on March 3-4. Headquarters for the meeting will be the King Edward Hotel.

Among the guest speakers will be the Honorable Ross Barnett, Governor of the State of Mississippi; the Honorable J. P. Coleman, former Governor of Mississippi; Dr. John K. Bettersworth, Mississippi State University; and Dr. James W. Silver, University of Mississippi.

The Mississippi Historical Society was organized in Jackson on November 9, 1958, in the Old Capitol.

President's Group Attends Meeting; Stake In Junior Colleges Subject

"America's Stake in the Junior College" is the theme of the 41st Annual Convention of the American Association of Junior Colleges, which is being held at the Sheraton Park Hotel, Washington, D. C., February 28-March 3, 1961.

President G. M. McLendon, accompanied by Assistant Administrator Robert M. Mayo, Registrar Mildred Herrin, and Mrs. McLendon, is representing Hinds at the conference.

The American Association of Junior Colleges has its national headquarters in Washington and represents over 500 of the junior colleges in the nation. These junior colleges are joined together to stimulate professional growth and development.

The association voices the interest of the many different types of institutions and presents junior college education as a whole.

Applications Here For Qualification Tests On Campus

Applications for the April 27, 1961 administration of the College Qualification Test are now available at Selective Service System local boards throughout the country.

Eligible students who intend to take this test should apply at once to the nearest Selective Service local board for an application and a bulletin of information.

Applications for the April 27 test must be postmarked no later than midnight, April 6, 1961. They should be mailed to Selective Service Examining Section, Educational Testing Service, P. O. Box 586, Princeton, New Jersey.

It is to the student's advantage to file for application immediately. Test results will be reported to the student's Selective Service local board of jurisdiction.

Various Sidelights Compete Always With Debate Group

An unusual sidelight of the Gulf States Debate Tournament, held this past weekend in the flood-stricken city of Hattiesburg, was the sight of the Hinds debaters and their sponsor wading through several inches of water in order to reach the proper building for a debate.

The team was nearly "washed down the drain" Friday noon when they were caught between buildings in a sudden downpour of liquid sunshine. Several debaters were forced to stand in water-logged shoes for several hours before being able to gain any relief.

Another thrill came when lightning nearly struck the motel in which the team was staying.

A weather spook has followed the Hinds debaters constantly. At the Ole Miss tournament, it rained the entire time the team was on the University campus.

When the debaters visited the Mendenhall Lions Club, four tornadoes struck Simpson County during their performance.

And then the Hattiesburg affair—flood and pestilence everywhere.

Perhaps it is best that the debate season is finished. The world is saved!

Two Deans To Attend Conference

Two Hinds Junior College faculty members will attend the Sixteenth National Conference on Higher Education to be held in Chicago, March 5-8.

Mr. M. F. Herring, dean of instruction, and Mr. Clyde Benton, dean of men, will represent the college at the four-day confab, which will be held at the Morrison Hotel.

"Goals for Higher Education in a Decade of Decision" is the theme of the meet, which will consist of panel discussions, group discussions, and information sessions.

Chairman of the Association for Higher Education's planning committee for the sixteenth National Conference is Mr. C. Addison Hickman, Vandeveer Professor of Economics, Southern Illinois University.

Project Design Engineer Addresses Engineer Club; President Boyt Presides

Mr. James Sanders of Michael Baker Jr., Inc., spoke to the Engineers Club on the campus last Friday. His address was entitled "Problems In Construction."

Mr. Sanders has been project design engineer for the new Jackson Municipal Airport in Rankin County since 1955. He spoke on the selecting of the sight, construction problems, and maintenance of the equipment.

Billy Boyt of Jackson serves as club president. Other officers are Bill Manning, Jackson, vice president, and Huey Barker, Jackson, secretary.

Club sponsors are Miss Lurline Stewart and Mr. Rosser Wall.

Hinds Bows Out To Jones 'Cats In District Tournament, 90-71

Hampered by 31 personal fouls and by Jones center Jerry Smith, the Hinds Eagles went down to defeat at the claws of the Jones County Junior College Bobcats Friday night 90-71.

The loss eliminated the local cagers from the South Mississippi playoff and terminated all action for the homestanding squad. The win gave the Ellisville crew the right to meet Perkinston in the regional finals Saturday.

Fouls Hurt

Coach Troy Ricks' lads were injured by their numerous fouls and the accurate free tosses of the visiting Cats, who sank 38 charity throws

Jones' main support came from center Jerry Smith, who racked up 31 points and completely dominated the backboards. Other aids for the Maroon and White Ellisville five were Carlos McDaniel's 16, Bob Cradic's 15, and Ronald Russell's 12.

Vaughn Leads Way

The Eagles, paced by guard Lewis Vaughn, center David Jones, and forward Wayne Hensley, fired with superb accuracy and tallied a 38-38 deadlock at intermission, but faltered in opening minutes of the second half and were never able to catch back up.

4 in Doubles

Vaughn tallied 13 points, while Hensley and Jones poured in 12 each to set the Birds in the scoring column. The only other man in double figures was center David Yewell with 10.

Five other Eagles chalked their name into the scoring column with eight, six, five, four, and one point respectively. They were Dean Liles, Billy Rhodes, Norman Pace, Paul McMillan, and Sammy Rhodes.

SPORTS PREVIEW

Excuse, Our Slip's Showing

By TOMMY NANCE

Much talk, but we're afraid little action, has been done concerning Hinds' future on the baseball diamond. Last year's excuse was that with the building of Southside dormitory, an adequate field couldn't be had, but we are wondering what kind of excuse will be thrown up this year.

Hinds has plenty of talent and guidance to direct a good — if not championship — ball club, but will we even be represented this season? That's the current question in many students' minds.

Another factor that may be thrown up is that not enough junior colleges in this state field a team and that the expenses don't cover the balance. This institution is known to be one of the wealthiest of its kind in the state, and surely it has expenses to pay for a good representative on the field this spring.

TOMMY

Fields Turn Green

We noticed that Itawamba, under a new coach, is opening baseball drills next month. Coach Bud Davis is taking the place of John Crubaugh, who is the new Fulton college president. It certainly shows that baseball is well-liked up there, since a change in the coaching staff had to be made.

Last year the Chieftains failed to support a nine because of a last-minute coaching change, but no "dilly-dallying" was made this season.

The fight has only begun on the Hinds campus, for we are solidly behind the boys who want to get out and represent their college on the diamond. What will it take to field a team — the Board only knows.

Millsaps Shares Spotlight

Millsaps College, holder of the national record for consecutive defeats in collegiate cage play, must now share the title with Olivet College in Michigan.

Olivet lost its 46th straight game, 54-47, to Alma College to put it even with the Jackson college. The record that Millsaps set was in 1956, but Olivet has become a modern day version of its Southern competitor and has failed to chalk up a win since 1959, when it defeated Ferris Institute.

We guess Olivet is due some congratulations, but when we went to write them down, it seemed kind of silly. Anyway, best of luck for such a "fine" record, although the Comets won't know until next year whether they will top the record or not. By the way, it was their 10th defeat this season.

Jones, East Central Battle For Victory In Initial Afternoon Game

A "battle of the bulges" — not waistlines but junior college basketball teams — will begin Friday over in Decatur and conclude Saturday morning for the overall Mississippi junior college cage championship.

Jones, Itawamba, Perkinston, and East Central will clash this week for the coveted trophy and title to decide the state's top junior college roundball squad.

Gaining the right to meet in the tourney, Itawamba took the North regional title by drubbing East Central, 68-58, up in Fulton, while Jones edged by Perkinston, 87-83, here at Raymond.

Scorers Tie

Ira Lewis and Bob Hines scored 20 points each to lead the upstate Indians over Decatur's Warriors, while the second place East Central five was paced by John White's 19.

Scoring 32 points in the grand finale, Bobcat Charles McDaniel led his Jones club to its victory with 10 field goals and 12 charity tosses. Husky center Jerry Smith, who aided in the win against Hinds, sank 22 points for second place honors, while Bob Cradic was the only other double bracket man with 15.

Perk Closes In

Perkinston, who was the dark horse in the tournament, jumped ahead early in the second half, but soon faltered behind the superb hitting of the Bobcats. Ron Johnson tallied 24 points to gain the Bulldog's high mark, while Ford Turner and Ogwin Clarke followed with 21 and 18 respectively.

Jones knocked off second seeded Hinds and Copiah-Lincoln in advancing into the finals, while Perkinston tripped by top seeded Southwest, who had defeated Pearl River the previous night, in an overtime affair Friday night.

Itawamba took tourney victories over Delta and Northwest in reaching the finals, while East Central captured a win over East Mississippi to advance. In Thursday's activity East Mississippi won over Northeast and Northwest beat Holmes.

Local Arena Site For Big 8 Classic In Weekend Slate

Cage activity isn't over yet on the local campus, for the 1961 overall Big Eight Championship tournament will be held here Friday and Saturday.

With the Jackson City Auditorium and Pearl's "House of Tournaments" being already filled for the coming week-end, Hinds' arena was the only other logical neutral choice for the important tourney.

Murrah, the new North divisonal champ, and Yazoo City's Indians will be representing the Yankee groups, while Gulfport and Hattiesburg journey up from the South.

Pairings and game times aren't set as of yet, but Murrah will meet Hattiesburg for the Colts' initial game, while Gulfport will clash with Yazoo City.

Phillips, Rushing Receive Praise For Devoted Basketball Service

By TOMMY NANCE

Just like two peas in a pod; wherever you find one, you can always find the other there also. So is the case for two deserving girls on the Hinds campus.

FIGHT FOR EAGLETTES — Gail Rushing and Joan Phillips take time out from their busy schedules to pose for Hindsonian photographer after they completed another successful season with Hinds' female representatives on the hardwood floor. (Photo by Rush).

Joan Phillips and Gail Rushing have just finished their final cage activity in the Jackson City League and have paced the Eaglettes to the number two slot in the standings.

Team Leaders

Never have two girls represented Hinds with such desire and ability as have these two this past basketball season. Both have been the spark that lit the fuse on the Hinds team.

Joan, who averaged better than 26 points per game, hails from Pearl, where she was a high school standout in athletics. Coming to the Raymond campus, she picked up where she left off in high school and became president of the Women's Athletic Association.

Beauty Plus Brains

Forest Hill is the home of Gail and also is the home of Hinds' representative in the Miss Mississippi contest. Gail combines beauty with brains, since she was recently elected an Eagle beauty and is a member of the Phi Theta Kappa.

Wishing to express her sincere thanks through the newspaper means, Mrs. Peggy Swett stated, "Both girls have done fine jobs on and off the cage floor this season, as Joan's 26-point average shows, but there isn't a better guard in the state than Gail."

500 Students To Perform At Festival

The schedule of events for the Mississippi Junior College Music Festival to be held on the Hinds campus Saturday, March 11, was released today by Mr. Leslie Reeves, choir director.

More than 500 students from 10 state junior colleges will take part in the festival.

The day's activities will open with registration from 8:30 until 8:45, then all the choirs will assemble in the auditorium.

Each college choir will present a fifteen minute program at the following time: Northeast, 9 a.m.; Holmes, 9:15 a.m.; Co-Lin, 9:30 a.m.; Poplarville, 9:45 a.m.; Meridian, 10:00 a.m.; Jones, 10:15 a.m.

All choirs will assemble in the auditorium at 10:30 for the festival chorus rehearsal. Lunch will be served in the college cafeteria at 12 noon.

Following lunch, programs will be presented by Northwest, 1:00 p.m.; East Central, 1:15 p.m.; Hinds, 1:30 p.m.; Perkinston, 1:45 p.m. A director's meeting will be held in the faculty lounge at 12:15 p.m.

Supper will be served in the cafeteria for the choir members at 5:00 p.m.

The evening concert is scheduled for the college auditorium at 7:00 p.m. and will be in two parts. Each choir will present one number in variety style, then the festival choir will sing the selected festival music.

Mr. Loren Davidson, Louisiana State University voice instructor, will be guest conductor for the festival choir.

The public is invited to attend all parts of the festival.

Lendon Players Release 'Three Blind Mice' Cast

Tryouts for Three Blind Mice, a three act comedy sponsored by the Lendon Players, were held in the college auditorium Wednesday, March 1.

The cast, consisting of eleven members, has five male and six female roles.

The leading characters in the play are the three blind mice—Pamela Mason, to be played by Kay Adams; Eliabeth Mason, to be portrayed by Gwen Canoy; and Moira Mason, to be played by Eloise Wilkes.

Among the other characters in the play are Henry Trowbridge, a hard-working lawyer, to be played by Conrad Robertson. Beth Strong has the part of Edna Parker, a well-known, sophisticated looking gossip columnist in her late twenties.

Stephen Harrington, a pleasant, intelligent young millionaire, will be portrayed by Brooks Reid.

Other characters include Conrad Harrington, a middle-aged woman chaser, played by Henry Brown; Mrs. Alice Bramber, who is a few years younger than her brother, Conrad, played by Sue Willoughby.

Also in the play is Albert DuPont, social director of the hotel, played by Jack Roberts; Mr. Cord, the hotel manager, played by Charles Seeger; and the hotel waitress, played by Norma Ann Dunnam.

Rehearsals for the production began Monday night.

Three Blind Mice is the last of the two annual productions presented by the Lendon Players. The first production was The Imaginary Invalid, given November 17.

Admission will be $.50 for students and $1.00 for adults.

Baptist Couple To Address Hinds BSU On March 13

Two missionaries to Indonesia will speak to the Baptist Student Union on March 13 at 6:15 p.m.

Dr. and Mrs. C. Winfield Applewhite, who are missionaries in Kediri, Indonesia, will address the Baptist group.

Mrs. Applewhite is a native of Union, and Mr. Applewhite was born in Atlanta, Ga.

Prior to Dr. Applewhite's appointment to Indonesia by the Foreign Mission Board, he practiced surgery in Statesville, N. C., for three years. Previously he worked under the U.S. Public Health Service for six years.

Also, Mr. Applewhite served as an officer in the U.S. Army Medical Corps for two years, and following World War II, he served in Okinawa and Japan.

Mrs. Applewhite attended Blue Mountain College and later received her B.R.E. from New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary.

All BSU members and any visitors interested are invited to attend the meeting to hear the message of these two missionaries.

Wesley Council To Set Official Planning Meet

The Wesley Foundation, headed by President I. M. Beasley, will hold its monthly council meeting Monday night in the girls' gymnasium.

Set for 5:30, the meeting will precede the regular service of Wesley at 6:15. Plans for upcoming programs and organizational events will be made by the council members and the group will plan programs to extend through the last two months of school.

Programs that will be given later in the year concern liturgical jazz, a special Easter service, and several short "talk back" films concerning everyday student problems.

District Eight Science Conference To Convene On Hinds Campus Friday

The District Eight science meeting will be held Friday, March 10, on the Hinds Junior College campus. The group will hold a banquet in the college cafeteria at 7:00 p.m.

At the present time, twenty high schools are expected to be represented at the meet. Counties to be represented are Warren, Hinds, Rankin, Yazoo, Madison, and Simpson. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss plans concerning the adoption of a constitution for the group.

Mr. Rosser Wall, Hinds botany instructor, is president of the Mississippi Education Association district, Mrs. John Adams, Hinds chemistry teacher, is secretary-treasurer, and Mr. Russell Crider of Florence is vice-president.

Following a short program presented by the Hinds Junior College choir, Mr. Robert M. Mayo, Hinds administrative assistant, will speak to the group.

"The district group could prove to be the pilot group for the entire state and lead other schools to participate in meetings of this type," states Mr. Wall.

The meetings will be a one-day affair.

EDITOR'S NOTE

There will be no Hindsonian published for the following two weeks. The next issue of the paper will be on March 29.

Because of spring holidays on March 16-17, there will be no issue of the Hindsonian March 15. No Hindsonian will be printed March 22 because it is during nine weeks exams, which are scheduled for March 20-24.

All club reporters and faculty members are requested to continue turning in club reports and noteworthy information during the two-week period.

Local Instructors To Visit Ole Miss For History Meet

Two Hinds Junior College social studies instructors, Mr. Thomas Stricklin and Miss Susan Brown, are planning to attend the 1961 workshop for Junior College Social Studies Instructions to be held on the University of Mississippi campus.

"The Role of the Social Sciences On The New Frontier" is the theme of the workshop. The key speaker at the confab is Dr. Iredell Jenkins, Chairman of the Department of Philosophy of the University of Alabama.

ON MARCH 29

YWCA Plans Pre-Easter Service

A Pre-Easter service, sponsored by the Young Women's Christian Association, will be held in the college music auditorium March 29 at 6:15 p. m.

Rev. J. A. Lindsey will be the guest speaker for the service. The theme of the program will be "The Seven Last Words of Christ."

Special music for the service will be provided by the Hinds choir.

Making additional plans for the meeting are club officers Shirley Hebron, president, Maxyne Ware, vice president, Sid Lindsey, secretary-treasurer, and Pat Brown, reporter.

American Way Of Life

Most of us believe in what we call the American way of life — a way of life which offers to the individual more freedom, more advantages, more rights, more opportunity, and more happiness than any other system of government in the world.

The basis of our system is self-government, which means that every citizen must take part in the process of government.

A calm examination of our opportunities leads to the inescapable conclusion that each of us can do something to improve our political, social, religious, and economic life. There is no justification for any of us to wallow in complacency as long as:

1. Half our qualified voters fail to go to the polls and vote in important elections.

2. Three million American children of school age are not getting even an elementary education.

3. Millions remain ignorant of the doctrines, purposes and tactics of Communism, Fascism, or Nazism, or fail to support our own democratic system against these threats.

Our American Heritage has been called "The American Dream." This glorious dream may become a nightmare unless we eliminate indifference toward public affairs.

Only the conscientious, day-by-day performance of our civic duties can make the American dream come true. The future of Mississippi and the future of America — our future — is in the hands of the voter — and of Future Votersr; for youth, as well as adults, are citizens, too.

Hinds Junior College students are citizens of today and leaders of tomorrow — part of the ever-growing future.

New Project For Circle K

Hinds Junior College's Circle K Club has undertaken the project of building a hitch hiker's stand at the curve of the highway in front of the school. This structure is for the benefit of Hinds students. It is being erected to enable a hitch hiker to catch a ride more easily and to protect him from the weather.

Among the other projects being considered by the Circle K is the rewaxing of the College signs at the entrances to the college. This deed will greatly improve the appearance of the two signs.

The Circle K Club is one of the outstanding service organizations on the Hinds campus and has performed countless services for the college and its students. Its members are pledged to high standards of scholarship and citizenship.

Welcome To Our Campus

The Hinds Junior College student body and faculty members extend a welcome to the ten junior college choirs visiting our campus this weekend.

We are glad that you are our guests, and we hope that your stay on our campus is pleasant.

Our campus and its facilities are open for your use and enjoyment. We take pride in our school, and we welcome you as our guests to share it with us.

It is our desire that your stay be a very pleasant and enjoyable one and that you will visit us again in the future.

Negro Soprano Captures Met With Vastness

By CORKIE LYLE

Leontyne Price, Negro Metropolitan Opera soprano from Laurel, has recently been the main feature of the weekly Times magazine. Miss Price's life story was related to the magazine readers.

CORKIE

Time states: "Miss Price can send her soprano flooding through a house the size of the Met without straining and with the marvelously reassuring suggestion that she has power to spare; but her singing also has all the agility and the feather-lightness of a much smaller voice."

Once in Miss Price's life she became almost angry at a group of people at a funeral. Miss Price was asked by the family to sing the special music, and her music was so moving that the people in the congregation asked her to be quiet. She did, but vowed angrily: "That's the last funeral I'll ever do."

One of the biggest boosters to Miss Price's career is the family of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Chisolm, white residents of Laurel. The Chisolms went to the home of Leontyne after she began to make her way into singing and asked if they could help her in any way. Today this family is one of the biggest Price boosters in the nation.

Miss Price said that their visit and asking if they could be of service was one of the nicest things that had ever been done for her. She said it meant more to her than for the Chisolms to just send money for her further education in music.

Miss Price's first major role was in the George Gershwin production of Porgy and Bess. She toured over the United States and Europe, as well as on the Broadway stage.

Now, she is signed up for the lead in Il Trovatore, Aida, Butterfly, Don Giovanni, and Turandot. Miss Price is currently starring in the Broadway production of Butterfly.

Have you ever noticed the ring-twisters, paper tearers, pencil tappers, purse snappers, or pencil chewers on the campus? Or, like the multitude of others, are you one of these?

JEAN

These people are all on the everyday worry-go-round. Handling the strings of the worry-go-round is HiTension. Surely you've met him. He is ever present to tighten the strings on your nerves — the strings of the worry-go-round.

An interesting pamphlet entitled The Worry-Go-Round has been published by the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company. It dramaties the more common causes of emotional disturbances.

The first type of personality is the "Wheel." He is the one who will explode some day if he doesn't calm down.

Typical of many students at Hinds is the "Moonlight Madness" personality. HiTention has really been at work on these people. Worrying during the day is not enough for these people; they let their problems pursue them through the night.

The passive-looking "wishful dreamer" is doomed with frustration. Nothing ever goes right—work piles higher and higher.

Everyone knows "jittery joe." His continued nervous tension will drive anyone crazy. Almost all of us are found guilty of being jittery.

"Envious Ed" is always worrying about what someone else is doing. He has to keep "on the ball" at all times. No one can get ahead of him.

One of the saddest cases of all is "Yes Man." He doesn't know what it is like to say no. He is the good ole indespensable guy of whom everyone takes advantage.

Yes, the world is full of nervous wrecks—or, people on the verge of being overwhelmed by nervous tensions.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Basketball Ace, Phi Theta Kappa Man, BSU Member Intellectual Athlete --- Qualifies As Top Sophomore

By JEAN RODGERS

You can't always tell a book by its cover. This saying well fits this week's sophomore of the week.

Who could ever guess that beneath those sparkling blue eyes and easy-going — almost lazy — manners lies an intellect that is hard to beat.

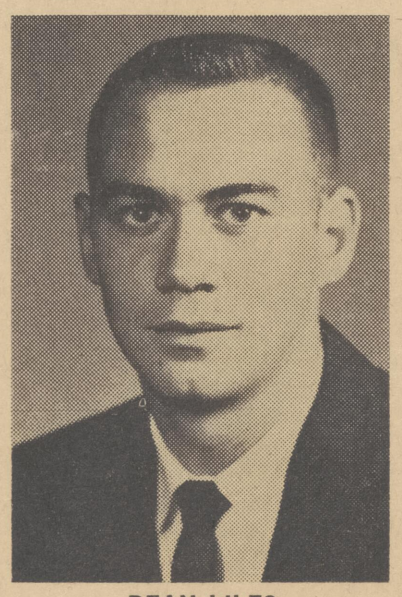
Dean Liles from Learned holds the top honor spot of the week.

Good natured Dean has a plentiful supply of wit and charm. Because of his versatile personality, Dean is never lacking friends.

A happy-go-lucky guy is the general first impression one gets of Dean.

When he was attending Raymond High School, Dean lettered in football, basketball, and track. Also, he was a captain of the high school football team during his senior year.

Outstanding in his leadership ability, Dean was a class officer for four years at Raymond. During his first three years he was class president, and in his senior year he was elected vice president of his class.



DEAN LILES
Hinds Letterman

Further proof of his intellect is that Dean graduated from high school with honors. He was president of the Beta Club and vice president of the student council.

Dean was cast in class plays for four years, on the annual staff, paper staff, and was chosen wittiest for two consecutive years.

Six-foot-four Dean has lettered at Hinds in basketball for two years. He is an outstanding Eagle forward.

Dean, who was recently initiated into the Phi Theta Kappa, is a member of the Men's Recreational Association, Circle K Club, and the Baptist Student Union.

Majoring in business, Dean is planning to attend Delta State College next year.

The halls of Hinds shall truly miss Dean's natural personality after his graduation this spring. His versatility will take him high on the ladder of success. The Hindsonian staff wishes him well in his future life.

Ex-Marine Officer Attends Hinds; Plans To Teach School In Future

EDUCATION IS A TEAM affair with the Hubert R. Strong family of Jackson. Mrs. Strong waves good-bye to Michael, Susan, and Mr. Strong as they leave for their different schools. Michael attends 9th grade classes at Peeples Junior High; Susan attends the 4th grade at Sykes Elementary; and Captain Strong is enrolled at Hinds Junior College as a freshman. Photo by Rush.

What does one normally do when one retires at age 42 after twenty-one years and six months in the United States Marines? Fish, hunt, and take life easy? Not so, says Captain Hubert R. Strong, USMC Retired, of Jackson, now a freshman at Hinds Junior College. Many people might not agree, but Captain Strong really does believe that life is just beginning at forty.

Captain Strong, better known to friends as "Roy," was born in the Utica vicinity on July 14, 1919. After graduating from Midway High School in Claiborne county, Roy rightly thought that his formal education had come to an end. In 1939, at the age of twenty, he joined the Marines as a private, and his duty roster from that point reads like a TWA travel brochure.

Parris Island, Quantico, and Camp LeJuene were but starting points for duty at Guantanmo Bay, Puerto Rico, New Zealand, Australia, the Central Pacific, Korea, Okinawa, and the Aleutian Islands. World War II found Private Strong starting up the ladder to become Captain Strong the hard way. In 1942 he was at Guadal Canal, at New Britain Island in 1944, and again that same year at Pelelieu.

The end of the war brought a few peaceful and eventful years. While stationed at Quantico, Va., in 1946, Roy met and married Naval Yoeman Laura O'Neill of Flushing, New York. Michael came into the Strong family in 1948, followed by Susan four years later. Then life took an abrupt change.

With the beginning of hostilities in 1953, Roy was sent into combat in Korea, where he remained for one year.

After Korea the Strong family moved around the U. S. to different duty stations, then Roy was discharged in September of 1960. He followed a desire of many years to "come back home," and the Strong family established residence in Jackson.

During his service life Roy had once served as Naval R.O.T.C. instructor for three years at the University of Nebraska, and this had given him a desire to follow a teaching career after retirement; but this would be impossible without education—thus Captain Strong became freshman Strong at Hinds, where he commutes each day from Jackson. After Hinds, Roy plans to complete his education at San Diego State College in California.

The Strongs now live at 3265 Rosemary Street in Jackson. Michael is in the 9th grade at Peeples Junior High and Susan is in the 4th grade at Sykes. Mrs. Strong keeps the home fort while the rest of the family goes about the business of getting an education.

Of all the many things one might imagine a retired Marine family would not care to do, the Strongs' favorite family pastime is sightseeing around Jackson and Central Mississippi. That is, when the books do not have first priority. Freshman Strong has a long way to go, but odds are that he will surely make it.

Herrin Releases Summer Brochure; To Offer 30 Full-Credit Courses

Miss Mildred Herrin, Hinds Junior College registrar, has recently released the 1961 summer school catalog. The leaflet is now being mailed to students desiring to attend Hinds this summer and to various high schools over the state.

A difference this year in the summer program will be the cancellation of the high school session. Miss Herrin states that more time will be applied to the college level than ever before. Only junior college courses will be given to students.

Classes are scheduled to begin on Monday, June 12, at 1:30 p.m., and run to Friday, July 14. The second summer session will begin Monday, July 17, and run to August 18. Classes will meet in air-conditioned classroom buildings on the campus, and the library, also air-conditioned, will be open for students.

Subjects and courses to be offered this summer are accounting, algebra, analytical geometry and calculus, art, botany, chemistry, economics, English literature, freshman composition, government, home economics, hygiene, language, mathematics of finance, music, office machines, physics, psychology, science survey, shorthand, sociology, speech, trigonometry, typewriting, U. S. history, vocational, vocational-technical, western civilization, and zoology.

Courses will be discontinued where the enrollment in the individual class is not sufficient to justify their being taught. Additional classes will be organized where there is sufficient demand for them.

Students may earn 12 semester hours in the ten-weeks session or 6 semester hours in a five-week term. Classes meet five days a week—Monday through Friday.

Dormitory facilities are open to summer school students and rooms are assigned on the basis of request. Reservations are made by filling out the proper application blanks.

Locker Manager Makes Speaking Tour Of County

Mr. Grady Sheffield, manager of the college frozen food locker plant, recently made a series of appearances before various home demonstration clubs.

Mr. Sheffield spoke to clubs at Raymond, Palestine, Lebanon, and Tinnin, all in Hinds county. His subject was "Buying and Preparing Meat."

Special emphasis was placed on three things which are of interest to the housewife: the quality, inspection, and grading of meats. All clubs he visited gave Mr. Sheffield an enthusiastic reception.

Mr. Sheffield also attended the March 2 meeting of the Mississippi Frozen Food Locker Association held in Kosciusko.

Student Education Association Sends Students To State Meet

Two members of the Hinds Junior College Student Education Association attended a tea in Jackson. The event took place at the King Edward Hotel last week.

Irene Adkins and Joe Quartaro, of Raymond and Canton respectively, attended the tea given by Delta Kappa Gamma honoring future teachers. The Bamboo Room at the hotel was the setting.

Miss Belle Lindsey and Mrs. Virginia Riggs, Hinds instructors, are members of the organization.

The S.E.A. held its weekly meeting on March 3. Mary Jean Bryant, Kaye Kimball, Betty Wadsworth, Irene Adkins, Rose Earnest, Betty Graves, Dallas Walker, Fields Bacon, and Joe Quartaro were in charge of the program.

The next meeting will be held March 31 in the audio-visual room in the academic building. A film entitled "A Desk for Billy" will be presented. Also at the meeting plans for Teacher Appreciation Day will be drawn up.

All persons interested in joining the club or are planning to enter the teaching profession are invited to attend this meeting.

SHOWS PROMISE

Young Delta Lettering Man Presents Work At Annual Jackson Flower Show

By CORKIE LYLE

He may never paint a Mona Lisa, but he is sure to make a name for himself in the art world.

Perhaps you saw his Christmas poster on display in the Administration building over the holidays, or maybe you saw some of his lettering projects on display in the art room. This talented young man is Wayne Neal.

Wayne's most recent project was the lettering for the annual Jackson Camelia Society Flower Show in Jackson. He did all the lettering for the event. His able assistant was his best friend, Patricia Andrews, of Vicksburg.

He is currently making the layout for the cover on next year's Hinds Junior College catalog. Yes, Wayne Neal, a freshman from Yazoo City, is a very busy young man. He is a member of Alpha Rho Tau, local honorary art fraternity on the campus.

On weekends and holidays, Wayne is employed at the Coleman Sign Company in Yazoo City. He is very well on his way in his chosen field and is showing great promise for the future.

He also lettered the placards for the homecoming cars and for the fashion show presented by the art group in the weekly assembly. His lettering was also exhibited in the windows of Kennington's in Jackson prior to the Camelia show.

Mrs. A. L. Denton, Hinds art instructor, says that she agrees that Wayne shows much promise for the future. She was instrumental in his getting the lettering job for the annual Camelia show.

With much experience behind him and with a promising outlook for the future, Wayne Neal should rank with the lettering greats.

Modern Language Club To Assemble Thursday Evening

Miss Hilda Ree Davis, sponsor of the Modern Language Club, announced today that the club will meet tomorrow night in the home economics building.

The meeting will begin at 6:30 p. m. John Wilda, sophomore from Milwaukee, will narrate a film from Mexico.

John has made several trips to Mexico and other sections of Central America. He traveled with a safari through Guatemala and Mexico.

CINDER TRYOUTS — Just as the hands of time change, so do sporting seasons. The Hinds track team is preparing for the upcoming cinder events in state junior college competition, with the following material: the front row is composed of Eddie Brennan, Ed Frashier, Fred Hughes, John Dewitt, Wilburn Williamson, while on the back row are Wally Lee, Howard Freeman, Ronnie Hayden, Mike Vinson, and Donny Ross. — Photo by Rush.

Head Track Mentor Releases Schedule For New Edition Of Hinds Cinder Squad

Hinds head track coach Ivan Rosamond recently announced a new, revamped schedule for the Eagle thinclads for the upcoming spring season.

Rosamond, who is in his second year as track mentor and assistant football coach on the Raymond campus, will be pushing his boys to bring back the track championship to Hinds after a three year lapse. Last year the Bird tracksters placed second to Delta in the state final meet.

State Meet Here

The schedule, consisting of 10 meets, begins with the Jones invasion on March 28 and terminates with the junior college finals here on the campus, May 6.

Other meets scheduled for the local boys are April 4—Delta at Moorhead; April 11—Copiah-Lincoln at Wesson; April 15—Perkinston at Hinds; April 18—Jones at Hinds; April 21—Jackson Daily News Track and Field Events; April 25—Holmes and Co-Lin at Hinds; April 29—Holmes and Delta at Hinds; and May 2—Perkinston at Perkinston.

New Meet Enters

The only new meet this year is the Daily News Events, which is a newcomer to state track circles. This meet, made up mostly of high schools, will pit the Raymond thinclads in the 440-yard run and the mile relay events.

Several boys have already begun practice although official season is still a few weeks away. Promising hopefuls who could prove enlightening for the 1961 edition are Mike Vinson, Howard Freeman, Wally Lee, John Dewitt, Wilburn Williamson, and Donny Ross.

Promising Hopefuls

Newcomers to the team are Ronnie Hayden, Fred Hughes, Ed Frashier, and Eddie Brennan. All are freshmen.

SPORTS PREVIEW

"Gonna Build Big Fence 'Round . . ."

By TOMMY NANCE

"Let's build a wall around Mississippi: stop all planes, stop all buses, stop all trains — stop all means of travel." So read a recent letter to the editor in Jackon's State Times.

The author, being a colonel of Governor Ross Barnett, wrote in defense of his stand on the rejection of Mississippi State's fine basketball club from attending the national cage tournament to determine the logical national champion.

The letter went on to say that Governor Barnett didn't refuse to participate in contests of law when the opposition was a Negro, so why didn't we boycott the National Political Conventions that were integrated?

TOMMY

The article was a personal opinion, probably from a State alumnus, but it might reflect opinions of several Mississippians.

Times Takes Stand

In the same edition, the Times took a stand in favor of State's going to the tourney. Editor Oliver Emmerich stated, "By boycotting national athletics we are helping other states, while hurting ourselves."

The degree of the injuries has not been determined, but the incident mentioned will help either Kentucky or Vanderbilt players, since these two fives finished in a second place tie in conference action. Who receives the NCAA berth will be decided tomorrow night in Knoxville when both meet on the arena floor.

New Ideas

Conservatives — and we aren't saying who is right or wrong, but remaining neutral—have developed the idea that if we allow our students to play Negroes, it will soon develop into total integration. Whether this fact remains true or not will be left solely to experience.

Another fact that is brought out among those who are in favor of the Starkville University's making the trip is that if the school shouldn't be allowed to go, neither should we send our Boy and Girl Scouts, National Youth Conference delegates, and many other groups to integrated meetings. We shouldn't play with partiality.

Preserve Our Rights

Certainly we should preserve segregation in our state and our fine Southern heritage, but can it be carried too far?

Mississippi has plenty of things to brag about, for we have not had segregation revolts, race riots, or any of the many other activities that our other Southern cohorts have witnessed, but do we limit our abilities to a certain extent?

We have tried to gather facts and figures, and we hope that each of you will be able to make up your own mind as to what will develop in future years as to the action taken on such a stand.

Local Softballers Turn To Diamonds In Varsity Classes

For the past month, the girls' physical education department has been the scene of vigorous activity as the females have battled each other on the cage floor.

But now, with the coming of warm weather and spring, the competition will begin to move out-of-doors, and softball takes the spotlight. With a week left before spring holidays, the gymnasium classes are winding up their intramural basketball tilts and an overall champion will be decided next week.

A little later in the season, the girls' attention will turn to the "greens," where golf will be the main interest in the feminine athletes' minds. Those interested in tennis will also get to try out their skills along with the golfers.

Indians Capture Title In State Tournament

"We're state champs" was the roar from the East Central gymnasium last night as the Itawamba Indians scalped south-divisional leader Jones, 71-49, for the state junior college basketball crown.

It was the 16th victory for Coach Bud Davis' crew and brought the state title back into the north district after a period of four years.

The Fulton champs proved that cage play isn't a jinx in north Mississippi as the Indians won their first state title behind the sharp shooting of three outstanding performers.

Bob Hines was the pace setter for the colorful victors as he collected 19 points, but was followed closely by Larry Stewart's 17. Stewart led first half superiority with his 15-point barrage. The other double figure man for Itawamba was Ira Lewis with 14.

Smith Hurts Club

Jones, who was undoubtedly hurt by Jerry Smith's absence, was led by Carlos McDaniel's 15 tallies. Ronald Russell and Carl Bass were the other two top scorers with 10 points each. Smith received a sprained ankle in the 'Cats opener against East Central and was unable to play at the center slot.

The upstate "Red Men" used their strong defensive play in the initial half to rack up a large 10-point lead at halftime, 27-17. The closest approach for the Bobcats was early in the second half when the Ellisville five climbed to within 12 points of the champions.

Semi-Final Action

Receiving the right to battle in the grand finale, the Bobcats took an opening night win over East Central's Warriors, 87-83, while Itawamba advanced over Perkinston, 79-60.

Bob Cradic, who was held to five points last night, sank 44 in Monday night's tilt to grab scoring honors for the Jones club. The hosting Warriors were led by Jay Dyer with 17, and a trio of scorers with 13—John White, Tom Croswell, and Mack Partridge.

Looking like pure champions in their bulge over Perk, Itawamba took a 79-60 win Monday night. The Indians were never in deep water and were aided by Lewis' 20 points. Hines, who pitched in only eight points, was the defensive leader with his 20 rebounds. Perkinston was paced by Ford Turner's 23 points.

NEW HOURS

Men's Rec Group Makes Changes For Club Members In New Sports

The days are longer now on the Hinds campus and new hours have been released for the Men's Recreation Association club room.

With more interest in intramural sports, the Rec. room will be open every week day at 3:30-5 and again at 6-8 in the evenings. Ping pong, weight lifting, and other indoor games can be played by members of the organization.

League action is again in full swing on the hardwood arena, with new clubs being formed. After the Tiger dominance in the initial standings, Coach Eddie Rodgers revamped the teams to create more competition.

Basketball activity will come to a close after spring holidays and outside sports will take the headline. Just as last year, the club will be divided into teams and a softball league will open.

Hilderbrand Slated To Head BSU For '61 - '62 Session

Frankie Hilderbrand, Bentonia freshman, was elected president of the 1961-62 Baptist Student Union at their weekly meeting last Monday night.

Elected as vice president was Earl Lee. Linda Clower was named enlistment chairman and Mary Elizabeth Hudson was elected to the post of devotional chairman.

Secretary for the next year will be Gloria Carroll.

Appointed to chairmanship were Joan Reese, missions chairman; Lynda Walker, music chairman; Edna Earle Hill, stewardship chairman; Darrell Walters, social chairman; Brooks Reid and Martha Steverson, publicity chairman; and David Bass and Rebecca Lee, Christian Citizenship chairman.

Other appointees were David Yewell, Sunday School Representative; Gerald Bates, Training Union representative; and Carla Ware, Y.W.A. president.

The day student representative and vocational representative will be chosen at the beginning of the school year in September.

Robert Mayo To Preside At Meeting

Mr. Robert M. Mayo, vice-president of the Mississippi Parent-Teacher Association, has been chosen to preside over the newest program of the State PTA Convention. Mr. Mayo is in charge of public relations for the organization.

"For Men Only" is a breakfast for male delegates to the State Convention which will be held at the Edgewater Gulf Hotel on the Gulf Coast on April 11-13.

Two special convention figures will be guests at the breakfast. Dr. William G. Hollister, who is the National Congress representative and is at present on the staff at the National Institute of Mental Health, and Richard D. Batchelder, immediate past president of the N.E.A. Department of Classroom Teachers from Newtonwill, Mass., will be honored at the breakfast.

Herrin Releases A-Student Roll; 7 Rank Highest

Miss Mildred Herren, Hinds Junior College registrar, has released the names of seven Hinds students who made a record of all A's for the first nine weeks of the second semester.

The select scholastic list includes Rita Anderson, Clinton; Sallie Baker, Miami, Fla.; Dot Gatlin, Forest; Sara Halsell, Jackson; Jean Rankin, Clinton; Margaret Reader, Jackson; and Roy Strong, Jackson.

According to Miss Herrin, an honor roll listing A and B students is released only at the termination of semesters.

Dean Of Women Attends National Convention In Denver, Colorado

Mrs. Frances Lee, Dean of Women, attended the American Personnel and Guidance Association convention held in the Denver Hilton Hotel in Denver, Colorado, March 27-28, 1961.

Mrs. Lee attended the National Association of Women Deans and Conuselors section of the Association. This section, founded in 1916, works to improve the professional competence of its members and to advance personnel work as a profession.

Education as a continuing process through all age levels and in the need for communication among counsellors and teachers at all levels was the theme of the meeting.

In addition, NAWDC has a specific interest in education as it relates to women in their changing roles in society and in the implications of these changes for counseling.

The current membership of NAWDC numbers approximately 2,000.

Teachers Will Display Abilities For Students

The Annual Hinds Junior College Faculty Talent Show will be held in the college auditorium on Tuesday, April 4, at 6:30 p. m.

The show will consist of a variety of songs, dances, readings, pantomines, and other stunts which will be presented by "brave" faculty members.

Teachers who have already promised to participate in the program include: Mr. and Mrs. Brooks, Mrs. Lee, Mrs. Sweat, Mrs. Keen, Mrs. Kimble, Mr. Harris, Mrs. Dukes, Miss Taylor, Miss Frew, Miss Mayfield, Mr. Adams, Mr. Wallace Wall, Mr. Herring, Mr. Denton and Mr. Oaks. Other faculty members will be contacted this week and added to the program.

Brooks Reed of Vicksburg will be Master of Ceremonies for the program. Admission to the show will be 25c.

The show will be sponsored by the Gamma Lambda Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa. The faculty talent show has been sponsored by the club each spring for several years now.

The profit will be used to send delegates from the local club to the national Phi Theta Kappa Convention which will be held in Sheridon, Wyoming, this April.

Hi-Steppers, Band Make Centennial Parade Showing

The Hinds Junior College Band and Hi-Steppers participated in the parade Tuesday morning that opened the Civil War Centennial commeration in Mississippi.

The group departed from the campus at 8:30 in band buses and joined the parade formation on Amite Street. The parade, which lasted two hours, moved down Mill Street and then up Capitol Street past the Old Capitol.

Some thirty high school and college bands participated in the festivities which were viewed by approximately 100,000 people lining Capitol Street. Jackson television station WLBT televised the spectacle.

One hundred and forty-six Confederate infantry and calvery units marched the parade route, and many companies had cannons which were fired at various intervals. These units were replicas of Confederate units from all sections of the state that were mustered for duty during the Civil War.

One unit in the parade carried a replica of a balloon used by Confederate forces for aerial observation and artillery spotting.

Governor Barnett and other Centennial officials led the parade in horse drawn carriages which were more than one hundred years old.

Jackson officials stated that this was the largest parade ever held in the State of Mississippi.

Easter Season Brings Reminisence Of Events Occurring 2,000 Years Ago

There is a beautiful song entitled, "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked." At this Easter season, it would be well to go with Him to the garden and see Him sweat great drops of blood. We could see his disciples fall asleep while he prayed.

We could watch one of the twelve betray him and another deny him; see him stand before the high priest and the Roman governor; feel the lash of the whip as he is scourged and the thorns as they dig into his flesh; hear the soldiers mock him and spit upon him.

Go with God's son as he drags his cross along until he falls exhausted. See them reach the brow of the hill and nail the spikes through his hands and his feet. Watch as the cross with its human burden is slowly raised and feel the agony of the nails tearing through the flesh as the cross drops to the upright position.

Hear the cry of the Son of God as his human body cries out and listen as his soul bows beneath the weight of the sins of the world and he cries, "My God, My God, why have you forsaken me?"

See the soldier thrust his spear into Jesus' side and watch the blood gush forth. The blood is mixed with water, indicating he died with a broken heart.

See the darkness fall as God refuses to look upon the suffering of his son. Watch them take Him down and place him in a tomb. A heavy stone rolled in place to close the entrance.

Standing there with bowed heads, we wonder why this had to be. To live a life so wonderful and then to die in such agony, why must this be? But listen to the words he spoke to Nicodemus in John 3:16: "For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son that whosoever believeth in him should not perish but have everlasting life."

Remember the words of the Phophet Isaiah: "But he was wounded for our transgressions; He was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon Him; and with his stripes we are healed."

Now the awful truth begins to dawn upon us. We are responsible for what we have witnessed. It was our sins that caused him to suffer and bleed and die. God be merciful and forgive. How awful our sins must be to cause him to suffer such agony.

It is Easter morning now and we stand before the empty tomb. An Angel informs us that "He is not here. He is risen." There is joy and peace in our hearts because we remember that he said: "Let not your heart be troubled: Ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my father's house are many mansions: If it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also."

This is the spirit of Easter. The promise of new life in Christ. A new life that never ends.

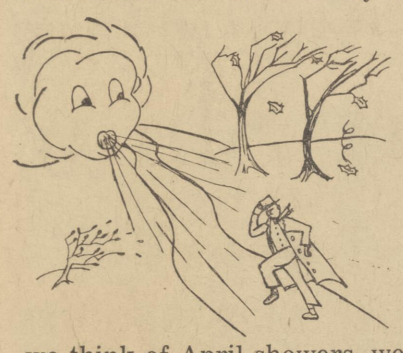
Showers Bring Flowers

The cool breezes followed by sudden gusts of wind on the Hinds campus are typical of the fast-ending month of March. As the windy season is coming to a close, we are faced with the traditionally shower-filled month of April.



Spring bounced her way onto the campus March 20 with her 'teasing' spurts of warmth, and she will continue her merry - making throughout April and May.

April is expected to come gushing her way into our lives with rain, rain, and more rain. But, when we think of April showers, we immediately reflect upon the flowers that bloom in May.

The trees, grass and flowers of the area surrounding Hinds and Raymond are bursting forth in their 'Sunday-best' apparel for spring. The forlorn, barer limbs are now graced with pleasant, green sprigs, while the earth has been covered by a velvet green carpet. Flowers, shooting up in unexpected corners, appear to be shouting, "It is spring . . . spring . . . spring."

One of the prettiest descriptions of spring's appearance is a passage from "Early Times," a poem which appeared many years ago in the Chicago Journal. It goes:

A breath of spring in the breezy woods,
Sweet wafts from the quivering pines—
Blue violet eyes beneath green hoods,
A bubble of brooklets, a scent of buds,
Bird warbles and clambering vines.

Rejoice In Easter

Sunday will behold a great time of rejoicing for Christians the world over. Easter Sunday marks the resurrection of Christ the third day after his death by crucifixion.

The beautiful Easter story can best be found by reading from the Scriptures:

In the end of the sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdelene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre.

And, behold, there was a great earthquake: for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it.

His countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow:

And for fear of him the keepers did shake, and became as dead men.

And the angel answered and said unto the women, Fear not ye: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified.

He is not here: for he is risen, as he said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay.

And go quickly, and tell his disciples that he is risen, from the dead; and behold, he goeth before you into Galilee; and there shall ye see him: lo, I have told you.

And they departed quickly from the sepulchre with fear and great joy; and did run to bring his disciples word.

And as they went to tell his disciples, behold, Jesus met them saying, All hail. And they came and held him by the feet, and worshipped him.

SOPHOMORE OF WEEK

Bruce Lassie, Library Science Major, Wins Top Honor

By BELINDA HILL

"Sugar and spice and all things nice," and such is Anne made of. Femininity personified — that's Anne Spencer of Bruce.

Anne is a very unique girl. Unlike many co-eds, she is eternally calm, cool, collected and reserved.

Lasting marks have been made on many a student because of her pure, unspoiled sweetness.

Perhaps one wonders what makes a girl so sweet and gentle. Events of importance leading to the development of the Anne Spencer we know and love include many honors and activities.

In high school she was in various clubs, including the Glee Club, Library Club, Science Club, 4-H Club, and a member of the Annual Staff.

She was voted Cutest Girl and Most Likely to Succeed.

Anne also played the lead in the senior play, and knowing Anne, we can't believe that she played the part of "Plain Jane."

This girl certainly knows that it's the "early bird that gets the worm." Knowing that she would major in library science in college, Anne joined the Library Club during her early high-school years and served as its president during her junior year.

M.S.C.W. will be honored next year as Anne continues her work in library science and English there.

ANNE SPENCER
PTK Historian

In her own gentle way Ann has left quite a mark at HJC. She has served on the BSU greater council both years and is now devotional chairman of the executive council. During her freshman year Anne became interested in the Modern Language Club and was chosen to serve as its secretary this year.

Anne was among the elite group of freshmen who were initiated into Phi Theta Kappa at the end of first semester last year, and she is now serving as historian of Gamma Lambda Chapter.

Among the other activities, Anne is a charter member of the Hinds English Club.

Believe it or not, even with all these honors and activities and quite a bit of new knowledge, Anne is still the same sweet, unaffected girl she was when she came to HJC two years ago.

Our congratulations to the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Spencer, our Sophomore of the Week.

May the genuine sweetness of her smile continue to bring joy to others the rest of her life as it has to us at Hinds.

Sentimentalism Fades; Realism Takes Highlight

By CORKIE LYLE

Cynicism, sarcasm, and realism are the trends of many modern day minds.

CORKIE

Old fashioned sentimentalism appears to have faded into pages of the past. People seem to have forgotten the old song, "Little Things Mean a Lot."

So, what do we have in the world today . . . the cockeyed realist . . . the one who is going to take life exactly as it is. If you are a realist, more power to take life exactly as it is. If you are a realist, more power to you. But, a touch of melancholy and sentimentalism adds spice to a day.

Here is a poem taken from the Tuesday column of Purser Hewitt, executive editor of the Clarion Ledger:

Poets cease to sing of passion;
Cynicism's now the fashion.
Sentiment? It's out of style.
True love? My dear, how juvenile!
So that's the reason, lover mine,
I didn't send a valentine,
No use inviting ridicule,
But won't you be my April Fool?

—Ann Clackmar in Saturday Evening Post

Mud in your eye, realist. Don't cut up the nice things in life. Dream a little. Drift on a cloud.

The little poem is especially appropriate for this season. After all what is present-day love? The touch of the sentimentalist is almost completely left out of today's love.

People are becoming sharp and sarcastic. True humor is almost trying to evaporate. Maybe it would be better if we all turn into hermits.

Really life isn't half as bad as it can seem. It doesn't take more than a sentimental smile to give a fellow human a lift for the day, so smile, smile, smile.

Funds For York Increasing Daily

By JEAN RODGERS

A fund for one of America's greatest heroes is presently climbing toward its goal. The total today for the Sergeant York Fund is $18,789.00.

JEAN

For those of you who have never heard of York, he is perhaps the most decorated hero of World War I. He lives in Pall Mall, Tennessee, and is at the ripe old age of 60-plus.

The purpose of contributing to this fund is to pay back income tax that the old hero has not been able to pay in the last ten years. He is today almost in an invalid state.

The total amount of his governmental debt is $25,000. With the support of the people of America, this worth-while drive might go far above its quota. Americans are truly wonderful people.

FASTER AND FASTER: President Kennedy has asked the U. S. Congress to provide 10 million dollars to help in the construction of a supersonic airliner that can take passengers from New York to London in about two hours.

The 10 million dollars would be spent on the preliminary work of the supersonic machine, which would fly at three times the speed of sound.

If we get any faster than we are today, we will be flying faster than the speed of thought instead of the speed of sound. That's really moving on, you know.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"THAT'S PROF SNARF'S CLASS — HE'S ALWAYS DROPPING SOMEBODY."

College Airport Provides Classes, Interests For All

By CORKIE LYLE

Hinds Junior College has one division of its vast educational facility that is progressing rapidly with each passing year. This is aviation mechanics and the flying school.

Directing the activities for this fine training program is Mr. Kennis Bryant. Mr. Bryant is a graduate of John Brown University, receiving his degrees in airplane and engine mechanics. He has also taken part in emergency air searches and was at one time chief inspector for the Jackson Air Base during World War II.

Some of his former students are continuing their flying careers. One student is presently flying for Eastern Airlines and another flying for a local executive concern.

Six students are presently enrolled in the aviation mechanics class. The members of this class are Tommy Jackson, Jackson; Junior Wallace, Clinton; Jeffrey Simon, Jackson; Jim Kinard, Jackson; Ray Pearson, Byram; and Glenis Braxton, Valley Park.

This group is constructing completely two airplanes this year. One is a Aeronca Champion and the other is a Cessna 150. The class took two planes that were rebuildable and made one completely new fabric covered airplane with a 65-horse power Continental engine.

Approximately five students are enrolled in the flying division of the aviation department. Of these students, only one has soloed this year. He is Junior Wallace of Clinton. Within the next month, Tommy Jackson, of Jackson, hopes to have made his first solo flight.

Hinds is the only junior college in the state of Mississippi that has an airport completely operated by the school. The only other such establishment in the state is at Mississippi State University at Starkville.

January of this year saw the completion of a new hangar at the local airport. The building occupies 10,000 square feet of area. Cost of the construction and building was $16,321.64. Another new hangar is now under construction.

Also, two tanks have been installed for airplane gasoline storage. The terminal building has been renovated and the space has been rented to Nygren Flying Service of Jackson, for offices, display, and ground school instructions.

Experts and observers in aviation believe that jet aircraft at the new Jackson Municipal Airport will hinder small places. Small executive planes and student flying craft present hazards to jet airliner take-offs and landings, so more planes should be landing at the college airport.

Mr. Bryant welcomes any student interested in airplane mechanics and the flying school. He says, "If you are interested in the school, I will be glad to talk to you about it."

Local Circle K Clubbers Host Mississippi District Caucus

The Hinds Junior College Circle K Club was the official host for the district caucus held this past weekend. Four colleges sent representatives.

The purpose of the meeting was to select the slate of officers to campaign at the tri-state convention at Lafayette, Louisiana, on April 19-23.

Participating in the caucus were clubs from Perkinston Junior College of Perkinston; Mississippi College of Clinton; Belhaven College of Jackson; and Hinds Junior College, the host club.

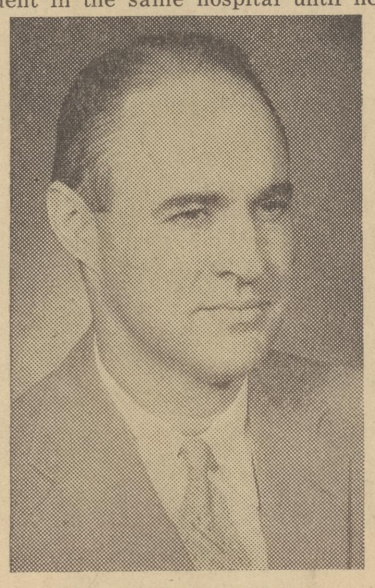
In connection with the caucus, intramural basketball games were held Saturday afternoon. The team from Mississippi College won the trophy. The award rotates to the winner of the tournament each year.

President John Wilda announced that the caucus was a complete success.

Med School Physician Addresses Local Student Assembly Meeting

Dr. Arthur Guyton, chairman of the department of physiology and biophysics at the University of Mississippi School of Medicine, was the guest speaker at today's student assembly.

Dr. Guyton is a graduate of the University of Mississippi and Harvard Medical School. He was a surgical intern at Massachusetts General Hospital and, following a hitch in the Navy, a surgical resident in the same hospital until he contacted polio.



DR. AUTHUR GUYTON
Addresses Assembly

Dr. Guyton was acting professor of physiology at the University of Tennessee Medical School and associate professor of pharmacology at the University of Mississippi before accepting his present position in 1948.

He is listed in American Men of Science, Who's Who in America, Who's Who in the South, and Who's Who in American Education.

The United States Junior Chamber of Commerce named him one of the Ten Outstanding Men in America and he was given a Presidential Citation for his work in development of aids for handicapped people.

The American Association for the Advancement of Science honored him in 1959 for his contributions to cardiovascular research, giving him a national award.

Doctor Guyton belongs to 14 professional societies and is a fellow in the American College of Cardiology and the American College of Chest Physicians.

He has recently been appointed to the Policy Committee of the American Heart Association.

The subject of Doctor Guyton's talk at Hinds was medical research at the University Medical Center in Jackson.

State FFA Boys Exhibit Judging At Storage Plant

The Montpelier judging team was placed at the top of the list in the Mississippi FFA State Meat Judging Contest held at the Hinds Junior College Cold Storage plant Saturday, March 25.

The Montpelier team will represent Mississippi in the National Meat Judging Contest to be held in Kansas City next October. The members of this winning team are Larry Webber, Carley Gene McMullin, and Glenn Thomas. Their coach is W. G. McGuiston.

Ten teams from all over the state participated in the contest. The second place team was from the Utica Chapter.

All facilities and meats for the contest were furnished by Hinds Junior College. Mr. Jack Treloar, supervisor of the campus and farm operation of the junior college, and Mr. G. L. Sheffield, manager of the Cold Storage plant, were responsible for setting up the contest and making the official placings.

The purpose of the contest was to train FFA members in the cuts and quality of meats that the farmers must produce to meet the demands of the housewife.

Science Teacher Chosen By Group For Top Officer

Mrs. Genevieve Adams, Hinds chemistry instructor, was elected president of the Mississippi Science Teachers Association at its organizational meeting recently.

The new division of the Mississippi Education Association was begun over the March 16-17 meeting in Jackson.

Mrs. Adams obtained her Bachelor of Science and her Master of Science degrees from the University of Mississippi. She has served on the faculty at Hinds for four and one-half years.

'Play Ball' Cry MRA Males

Eight weeks of regular school are left for the Men's Recreational Association and the club is wasting no time in planning activities for the remainder of the year.

With cage action over, softball and ping-pong are making the headlines for club members, for a table tennis tournament is in the planning stages.

There are two softball teams ready to see play. Composing the firsrt squad are captain Charles Trest, Johnny Carter, Ed Long, Roland Walker, Paulton Smith, Butch Carruth, Tom Irby, Wade Overby, and Roy Leech.

Captain of the second team is Jimmy Carruth, while teammates Robin Carter, Frank Garcia, Hayward Neely, Wiley Fisher, James Davis, Billy Boyt, and Jerry Burt fill out the remaining roster.

With only these two teams developed, Coach Eddie Rodgers, MRA advisor and sponsor, states that more teams need to be formed.

Who's Doing All The Crowing?

By TOMMY NANCE

A European bird of the crow family, closely resembling the common crow in size, form, and color, is taking over on the Hinds campus, mainly in the recreational hall,

The actual bird, which usually resides permanently in large rookeries which sometimes contain many thousands of nests and birds, visits the local campus practically every night between the hours of 5:30 and 7:15.

For those who are still in the dark concerning the strange visitor, we must admit that it is found on a piece of card b o a r d, a p p r oximately three and one-half by two and one-half inches in s i z e. Yep! You've guessed it—rook.

TOMMY

These rooks don't build their nests in the tops of high trees, they don't prefer p r o t e c t e d groves, such as those surrounding old mansions, and they certainly don't feed on insects, worms, grain, seeds, or fruit. They just bring joy and a winning hand to the lucky holders of this fine, feathered friend.

They seem to build their nests between 57 other cards, they prefer careful and tender hands, and they feed on fingers that have held ice cream cones, potato chips and drink cups.

Viva Ia State

Last weekend up in Starkville, a show of all shows took place. It was the initial get-together of Mississippi State's past and present cage stars. We regret not being able to make the trip, for we know all 5,000 fans who did view this spectacle received every bit of pleasure they had expected.

The 1961 Southeastern Conference champions fell to the "oldtimers", 7973, while Bailey Howell and his teammates stole the show. It was truly the "Greatest Game in the South," and not a fan who witnessed it will disagree.

The University's executive secretary of the Alumni Association, Bob Williams, and all who had a part in the day-long festivities, deserve all the credit that they have received plus some.

Leggett To Visit Hill City For Talk At Jett Banquet

Earl Leggett, Hinds part-time coach and scout, will be the featured speaker of the Jett athletic banquet on March 31.

The meeting will be held aboard the Steamer Sprague in Vicksburg, beginning at 7:30.

Leggett, who is a former Hinds and LSU grid star, now plays with the Chicago Bears during professional football season. He has been aiding in spring football drills on the Hinds campus.

ALL SOPHOMORES

Final All-State Team Spotlights Hinds Trio As Honorable Mention

Three Hinds sophomores have received honorable mention in this season's edition of the All-Mississippi Junior College basketball squad.

Guards Billy Rhodes and Lewis Vaughn and forward Dean Liles are the Eagles' representatives from the cage floor.

Itawamba's champions and runnerup Jones placed two men each on the "dream" team to pace state junior colleges. Bob Cradic and Jerry Smith of Jones landed on the south division five, along with Perkinston's Ford Turner, Southwest's Wilmon Little, and Co-Lin's Robert Parsons.

Yanks Place 5

The Yankee Club is composed of Ira Joe Lewis and Bob Hines of Itawamba, Jay Boland of East Mississippi, Donald Randolph of Northwest, and Jay Dyer of East Central.

Grabbing other honorable mention receipts in the south are Carlos McDaniels of Jones, Ronald Johnson of Perkinston, Billy Holmes of Southwest, and Pearl River's Grady Hickman and Charles Ginn.

Decatur, Delta, and Northeast tackled double men on the north honorable mention list, while Scooba, Holmes, and Northwest placed one.

John White and Mack Partridge represent East Central, Charles Hastings and Charles Fitts were nominated from Delta, while Northeast's Johnny Mitchell and Thomas Mack fill in the double bracket. Holmes tossed in Bill Fugate, Northwest offered Norris Boren, and Thomas Pearson came from Scooba to composed the northern honorable mention selections.

Thinclads Open At Delta Tuesday

April Showers Dampen Spirits In Cancelled Jones Meet

The Raymond campus isn't the only one in the state getting a good wash job, for Tuesday's scheduled track meet at Ellisville was called off due to wet grounds and turbulent weather.

Anxious to kick off the 1961 track season, the local cindermen will have another six days before showing the state what they have to offer as competition.

Coach Ivan Rosamond will take his team to Moorhead next Tuesday for the opening meet and should run across some good competitors, for the Deltans are holding the state crown in their arms. Hinds placed second to Delta last year in the state meet, after a surprise showing by the Trojans.

Strength will be resting on the returning members of the Hinds squad. M i k e Vinson, Howard Freeman, Wally Lee, John Dewitt, Wilburn Williamson, and Donny Ross will be the steadfasts of the club, while newcomers Ronnie Hayden, Ed Frashier, and Eddie Brennen are promising freshmen.

A great deal of boys are out practicing, but Rosamond is undecided what each will do in the upcoming events. Track performers from many of the surrounding high schools and new sophomores will add strength and depth to the local representatives.

After Tuesday's meet with Delta, the Eagles journey down to Ellisville for the makeup meet with Jones Friday, then travel to copiah-Lincoln the next Tuesday.

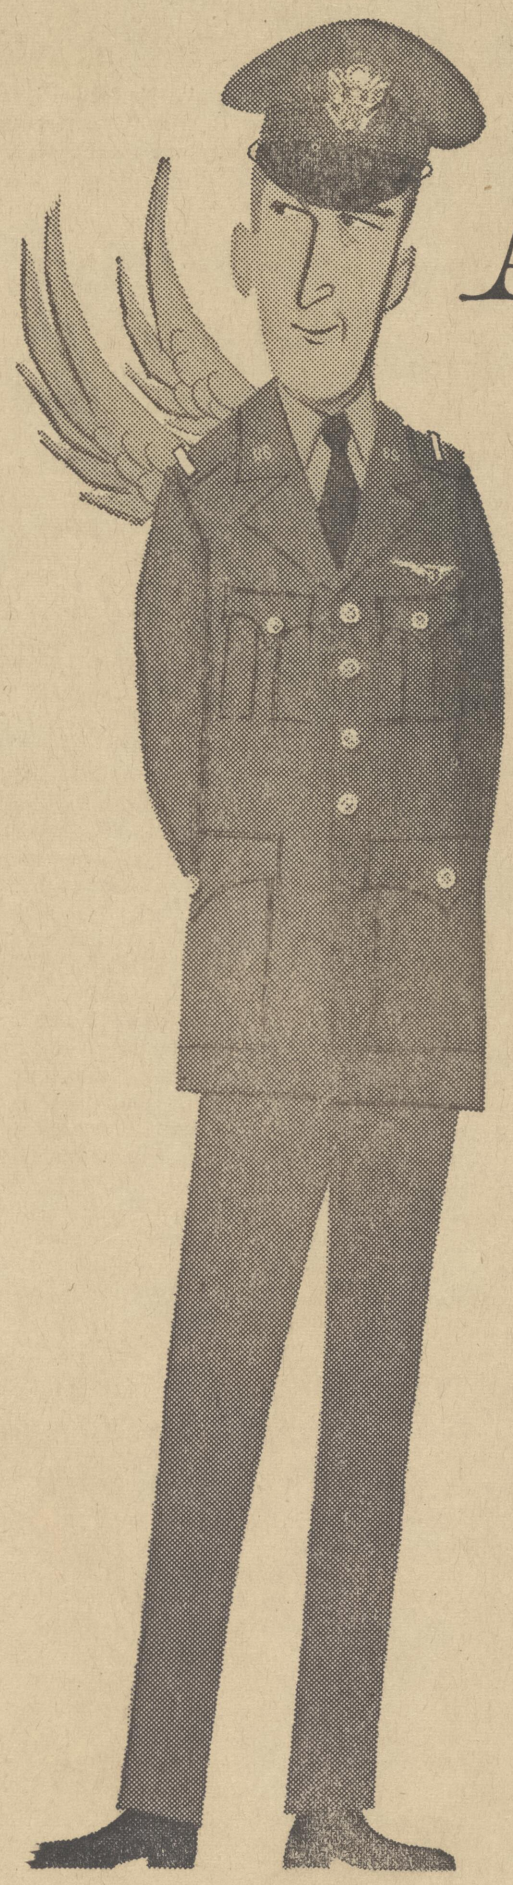
Lack Of Interest In South District Results In No Baseball For Eagles

Contrary to previous fact or fiction, Hinds will not field a baseball team in the Mississippi Junior College circuit for the present season.

According to athletic director Joe Renfroe, Hinds and Southwest were the only schools interested in supporting a diamond club in the south division. "Of course, we could play the Bears every game, but neither Summit nor Hinds would enjoy the setup," stated Renfroe.

With the present rules in the state junior college athletic constitution, a school in the south district must play all of its "counting" conference games with schools of the same division in order to be eligible for state recognition.

With only Hinds and Southwest applying for teams in the south, no appropriate schedule c o u l d be made; therefore, in future years, more institutions must support a baseball five, if an interesting schedule is to be made.



Do all Air Force Officers have Wings?

Decidedly not. In fact most executive jobs are on the ground. Of course, all officers may apply for pilot and navigator training if they meet the eligibility requirements. There will always be a need for piloted aircraft. And it is foreseeable that in your working lifetime, there will be piloted spacecraft—piloted and navigated by Air Force officers.

But right now, there is also a big future for college-trained Air Force officers on the ground. New and exciting technical jobs are opening up. Important administrative positions must be filled as World War II officers move into retirement.

How can you—a college student—become an Air Force officer? First, there's Air Force ROTC. Then for college graduates, men and women in certain fields, there is Officer Training School. The graduate of its three-month course wins a commission as a second lieutenant. Other ways are the Navigator Training program, and the Air Force Academy.

Some benefits that go with being an Air Force officer. Starting salary plus allowances compare with the average in equivalent civilian jobs. Then there's free medical and dental care, thirty-day vacation, the chance to win graduate degrees at Air Force expense, and liberal retirement provisions.

No, Air Force officers do not need wings to move up. There's plenty doing on the ground. Perhaps you could be one of these young executives in blue. Ask your local Air Force Recruiter. Or write, Officer Career Information, Dept. JSC13, Box 7608, Washington 4, D.C., if you want further information about the navigator training or Officer Training School programs.

VOLUME 27—NUMBER 23½ HINDS JUNIOR COLLEGE, RAYMOND, MISSISSIPPI ANY DAY, APRIL 0, 1961

Instructor, Registrar Tie Knot

Mr. J. R. Harris, Hinds Junior College government instructor, and Miss Mollie Mayfield, registrar, eloped from the Hinds campus to Siwel's Crossroads, it was announced today.

Mrs. J. R. Harris, his first and still present wife, has called Mr. Harris a bigamist and a traitor to a family that loves him dearly.

Mrs. Harris said that she had suspected something between the couple for a long time. She said Mr. Harris referred to Miss Mayfield as the "sweet, little ole red-headed lady who is supposed to be a registrar." She said that she has always been a woman of principles and just kept her mouth shut at all times.

The second Mrs. Harris has not made any statement at this time. It is feared that she is in hiding for her life since her parents object to this form of marriage and may go as far as to get the match annulled.

Mr. Harris, speaking by telephone from the honeymoon bungalow the new couple is occupying, said that he has always said that one woman is enough for any man, but he guesses that everyone is entitled to one mistake. He says that he is not planning to return to the teaching profession until the matter quiets down some.

Both teachers were instructed in marriage and family living the first semester. No comment has come from the couple on that matter yet. It is due any day now.

Mr. Harris has announced that he is very proud of the well-wishes and cards that his students have sent him. He announced, "At least they understand."

Due to all the publicity and excitement, the first Mrs. Harris is in the Edwards Municipal Hospital under observation for shock and fatigue.

Court proceedings are scheduled for next week. They will be held in the Bolton City Auditorium.

Males Stage Raid On Dormitory

Policemen Arrest 13 Students, 2 Faculty Members In Mobbing

After two hours of mad mobbing at Northside Dormitory last night, two faculty members and 13 students were arrested and hauled off to the Hinds County jail in Jackson.

Approximately thirty-two sophomore girls and countless numbers of male students are being held for questioning.

Mr. Bill Oakes, hygiene instructor and recreational director, and Mr. Mike Rabalais, psychology instructor, confessed to leading a "raid" on the new girls' dormitory after the 10 o'clock curfew. When caught in the act, Mr. Oakes excitedly exclaimed, "I was just needing a little recreation." Mr. Rabalais calmly stated, "It was all in fun."

Leading the student gang along with Mr. Rabalais was sophomore class president Rex Carson. Sex, as he is known on the campus, was at the head of the Southside gang. He was arrested along with Dallas Walker, William Reeves, and Jerl Watkins, who were caught crawling up the dormitory trellis.

Faculty members expressed amazement at the list of "respectable" students whom the police nabbed. Arrested for numerous acts, such as slugging policemen and teachers, climbing in windows, and other questionable deeds, were Steve Kirchmayr, David Yewell, David Dollarhide, Norman Pace, and Chris Gerrard.

Four girls taken in as accomplices were Dot Gatlin, Janice Gibson, Patsy Kettleman, and Rose Earnest.

Two main dormitory girls, Carolyn May and Lou Ann Ford, could be heard screaming from their dormitory, "Hey! Over here, boys! Don't forget us!"

Dean of Women Frances Lee could not be located at the time of the incident. It is believed that she was taking her weekly pool lessons at Tall Man's.

The massive crowd scattered when President G. M. McLendon appeared on the scene, accompanied by Administrative Assistant Robert M. Mayo. Dean of Men R. C. Benton was all ready on hand making an attempt to drive the boys back to the dormitory. Pulling girls back in through the windows and locking suite doors was Mrs. Lucille Keen, dormitory hostess and assistant dean of women. "This is most exasperating!" cried Mrs. Keen.

Duty teacher Miss Susan Brown stated, as she vigorously knocked a member of the male raiding party from the trellis with a broom, "It would have to happen when I'm on duty." Then, she hastily added, "I guess a little excitment does everyone good."

Police officials would only name 10 of the numerous students who were being held for questioning. The 10 are Pat Myers, Sallie Baker, Suzanne Bright, Dot Gatlin, Randy Ridgeway, Betty Williams, Mike Knickerbocker, Sammie Thompson, Wesley Collier, and Louise Phillips.

After the crowd thinned out, the sobbing of the freshman girls could be heard from Main and Westside because they had been left out of the action.

Maxyne Ware Wins Crown

Maxyne Ware, Jackson sophomore, won the final round in the Hinds Junior College Rook Championship. She also took top honors in the card shuffling event, the card stacking event, and the signal passing event.

To win the championship trophy which was awarded to her by President G. M. McLendon, Maxyne outplayed the following people: Bobby Tadlock, Butch Carruth, Pat Mitchell, Maxine Womack, Dot Smith, Guy Bowering, and Billy Smith.

Maxyne will give a demonstration on "How To Play Rook and Win" at the next assembly program.

Business Office Workers Embezzle $3 Million

Hinds County authorities this week placed Miss Lolita Allen, Miss Marilyn McNair, and Mrs. Eloise Goodwin under arrest for the misplacement of school funds. The trio are now in Hinds County Jail in Tinnin.

Mrs. Goodwin, described as the ring-leader in the action, stated that she hadn't had a decent meal since Magee left her for a better job in Warren County. She stated that she was despondent and very upset over her action.

She also said that the other two culprits didn't want to go along with the $3,000,000 heist, but she already had enough dope on them to put them under for a couple of years. She also said Lolita and Marilyn tried to cover up for the loss by blaming it on student help in the business office. The person reciving most of the blame was Miss Dunkie Dungan, sophomore from Greasy Row in Claiborne County.

Mrs. Goodwin, spokesman for the trio, said the reason for Hinds not having a library and new dormitories until now was all the business office's fault. She said that the three of them had always bought original Paris fashions and big new cars from Gaddis Hot-Car Sales Shop, where Magee formerly worked before leaving.

With a $100,000 bond hanging over their heads, the trio vowed to get revenge if they had to drain Hinds of every cent in its almost depleted treasury.

The three are awaiting a late spring trial when the Hinds County Court meets in Tennin.

Day Bus Wrecks Injures Many Hinds Students

The day bus to Jackson driven by J. V. Lewis was involved in a wreck Monday resulting in injuries to several persons. Mr. Lewis is being held in the Siwel City jail pending further investigation.

Approximately ten persons were hurt in the accident. Many of these were not even supposed to be aboard the vehicle at the time of the accident. These persons were fined for negligence in boarding the day bus.

Recuperating in the hospital in Bradie are Pat Farris, Norman Agent, and Rita Lott, suffering from exposure; Clyde Satterwhite, Dot Rochelle, and Mayly Jue, suffering extreme epidermal injuries; and Doris Lee, Dorothy Lee, Ray Roberts, and Ken Scott, recovering from facial lacerations that are supposed to mar their intellectual ability considerably. All are expected to be released from the hospital in the next few days.

Reserve bus driver Carl Jones escaped injury when the bus collided with the Raymond Express train five miles north of the city. He described the accident as very thrilling.

PTA Congress Holocaust Robert Mayo

Mr. Robert M. Mayo, Hinds Junior College Administrative Assistant, has been removed from his office as vice president of the Mississippi Parent-Teachers Association Congress. He was removed for subversive teachings.

Mr. Pat Smith, public relations director at the notorious school, announced to the press that Mr. Mayo had been removed because of his teachings in the Hinds Junior College Vocational Department. He stated that Mr. Mayo had told the students that if they use mass production with minimum output their production would increase threefold.

He further antagonized the students with literature that he had acquired on a recent excursion to the Castro-stronghold of Clarksdale. He made no comment as to why he was trying to "put ideas into the heads" of the students, except the smug reply of "they were my best bet in accomplishing a totaliterian rule over Hinds."

This action will bar Mr. Mayo from participating in the "For Men Only" breakfast to be held by the PTA Congress. It is not the main reason, however.

It was announced by the Association this past weekend that Mr. Mayo had plans of smuggling Mrs. Mayo into the breakfast and was planning to hide her beneath the long linen tablecloth covering the banquet tables.

Mr. Mayo was in seclusion and could not be reached for comment.

Sophomore Billy Boyt Leads Group In Destruction Of Chemistry Lab

BILLY BOYT
Juvenile Delinquent?

The chemistry wing of the Science Building was blown to fragments Monday morning by a Hinds student.

Engineering Club President Bill Boyt, assisted by Ruth Barlow and Mayly Jue, blew up the wing in order to get even with Mrs. Genevieve Adams because she reprimanded the trio for being tardy.

By allowing nitric acid to drip into a container of glycerin as the team made their escape, they successfully removed the Chemistry lab from the campus.

"The students are to be punished for their violent display of tempers," expressed President McLendon. "They may even be barred from attending the weekly sock hop in the Rec Hall."

Plans are being made for the reconstruction of the demolished building.

Sickness Strikes Quickly

Sad news reached Hinds students and faculty members today. Mr. Rosser Wall, campus Botany instructor, was overcome late yesterday afternoon by a severe case of fatigue and shot nerves. The listless nervous symptoms were first noticed in his botany lab during a demonstration on how to feed the college's prize man-eating plant. Students commented on how pale he turned every time the plant graced him with a hungry, sheepish grin.

News leaked out today that the final crackdown came when Mr. Wall began to run out of food for the man-eating plant.

Presently, Mr. Wall is resting as comfortably as possible at Whitfield Sanatorium. Upon visiting Mr. Wall, family and friends are requested not to excite him to any degree by mentioning plants or eating.

It is sad when illness suddenly removes one of our dearer friends — even for such brief periods. We shall truly miss Hinds' popular instructor for the next few months, but when he returns, we know he will be his same vigorous, plant-loving self.

Studious Ones, Beware

Take heed, fellow students! Cut out that studying before trouble comes your way. It is rumored through reliable sources that President McLendon, with the help of administrative and student spies, is going to crack down on students who waste their time and strain their brains studying.

Because studying is interferring with participation in extra-curricular activities, Mr. McLendon and his crew are taking an active and positive stand against studying. We feel that students have a right to know underhanded strategy of our administration.

All students who want to study could possibly gang together and make a petition to present at the weekly meeting of the Board of Trustees begging to be allowed to study. With enough pleading on the part of students, perhaps something can be done.

Thus, we begin a battle between the administration and the students. May the studious team win.

Wise Up On Clubs, People

Several weeks ago, a supposedly honorary society named Phi Theta Kappa initiated some 22 victims into their secret little club, headed by that little ole lady in the Administration Building, Miss Mildred Herrin.

What those unlucky people don't know is what they are getting into. We aren't necessarily condemning this certain organization, but all of its type, including the Thursday night meeting of Circle Kay.

It is indeed a disgrace to realize that with all the other progressive steps being taken on the Hinds campus, such activities as these go on. What can we do about it? Well, the truth is — nothing.

With more and more people being caught in these club webs, the honor of the college is being lessened. Our job, as individual students, is to inform our friends before and not after it is too late.

Centennial Show Hinds 'Steppers Aid Excitement

By CORKIE LYLE

Yesterday was a big day for most of Mississippi, for it was the first time in 100 years that a Civil War Parade was held in the Magnolia state.

CORKIE

It featured three of the top state college bands — Hinds, Ole Miss, and Blue Mountain. Each band, along with their fancy stepping females, shared one third of the parade spotlight, since they were the only three participants.

Governor Ross Barnett stated, "If I am in office the next time one of those centennial parades takes place, I will see to it that there are 125 units, instead of only three."

The streets of the capital city were thronged with tongue-drooling males, as those bare-legged girls walked down the asphalt stretch. Each step meant only one less that each would have to take before she reached her destination, the old run-down Capitol Building.

Plans had been made three years ago to renovate the delapidated structure, but money couldn't be raised to pay for a new building. Reports have been made to have one of those get-togethers every 100 years, but we surely won't make any effort in going.

OFF THE CUFF

Paper Staff Stabs Smith With Mighty Pen, Pencil

By JEAN RODGERS

In this Aril Fool issue the Hindsonian staff has made dunces of numerous people in simple fun. But in doing so, we have neglected one, our dear sponsor, Mr. Pat Smith.

JEAN

Of course we couldn't completely leave Mr. Smith out of the picture, so to him we dedicate this lowly column.

Although Mr. Smith is on the grouchy side, he is companionable. That is, if his English classes don't make his blood pressure go up, up, up.

Mr. Smith could be called an ardent lover of dogs, but since he beats his poor pooch twice a day we can hardly say that. He even shot the dog the other day—with a camera.

Pat "O'Brien," the nickname given to him while he taught journalism at Tulane University in New Orleans, is a friend to all at Hinds . . . after he has had that second cup of morning coffee.

Our faithful leader keeps the cigarette companies going, for he is an ardent chain smoker. When you enter the Public Relations Office you have to almost cut your way through the smoke screen.

Another bad habit Mr. Smith has is never coming to work. He cuts all his classes and then counts his students as being absent . . . still we love him though.

If you haven't seen the new red electric typewriter, please come by the office and see it . . . but by all means, don't touch it. It is Mr. Smith's pride and joy.

All in all, Mr. Smith is a good ole guy. Yep, even though he has all these bad charactericts, we still like him anyway.

By the way, we hear that he may hold elections for a new paper staff to finish out the year's work. Anyone looking for a job as editor, assistant editor, managing editor, or any other position come see our lovable boss.

Ill-Fated Staff To Meet; Bring Way Of Protection If You Want To Survive

There will be a meeting of the nuts who put this monstrosity of a paper together Friday morning at the 2-A period in the Public Relations office. All members of the ill-fated staff are urged to attend.

It was not the purpose of this paper to bring embarrassment to any student or faculty member with this April Fool's edition. We just figured that some of our more intellectual students were tired of reading the same ole line each week and would like to change that a bit.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Hinds Veteran Finally Nearing Long Awaited Goal

A pretty, perky young miss holds the top spot as Hinds' Sophomore of the Week.

Charming Sarah Nell Taylor, who ranks as our top sophomore, leads two lives on the Hinds campus. Not only is she a student of the highest merit, but she also teaches in her spare time.

Although classes and homework occupy most of her time, Sarah Nell devotes her leisure hours to teaching her three all-male reading classes.

SARAH NELL TAYLOR
Finally Makes It

The pages of Sarah Nell's book of honors are overflowing. She has been elected to almost every possible honor during her five years as a student at Hinds.

Sarah Nell's three years as a sophomore are filled with outstanding awards and honors. This is the third straight year she has been chosen as sophomore of the Week by the Hindsonian. And the last, we hope.)

Recently, Sarah Nell was chosen as sweetheart of the Men's Recreational Association. "This is an honor I have long dreamed of holding," stated Sarah Nell as she was crowned.

Teachers classify Sarah Nell as a little slow in learning, but as a girl who is determined to graduate. Miss Mildred Herrin, registrar, stated that it is almost certain that Sarah Nell will have enough quality points and semester hours to graduate. We extend to her our heartiest congratulations.

Reading, chewing gum, flying kites, collecting boy friends, saving cereal box tops, and cutting classes are listed highest among Sarah Nell's favorite pastimes.

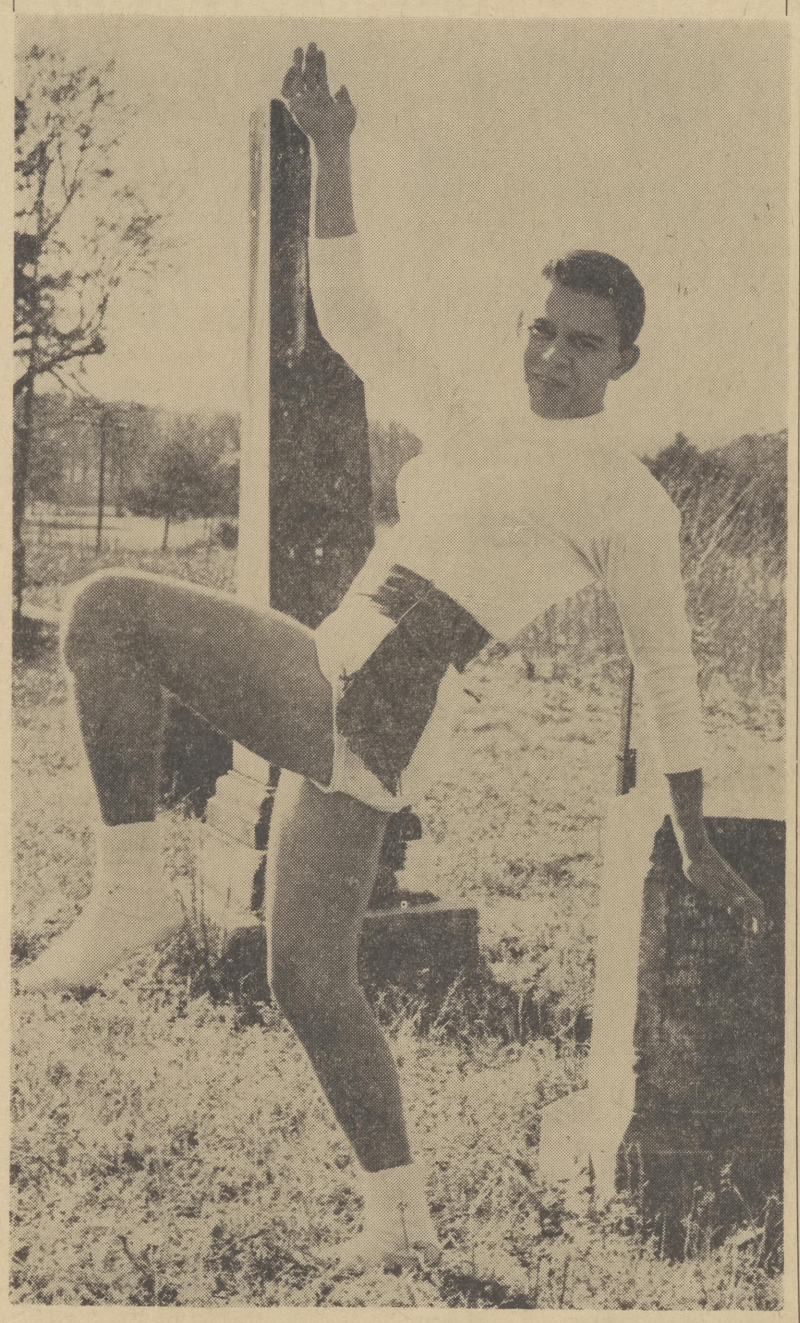
She is truly a versatile young lady. Presently, she is serving as vice president of the Future Teachers Club. Sarah Nell won the position of class dunce in a recent polling.

The Hindsonian is proud to honor such an unusual person as Sarah Nell. We feel that she will advance far in life if she ever graduates from Hinds.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"AFTER BRIEF OBSERVATION, I THINK I'VE FOUND THE BOTTLENECK IN YOUR PLAN TO IMPROVE YOUR STUDY HABITS."

Here's The Biggest Fool



MISS SARAH GHOUL, sophomore from Cemetery City, is our bewitching Hinds Honey of the week. Miss Ghoul is a member of the nationally famous Hinds Night-Steppers, and can be seen frequently about the campus at night practicing with her broom. This lovely lass measures (without props) 28-30-36. She is majoring in Congolese culture and especially the ancient tribal rites of voodoo.

Society . . . . . so they say!

Flash! Newest campus romance—Joan Phillips and Dean Liles. We're glad to see that these two basketball whizzes finally got together.

Bill Matthews, that dashing man-about-Raymond, has issued this statement for the press: "I'm tired of being chased by Gail Rushing, and I want to take this opportunity to tell the world."

That multi-millionaire, Eddie Bryan, gave us a cigar the other day. What does this mean, Eddie?

It seems that Barbara Logan commutes to Jackson everyday on her tricycle. What seems to be so interesting in the big city, Babs?

Someone whispered in your reporter's ear the other day that Fred Brooks has a new crush. But stop drooling, girls, he's not your type anyhow.

Since Shirley Hebron acquired that rock on third finger, left hand, there have been four suicides and three attempts. Is it worth it all, Shirl?

After a short conference attended by Joann Beasley, Frances Nelson, Peggy Massey, Adonna Moore, Julia Turner, and Gerald Holland, it was unanimously decided that the social hour may be extended to 10 o'clock a.m.

All students interested in supporting the cause see Joe L. Ferguson.

All not interested jump in Raymond Lake.

Seen holding hands in the grill the other day were Sandra Sellers and Moody Parker. They get our vote for cutest couple at HJC.

Jim Sansing: a hint to the wise: Will you please make up your mind as to who your girl is? Unga Mae and Modeane Ghunch are eagerly awaiting your answer.

This roving reporter will close the page of his book for the present time. See you next April 1st issue.

Bye, y'all!

Math Instructor Snitches Blooms; Probation Hinted

Miss Lurline Stewart, Hinds math instructor, is on probation for snitching flowers from her old homestead which is presently the college infirmary.

Catching Miss Stewart in the act was Mrs. Rachel Robinson, college nurse. The two women became entangled in a vicious verbal battle. Although Miss Stewart won the word war, she lost her flowers.

President McLendon ordered Miss Stewart to plant new flowers at her present home site and to leave the flowers at the infirmary alone. He stated that the girls at Northside enjoyed watching the flowers bloom and that Miss Stewart couldn't deprive them from this pleasure.

Mrs. Robinson later stated that she was glad that Miss Stewart was on probation. She said that they should place her in jail on the charge of inconsiderate behavior.

She further stated that everyone loves flowers, even herself. She knew of nothing meaner than to pick cute, sweet little blooms so that other persons could not enjoy their presence also.

College Faculty Rocks Local Students; Annual Talent Show Enormous Success

By MODEANE GHUNCH

The Hinds Junior College Auditorium was the setting Tuesday night for the annual faculty talent-fun show. Patterned after Mississippi Southern's Yellow Jacket Day, the event went over "like a ton of lead."

Master of Ceremonies was Mr. Royal Crown Benton, who gave an original skit on how to get boys to tell the truth. Using live material for the questions, he put Mr. Elihue Rodgers on the spot. Mr. Rogers was caught in the act of trying to assassinate Mr. Brown in Shangri-La dormitory, notoriously known for its wild atmosphere.

Next, Mrs. Francine Lee showed the girls how to do the Big Apple, the Suzy-Q, the Dip, and the Charleston. Mrs. Lee went all out for her performance by wearing original clothing and chapeau. She says she remembers when she used to wear them as Sunday-go-to-meeting outfits.

A quartet of English teachers was next: Miss Bela Lindsey, Miss Nellie Pickett, Mrs. Jimine Harris, and Mrs. Zsa Zsa Canterbury. The group sang such numbers as "The Chaucer Bounce," "John Milton Lies Amolding In His Grave," and "Swinging Down The Avon." For their encore, the foursome sang "A Little Verb Is A Verb Is A Verb."

Following the singers, Mr. John Brown Patrick presented his skit on how to catch a woman and keep her. Having been in and out of marriage some dozens of times, Mr. Patrick considers himself an expert on the subject.

MRS. FRANCINE LEE
Former Speak-Easy Queen

After a brief intermission, Mrs. Maybelle Conlee brought the house down with her rendition of "Smile" and "Grin and Bear It."

Recovering from the preceding performance, the house rolled in the aisles over the jokes of Mr. Myrtleloid Riggs. Pulling one crack after another, Myrt, as he prefers to be called, finally was laughed right off the stage.

A flamenco dance was next-to-last on the faculty program. None other than Miss Ree Rah Ree Davis presented the fabulously amazing stompings. Miss Davis spoke a mixture of Spanish and French the whole time she was on the stage. Her prize student, Jose Pedro Miquel des Francais, urged her on with his reading of Cervantes' Don Quioxte.

Last but not the least of the faculty talent was the President of the college, Mr. Gorgeous George McLendon. Gorgeous sang and danced to the tune of "I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles" and "I'm A Lonely Frog."

With the lowering of the curtain, the crowds dispersed and returned to their respective dormitories, eagerly awaiting next year's program.

WHAT ANSWERS!!!!!

Publication Member Asks Question; Students Eagerly Respond Quotes?

By BETSY HAYNES

The latest addition to the Hindsonian is the column entitled "The Questioning Questioner." This column is devoted entirely to the asking of a question and the answer submitted by a student.

BETSY

This week's question is, "What are your plans for the future, and what do you intend to do about them?" Below are some of the answers supplied by unsuspecting students.

Carolyn Middleton, sophomore from Memphis: I guess that I want to be a cheerleader for Memphis State for the rest of my life. When I get too old to jump and scream, I will then teach other students interested in the activity. I am well on my way; if you don't believe me just look at the muscles in my legs caused by my antics and jumping.

Ronnie Allen, sophomore from Baton Rouge: I want to be the owner of a big, famous restaurant. I know that I will be a wonderful connoisseur of foods due to my background. You know I work in the campus cafeteria. The wonderful meals that we are accustomed to fixing has definitely given me a wonderful background. I am planning to work in the cafeteria next semester at Baton Rouge Institute of Institutions.

Sarah Ann Halsell, sophomore from Forest Hill: I want to own a bus company. I have been riding the college bus for two years and I know about as much about transportation as anyone. I know about the facilities, the rooms, and the chance for improvements in a bus. I know that will aid me in my choice of occupations.

Charlotte Dunlap, sophomore from Terry, praper: I don't know what I really want to do. I just can't seem to make up my mind. You know that I work for Zeus and he just treats me so terrible I don't think that I could take working for another man as long as I live. I think I'll just be a hermit. I've had experience with that line of work also. You know that I room with Jewel McNair, and she never says a word to me. You know she's going steady and she's afraid that her fellow will get jealous if she talks to anyone else. That's the way it goes.

Rose Earnest, a girl from Slate Springs, U. S. A.: I want to be a college registrar. I just get the biggest kick watching those dumb students out here at this place squirming when the cards have been mailed home to their parents. It is so much fun I even have Anne and Frances over to join in on the excitement. The only trouble is that they kind of squirm too. But not me; I fix it so I have no worries. Miss Herrin understands fully, but she doesin't give a hoot anyways.

Shirley Boatman, from the Montgomery capitol of Winona: I just want to be little ole flirty me. I am so cute and sweet and all the boys just adore me so I know that I won't have any trouble with my chosen occupation. I may even get married a couple of times just for kicks. It might add to the excitement.

Mary Jo Sullivan, freshman from Jackson: I want to be a traffic cop. I watch "Johnny, Be Careful" each weekend and almost know the theme song by heart. If I accomplish that, I know that I will have made a wonderful choice for the future. People don't respect cops anymore, but when I get to be one, I'll change a few minds on that question.

Nancy Williams, queen of the Delta metropolis of Inverness: I want to be a commercial fisherman — or rather woman — for my future. I went trot-line setting with my brother and his friends the other night and I just had the best time. I just love to watch those little ole perchies and cat-fishies squirm and wiggle when they are placed in the bottom of the boat. I just had more fun. I might take economic geography next semester so that I can get some more information on the subject of my future. I just love those little ole things.

The question to be asked by the questioning questioner next week will be, "Why are you what you are and what are you anyway?" Think, schoolmates!

Campus Students Resting Casually Following Action

Five Hinds students are on probation for being caught pilfering food from the cafeteria early this morning.

Bill Grogan, described by teachers as being a little on the "shady" side, was named as leader of the thieves. Others on probation are Red Warrington, Jimmy Hataway, Hayward Neely and Butch Carruth.

The theft could have gone unnoticed, but unfortunately, the five boys developed acute cases of ptomaine poisoning and had to be rushed to the Hinds Infirmary. Mrs. Rachel Robinson, campus nurse, revived the suffering lads and reports they are doing nicely.

Further action will be taken on the case when the boys have recovered from the poisoning. President McLendon gave some indication that the sentence will be light, because the boys have already suffered greatly for their crime.

SPORTS PREVIEW

Gridders Gain "Major" Honor

By TOMMY NANCE

Word has just reached this writer that the 1961 edition of the Hinds Junior College Eagle gridiron team will be classed in the 'major college' bracket.

Adding Mississippi Southern, Ole Miss, and Mississippi State to its schedule, the local Eagles are rated as a top choice to finish among the top four in Magnolia competition.

Coach Joe Renfroe reports, "I have worked hard for this recognition and the boys are certainly proud of their achievement. We just hope we can prove to the spectators that we are real competition."

TOMMY

Drop 5 Teams

Due rewards should go to all of those who have made it possible for the Raymond 11 to reach the top plateau. We are certainly sorry that such well-balanced teams as East Central, Pearl River, Jones, Delta, and Copiah-Lincoln had to be dropped from the schedule in order to rate a major title, but one-half of the opponents also must be classed in the 'major' group to gain this national attention.

These squads that were dropped failed to advance from junior college ranking.

Besides the previously mentioned trio that had been added to the Bird's chart, Millsaps and Belhaven surprised several fans this year and collected the same ranking to give Hinds the necessary chart for major college division.

Rain Moves Games

With all the recent precipitation, all of Hinds' home games will have to be shifted to the new Mississippi Memorial Stadium, for construction of the new 55,000 seat Raymond Field has been delayed for several weeks.

The ultra-modern suburban stadium will have many advantages over several of the bowl sites. One of the noted ones is that a dome, 1500 feet high, will cover the entire stadium and parking lot; it will give complete protection from the weather and add to the comfort of the fans by providing air-conditioning and a heating system.

The location of the stadium, which, due to lack of space, had to be off the campus, is five miles south of Raymond Road on Cooper's Wells Road.

As a result of all the sudden interest in football on the Hinds campus, Coach Joe must come up with a top-rated squad or the public will travel 18 miles down the road to see Millsaps and Belhaven tangle, instead of watching the home town crew battle.

We expect that, with the opening of the stadium and the appearance of the first two-year institution into the mojar college bracket, Hinds will advance into headlines all over the nation. Good luck to the coaches, players, and fans for the coming season.

'Walking Back To Vicksburg' - Replies Sweet

Mrs. Peggy Swett, girls physical education instructor, received her "walking papers" yesterday as a result of not winning the Jackson Women's League title.

Mr. Mac, president, said if we can't have the best, we won't have any at all, so Mrs. Swett will no longer be with us. The girls' basketball mentor stated, "I thought we were going to win the championship all along, but I guess the only logical excuse was that Joan Phillips didn't score 50 points against those Pine-Sol cheaters."

Giving a going-away party for Mrs. Swett, the Eaglettes invited several notable Hollywood stars and charged the expense to the school activity fund. Those attending were Gregory Peck, Bing Crosby, and Mrs. Swett's favorite, Boris Karloff.

Now that the girls no longer have a physical education leader, they won't have to go to gym anymore.

This is only the second year that the new feminine sporting arena has been in use and it's already collecting spider webs. Now, with physical education being banned, the new girls' gym will begin to look more like a new breeding arena for spiders.

Junior College Officials Put 'Rap' On Eag Duo For Possible Scandal

Rhodes, Hensley Top Syndicate Suspects Here

Officials of the Mississippi Junior College Basketball Conference have invaded the Hinds campus and spread information of a possible scandal involving two of the local cage stars.

Wishing to keep their names secret for the present time, the officials stated that Eagle standouts Wayne Hensley and Billy Rhodes are suspects in a recently discovered roundball scandal involving Hinds and Jones in the semi-finals of the south district basketball championship held on the Raymond campus.

Seek Truth

The action, which brought the men to the Hinds campus, slipped among southern newspapermen down in Ellisville last weekend and caused drastic excitement among ligitimate coaches and players.

When approaching Coach Troy Ricks, the officials asked him if he had ever thought that the game might have been "fixed." Ricks answered, "I knew that the game was rigged, because I'm too good of a coach to lose in the first tilt my team plays in."

He further stated, "Wayne and Norman, who hail from Steele, Mo. and Pelahatchie, respectively, asked to be excused for the important game because they had ingrowing toe nails. I knew then that they just didn't want to play."

No Penalty Yet

A penalty for the boys hasn't been decided as of yet, for the basic facts haven't been uncovered, but a jail sentence is assured to both.

Private eyes are now busy looking for Jones coach A. B. Howard, who has left the city of Ellisville. He is one of the main suspects in the case. Officials think that he is the one who paid Hensley and Pace to slow down their arms, but are puzzled at where he got the money. A coach's salary hardly covers paying two players to forfeit a game.

Mu Rho Alpha Opens New Frat House On Campus; Holds Ceremonies Today

The Hinds chapter of Mu Rho Alpha, better known to students as MRA, will hold open house tonight in the brand spanking new fraternity home, just completed earlier this week.

Club president Jim Sansing extends invitations to all students and faculty members to attend this gala event, which will be the initial ceremony of its type on the Raymond campus.

The house, which belongs to the first fraternity to collect enough money on the Hinds campus to built its private home, has many up-to-date facilities. One of the main attractions of the house is a diamond-shaped swimming pool which represents baseball. Each specialty in the house represents some sport, since the fraternity is made up of sports-minded boys.

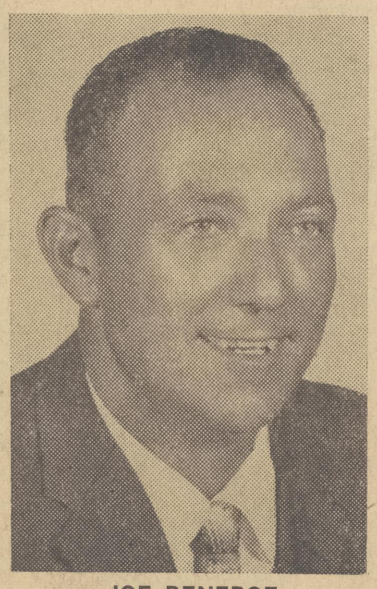
The floors of the house are made of a new fabric which will take spikes of all kinds and will not harm the exceptional polish. Now the members may walk into their home directly off the football or baseball field with their shoes still on their feet.

Members who are interested in only track and basketball will have a few years to wait before they may enjoy their sports, for the club treasurer is broke now and building of the needed gym and indoor track must be delayed until enough money is raised.

Open house is free, but if you are thirsty after walking five miles from the campus to the new mansion, drinks and cookies will be sold to raise money for the above mentioned luxuries. The house, by the way, is located near the college airport.

'SWEETS TO THE SWEET'

Hinds Field Bosses Try To Keep Boys In Tip-Top Shape



JOE RENFROE
I like birdland . . .

By TOMMY NANCE

With spring football nearing completion, gridiron coaches Joe Renfroe and Ivan Rosamond are busy finding out what their future stars like best.

To do this, Coach Joe first asks them if they have a sweet tooth. He states, "I try my darndest to keep these theeth filled by having lollipops on the field at all times, for it keeps the boys busy instead of watching those show stealing Hi-Steppers.

"For the more particular ones, I furnish chocolate covered cherries and sweet-gum drops."

After observing the team practice, I have come up with several facts which might interest other states' junior college coaches.

Drink Up!

When the coaches see that one of their little darlings is getting a wee bit tired, he immediately runs in a substitution and makes the usual pink lemonade for the boy just taken out of the game. After the player has finished his drink, Coach Joe hands him one of his ten cent cigars to get that sour taste out of his mouth.

Instead of fussing and cussing out the boys at halftime when his Eagles are losing, Coach Joe usually sits down and tells them a nursery rhyme or a fairy tale, whichever the boys vote on. The most famous of the rhymes are "Little Jack Horner," "Little Bo Peep," and "Jack and the Beanstalk."

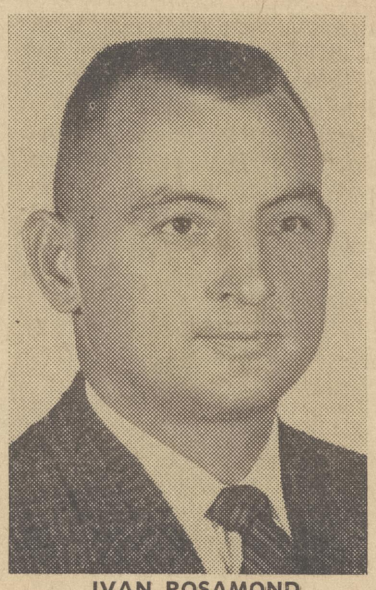
"I don't know why the boys like stories with 'Jack' in the title, but they do," commented Joe.

Sleep Proves Best

Assistant Coach Ivan doesn't agree with all of Joe's remedies, but tells his boys to get a good night's sleep. This requires sleeping 'till nine each morning and all day on Saturdays and Sundays. As for studying, Coach Ivan frowns on anything heavier than comics, "lest the players' minds become overburdened."

Slight exercise after an afternoon nap is permitted, Coach explained, but did not go further into his discussion, because spring football boys appeared around us and broke up the conversation with an enticing game of leap frog. Both Coaches Joe and Ivan joined in.

The boys and coaches are rgretting that the spring practice will be over soon, but hope to still enjoy the sport next fall.



IVAN ROSAMOND
I do too.

Staff Presents 1961 Eagle To College

School Holds Career Day On Campus

Mr. G. M. McLendon welcomed seniors from all the Hinds County high schools, excluding the three Jackson City schools, to the Hinds County Career Day held on the Hinds Junior College campus Tuesday, April 4th.

Presiding in the assembly program in which the welcome was given was Mr. W. H. Cochran, Principal of Byram High School. Superintendent of Hinds County Schools, Mr. J. E. Aldridge, gave the invocation. Mr. W. L. Hearn, State Supervisor of Guidance, was the guest speaker.

After an address by Mr. W. L. Hearn, State Supervisor of Guidance, Miss Estelle Scott introduced the session speakers.

Four of the Hinds faculty members were instructors in the individual workshops. They were Mr. Frank Stephenson, auto mechanics; Mr. Walter Gibbes, auto mechanics and welding; Mr. F. L. Rayburn, carpentry; and Mr. W. M. McKenzie.

Denton Receives Honor Of '61 Yearbook Dedication In Chapel

Mr. A. L. Denton, guidance counselor and psychology instructor, received the honor of having the 1961 Eagle, college yearbook, dedicated to him. The first copy of the new annual was presented to him in assembly today by editor Jewel McNair.

The 1961 Eagle, containing 208 pages, is the largest annual ever to be published at Hinds.

Another first for the yearbook is three full-color pages, depicting aspects of life at Hinds.

The book has a padded maroon cover with an overprint of white lettering and art work. It is divided into seven basic sections: administration, classes, feature, activities, sports, snapshots, and ads.

"The 1961 Eagle staff has attempted to capture in words and pictures one of Hinds' great years," stated Jewel.

A special feature in the annual is an enlarged snapshot section consisting of 18 pages of typical shots of Hinds students.

The design and artwork of the completed annual was done by members of the yearbook staff.

The annual was under the supervision of Mr. Irl Dean Rhodes, former Hinds Junior College public relations director.

Distribution of the books began at 2:30 p.m. today and will continue throughout the week. Payments may be completed at the time the annual is picked up.

Boasting an expanded sports section, the Eagle depicts all sporting events held on the campus. Another feature of the annual is pictures of the Who's Who winners.

Assisting Jewel in publishing the yearbook were Carolyn Gill, assistant editor; Charlotte Dunlap, business manager; Johnny Miller, assistant business manager; Jean Rodgers, snapshot editor; Martha Bryant, feature editor; Mildred Brown, vocational section; and Nancy Hamil, student section.

Other staffers were Jane Bennett, club editor; Johnny Carter and Gerald Keyes, sports editors; Johann Rush, photo editor; Bobby Tadlock, assistant photographer; and Mary Jo Sullivan, Dot McRae, Sandy Coker, Corkie Lyle, and Doris Thornton, staff members.

FUTURE PLANNING

HJC Vocational Division Sets Up Committee To Evaluate Program

By MARY J. SULLIVAN

The technical division of Hinds Junior College has established planning committees to evaluate its present programs and discuss how to best meet the needs of the future.

The purpose of these planning committees is to familiarize the local employers with the various vocational programs offered at Hinds. The committee members help plan the future course of study and try to determine what is needed to have complete educational experience.

The refrigeration department has had two planning sessions thus far. The first meeting was held at Hinds, where the committee toured the training station of the department. The second meeting was held at the State Office Building in Jackson. The purpose of the third meeting will be to discuss the equipment needed to make the department more efficient.

The committee members are J. W. Brown, James F. Sallis, Jean Griffin, F. M. McCraw, C. W. Bowron, and John Bruno Jr., of Jackson; Robert Mayo, A. G. Liss, H. J. Brown, J. W. Cocraft and W. H. Gibbes, all of Hinds.

Baptist Students Begin '61 Drive For Summer Missionary Project

The Hinds Baptist Student Union begins its annual summer mission drive next week. The object of the program is for the BSU's of the state, cooperating with the home and foreign mission boards, to send students from various colleges in our state to mission fields of the Southern Baptist Convention.

To kick off its program on April 10, the Hinds BSU will have as its guest speaker Dorsey Deaton of Mississippi College. He will present the program at the weekly meeting.

The total cost of the program to the Mississippi Baptist Student Unions will be $4,000. Hinds' part of this program will be $80.00.

Students will be sent to Korea, Hawaii, Alaska, Utah, Wyoming, and New York for the 1961 program.

Jimmy Davis, sophomore from Canton, is in charge of the project and its promotion on the Hinds campus.

4-H'ers Gather At Hinds Friday For Meeting

Hinds' campus will be the gathering place Friday, April 7, for six or seven hundred 4-H'ers as they meet for the annual Hinds County 4-H rally.

The day will begin at 9:15 with a general assembly in the college auditorium, after which classes will be conducted on project instruction.

Sophomore Dreams Come True

Oh, to be a sophomore! This is the cry of the freshmen girls as the news of a date night spreads across the campus.

The sophomore girls who maintain a c average or above will be permitted to date one night a week, provided they double-date. The dating hours will be from 4:30 to 9:30, giving the couples ample time to spend an evening in Jackson.

Letters granting permission from the girls' parents have been returned to the Dean's office.

The date night will go into effect as soon as the dormitory supervisors confirm the girls' averages.

Assembly Theme Urges Teacher Appreciation

The "Appreciation of Teachers" was the theme for the assembly program presented to the student body by the Student Educational Association today.

The President of the Association, Rose Earnest, gave the devotional, and other members of the Association participated in the presentation of the program.

Rodney Salassi spoke on the topic of "Appreciation of Our Teachers," and Dallas Walker lectured on "Human Anatomy." The mixed ensemble and the brass section of the band then gave their rendition of "Bye, Bye Blues." Fields Bacon, Master of ceremonies, then introduced Joe Quatario, who spoke on Florida.

The program was concluded with the presentation of the faculty on stage and a reception for them after the program.

ENCIRCLED IN IVY is Myra Andrews, Hinds Honey No. 18, from Pearl, posing for the photographer beside a bird bath. In trench coat, caught on a moist day, the blonde cutie casts a reflection admired often by Hinds laddies. We all vote for more wet days!

1961 - Age Of Uncertainty

We are living in an age of great uncertainty. We do not know how long our little world — our college, our home and surroundings — will remain as they are, and we do not know how the big world outside is going to get along or what will become of it.

The uncertainty is often most depresssing. The uncertainty of our future is not only perplexing, but it hurts. It dampens our spirits and dims our outlook. Yet we should not permit ourselves to get discouraged.

While we do not know what the future holds, we can at least retain our spirit of confidence and optimism. The future is in the hands of God, and only He can give the answer.

It is like the case of a Hinds Junior College student who was taking his examinations just before the Christmas holiday. One question particularly puzzled the young freshman and after long and deep study, he wrote on his paper as follows:

"God only knows the answer to this question; Merry Christmas."

When the professor got around to checking the papers, he came to this one and noted the statement given. Across the same paper the professor wrote:

"God gets an A. You get an F. Happy New Year."

Thus in the same way God knows the answers to the questions now before us. Uncertainty often breeds fear, but let us not fear the future. We will face the future unafraid and with courage.

Eagle Shows Campus Life

The Eagle staff is to be commended for the superior job they did on the 1960-61 yearbook. The book itself speaks for the many laborious hours spent in preparation for the outstanding edition.

If the old saying, "A picture is worth a thousand words," is true, then this yearbook will last for years to come, expressing the friendships, activities, and memories accumulated durng the year. Flipping through the Eagle pages years from now will bring back many treasured thoughts.

The Eagle is an outstanding representative of the cross-section of Hinds students, faculty, activities, and sports. It touches all aspects of campus life and activity.

The variety, color, make-up, and general appearance of the annual speaks for the initiative used by the group.

Mr. Irl Dean Rhodes, former Public Relations Director, was the sponsor for the annual this year. The yearbook would not have been possible without his guidance and the adept co-ordination of editor Jewel McNair. The splendid co-operation of the entire staff was also responsible for the unusually high quality of the annual.

Faculty, Students Express Sympathy

The Hindsonian staff, faculty and students of Hinds extend deepest sympathy to Linda Clower and her family at the loss of Mrs. Jesse Clower.

Popular Johnson Visits Senegal For Good Will

By CORKIE LYLE

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson is currently touring the nation of Senegal, which recently acquired its independence from France.

CORKIE

Arriving at Dakar, the westernmost city in Africa, Johnson and his wife were surrounded by natives in every part of the city they visited. The twosome were also the most popular of the foreign dignitaries present at the independence festival—even more so than the Russian representatives.

If the arousing welcome given the Johnsons in Dakar means anything, it is a great possibility that the Senegal Republic will be a pro-Western nation and will not develop into another Congo.

GOOFY GOLF: Four students at the University of Aberdeen in Scotland plan to play golf to the top of the tallest mountain in Britain. The group will head off a campaign for the school's current charity program.

Men have climbed the mountain, walked up it on a well-defined path, and even driven vehicles up the slope, but no one has golfed up it. There's a first time for everything, you know.

JETS FOR THAILAND: The United States Monday presented the Royal Thai Air Force with over 28 F-86 Sabrejets. The formal transfer put the Thai Air Force into the supersonic era.

This country has to be very careful with whom it is dealing these days. With the trouble right next door in Laos, safety pays.

NICE COMMUNISTS: The Chinese Communists this week announced that they are freeing Robert F. McCann, an American reported dying of lung cancer. McCann will leave China this week.

McCann was convicted of espionage in Tientsin, China, on June 14, 1951. He was sentenced to 15-years imprisonment by the Communist People's Court.

He is being released for what the Commies call "humanitarian" reasons. His wife has flown to Red China to meet and accompany him home.

Church Music Shows Liturgical Jazz Movement

By JEAN RODGERS

Jazz in the church? How preposterous! What is this world coming to, anyway?

JEAN

This is just one of the many responses against the Liturgical Jazz movements in the United States.

Liturgical Jazz is simply religious themes with jazz in the background.

At a first glance this may seem rather crude, but further thought on the basis for using Liturgical Jazz as a mode of conveying a spiritual thought should be given.

Why do people write jazz for the church? In Christian Action, Ed Summerlin tells his story. Mr. Summerlin feels that jazz can speak in any situation as a valid, artistic expression.

He backs this statement by giving a brief description of the background of jazz. The first jazz recordings were made in 1917, although jazz got its start around 1900.

Mr. Summerlin considers the origin of jazz from three sources: the early church hymns, Negro work songs, and early brass bands that played for parades (including funerals).

Jazz was used as an expression of man's terrible sufferings.

Through the past years, jazz has become known as "swing" music, and it has become popular in night clubs. This has led many people to be dubious of jazz.

Mr. Summerlin is a musician — a jazz musician. This is his talent, his creative work. He came to the conclusion that when an artist really expresses himself, there are no boundaries. This is when Mr. Summerlin decided to use his ability and do something for the church.

Many people are highly opinionated against Liturgical Jazz, but to each his own beliefs. The feelings, emotions, and reasons behind an artist's work make the work what it is.

Mr. Summerlin contributed his talents into doing something creative for the church. We can't help but admire a piece when we know why it was written—if the basis is of value.

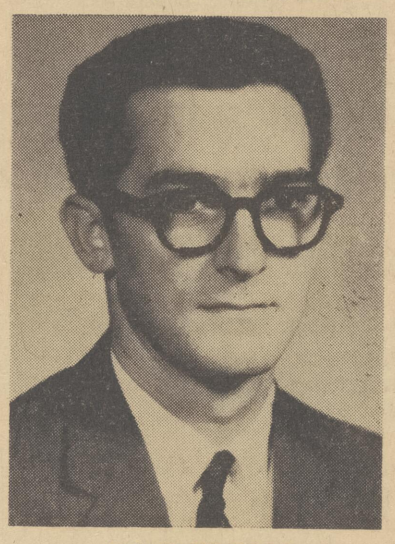
SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Student With Sights On Future Goals, Aims In Life, Wins Honor

By BELINDA HILL

A self-made man who qualifies for the old American tradition of "make your own way in life" is our Hinds Sophomore of the Week.

Charles Bobo, of Lorman, is a person who knows what he wants and is steadily making his way toward his self-set goal. Since the 10th grade in Natchez High School, he has worked his way through school by selling shoes in the Allen Shoe Stores of Natchez and Jackson. Too few students of today are willing to make their own way in life as Charles does.



CHARLES BOBO
Versatile Sophomore

For two years straight at Natchez Charles was named as Outstanding Student of the Year by the Distributive Education Club, and in his senior year he was selected as Mr. Distributive Education of Mississippi. Distributive Education is the system in which a student goes to school and also works to pay his own way.

At Hinds, Charles is a business major and works in the grill. He is also campus representative for Liggett and Myers Tobacco Company, and on week-ends he works for the Allen Shoe Store in Jackson.

In his freshman year at Hinds, Charles was a member of the Future Business Leaders of America and the Circle K. Last August he attended the national Circle K convention in Canada. At present he is serving as secretary of the club, and plans to attend the district meeting in Louisiana and the national convention in Miami, Florida.

The Hindsonian salutes a young man who has not lost sight of the basic principles on which this nation was founded, that every citizen has the right and the opportunity to make of himself what he wishes. May the future bring you only the best, Charles.

ARTISTS ALL — Four members of the Hinds Junior College art club, Alpha Rho Tau, sketch landscapes beside Raymond Lake. The foursome is composed of Ann Brooks of Kosciusko, Gerald Holland of Brandon, Linda Taylor of Jackson, and Wayne Cole of Rolling Fork. All four are students of Mrs. A. L. Denton, local art instructor.

PTK - Sponsored Program Delights Campus Audience

By CORKIE LYLE

The house came down with "Balling the Jack" by Sir Frederick Brooks; the roof fell in with a reading by Mrs. Frances Lee; the boys and girls sat in a trance during the melodious moments presented by Miss Susan Brown and Mr. Walter Gibbes.

Phi Theta Kappa, local honor society, staged a joyous event when they presented the faculty talent show. The proceeds will go toward the National Phi Theta Kappa Convention at Sheridan, Wyoming, this month. Approximately 25 students from Hinds are planning to attend the week-and-one-half affair.

A quartet of four Hinds personalities opened the eventful evening —Mr. M. F. Herring, Mr. Robert M. Mayo, Mr. Thomas Stricklin, and Mr. Walter Gibbes. The group sang two numbers dating from the times of old.

Next, Miss Phyl Kimball presented the group with a piano solo. Mr. A. L. Denton, local guidance director, captivated the audience with his harp numbers. Mr. Denton rehearsed his music before the program began, much to the enjoyment of the audience.

Mr. Gibbes appeared again, this time alone, to sing "Ole Man River" and "On the Road to Mandalay." Mrs. Lee, ponytails and all, rocked the house with her reading that put a couple of students on the red side. Miss Susan Brown appealed to all the lovers in the audience with her rendition of "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes" and "I Wish."

Mr. Pat Smith, director of Public Relations, had the audience's attention with his reading of Mark Twain's "Invalid Story." Next, Mr. Brooks pulled a Mary Ann Mobley type of performance on the crowd with his antics of "Balling The Jack."

The Beemon skit, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Beemon, Miss Glenda Rush, Miss Nell Pickett, Mr. Thomas Stricklin and Mr. Bill Oakes, was patterned after a mixed-up radio that frequently changed stations at the most inopportune time.

Mrs. Robbie Dukes narrated the Hinds Junior College style show that presented the latest spring fashions around the lovely campus. Participating in this event were Mrs. J. R. Harris, Mrs. Elizabeth McNair, Miss Mary Sue McNair, Miss Elaine Mayfield, Mrs. Ella Goodwin, Mrs. Peggy Swett, Miss Sarah Nell Taylor, Mrs. Alfreida Moore, and Mrs. Margaret Kimball. One must admit that the costumes were a tiny bit gaudy, and with not too much correct appeal.

Mrs. Lucile Keen floored the audience with her version of St. Louis Blues, complete with flapper dress and beads. Miss Mildred Herrin pulled suitors out of the audience with her rendition of "I Want A Man." She got one; his name is Mike Rabalais.

The program was emceed by Brooks Ried of Vicksburg.

Education Head Speaks To Local Service Group

Mr. J. M. Tubb, state superintendent of education, was the guest speaker of the Hinds Junior College Circle K Club at the recent meeting.

Mr. Tubb spoke on the importance of a satisfactory educational system, both national and state, in order to insure the democratic way of life.

Mr. Tubb had this to say to the group: "The Mississippi education system is based upon religion, morality, and knowledge. These have been characteristics of our system since the early 1900's.

"The next war will be decided by education, not bombs," was an exclamation by Mr. Tubb. "The country with the best educational facilities will emerge as the next world power."

Mr. Tubb ended the program with the thought that "the greatest joy a person can receive is to help his fellow man so that he might receive a greater joy."

The club, the only one of its type on the local campus, is planning to have another distinguished speaker within the near future, club president John Wilda announced today.

The club is sponsored by Mr. Jack Treloar, school and farm supervisor. The group meets every Thursday night in the private dining room of the cafeteria.

Art Department Serves Purpose On Local Campus

By CAROLYN MAY

When Hinds Junior College dropped its high school program and devoted itself entirely to junior college education, the Art Department took this in stride and now attempts to offer courses parallel to those in senior colleges of Mississippi.

Offered are three beginning classes, one history class, one commercial class, and one advanced class. All information acquired in these classes has enabled Hinds students who didn't wish to continue their art training in a senior college to find their places in business enterprises such as the Southern Bell Telephone Company, Kennington's, State Department of Education, and the Emporium—just as former graduates of Hinds have done.

Mrs. A. L. Denton, head of the Hinds Art Department, teaches all of the basic principles necessary for using art in everyday life or continuing art training. Mrs. Denton attended college at Mississippi State College for Women where she received her B.A. and Mississippi College for her M.A.

For the future of art education at Hinds Junior College, a Fine Arts building is planned for the near future at which time adequate building facilities will enable the college to hire additional art instructors. With the addition of this building, Hinds will have passed another milestone.

READING FOR ALL

Librarian Reveals New Purchases; Month Of March Totals 85 Volumes

Additions to the Hinds Junior College library for the month of March, 1961, totalled 81 volumes, Mrs. Marvin Riggs, librarian, announced today.

The new books deal with every subject from Old Testament to humanism, from the Crusades to chemistry, and from heart disease to literary programs.

Among the authors are such well-known personalities as Chaucer, Clemens, Ferber, Fisher, Pyle, and Yearns.

Among the books now on the shelves are Kingdom of the Sun, by Isaac Asimov; Tennyson, the Growth of a Poet, by Jerome Hamilton Buckley; Innocents Abroad, by Samuel Langhorn Clemens; The Dean's Watch, by Elizabeth Goudge; Stanislavsky Directs, by Nicolai M. Gorchakov.

Code of Cataloging Rules: Author and Titile Entry, by Seymour Lubetzky; 1960 Supplement to the Mississippi Code, 1942, Annotated, by the Mississippi Legislature; Accounting Theory and Practice, by Robert L. Miltro; Alcohol Education for the Layman, by Margaret E. Monroe; The Mexican War, by Otis A. Singletary; Causes of the Civil War, by K. M. Stampp.

Harper's Bible Dictionary, by Madeleine Miller; The American Indian Wars, by John Tebbel; Southern Regional Educational Board, by Redding S. Sugg; A True and Historical Narrative Account of the Colony of Georgia, by Patrick Tailfer,; Seminar on the Economics of Higher Education, from Harvard University.

The library is open every day during the week from 7:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and then again from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. Assistants are Mrs. Rosser Wall and Mrs. Alfredia Moore.

Canterbury Club Presents Savings To Church Needs

The Hinds Junior College Canterbury Association this past Lenten season filled out self-denial offering folders which were collected today. The total of the fund reached nearly $30.

Corkie Lyle, club president, announced that the group, composed of only ten persons, went well above the expected collection.

The money will be sent to the National Foundation for use in Nigeria and to Okolona Junior College for Negroes in Okolona.

Mary McKenzie Addresses International Relations Group At 7 O'clock Today

Miss Mary Will McKenzie will present slides of her recent trip to Iran at the International Relations Club meeting tonight.

The IRC will meet in the Visual Aids Room of the Academic Building at 7 p.m.

This showing is the second of a two-part series shown by Miss McKenzie to the club.

Delta Captures Triple Cinder Win Over Hinds, Co-Lin

Three state junior colleges hit the cinders for the first time this season up in Moorhead yesterday and the champion proved to be the state title holder, Delta.

Playing host to the triple school meet, Delta copped the winner's crown with 51 points, followed by Hinds' 43 and Copiah-Lincoln's 41.

Hinds captured three first place honors, with Joe Dickerson's 11' 10" pole vault, Wilburn Williamson's 20' 1/4" broad jump, and Mike Vinson's 880 yard run in 210.1.

Racking up eight first places, the spirited Trojans won in the mile run, 100 yard dash, 220 yard run, mile relay, 880 relay, discus, and high jump. Southern competitor Wesson chalked up first places in the 440 yard run, low hurdles, 440 yard relay, and the shot put.

Edgar McDaniel paced the winning club with his 5 min. 5.6 mile run and his discus toss of 115' 2 1/2". David Denman also racked up a double win in the 100 yard dash and the 220 yard run. His times of 10.7 and 22.7 were enough to eek out Co-Lin's May and Sherman respectively.

Billy Williams totaled a first and third place score for Delta in his high hurdle victory and his placement in the low hurdles. Other outstanding Trojan performers were Ed Kelly, Mobile, Ala., James Bennett, and Hubert Beans.

The Wolves of Copiah-Lincoln were led by several outstanding performers. Sherman, Hunter, and Ledet toppled other participants in the mile run, low hurdles, and the shot put with their first places. Seale, May, Sherman, Vernado, Lingle, and St. Anant also added points to the final Wolf total.

Ed Frazier and Don Allen totalled third and fourth places for Hinds in the mile run, while Wilburn Williamson and Burt Sullivan captured second and third places in the 440 yard run.

Donny Swafford placed second in low hurdles division and third in the broad jump. Howard Freeman placed second in the discus with his 113' 4 1/2" throw. Freeman's 38' 2" in the shot put was enough for a third place for Hinds.

Pat Conerly of Jackson placed second in the 880 yard run, while Clarence Peterson finished third in the 220.

The next action for Hinds will be Friday when they journey to Ellisville to see action against Jones. This meet was originally scheduled for Tuesday, March 28.

Tigers Revive Gridiron Action

By TOMMY NANCE

During the administration of Governor Hugh White, one of the most important projects undertaken was to balance agriculture with industry for the state of Mississippi.

Such might be the case with Northeast Junior College at the present, but in an entirely different field. A more appropriate title might be "Balance Athletics With Football."

TOMMY

We noted with interest that the new program will not stop with football but will continue with facilities for tennis, badminton, volleyball, outdoor basketball, and shuffleboard.

The Booneville institution, in its 13th year as a state junior college, is one of the most progressive two-year schools in the state. Its scholarship program, as well as its growing sports field, deserves that "second look."

A definite date as to when intercollegiate football will return to the upstate campus is still a question in many of the interested minds. There are several factors the development of which are yet in the dark.

One of these is the growth of football into the high schools in Northeast's five-county area. Currently, Corinth, New Albany, Booneville, Baldwyn, and a few others have gridiron programs, but several schools lack the pigskin interest.

With this growth and the renovation of the present football field, fall sporting activity will soon grab the headlines.

President Earl Hargett and all of those who are advancing this wonderful program deserve tremendous recognition and thanks from the sports fans in northeast Mississippi. We extend our heartiest applauds and well wishes to those who are going to make the program available.

Bowling Diamonds

Baseball is giving way to bowling up in Philadelphia, Penn. Not the entire sport, but the home of the Philadelphia Phillies is being torn down to make way for new bowling alleys and a discount store.

Connie Mack Stadium, which saw many exciting nine-innings in the past, was sold to a New York firm for less than a million dollars.

We certainly hate to see such a familiar landmark as the stadium leave the scene, but we know the Phillies will enjoy their new $10 million stadium. It is scheduled to be occupied in the 1963 season.

RACKET PROS

Tennis Squad Prepares For Initial Meet With East Central Thursday

Tennis courts will be buzzing with action Thursday afternoon when the East Central netters invade the Hinds campus for the Eagles' initial court play. Match time is set for 2:30.

A large turnout is predicted by Coach Bill Oakes, with 11 boys seeking action. Hinds placed second along with Jones in the overall matches last year, with Southwest taking the state title.

Sophomores Aid

Sophomores who have been warming up on their back stroke are Wendell Hollis, Rex Carson, Tommy Jackson, and Joe L. Ferguson. All hail from Jackson except Ferguson, who comes from Utica.

Eight freshmen will add strength to the local club, with Jackson and Vicksburg claiming three each. Representing Hinds and Vicksburg will be Lee Riley, Brooks Reed, and Tommy Pullen. Larry Hughes, Bill Heard, and Warren Hegwood are from Jackson. Two others, Rudy Holcomb and Conrad Robertson, hail from Rolling Fork and Clinton respectively.

Girls' Play

Visiting from East Central's female squad will be Sharon Osborn, Charlotte Duncan, and Betty Garvin.

Six boys, Jim Mullins, Glen Majure, Harry Simpson, Bill Damery, Bill Smith, and Lamar Buntyn, will make the journey for the Warriors.

Miss Lucille Wood's netters will be providing opening action for Hinds' schedule, with matches planned with Perkinston, Jones, and Southwest. The net team usually travels along with the tracksters for their matches.

Policy Establishes Fees For Play On Local Golf Course

Beginning on April 1 a new policy was established for the Hinds Junior College golf course. Fees will be charged for the general public, with the exception of college students, who may play on their activity cards.

A green fee of 50 cents will be charged for nine holes of play and 75 cents for 18 holes. After 4 p.m., players will be charged 25 cents for five holes. Golf enthusiast may purchase a seasonal pass for $15.

To Build House

The new fees should cover the cost of maintenance of the course, the building of a small club house, and a refreshment stand.

Under the direction and supervision of Mr. Jack Treloar, the course looks over beautiful Raymond Lake and its surroundings. Hinds has had access to the course for approximately four years.

New Traps

Recently, sand traps have been added to a few of the greens, and some greens have been enlarged. This all provides a more professional course for the golfers to enjoy.

Hinds is one of the few colleges in the state to own and operate its own golf course. Few junior colleges in the South offer this facility to its students.

Girl Leaders Converge On Campus For First State Recreational Meet

Hinds and Mississippi State College for Women will co-sponsor the first physical education workshop in the state this weekend.

The meeting will be held on the Hinds campus. Mrs. Peggy Swett and MSCW sponsor Mrs. Mary Kate Miller are working together to produce an inspiring and educational program for the visiting girls.

Dr. Ann Moore, national physical education figure from Louisiana State University, will be guest speaker at the workshop. She will talk to the girls on physical fitness and other vital information that concerns the future educational leaders.

Various Classes

Beginning Saturday morning at eight, classes will be set up in golfing, fencing, and other sporting subjects. These workshops, which will be led by experts throughout the state's senior and junior colleges, will continue over the day.

A softball game and barbecue at the college lake will be a highlight of the program, and President George McLendon will speak to the girls afterwards. Returning to the campus, the group will put on their full skirts and join in for a vigorous square dance finale. The workshop will terminate Sunday.

15 Females Each

All the junior and senior colleges in the state are invited to attend the workshop, with each college limited to 15 representatives. Those attending do not have to be physical education majors but should be interested in recreational fields.

Colleges which will be represented are Hinds, MSCW, Ole Miss, Delta State, Miss. Southern, Belhaven, Miss. College, Millsaps, Southwest, and All Saints Junior College of Vicksburg. Other junior colleges may participate.

'Swing It, Girls' Cries Instructor On Local Greens

Fore! That's the cry from the girls' physical education classes as they hit the Hinds golf greens.

Mrs. Peggy Swett, gym instructor, has taught the girls the basic fundamentals of golf and now will demonstrate the swing and procedure of professional play. The girls will begin actual play within the next few weeks.

Along with golf, those who are interested in solfball and tennis will get to try out their skills. Seven tennis courts are available for Hinds students to enjoy during the warm spring months.

In other female activity the Women's Athletic Association is presently enjoying indoor activity such as trampoline practice, badminton, and volleyball.

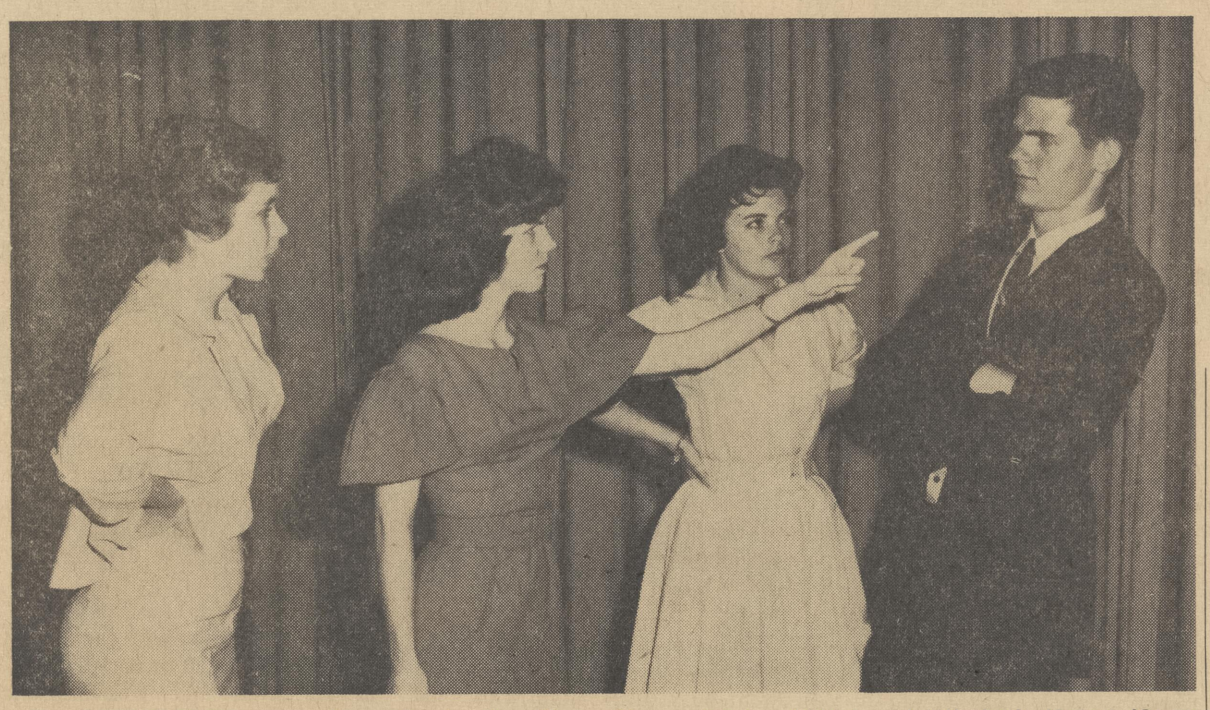
VOLUME 27—NUMBER 25 HINDS JUNIOR COLLEGE, RAYMOND, MISSISSIPPI WEDNESDAY, APRIL 12, 1961

Lendon Players To Present 3-Act Play



IN A REHEARSAL scene from the Lendon Players' production of "Three Blind Mice," Pamela Mason (Kay Adams) makes a point with Henry Trowbridge (Conrad Roberson) as sisters Moria Mason (Eloise Wilks) and Elizabeth Mason (Gwen Canoy) look on. The play will be presented tomorrow night at 8 p. m. in college auditorium.

Emotions Rank High In Comedy; Curtain Time Set For 8:00 P. M.

Love, laughter, and tears are to be combined in the Lendon Players' production of "Three Blind Mice," to be given tomorrow night in the college auditorium.

The plot evolves around three pretty but avaricious girls who sell the chicken farm left them by their aunt.

Pamela Mason, played by Kay Adams, poses as a rich girl accompanied by her secretary, Elizabeth Mason, portrayed by Gwen Canoy, and a maid, Moira, played by Eloise Wilkes. They go to an exclusive hotel in Florida where they meet men of high society.

Trusting their home town lawyer, Henry Trowbridge, played by Conrad Roberson, was a mistake which brings almost crucial consequences. After many sighs, cries, and sad good-byes mingled with kisses and tender endearments, after threats by an odious gossip columnist played by Beth Strong, schemes by a snooty, rich old widow portrayed by Sue Willoughby, the clouds lift from the darkened horizon and leave a happy group of lovers.

The play is under the direction of Mr. Fred L. Brooks and assistant director Joel McNinch.

Other members of the cast include Jack Roberts as Albert DuPont, social director of the hotel at which the "Mice" are staying; Steve Harrington, played by Brooks Reid, millionaire nephew of Conrad Harrington, played by Henry Brown; Mr. Cord, hotel manager, portrayed by Charles Seeger; and William, the photographer, played by Johann Rush.

Committees are headed by Charles Daley, stage set; Anna Maurejohn, sound; Maxine Womack, tickets; Mildred Brown and Sara Bean, publicity; Earl Lee, properties; and make-up, Judy Cloy.

Curtain time is 8 o'clock. Admission is fifty cents for students and one dollar for adults.

Special BSU Plans Made By Rankin

The BSU program for next Monday night has been especially planned by the music chairman of the BSU Executive Council. It will consist of special music interwoven into scripture passages that follow the theme "God's Love."

Gwen Canoy will act as narrator as she reads selected scripture passages. Earl Lee will lead the congregational hymns.

The program will be divided into three parts. The first will be "The Meaning of the Love of God." During this part of the program Mary Elizabeth Hudson and Edna Earl Hill will sing, as a special song, "Though Your Sins Be As Ccarlet."

The second part of the program will be "The Extent of the Love of God." Earl Lee will sing "The Love of God" as a special number.

The final section of the program will be "The Results of the Love of God." Earnestine Hall will sing "Give of Your Best to the Master."

The special musical program will be closed with the singing of the Lord's Prayer.

ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT

Robert Mayo Represents School At Edgewater - Coast PTA Meet

Mr. Robert Mayo is representing Hinds Junior College this week at the Mississippi Congress of Parents and Teachers. The Congress, which is meeting at the Edgewater Gulf Hotel at Biloxi, began Tuesday and will extend through Thursday.

The theme of the 1961 convention is "Challenge for the Changing World." Mrs. H. D. Worthy, State PTA president, will preside at the general business sessions of the convention.

A new attraction, a "For Men Only" breakfast, has been added to the State Congress this year, and Mr. Mayo has the honor of presiding over this newest addition to the convention.

A highlight of the closing day of the convention will be a panel discussion on the subject, "Schools That Meet the Challenge of the Changing World." Mr. Mayo was again honored by being selected as the moderator of this session.

During convention a planning session will be held to outline the State Safety Conferenc to be held August 24-25.

Engineers Visit Hinds Airport With Sponsors

Thirty-sevevn members of the Hinds Engineering Club, accompanied by sponsors Miss Lurline Stewart and Mr. Wallace Wall, enjoyed a field trip last Friday to the John Bell Williams Airport.

Mr. Kennis Bryant, Hinds airplane mechanics instructor, conducted the group on a tour through the airport and its facilities.

The group was shown an airplane which Hinds students have completely rebuilt and is now being used for flight instruction, and an airplane which is now being constructed from two wrecked airplanes.

Reeves Presents Music Recital In Auditorium

Hinds Junior College voice instructor, Mrs. Geneva D. Reeves, Mezzo-Soprano, will be presented in recital Tuesday night, April 18, at 8 p. m. in the college auditorium. Mrs. Reeves will be accompanied by Mrs. Marjorie Stricklan, piano instructor.

Mrs. Reeves received her B. A. degree with a major in voice from Mississippi College and her BSM and MSM from Southwestern Theological Seminary at Ft. Worth, Texas. At Southwestern she was under a full voice scholarship.

She has completed further study under Wm. A. C. Zerffi of New York City and Loren Davidson of L. S. U.

Mrs. Reeves will present selections ranging from the classics to the early Louisiana songs of slavery.

McLendon Assists In Evaluation Program At Texas Junior College

President George M. McLendon returnd Tuesday to the Hinds campus after a three day trip to Gainsville, Texas where he assisted in a college self-evaluation program.

President McLendon and his associates, Dr. C. P. Colvert, from the University of Texas, and Dr. Hunter, from Louisiana State University, were among the judges who were at Gainsville Junior College to evaluate the college for accredition in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

The junior college was affiliated with the Gainsville High School up until 1959, at which time the two split to become separate institutions.

This is only one of the many types of self-valuation programs with which President McLendon has been affiliated.

Lee Releases Dating Rules

The rules for 1961 date night for sophomore girls have been released by Mrs. Frances Lee, dean of women. The rules are as follows:

1. Girls must have permission on file.
2. Must have C average.
3. Only one date a week.
4. Must double date — girls from Hinds Junior College.
5. Must register in date book.
6. Dating time: 4:30-9:30.

READING CONSULTANT

Taylor Resigns Position At HJC; Joins Northeast Louisiana Staff

Miss Sarah Nell Taylor, Hinds Junior College reading instructor, has submitted her official resignation to the administration.

MISS SARAH TAYLOR
Leaves Hinds

She has accepted a position at Northwest Louisiana State College, Monroe, as reading consultant. The first part of this summer Miss Taylor will teach "How to Teach Reading" to instructors of reading. Her work will begin June 1, 1961.

Miss Taylor attended Jones Junior College one year, then transferred to Mississippi Southern College, where she received her B.S. and M.S. degrees on a Masonite scholarship. While at Southern she served on the M.S.C. Reading Conference for two years.

Miss Taylor, who has been a teacher at Hinds for two years, is a member of the American Association of University Women, Kappa Delta Pi, and International Reading Association.

Presently, she is serving as secretary of the Magnolia Reading Association and Hinds Junior College Faculty Club. She also holds the position of freshman class sponsor.

Civil War Centennial

In the hurry-scurry lives we are living today, we Mississippians are pausing to observe a Civil War Centennial.

The meaning of this war goes deep into the lives of many people. Although the war occurred long before our time, it greatly affected our ancestors.

Countless lives were lost; there was much agony and suffering. Destruction and starvation raged. Was this waste of mankind's life, property, and time needless?

Yankees accuse us of still living the war, but it struck us far deeper than them. It is not something one can easily forget. The strike of death and corruption is hard to forget.

If we had it to do over again, conditions the same, we would probably enter war with our sister states. Our ancestors fought and died for something they believed in. That is why we as Southerners relive this war.

The War goes deeper than the gay balls and celebrations that are used in commemoration. It goes out to the old Raymond Cemetery — and other such cemeteries in the South — where there lie 75 Southern Civil War soldiers. There the 75 markers stand inscribed Unknown. This to us was the Civil War.

Wake Up, Club Reporters!

"Why wasn't our club party written about in the paper?" "We had a speaker at our last meeting and it wasn't in the Hindsonian."

Hinds is a fairly large campus. It is full of news sources. People make news every day of the week, but it is hard for that news to be published in the paper if it is kept a secret.

The Hindsonian staff is small. Each member has certain stories assigned each week. It is impossible for us to cover every organization on the campus without some cooperartion from these groups.

If club reporters would jot down a few facts about any news in the club and drop it by the Public Relations office, it would accomplish a two-fold purpose. First, it would help our staff locate the news, and secondly, it would help keep each club in the news.

Class Expresses Thanks

To the Administration and Board of Trustees
Hinds Junior College
Raymond, Mississippi

The sophomore class of Hinds Junior College wishes to express its sincere appreciation to all of you who have helped us gain the privilege of a date night once a week.

We shall continue to show you our thanks by abiding by the rules which accompany our privilege. We realize that the success of it will influence its continuation through the years to come.

There are too many people responsible for helping us attain the dating privilege to thank everyone individually, for we might unintentionally omit a name. Therefore, we are thanking each of you in this letter.

Sincerely,
'61 Sophomore Class

Editor's Note: It should be noted here that the President's Council had a great deal to do with the granting of a sophomore date night. We feel that the work they did should be recognized. The rules for the date night appear on page 1 of this paper.

Kennedy Throws Baseball; Keeps Up Tradition

By CORKIE LYLE

President John F. Kennedy continued the practice of presidents opening the first baseball game of each season. He threw the ball at the beginning of the Washington and Chicago game.

CORKIE

His first ball was caught by Jim Rivera and the second by Hal Woodeshick. These balls will become prized souvenirs for the two major leaguers.

This incident just goes to show that our President is still in the pitch of things in controlling his country. Perhaps another step has been reached in his new frontier program.

MARKET SETS NEW HIGH: The stock market Monday went ahead to a new high, adding an expected $3 billion in values.

Word that the surge would reach a new closing high suprred the advance.

Maybe some of our students could apply the market action to their grades with the end of the school year fast approaching.

IQ's Rank Low Personalities High In Success

By JEAN RODGERS

Too much concern over a high I.Q. for success in lift can arouse many emotional problems.

Well-roundedness is constituted of much more than just an I.Q. One must be balanced emotionally, physically, spiritually, and mentally

JEAN

Emotional conflicts have often resulted from too great a stress upon high intelligence.

One student graduated from Harvard at the age of 18. Being of a different calendar age, physical ability, and emotional level, he was regarded by his classmates as childish; therefore he was dateless throughout his college years.

Upon his graduation he was employed as a small salaried clerk. In his spare time he collected discarded streetcar transfers. His life and his intelligence was wasted because he was different and unwanted.

His potentialities were unlimited. All he needed was a well-rounded environment consisting of friends of his own age group and guidance. But, because of his high intelligence, he was pushed ahead into a realm which he was incapable of accepting and being accepted.

I.Q.'s are important. They are very helpful in the field of education and guidance, but they shouldn't be over-emphasized.

Many parents consider it important that their children skip grades in school. The important factor is the child himself. His development and progress in school is important, but as the omitted grades pile up, a child can become an emotional problem.

The individual is all important in such decisions.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

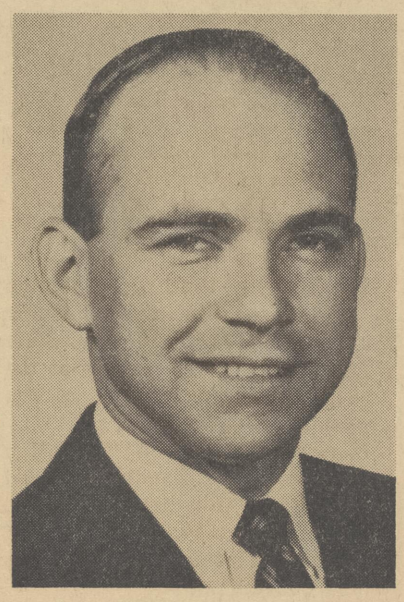
Circle K Prexy, Popular Scholar, World Traveler, Wins High Honor

By EVA SIPES

Future hotel administrator, intellectual, popular student, world traveler—all of these aptly describe our sophomore of the week, John Wilda of Shorewood, Wisconsin.

John, a favorite on the Hinds campus, is a kind-hearted, always-busy little man who says that anything from a safari to a debate is his cup of tea.

Last year he filled several responsible positions in the school's organizations. John acted as vice-president of his freshman class and was also vice-president of the Future Business Leaders of America.



JOHN WILDA
Ambitious Sophomore

His interest in foreign affairs and religion gave John the incentive to join the International Relations Club and Westminister Fellowship.

As a sophomore this year, John has continued to show his administrative ability by presiding over the Circle K Club in the capacity of president. He has contributed much to this organization in the way of hard work and soft-spoken authority.

Still exhibiting his many faceted personality, he also holds membership in Phi Theta Kappa, the Debating Club, the Men's Recreation Association, and the Modern Language Club.

After graduation, ambitious John plans to enter Cornell University in New York to major in hotel administration. We know that he would certainly be an asset to the Conrad Hilton or the Waldorf-Astoria.

The staff of the Hindsonian takes this opportunity to wish you good luck, John; may you find success in attaining your goals and reaching the top.

FUN FOR ALL

Campus Property Offers Activities; Golf, Swimming, Skiing, And Lodging

By CORKIE LYLE

At Raymond Lake, a section of the Hinds Junior College campus, something is happening all year round. In the summer there is boating, fishing, skiing, golfing, and swimming; in winter, fishing, parties at the lodge, and scenic trips.

Mr. Jack Treloar, Hinds campus and farm supervisor, announced this past week that work is now being done on the golf course. Already sand traps have been placed around the Greens and the maintenance group is now in the process of reworking the greens. The latter is a yearly project of the crew.

Another top project for the Hinds Junior College recreational area is the building of a small clubhouse. This building, planned for the near future, will not be big or elaborate, but large nough for the needs of the players on the course.

Mr. Treloar stated that he thinks the lake, golf course, and facilities provided cannot be beaten by any other playground in this vicinity.

A top event for this summer's events will be the Mississippi State Ski Championship in August. It is not definite at to the time of the affair, but an appointment has been made with the various presidents of ski clubs to meet and decide upon the time of the event.

Also, the Jackson and Vicksburg Ski Clubs will practice and hold all-day events at the Raymond Lake.

Getting back to the golf course, all college students will have to have a course permit before being allowed to play free. It was previously announced that they could get by with their student activity cards, but Mr. Treloar has announced this change.

All other persons interested in playing golf will have to pay a small fee for the upkeep and management of the course.

Improvements on the lake include the addition of a bath-house for both men and women, the installation of a cyclone fence, and work on the boat landings and piers.

Since 1955, a number of improvements have taken place on the school property. The lodge has been renovated so that it can accommodate a party of 50 persons. A modern kitchen was added, and tables and chairs provided. At the lakeside, sand beaches were added to add that little bit of resort atmosphere.

With the approach of warm weather and sunny days, Hinds students will find many interesting and varied things to occupy their minds at the college property across the highway.

Here's to warmer days — may they come fast afleeting!

Presidents Group Sponsors All-Campus Talent Showing

On Wednesday, April 19, the Hinds Junior College Presidents Council will sponsor a talent show in the weekly assembly program.

Rex Carson, council president, announced today that all students, either freshmen or sophomores, who can display some form of talent are welcome to appear in the first event of its type on the campus.

Tryouts for the program will be held in the college auditorium Monday at 7:00 p.m. From these persons, those appearing in the show will be picked.

Students having some background in dancing, reading, singing, musical instruments, or twirling are urged to tryout for the event.

Master of ceremonies for the event will be Rex Carson.

"A large number of students are anticipated to turn out for the tryouts," Rex stated. "We hope that this action will spur more such programs on our campus and create an interest in our talent students," he added.

Registrar Urges 1961 Sophomores To Fill Blanks

Miss Mildred Herrin, school registrar, today urged all sophomores to come by the registrar's office and fill in an information sheet needed to compile a directory for reference.

The statements state whether or not a present Hinds Junior College sophomore plans to attend school next fall or if he will drop out and become employed. The students who prefer to discontinue education will become the main interest of this directory.

This information is important for sophomores who want their names placed on work placement lists.

Miss Herrin stated that this procedure should be carried out immediately so that an exact list can be arranged for future reference.

Air Force To Send Representatives To Local Campus

Sgt. John Norrell, United States Air Force Recruiter for this area, announced today that commissions as Air Force officers are open to high school graduates and above in the navigator program.

Commenting on the role of the navigator in the Air Force, Sgt. Norrell said, "Today's modern supersonic aircraft have one thing in common with the future; that is, some some must chart the course."

The navigator of today must possess far greater technical abilities than his predecessors. As a navigator in the United States Air Force, the qualified young men of today are taught those skills, a chance to master a profession with a built in future, and a future as a member of the aerospace team.

Qualifications for the navigator program in the U.S. Air Force are: age, 19 to 26½; high school graduate or above; single; a citizen of the United States; and must pass a certain written examination and be of high moral character.

Sgt. Norrell has announced that a selection team will be at Hinds Junior College on April 19, 1961, from 9:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. to counsel and advise anyone interested in this program. This team will be located in the recreation center of the grill.

Junior College Debaters Journey To Capital City; Mexican Fiesta Highlight

The Hinds Debate Club will attend the Mexican Fiesta tonight at the Sun 'N Sand Restaurant in Jackson as they enjoy their annual dinner-party outing.

The group will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Pat Smith and Mrs. Robert Mayo.

Debaters enjoying the festive event will be John Wilda, Frances Nelson, Belinda Hill, Earl Lee, Sallie Baker, Rodney Salassi, Rita Anderson, Jim Weir and Carolyn Acuff.

The debaters are attending the gala occasion for the fine showing they made this year.

Day Students Have Time; Residents Have Advantage

By JEAN RODGERS

Ever wonder how the other half lives? In this case we are referring to the differences in being a day student and a dormitory student.

Hinds has approximately 300 day students and 500 dormitory students plus special students and numerous students living in campus apartments.

Buses, free of charge to students, travel daily to Vicksburg and Jackson to supply transportation for day students. Other students have formed car pools and use this mode of transportation.

For the convenience of female commuting students, Hinds provides a day room centrally located in Main Dormitory. Space is provided in the day room for study tables, lockers, and a Coke machine.

Adding to the convenience of dormitory and day students, the college library is open throughout the day, providing room for study, reference work, or browsing.

Commuting allows a student to live at home and to hold a part-time job if desired. These students have more freedom in being able to designate their time.

The main advantage of being a dormitory student are the friendships formed, the convenience of the library, clubs and social gatherings, and campus work opportunities.

Martha Logan, Edwards freshman, states, "I think that living in the dormitory is much more advantageous than being a day student because it gives you access to the library in the afternoon and at night."

"Living on the campus provides an opportunity to make lasting friendships." says Beth Hull, Jackson freshman.

"I have certainly enjoyed dormitory life and meeting the vast number of people that I have become associated with at Hinds during the past two years," expresses Maxine Womack, Jackson sophomore.

From the other side of the picture, Mayly Jue, Vicksburg sophomore, states, "Being a day student allows time for off campus activities such as participation in community projects."

The choice of being a day student or a dormitory student is simply left up to individual preference. Both have their advantages and disadvantages.

--NOTICE--

Mr. R. C. Benton, Hinds Junior College dean of men, announced today that students now attending Hinds and are going to be back next year should sign up for their rooms now.

The students who are returning will be housed in both Eastside and Southside Dormitories. No sophomore will be housed in Shangri-La or Central Dormitory. These two dorms will be used by freshmen only.

SPORTS PREVIEW

Changes Take Scene In Majors

By TOMMY NANCE

Spider webs are beginning to collect on the backstops in gymnasiums across the coountry as baseball grabs the eye of the sports fans. With only the National Basketball Association left to decide a winner, the two major leagues have already begun action as of Monday.

TOMMY

There are three big changes which will make the year 1961 a standout. An addition of two new clubs — Los Angeles and the Washington Senators — to the American circuit, Ralph Houk's management of the New York Yankees, and the Chicago Cubs' playing without a manager, are possible history makers.

For those who haven't been keeping up with American League transactions, the solution will be hard to derive. The once Washington club has moved to Minnesota, while the Nation's Capitol has inherited a new club along with Los Angeles.

Both new clubs contain players from about every other team in the majors. These are what we call "hand-me-down" teams. What they will do depends upon the spirit shown and their togetherness.

The National League, long noted for its rough and tough teams, will be the attraction of the season. It should provide a pennant race never before seen on the diamonds.

In the American division, five teams will be battling for the glory flag. Whether the coveted pennant will fly in New York, Baltimore, Chicago, Cleveland, or in Metropolitan Stadium, the new home of the transferred Senators who have become known as the Twins, can only be settled by time.

Congrats To College

Over the past weekend Hinds played host to the first workshop for college PE women. Co-sponsored by MSCW and Hinds, the initial meeting proved quite successful and favorable comments and congratulations have been received from all over the state by college officials.

Such things as this put Hinds in the eyes of leaders over the state and bring much favorable attention to the Raymond campus. Mrs. Peggy Swett, girls' physical education director, deserves our congratulations plus all the others that she has been receiving. We hope that Hinds can continue to play a leading role in college activities and serve the state with its highest ability.

Cooley Joins Jones

There will be a new face down at Jones Junior College this fall with the hiring of Sim Cooley. Replacing A. B. Howard, who will become athletic director and head basketball mentor, Cooley joins the Ellisville staff as head football coach.

Cooley played for the Bobcats before entering Mississippi State in 1949. At State he played on the '49 and '50 squads. He began his coaching career at Greenwood in 1951 and has since coached at Waynesboro and Kosciuso.

We extend our congratulations and best wishes to another newcomer to the Mississippi junior college sports scene.

Perkinston Cinder Team Invades Local Track For Saturday Meet

Action begins again on the Hinds cinders this Saturday, when Perkinston's Bulldogs and the Trojans of Delta invade the local campus for the initial home track meet of the year for the Eagles.

Three meets have already gone down in the record books, with Hinds collecting a first, and two second place positions. In the first seasonal meet the current champions, Delta, captured the top spot with Hinds taking second and Copiah-Lincoln third.

Friday's action saw Coach Ivan Rosamond's team take a 78-56 victory margin over Jones. Tuesday's meet at Wesson witnessed a 77 2/3-53 1/3 win for the homestanding Wolves.

The Hinds squad is made up of six returning members, with major strength lying in their hands. Wilburn Williamson, John Dewitt, Donnie Ross, Mike Vinson, Howard Freeman, and Wally Lee compose the second-year returnees.

Substantial strength is held in the nine freshmen, with Jackson's Joe Dickerson pacing the pack. Other performers wearing the white and maroon uniforms are Clarence Peterson, Donnie Swafford, Pat Conerly, Ronnie Hayden, Ed Frazier, Don Allen and Burt Sullivan.

Jones will provide the next opposition for Hinds when they visit Tuesday.

Campus Schedules Early May Meets For State Crown

The State Junior College track meet will return to the Hinds campus this year after a two year lapse. Scheduled for May 6, junior colleges from all over the state will converge on the local cinders.

Collecting state championship trophies, Hinds began with Jobie Harris' 1940 track team and extended for several years. The Eagles have won every state meet with the exception of five since that time, although there were four years during World War II that there was no track competition.

Delta will be seeking its third straight crown, while title contenders from Co-Lin, Holmes, Southwest, Perkinston, Jones, and Hinds will be looking for an upset victory.

Along with the track state meet, netters from over the state will decide who the famed overall tennis winner will be, for Coach Bill Oakes' team will play host to the championship matches.

Tennis Squad Opens Year With Warriors Thursday

Hinds' rescheduled tennis matches with East Central have been set for Thursday afternoon on the Decatur campus.

Hinds netters, coached by Mr. Bill Oakes, will be seeking their first court win in as many outings, for the previous scheduled matches were rained out and shifted to the East Central site.

In last year's overall action, Hinds racked up a second place tie with Jones, while the netters from Southwest pocketed the championship trophy.

Jackson Sports 3

Three Jackson boys and one Utica star head the list of sophomores. Wendell Hollis, Rex Carson, and Tommy Jackson will contribute sufficient support to the Eagle team, while Joe L. Ferguson of Utica winds up the two-year men.

Six freshmen add to the team's overall strength, with fine showings expected from Lee Riley, Brooks Reed, and Tommy Pullen, all of Vicksburg.

Other Standouts

Three Jackson players, Larry Hughes, Bill Heard, and Rudy Holcomb, and Clinton's Conrad Robertson finish up the slate for the Raymond representatives.

East Central's team is composed of six boys and three girls, but the females will be unopposed since there are no girls out for tennis on the Hinds campus.

Tennis tutor Miss Lucille Wood of East Central highlights an array of stars in Jim Mullins, Glen Majure, Harry Simpson, Bill Damery, Bill Smith, and Lamar Buntyn.

Hinds' next action is scheduled for Saturday afternoon, when the Perkinston squad invades the Raymond campus. Net action is marked for 2 p.m.

Rosamond's Chargers Split Meets With Co-Lin Wolves, Ellisville 'Cats

Collecting sweet revenge for an earlier track loss, Copiah-Lincoln's Wolves notched up a 77 2/3 - 53 1/3 win over the local Birds in Wesson yesterday afternoon.

In doing so, the hospitable Wolves chalked up nine first places, six seconds, and four thirds. Hinds collected points with their six top wins, five seconds, and five thirds.

Gaining the crowning position, the Eagles won in the mile run, 880 yard run, high jump, discus, pole vault, and the broad jump. Ed Frazier and Don Allen picked up first and second place honors in the primary event.

Vinson Takes Win

With a time of 2:13.7, sophomore Mike Vinson pocketed the 880 yard run, while Wally Lee took care of the high jump event. Howard Freeman's 128'6" was good enough for first place in the discus division as was Joe Dickerson's 11'6" in the pole vault. The remaining coveted notch was Donnie Swafford's broad jump of 20½"¼".

Almost hitting the decade mark, Co-Lin's top victories came in the 440 yard run, 100 yard dash, high hurdles, 220 yard run, low hurdles, mile relay, 440 yard relay, 880 yard delay, and the shot put.

Relays Win It

The wins in all three relays for the Wolves were enough to set the visiting Birds back. The hurdles also added double wins for Wesson, with Hunter tallying in the low and Vornado in the high.

A 78-56 Friday win for Hinds left the Bobcats of Jones standing in the dist. The Eagles tallied first place wins to miss the perfect score of 12. The lone loss came in the 220 yard dash, with Peterson placing a close second.

Frazier, Williamson, Peterson, Bobby Slayden, Vinson, and Swafford added first place wins for Hinds on the track while Williamson, Dickerson, Freeman, and Lee collected them on field events.

FORMER GRIDIRON STAR

Experienced Track Tutor Leads Hinds Eagles In Cinder Events

As each track season approaches, Hinds is always recognized as a probable cinder power and this year is certainly no exception.

Under the tutelage of Coach Ivan Rosamond, head track man and assistant gridiron coach, the Eagles will be a top representative again this year.

IVAN ROSAMOND
Track Head

Rosamond, who is in his second year on the Raymond campus, is busy now with the Birds on the track team. He has successfully tutored the Hinds team in his initial year. Last season, Hinds chalked up a third place spot in the state championship meet.

He not only excels in track, but on the gridiron also. While at Hinds in 1947, he made all-state end. After leaving Hinds and playing football in 1948 at Wyoming, he cast his lot with Mississippi Southern, where he made all-conference end in the Gulf State Conference.

After serving time in the United States Air Force, he returned to the Magnolia State and entered the oil business. Before joining the Hinds athletic staff, he was a member of the staff at Laurel High School.

Rosamond is married to the former Ann Bilbo of Pachuta. They have a three year old daughter and a small son.

Gwen Canoy To Edit 1961-62 Hindsonian

The HINDSONIAN
Highlights of Hinds

VOLUME 27—NUMBER 26 HINDS JUNIOR COLLEGE, RAYMOND, MISSISSIPPI WEDNESDAY, APRIL 19, 1961

4 - Time Medal Winner Receives Local Editorship

Gwen Canoy, Hinds Junior College freshman from Magee, was named editor of the Hindsonian for 1961-62 by Mr. Pat Smith, Hindsonian sponsor and Public Relations director.

Presently, Gwen is the assistant feature editor of the Hindsonian, a member of the Baptist Student Union Greater Council, a cheerleader, and a member of the Lendon Players.

In high school, Gwen received medals for speech, journalism, citizenship, and history. In the Magee High School's Who's Who contest she was chosen most likely to succeed and most versatile.

She is a former Southeast Mississippi Livestock Queen, and she was chosen Miss Congeniality in the Miss Magee contest.

In her high school 4-H club, Gwen was state public speaking champion, state 4-H parliamentarian, and a 4-H exchange delegate to Arkansas.

Gwen is one of four delegates representing The Hindsonian at the Mississippi Junior College Press Association spring conference this weekend at Northeast Mississippi Junior College. The Hindsonian is nominating Gwen for secretary of the association.

Gwen will succeed Jean Rodgers, present editor.

Other staff positions will be filled at the opening of the fall session. Staff members will be taken from the newly created journalism course, which will be offered this fall and will carry three semester hours of credit.

Phi Theta Kappa Members To Attend Wyoming Meet

Twenty-nine Phi Theta Kappa members and their sponsor, Miss Mildrerd Herrin, will leave Hinds at 4:00 a. m. Friday for the national convention in Sheridan, Wyoming.

The group includes Rita Anderson, Jewel McNair, Rose Earnest, Anne Spencer, Lynda Walker, Patricia Brown, Jean Rankin, Margaret Reader, Kay Collins, Betty Williams, Sallie Baker, Dot Gatlin, DeLene Willis, Peggy Gregory.

Ione Johns, Belinda Hill, Frances Nelson, Charlotte Berry, Nancy Hamil, Carol McNair, Sara Halsell, Mayly Jue, Jeanette Barron, Rex Carson, Jack Lee, Jack Roberts, Dallas Walker, and, as bus driver, Jimmy Davis.

Rex Carson, president of the campus chapter, has been elected as the voting delegate representing Gamma Lamba. The club also voted to run Jack Roberts for a national office at the convention and campaign plans are underway.

The group has been tentatively routed through Shreveport, Louisiana; Wichita Falls, Texas; Raton, New Mexico; Colorado Springs and Denver, Colorado; Cheyenne and Sheridan, Wyoming. Royal Gorge, the Air Force Military Academy, the Blackhills and the Badlands of the Dakotas will be on the sightseeing agenda.

Circle K'ers Will Travel To Louisiana

Nine members of the Hinds Junior College Circle K Club, a college affiliate of Kiwanis International, will attend the Mississippi-West Tennessee-Louisiana district convention to be held at Southwestern Louisiana University, Lafayette, Louisiana, on April 21-23.

Attending from Hinds will be John Wilda, president, Milwaukee, Wis.; Barry Marionneaux, vice president, Plaquemine, La.; James Weir, Wade Robinson and Jim Sansing, Newton; Net Scott, Tom Pullen and Steve Kirchmayr, Vicksburg; and John Miller, Jackson.

Mr. Jack Treloar and Mr. Mike Rabalias, Hinds faculty members and club sponsors, will accompany the group, and Miss Eva Sipes, Hinds Hi-Stepper from Forest Hill and Sweetheart of the local club, will also be in attendance.

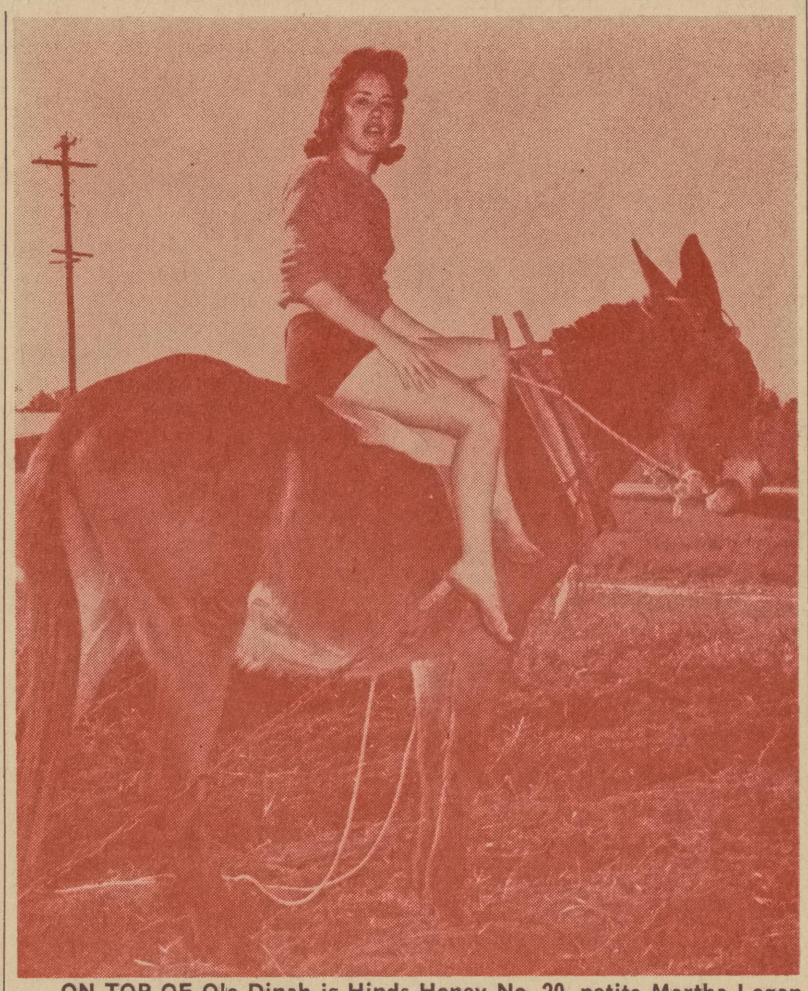
Twelve Hi-Steppers and the Hinds Junior College Band visited the Mississippi Valley Gas Lodge in Jackson April 17. They provided the entrainment for the meeting of the District Lions Club as they observed ladies night.



ON TOP OF Ole Dinah is Hinds Honey No. 20, petite Martha Logan of Edwards. Martha is resting her weary bones after a hard day on the farm, as the freshly plowed sod shows. A mule never had it so good, ah Mar?

Baptist Student Union To Send 8 Representatives To Spring Retreat

The 1961-62 officers and chairmen of the Hinds Junior College BSU will attend the state-wide Spring Officers Retreat at Pass Christian April 21-23.

On the agenda of the Friday night program, Hinds BSU is in charge of the campfire service. The theme is "His Spirit Makes Me Care." The speaker will be Dr. John R. Maddox, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Picayune.

The highlight of Saturday's program includes workshops which will be attended by each new officer in order that he or she may learn the duties of the office for which they have been elected, and the election of the Mississippi BSU officers. These officers will be in charge of all state meetings and business for the Baptist Student Union for the year 1961-62.

Jimmy Davis of Hinds has served on a committee this month to nominate students from various schools to serve as state officers.

Saturday night the drama department of William Carey College will present "Christ in the Concrete City."

Hinds Sociology Class Makes 2 Touring Trips

Two field trips were made yesterday by Miss Susan Brown's sociology class.

Seventeen members of the class journeyed to Oakley Training School, where they were given a guided tour by Mr. Edward Lee, social worker.

Miss Brown's class, combined with Mrs. Lucile Keen's psychology classes, toured Mississippi State Hospital at Whitfield. The students were guided through the occupational theraphy division and the Negro and white receiving wards.

Swett Submits Resignation; Joins Texas Teaching Staff

Mrs. Peggy Swett, Girls' Physical Education Instructor, has submitted her official resignation to the administration.

Mrs. Swett has accepted a position at the University of Texas as an instructor in the Physical Education Department. The University is noted for its outstanding P. E. Department.

The Hinds P. E. instructor has been on the faculty three years. Before that time she was physical education instructor at St. Francis Xavier Academy in Vicksburg.

Mrs. Swett is a graduate of Mississippi State College for Women, where she majored in P. E. She has done graduate work at Mississippi Southern College and the University of Texas.

A top golfer, Mrs. Swett was runner-up in the State championship last year. She currently holds the Vicksburg City Championship.

Commenting on her resignation, Mrs. Swett stated, "I have enjoyed being on the faculty at Hinds and working with the people. I accepted the position of P. E. instructor at the University of Texas solely for professional advancement, and I intend to continue my work toward playing better golf."

Air Force Team Visits Campus Recruits Today

A selection team from the United States Air Force was on the campus today from 9:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m., counseling and advising students interested in the Air Force program.

The Air Force has commissions as officers open to high school graduates and above in the navigator program.

Qualifications for the navigator program are: age, 19 to 26½; high school graduate or above; single; a citizen of the United States; and must pass a certain written examination and be of a high moral character.

Paper Staff To Send 4 Delegates To Junior College Press Confab

Four Hindsonian staff members, Jean Rodgers, Gwen Canoy, Corkie Lyle, and Tommy Nance, will attend the Spring Conference of the Mississippi Junior College Press Association at Northeast Mississippi Junior College in Booneville, April 21-23.

After registration the delegates will attend a tea given in the home of the college president. A picnic in the City Park and a sock hop in the pavilion are on the agenda for Friday night.

Full Chart

Saturday's schedule includes the election of officers, lectures, and seminars on the various phases of newspaper work. The conference will be climaxed at the awards banquet Saturday evening with the presentation of the three $200 scholarships to Mississippi Southern and individual awards for news story, feature story, editorial, column, cartoon, and over-all excellence.

The Hindsonian is entering competition in all categories. Jean, Corkie, and Tommy have submitted applications for the scholarships. Gwen Canoy will be a candidate for State Secretary.

The group will be accompanied by Mr. Pat Smith, Hindsonian sponsor.

American Youth Holds Key

(GUEST EDITORIAL)

Will Russia conquer the United States? This is a question that will be answered within the next twenty years, and we, the youth today, will be the ones who will first find out. As of today, Russia is ahead of the United States in space travel. Why? What can we do to turn the tables on Russia?

The American youth can do something about this problem, but we don't seem to have the stamina to accomplish the task. The youth of today aren't interested in science and aren't being forced to take interest in this field. We, the American youth, just sit around and live a life of pleasure.

The answer to these pre-mentioned questions can be summed up into one word, "Education." If we put our every thought to being more aware of the world in which we live, we might get some place, and then we could sit back and laugh at the stupid mistakes of the Communist world.

"The Reader is the Leader." Yes, that is true, but the material we read should be of that standard whereby we benefit ourselves and our country. Let's see what we can do for America, not what America can do for us. We have our ancestors of the past to thank for the freedom we now enjoy, and we should try to keep it this way.

I am sure that dying back in the days when we were fighting for the freedom of America was really a bad thing, but we don't have to die—by means of war—if we give our life to our country by studying hard and by giving our help, our knowledge, and our time to this country which is so good.

Yes, Russia is ahead of us, and maybe we will join with them in the next few years—join, not of our own free will, but at the will of the Russian government. Let's show Russia that space is not a thing of the future for the United States, but a thing of the present.

—Steve Kirchmayr

Editor Salutes Library

This week has been set aside as National Library Week. It provides a time for special emphasis and recognition of libraries throughout the United States.

Books are the backbone of our educational system. Without books we would be at a standstill. Libraries, which house our books, play an all important role in modern Americe. They provide books to people of all economical and social standings.

Often we take our library for granted. What if it wasn't there? How would term papers be written? How would those last minute reports be written? Where could we find the magazines and daily newspapers to read free? Our library plays an important part in our lives.

Special recognition should be given to Mrs. Virginia Riggs, head librarian, and her staff. They have proved to be very effcient and faithful in their work at Hinds.

Construction is well underway for the new ultra-modern Hinds library which will be completed for the fall session. This is a long needed improvement for Hinds with a yearly increase in enrollment. Excellent facilities are be ing placed in the new library for the convenience of students.

We salute the Hinds library staff. You are doing an excellent job.

OFF THE CUFF

American Flag Represents Unity, Power, Purpose

By JEAN RODGERS

"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

JEAN

Woodrow Wilson called the flag "the emblem of our unity, our power, our thought and purpose as a nation."

The United States Flag and the flag of Mississippi are proudly flying over the Hinds campus. The administration recently received a new U. S. Flag, and the Mississippi Flag was presented to the college in assembly by Mr. Jim Files, compilator of "Let's Talk Mississippi."

Our flag is a symbol of the tradition of fortitude and sacrifice. It stands for America's pride.

George Washington described the flag very well. "We take the stars from heaven," he said, "the red from our mother country, separating it by white stripes, thus showing that we have separated from her . . ."

Anytime the National Anthem is played, everyone should stand and face the flag. All in uniform should salute at the first note of the anthem, retaining this position until the closing note.

The Flag should be hoisted with care and respect, and it should never be allowed to touch the ground. After a flag has become no longer fit for display, it should be destroyed in a difnified manner, preferably by burning.

With the addition of two states —Alaska and Hawaii—our flag has 50 stars on a blue background. Six white and seven red stripes gracefully stream from the flag.

Our Flag represents the traditional America. It truly stands for our unity, power, thought, and purpose.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Debater, Intellectual, Language Major Receives Weekly Honor

By BELINDA HILL

The Hindsonian has chosen a true intellectual as Sophomore of the Week. Sallie Baker of Miami, Florida, has one of the highest scholastic averages on the campus. She is majoring in foreign languages, and plans to work in the field of foreign diplomacy or as an interpreter.

SALLIE BAKER
PTK Member

After leaving Hinds, Sallie plans to enter the University of Miami to complete her college education.

Sallie has always been an energetic worker as even her high school activities prove. She was a member of the Debate team for three years, served as secretary-treasurer and president of the Debate Club at Central, and was awarded a superior at the Regional Debate Tournament.

She was also a delegate to Youth Congress, copy editor of the Pegasus, annual staff club editor, vice president of her homeroom, member of the Junior Historical Society, secretary-treasurer of the Speech Club, Red Cross representative, and member of the Theatre Guild, the Bible Club, and the Special Science Club.

At Hinds Sallie is a member of Phi Theta Kappa, the debate team, recipient of the Freshman Chemistry Achievement Award presented by the American Chemical Rubber Company, reporter of the science club, and a member of the English Club and the Modern Language Club.

The varied hobbies of Sallie include singing, drawing, and writing to students in France, Spain, Mexico, Germany, and Bulgaria.

This week's honoree has been quite an asset to the Hinds Campus during her two years here. The Hindsonian Staff wishes her the best of luck and extends its sincere congratulations.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Award Deciders Make Mistake

By CORKIE LYLE

The Academy of Arts and Sciences was correct in choosing Burt Lancaster as the best actor of 1960, but a ghastly mistake was made upon picking of Elizabeth Taylor to be the female recipient.

CORKIE

This writer feels and contends that Shirley MacLaine should have won "hands-down" for her performance in "The Apartment." Another consolation was that the best movie was chosen in the best movie field.

Well, I guess two out of three correct hopes were O.K. Anyway, it will have to do.

USE VOTING MACHINES: The students of Ole Miss made history today by using voting machines borrowed from Shelby County, Tennessee, in their annual student body elections.

The main topic on the election agenda was the voting for editor of the school newspaper. One of the contestants is accused of being "NAACP-supported" by certain persons of our state. It will be quite interesting to see the outcome of this election.

May the best man win!

THOUGHT: Don't run, start out on time!

Freshmen Dread Lit

Freshmen! You are in store for a treat next year. Many of you have already received a warning about sophomore literature.

Do you face the course with fear? dread? sorrow? apprehension? These emotional feelings are really needless, if you are prepared. The basis for doing well in sophomore literature is to apply yourself and to study.

It won't come easily without some work on the part of the individual. The idiom, "You'll reap what you sow," is especially true when applied to this course. If you put out time and energy, you will gain knowledge.

If you really try in literature, you will discover a fantasy land based on the lives and emotions of English authors.

Betty Ross Graves, left, and Margot Purdy, both of Ole Miss, demonstrate the fine points of fencing at the first state-wide girls college physical education workshop, held on the Hinds campus. The class was under the supervision of Joyce Cronk of Ole Miss.

Local Presidents Sponsor Program

By CAROLYN MAY

The Hinds Junior College Presidents' Council was in charge of the weekly assembly program today in the college auditorium. The program consisted of a talent show.

A total of 16 students participated in the event. Rex Carson, sophomore class president, was master of ceremonies for the first event of this type on the local campus.

Billie Jean Dawson, sophomore from Opelousas, La., sang a solo entitled "Summertime." She was followed by the Four Mistakes, composed of Jack Roberts of Vicksburg, Robert Wall of Jackson, Willard Toole of Jackson, and Clyde Satterwhite of Jackson, harmonizing to the tune of "Oleana."

Gwen Canoy, freshman from Magee, held the audience's attention with her reading, made up by herself. Another soloist was Jerl Watkins of Jackson with his flute.

The Three Stooges floored the assembly with their version of "They're Laying Eggs now." The Stooges were Moody Parker and Burchitt Hopkins of Vicksburg and Glen Patterson of Jackson.

An instrumental group by the name of the Jerry Payton Quartet next presented their rendition of "Moaning." The foursome is composed of Jerry Puckett, Larry McWilliams, Guy Bowering, and Skip Lorenz.

Sounding like the original recording was Annette Shaver of Vicksburg with her version of "Misty." Next, Larry McWilliams presented a trumpet solo entitled "Tenderly." Larry is from Madison, Fla.

The next program planned by the group will be a spring formal to be held in the girls' gym in the early part of May. Details will be given later.

Canterbury Club Invites Millsaps To Lodge Party

The Millsaps Canterbury Club has been invited to attend a party at the Hinds Junior College lodge by the Hinds Canterbury, Mr. Bill Oakes, sponsor, announced today.

The Hinds group will be in charge of the program before the entertainment section gets underway. Refreshments will be served the group and then the two clubs will enter into an evening of games and dance.

SPRING PRODUCTION

Lendon Players Present 'Blind Mice'; Roberson, Roberts Add Extra Touch

By MARY JO SULLIVAN

"The whole stupid mess was your idea, Pam," accused Moira Mason in the Lendon Players' production of "Three Blind Mice," given Thursday night, April 13.

Pam, Elizabeth, and Moira Mason, played by Kay Adams, Gwen Canoy, and Eloise Wilkes respectively, captured the hearts of the audience with their clever attempts at catching rich husbands.

At an exclusive hotel in sunny Florida, the girls posed as a rich girl accompanied by her secretary and maid. With the aid of Albert DuPont, social and publicity chairman of the hotel, the girls met only the very elite groups.

The suspense created by the jams in which the Mason "chicks" became involved was eased by the hilarious antics of Henry Trowbridge, the hometown "Judas" played by Conrad Roberson, who, while under the influence of sleeping pills which were slipped into his drink by Pam, revealed the whole plot. Edna Parker, nosey gossip columnist, played by Beth Strong in her column called the girls three blind mice who were about to go home with their tails cut off.

As Mr. Cord, hotel manager played by Charles Seeger, described one of their hotels which was just perfect for honeymooners, the three happy couples, Albert DuPont and Pam Mason, Henry Trowbridge and Elizabeth Mason, and Steve Harrinton, played by Brooks Reid, and Moira Mason, were oblivious to everything but their newly discovered loves.

Other members of the cast were Sue Willoughby as Mrs. Bramber, Henry Brown as Conrad Harrington, Johann Rush as the photographer, and Norma Ann Dunham as the waitress.

Open An Account In School Library; Real Bank Of Knowledge Offers Wealth

By CORKIE LYLE

A past editor of this publication once called the college library a bank of real knowledge, and this is still true today.

With approximately 13,000 books on its shelves, the Hinds Junior College library can amply serve the student whether his interest is biographical, scientific, fictional, or historical. Better service will be offered upon the completion of the modern new library now under construction.

Mrs. Marvin Riggs, Librarian, states that this week is not National Library Week just for this week, but for the whole year. She further added that the library is here for the student and he is asked to use it at any time he feels the need.

Mrs. Norma Wall and Mrs. Alfreida Sorrels agree with Mrs. Riggs on her statements. The two women assist her in the library.

With the aid of six student helpers, it is not hard for the Hinds student to find the material he desires. With just a friendly smile and a tactful "could you help me please," the librarians are ready, willing, and able to quench their customer's thirst for knowledge.

Hinds students borrow approximately 100 books a day from the library and browse through the 125 magazines that are in the building for the student's enjoyment.

After the next issue arrives, the old issue is not thrown out, but merely carded and filed for the students' further reference and information. The subject desired is filed in a reading reference guide for the convenience of the student.

If you are interested in the "bank of real knowledge," open an account today. You will feel at home, for you will see many of your fellow students busily working there, poring over the great resources of books.

The dividends which one will accrue from an account there are protections for life against boredom and mental and moral bankruptcy. Our investments in knowledge will be expendable in natural wants and in joy and happiness.

A guarantee is made that the library will not fail us when we need a checking account and reserve capital.

These students are studying the balance sheets of the great minds of all the ages. They see the marvelous sums of knowledge recorded there—sums they hope to make their own.

Begin the practice of thrift now. Open an account in the library—our Bank of Knowledge.

Wesley Association Journeys To Rankin Street Bowling Alley

The Hinds Junior College Wesley Organization journeyed to Jackson Monday night for a bowling party at the Rankin Street Bowling Alley.

The students departed from the campus at 5:45 p.m on a school bus. A total of 10 persons attended the event.

Members of the association attending the party were Tommy Nance, Jackson; John Miller, Jackson; Ina Mae Ainsworth, Florence; Ann St. Clair, Jackson; Sammie Thomason, Jackson; John W. Jabour, Vicksburg; Jack Grant, Jackson; Paul Tillman, Jackson; Miss Elaine Mayfield; and Rev. Thomas Mangum, chaplain.

The club will hold its weekly meeting next Monday at 6:15 p.m. with a program on the beliefs of the church and their meaning to the members. Tommy Nance will be in charge of the program.

Wesley is the Methodist organization on the campus.

Presidents' Group Sponsors Signing In Girls' Building

The Presidents' Council sponsored a yearbook signing party in the girls' physical education building Tuesday night from 6:00-7:15 p.m.

Many students desiring autographs and letters from classmates attended the annual event.

The annuals arrived on March 31.

Instructor Loses Book; Anyone Knowing Where Contact Miss Lindsey

Miss Bell Lindsey, chairman of the English department, has loaned her personal copy of Moody & Lovette's History of English Literature to a student and it has been misplaced and not returned.

This book, which has a new brown binding, is a cherished volume from Miss Lindsey's personal library, and she will deeply appreciate anyone knowing the whereabouts of this volume to return it to her.

W. Gibbes Directs Technical Career At Forest Hill

Mr. Walter Gibbes, Coordinator of the Vocational Department, was the counselor for Mechanical, Electrical, and Structural Technology for Career Day at Forest Hill High School April 14. Over one hundred students participated in that phase of the program.

The Vocational Department has been invited to present a chapel program April 21 at Forest Hill. Each of the shops in the department will display exhibits so that the students may see what is offered at Hinds.

Presently, about fifty high school students from Clinton, Byram, Utica, Forest Hill, Terry, and Raymond are enrolled in the various Vocational classes.

Modern Language Club To Hold Bi-Weekly Meet; Films Of Mexico Program

The Modern Language Club will hold its bi-weekly meeting tomorrow night in the home economic building, Rose Earnest, club president, announced today.

The program will be films narrated by John Wilda, Milwaukee, Wis. sophomore, on his recent trip to Monterrey and the surrounding areas of Mexico.

The films were made by John when he and others spent the spring holidays in that area.

Miss Hilda Ree Davis, club sponsor, urges all students to attend the 6:30 p.m. meeting.

Hinds Eagles Notch Up Cinder Win Over Jones Bobcats

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Jackson Daily News Relays Next For Rosamond's Men

Collecting nine first places, the Hinds cinder team outdistanced the Jones Bobcats, 74-59, on the Raymond track Tuesday.

Starting from only one first place in the previous meet between these two teams, the Ellisville visitors tallied six top notches.

Coach Ivan Rosamond's lads took wins in the 440 yard relay, mile run, 440 yard run, 880 yard relay, 880 yard run, mile relay, pole vault, broad jump, and the discus, while the Jones crew captured top honors in the remaining six.

Ed Frazier and Aubrey Van Evans took first and second places in the mile, Wilburn Williamson grabbed first in the 440, while Clarence Peterson and John Dewitt finished second and third in the high hurdles.

Speedy Mike Vinson raced the 880 yard run with a time of 2:7.3, as Joe Dickerson vaulted to first place in the pole vault with his 10'9" jump. Jones took second and third places.

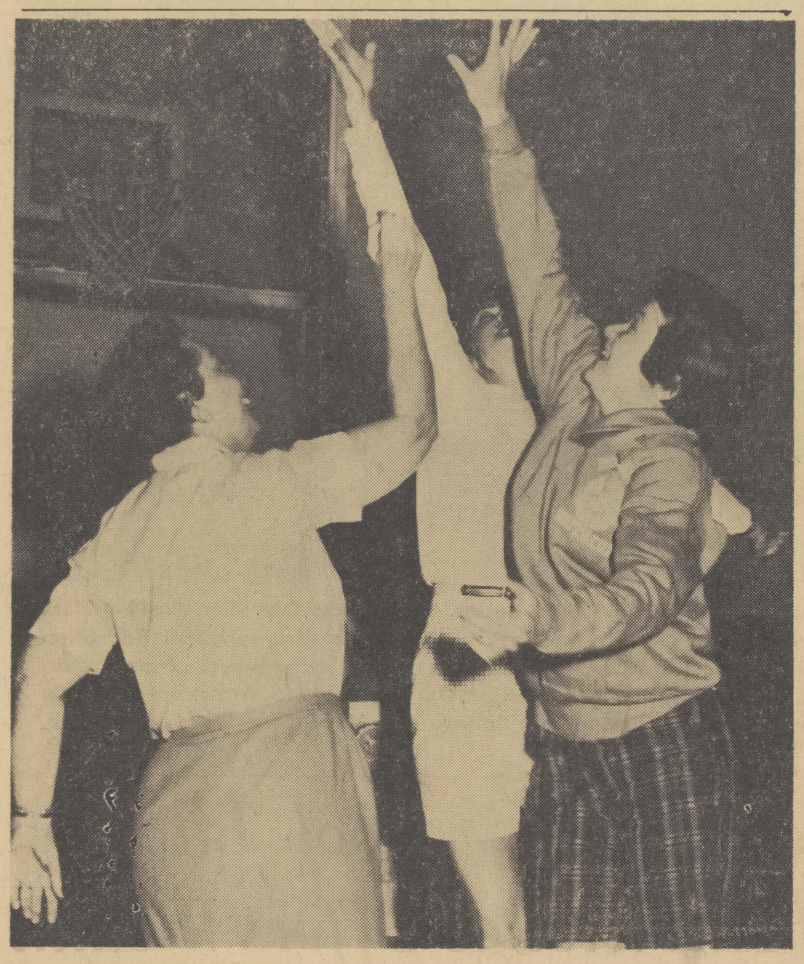
In other field events Williamson and Donnie Swafford jumped 20'7" to set the Eagles for first and second notches in the broad jump, while Howard Freeman tossed the discus 125'6" in competition.

All three relays were won by the Hinds club, with a time of 44.5 in the 440 yard, 1:32.8 in the 880 yard, and 3:30 in the mile.

Jones' victories came in the 100 yard dash when Rudy Abbot paced a 10.4 mark, the high hurdles with Kisner placing first, and the 220 yard dash. In the latter the Wildcats copped first and second places.

A time of 27.4 was good neough for the Jones squad in the low hurdles, as Swafford placed second.

Next action for the Eagles is Friday's Daily News Relays and Saturday's meet with Copiah-Lincoln and Delta on the Raymond field.



FEMALE ACTIVITY — Margaret Wade of Delta State College demonstrates to future basketball coaches attending the first statewide girls physical education workshop, held on the Hinds campus, the finer points of successful basketball. Mrs. Wade is one of the more famous girls' basketball authorities in Mississippi.

SPORTS PREVIEW

Sports Tid-Bits Headline Column

By TOMMY NANCE

In preparation for the annual spring conference of the Mississippi Junior College Press Association, we have limited this weeks' sports column to news tid-bits from across the state and nation.

An ex-Hinds golfer, Henry Swann, won for Mississippi State University the only single triumph for the Starkville clan over the Memphis State University golfers Monday.

Orange Moves Over

Swann was a major source for Hinds last year on the tennis courts, as he led the local netters throughout the season. The new Maroon hails from Jackson and represented Provine on the golf greens and the asphalt courts during his high school days.

TOMMY

Orange Moves Over

The American Broadcasting Company acquired the full rights recently to telecast the Orange Bowl activities for the next three years.

Televising, in addition to the post season bowl classic, the Junior Davis Cup matches, the regatta, and the festival, parade, Thomas Moore announced the programing changes last week. Moore is in charge of programing for the ABC network.

The ABC network will pay $256,000 a year for the rights. Previously, the Columbia Broadcasting System has held the New Year's program for 10 years.

Mantle Finally Hits

New York Yankee centerfielder Mickey Mantle collected his first hit Monday in his third game of the season, to put the Yanks over the Kansas City Athletics, 3-0.

He slammed a two-run homer and two singles for his initial three hits of the baby season. Much to the surprise of diamond fans, only 1,947 turned out to see the action, which was a rescheduled game.

Mantle plans to go through the year with little trouble from his legs, for the only trouble he has had was a slight muscle pull in the lower abdomen earlier in spring training.

Tigers Lead Pack

Colorful Central has tallied intra-city victories over Provine and Murrah to pace the district six and Jackson teams with perfect 2-0 and 5-0 records respectively.

The Tigers are also leading in batting records with Frank Chambers holding a .563 mark.

Tennis Squad Scores 4-3 Win Over Visiting Jones In Tuesday Matches

As the date for the state championship tennis matches moves closer, so do the Hinds representatives on the asphalt courts, for the local Birds captured their opening win in junior college play Tuesday.

Visiting Jones suffererd a 4-3 loss as the Hinds crew tallied in three singles and one double. Rex Carson racked up a 5-7, 6-4, and 6-4 in boys' singles, along with Tommy Jackson's victory over Bob Cradic, 6-1, 6-3.

Head Takes Win

Bill Head collected the other single win with his 6-0, 6-2 win over John Robinson. Bobcat Jack Watts notched up a 6-0, 6-0 victory over Joe L. Ferguson in the only other completed singles, for Butch Watkins of Hinds and Bucky Neal were haulted with a time rule.

In doubles action Brooks Reid and Tommy Pullen netted a 6-4, 4-6, 6-2 win over Neal and Jay Holland. Hinds' Mildred Brown fell to Ann Corey, 6-0, 5-3 in the sole feminine net action.

3 Matches Left

Only three scheduled matches remain for the tennis team, with East Central invading on May 29. Two road trips are left for the Eags in which Southwest and Perkinston will play host for the April 27 and May 2 chart.

The local campus will see plenty of tennis action Tuesday, March 25, when the Capital Athletic Conference holds its championship matches here. Teams from Terry, Byram, Utica, and Raymond will be vying for top honors.

New Clubs Wind Up Competition In Men's Group

In diamond action of the Men's Recreational Association, two new softball teams have been formed to complete the standings with four regular teams organized.

Rounding out the league are the Bombers and Cardinals. Composing the Mike Knickerbocker captained Bombers are Vance Smith, Eddie Frith, David Yewell, Larry Lewis, Buddy Martin and Derryll Berryhill. Steve Rimmer, Billy Franklin, Hugh Gordon, and Bill Davis fill out the initial club.

Th Cardinals, captained by Charles Sheppard, are highlighted by John Spohrer, Larry Hughes, Paul Buckley, Jackie Searcy, and Shelby Bridges.

Other members of the team are Wayne Cole, Bobby Holloway, and Larry Johnson. These teams are competing with those led by Jimmy Carruth and Charlres Trest.

DOUBLE LOSSES

Local Net Team Opens Season With Decatur, Perk Matches

Under the auspices of Mr. Bill Oakes, the Hinds Eagles opened the current tennis season with a 4-1 loss to East Central and a 5-4 defeat by Periknston.

The opening loss came Thursday up in Decatur, when Rex Carson picked up the sole Eagle win. He netted a 6-2, 6-1 win over Jim Mullins.

Eagle Losses

Warrior Lamar Buntyn edged past Tommy Jackson, 2-6, 6-4, and 9-7. Boys' doubles saw Harry Simpson and Bill Smith collaborate a 6-4, 6-4 win over Butch Watkins and Joe L. Ferguson. The other doubles saw Bill Heard and Tommy Pullen fall to Glen Majure and Bill Damery, 6-4, 6-1.

The sole feminine action pictured Charlotte Duncan down Dorothy Gatlin, 6-2, 6-3.

Perk Adds Win

In Saturday competition Perkinston eeked out a narrow 5-4 marginal victory. Hinds took wins with Carson over Roy Baker, Jackson over John Bond, Brooks Reid over Gerald Van Court, and Lee Riley and Wende Hollis over Carl Welch and Van Court in double action.

Sonny Walker collected a win over Ferguson, Jimmy King tallied over Watkins, and Welch became victor over Riley. The southern Bulldogs notched up double wins, with Walker and King and Bond and Baker tallying over Raymond representatives Ferguson and Watkins and Reid and Heard.

VOLUME 27—NUMBER 27 HINDS JUNIOR COLLEGE, RAYMOND, MISSISSIPPI WEDNESDAY, APRIL 26, 1961

Hindsonian Wins 7 Honors At Press Meet

Features, Columns, Cartoons, Sports Place In Press Judging

The Hindsonian received seven awards at the Mississippi Junior College Press Association convention held at Northeast Mississippi Junior College at Booneville this past weekend.

Among the awards the paper received was the trophy for the best junior college newspaper in Mississippi.

In individual awards, assistant editor and sports editor Tommy Nance, sophomore from Jackson, won first place for sports writing.

Editor Jean Rodgers, sophomore from Jackson, won third place for column writing and also was picked as one of three junior college journalists to receive a journalism scholarship to Mississippi Southern College.

Managing editor Corkie Lyle, sophomore from Belzoni, won second place for feature writing, and Eva Sipes, freshman from Forest Hill, won second place for cartoon.

Elected as state secretary of the MJCPA was Gwen Canoy, freshman from Magee. Gwen will edit next year's Hindsonian.

Judges for the state-wide event were George Sisler of the Memphis Commercial Appeal, Dr. Frank Buckley, head of the Mississippi Southern College journalism department, and Mac Dale, editor of the Mississippian, University of Mississippi.

President's Council Sets Date For Spring Formal

The first formal dance of the season will be held in the girls' physical education building on Saturday night, May 6, from 8 'till 12.

The dance will be a climax for the state championship track and tennis events which will be held that day on the Hinds campus.

The dance will be under the supervision of the President's Council, with Rex Carson as overall chairman and Byrle Kynerd as co-chairman.

The popular Ramblers from Murrah High School in Jackson will set the musical tempo with their varied repertoire of dance numbers.

Admission will be $1.50 stag or drag, and the establishment in the future of a permanent spring formal will depend upon the success of this year's event.

Wesley Club To Journey To Jackson

The Wesley Foundation at Hinds has planned a second spring outing for its members Monday night. Following a bowling party several weeks ago, the coming miniature golf party should attract even more members.

Under the sponsorship of Rev. W. T. Mangum, the Methodist students will leave the campus after supper and journey to the Jackson Putt-Putt golf course.

All of those who are interested in making the trip should contact club president I. M. Beasley or Sid Lindsey, program director for Monday night.

In remaining meetings of the year, organizational officers will be elected for the next year.

Book Deadline Set

The names of the students who have overdue library books after May 15 will be turned over to Dean M. F. Herrin for administrative action.

Presently 111 students have books which are overdue.

Middleton Sets Yell Elections For Assembly

Carolyn Middleton, head Eagle cheerleader from Memphis, has announced May 10 as the date for cheerleader try-outs.

All freshmen girls interested are asked to meet Tuesday, May 9, at 3:30 p.m. in the Girls' Gym.

Three girls will be chosen in Chapel that Wednesday and two freshmen will be elected at the beginning of the next school year.

Hinds Baptists To Participate In College Night

The Hinds Baptist Student Union has received a special invitation to attend "College Night" on Monday, May 1, at the First Baptist Church in Jackson.

Mr. Chester Swor, native Mississippian and commencement speaker at Hinds last spring, will introduce his second book, "If We Dared!"

"College Night" will begin at 7 and continue until 9 p.m. There will be refreshments, free souvenirs, and a special forty-five minute program of music and skits by students of the colleges represented. Gwen Canoy will represent Hinds with a reading entitled "Sixteen."

Miss B. J. Frew, BSU director, asks that all students interested in attending the meeting come by her office in the Administration Building by noon on Monday and sign a list. The bus will leave at 6:30 Monday night.

Mr. Mayo Assists Jackson School In Evaluation

Hinds Assistant Administrator Mr. Robert Mayo was a member of an evaluation committee which studied Central High School, April 17-19. Central had requested the follow-up evaluation by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of which Hinds is a member.

Mr. Mayo served on the Social Studies committee. He was a consultant on the committee of school philosophy and school and community relationships.

MAKES 2-WEEK TOUR

Assistant Administrator Receives U. S. Air Force Reserve Promotion

Mr. Robert Mayo, assistant administrator of Hinds, was promoted April 1 from Major to Lieutenant Colonel in the Air Force Reserve.

He passed the board examination February 19, but because Congress regulates the number of officers of both active and reserve, he had to wait until there was a vacancy to receive his commission.

Sunday, April 30, Mr. Mayo will leave for a two week tour of active duty at Keesler Field where he will be assistant Commandant of the troops of the section of Colonel Litton.

He will be in charge of the management of troop activities, which includes morale and welfare, discipline and logistical support of the twenty-three school squadrons consisting of 17,000 officers and airmen.

As a special assignment, he is to study the dining schedule and determine the adequacy of the mess facilities and recommend changes that would improve the efficiency of the food service.

MR. ROBERT M. MAYO

Treloar Tells Campus Plans

With winter's long months finally ended, the campus maintenance attendants have gone into action to uphold Hinds Junior College's reputation of having one of the most attractive campuses in the state.

Mr. Jack Treloar, Campus and Farm Supervisor, and his assistants have renovated the grounds of the girls' physical education building and the science building with flowering shrubs. Even the practice field below the girls' gym is receiving attention. A leveling and clearing process is taking place there so that it may be drained.

Another accomplishment of the group is the sidewalk built from Northside Dormitory to the girls' gym to enable the students to walk through the area when it is muddy.

Several dormitory lawns are also being worked on to keep their landscape in good shape. A few additions are being made in the form of flowers and shrubbery.

Self - Pity Means Conceit

(Guest Editorial)

It is a common experience to see a person feeling sorry for himself. Some feel it more than others. Self-pity is an unhealthy view of oneself. It grows from the idea that one is having more to bear than other people.

Self-pity is self-isolation. It is a mental removal of oneself from people. You become an exception to humanity. Others do not have your troubles. Others do not suffer as you suffer. You feel that you are the only one without mother, husband, wife, brothers, and friends.

Self-pity is thinking too much of yourself — thinking that your situation is different and worse than that of others. Self-pity can have no friends because friends destroy it. Self-pity becomes a kind of strange joy.

One may think to himself that other people do not know what he has to bear. You do not like to know about people who have the same troubles and worse. That tends to destroy your feeling of being alone, a courageous, brave soul.

The cure for self-pity is not self-concern but concern for others. Count your blessings. You are still here to know that you are miserable, so this is a blessing in itself.

Not all is right in the world. On the other hand, not all is wrong in the world. Life may beat you around, but you can take it with the help of God.

If you are moping in self-pity, get busy in something good.

—Jimmy Hataway

Life Is But A Game

From our earliest infancy we have been trained to play games. Games have had an important part in the development of every man and woman, and today many of us look upon our class work, our social activities and our home life as a game.

College work, social affairs, and domestic life are all games just as hide-and-go-seek or marbles are games. The only difference is the different way the game is played and the prizes which are sought.

College offers as its top prize a broad education with good grades and participation in extra-curricular activties. Business offers money, and social affairs offer the pleasures of friendship, while domestic life offers the highest goals and most worthwhile prirzes of all.

All games have one thing in common, and that is that each game has a set of rules which regulates the actions of the players. A person who wants to play the game of life according to accepted rules must adopt a standard of ethics which will be compatible to both practical conditions and his own conscience.

Rules of the game of life are based on ethics and great moral principles. In our college and social life we find ourselves doing the things we are called to do out of fairness to our felow man, service to humanity and duty and obligation to ourselves and others.

Every game has a prize, a reward of some kind for those who are able to achieve success. The rewards of right conduct are personal satisfaction. Personal satisfaction is worth more than riches or worldly goods. It may not seem so to the ambitious young man, but riches may drift away, while the pangs of a guilty conscience rankle in the mind forever.

Fortunate is he who can look back over a life of noble, upright deeds. Lucky indeed is the man who can bestow upon his children a name that is honored in the community. Many Hinds Junior College students have such a name. They have a great task and responsibility to uphold.

Blessed is he who has learned to play the game of life and doubly blessed are the family and friends of such a worthy and upright citizen of the world.

There are rules to every game whether we are playing for fun or playing for money, and the person who fails to abide by the rules wins only the scorn and the contempt of his fellows.

If we follow the rules of the game all through life, we will find that life will treat us kindly and offer us greater opportunities for profit and for pleasure.

COLLEGE ROUND-UP

Managing Editor Changes Content Of News Column

As indicated by the kicker on this column, the entire make-up and content of this column has been changed.

The speakers at the recent spring conference seemed to believe that every paper should have some form of exchange column, and with the aid of the exchange editors of the various college publications, this paper shall be no exception.

HOMILY FOR STUDENTS: An editorial in the Northwest Mississippi Ranger Rocket outlined the basic requirement for a person entering into adult life — faith.

The article stated, ". . . faith in his superiors, faith in himself, and above all, faith in God. In order to adequately cope with the formation of life during an era in which turmoil and strife are common, the successful student must have the faith to accept and to solve his ever-present difficulties."

* * *

BOARD APPROVES LOAN: The Beacon of Northeast Mississippi JC announced that its Board of Trustees have decided that NEMJC will participate in the National Defense Student Loan Program.

The loan provides for the creation of loan funds which needy undergraduates and graduate students may borrow on reasonable terms for the purpose of completing their higher education.

Northeast Rolls Out Red Carpet

By JEAN RODGERS

The Hinds press conference delegates received a warm and friendly welcome to the Northeast Mississippi Junior College campus as they arrived for the Mississippi Junior College Press Association Spring Conference last Friday.

The Northeast Beacon staff, faculty, and students were most gracious hosts for the six visiting junior colleges—East Central, Itawamba, Jones, Northwest, Mississippi Delta, and Hinds.

JEAN

Registration begin at 2 p.m. Friday and was followed by a tea in the home of President and Mrs. Earl Hargett. After the formal opening of the conference, the delegates participated in a weiner roast at the City Park in Booneville.

Other highlights of the trip included election of officers for next year, general assemblies, group seminars, and speakers on various phases of journalism.

The Hinds delegation received 7 honors. Among them was the election of Gwen Canoy as secretary of the MJCPA. Gwen will be the 1961-62 editor of the Hindsonian.

The Hindsonian staff wishes to thank Bettye Coker, editor of the Beacon, President Earl Hargett, Mrs. Sale Martin, Beacon sponsor, and the Beacon staff members for their wonderful display of hospitality to our delegates.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Dramatic Club Secretary, WWA Representative, Radiant Lovely Honored By Hindsonian Staff

Poems and sonnets have been written proclaiming the beauty of young womanhood. An exquisite example of such charm on the Hinds campus is the Sophomore of the Week, Maxine Womack of Jackson.

With brown hair and brown eyes which reflect the kindness of her heart, Maxine possesses a refreshing loveliness which has won her a host of admirers.

The wide range of activities in which Maxine participated at Central High School include the Theater Guild, Hi-Y Club, and the Spanish Club. She was also featured in the beauty review.

Since her arrival on the Hinds campus, Maxine has brightened many a gloomy countenance with her radiant smile and cheerful greeting.

Always efficient and ready to serve, Maxine has been an active member of the Modern Language Club, English Club, Alpha Rho Tau, and Baptist Student Union Greater Council. She is sophomore representative of the WAA, secretary of the Lendon Players, second vice president of YWCA and Northside Dormitory devotional chairman of YWA.

After graduation in May, Maxine plans to enter Mississippi College and major in Elementary Education.

Best wishes to one who has made so many people happy. Maxine, we of the Hindsonian staff wish you continued happiness and success.

Music Students Busily Working On Production

The cast of The Mikado, a musical to be presented by the Hinds music department on May 11-12, has been chosen and is busy rehearsing parts daily.

Mr. Leslie Reeves, department head, announced today that the group will carry off the two campus performances on time regardless of difficulties.

The Mikado deals with an ancient Japanese folk legend brought to the stage by the versatile Authur Sullivan. The production was first presented in London in 1886, directed by W. S. Gilbert. The play was an immediate success in England.

Carl Foster, sophomore from Vicksburg, will act out the lead role of the production. He will play the part of the Mikado, ancient Japanese emperor.

Annette Shaver of Vicksburg holds the leading feminine role. The blond freshman will play the part of Yum-Yum, young love of Nanki-Poo, son of the emperor. Nanki-Poo will be played by Jere Copeland of Raymond.

Other characters of the cast include Bill Matthews of Raymond as Ko-Ko, lord high executioner of Titipu; Earl Lee of Mt. Olive, as Pooh-Bah; Bill Heard of Jackson as the noble lord Pish-Tush; Ernestine Hall of Vicksburg as Pitti-Sing; Suzanne Bright of Jackson as Peep-Bo; and Billie Jean Dawson of Opelousas, La., as the elderly Katisha.

Other participants in the play are McKay, Bacon, Lorenz, Williams, Toole, Satterwhite, Hayden, Lewis, Beck, Thompson, St. Clair, Ainsworth, Cowart, Hale, Goodwin, Schaeffer, Pittman, Wall, Covington, Taylor, Roberts, Boyd, Ware, Logan, and Parker.

Lee Pittman of Mt. Olive is in charge of set decorations and Miss Glenda Rush will accompany the cast at the piano.

PREPARE FOR FUTURE

Home Economics Department Aids Students In Future Living Choices

By CORKIE LYLE

"The way to a man's heart is through his stomach."

Following this old adage, the students of the Hinds Junior College home economics department strive daily to acquire knowledge that will aid them in future home planning or teaching.

Under the direction of Mrs. Robbie Dukes, the girls work in a building constructed in the summer of 1953. It is perhaps the most beautiful of the furnished units on the local campus with its combination of classrooms, laboratories, and living area.

The classroom section of the building consists of one large room divided into two ample classrooms by a modern folding curtain.

In the larger room of the building is the home economics general room. Containing electric sewing machines and modern desks for cutting and working space, the room is used as the central classroom for the department.

The food laboratory is equipped with six kitchen units that will accommodate twenty-four students. There are gas and electric stoves and refrigerators in the laboratory. Much new equipment is added yearly with the invention and purchasing of more modern supplies.

The floors of the building are of gray rubber tile. In the kitchen proper, the floors consist of grease proof tiling to keep dropped foods and other articles from leaving stains and marks.

The living area consists of a living room, a bedroom, a dining room, and a bath. The living area is furnished with modern furniture that is used in a number of different ways. Students are required to learn proper techniques for caring for the furnishings.

The living room of the unit is perhaps the most lavishly furnished in the entire apartment. Supplies range from coffee tables to comfortable sofas, from thick rugs to end tables, and from straight chairs to hassocks.

Two years of basic home economics are offered to college students majoring in home economics. There are also courses for nonmajors and students desiring to take a course as an elective.

The Lamplighters Club is the home economics club for college students. Any girl taking one of the courses or interested in this field may become a member of the club.

The club is affiliated with the national and state home economics associations. President of the group this year is Sarah Luckett, home economics major from Sharon.

Through combined theory-study and research—which means cook and eat it or sew and wear it—Hinds coeds are learning the vital lessons for future living.

Representatives Lunch On Campus; Plan County Drive

A planning committee for the Mental Health Association of Hinds County held an invitational luncheon in the cafeteria of Hinds Junior College last Thursday.

The group met to outline an association for the coming mental health fund campaign. The purpose of the meeting was to form an organization on education.

Representatives from Utica, Raymond, Palestine, Wynndale and Dry Grove were present at the meeting. Pres. George M. McLendon and Dean R. C. Benton represented the college.

Circle K Attends Meeting; Writer Relates Highlights

The Hinds Circle K Club climaxed a year of hard work with the second annual official District Convention in Lafayette, Louisiana this past weekend.

Southwestern Louisiana University was host to the convention. They also provided accommodations for visiting Circle K members.

The convention included the Louisiana, Mississippi, and West Tennessee district of Circle K International, and both junior colleges and senior colleges were present.

After registration Friday evening and the Saturday business sessions presided over by Governor James Whitehead, the convention was highlighted by a semi-formal banquet and entertainment afterwards.

Following a devotional service Sunday morning, house delegates from each of the schools took seats for the regular business meeting. During this session new district officers were elected.

After a break for noon luncheon, new officers were installed and awards presented to winning schools and individuals. Mississippi was well represented on the slate of officers by the election of Jimmy Street of Mississippi College to the post of Lt. Governor and Bobby Herring, also of Mississippi College, as Secretary

Attending from Hinds were John Wilda, president, Wilwaukee, Wis.; Barry Marionneaux, vice president, and Frank DuPont, both of Plaquemine, La.; James Weir and Jim Sansing, Newton; Net Scott, Tom Pullen and Steve Kirchmayr, Vicksburg; and John Miller, Jackson.

Accompanying the group were Mr. Jack Treloar and Mr. Mike Rabalais, Hinds faculty members and club sponsors. Miss Dolores Taylor and Miss Eva Sipes, sponsor and sweetheart of the club, were also in attendance.

Steve Kirchmayr Leads Canterbury For '61-62 Meets

Steve Kirchmayr, freshman from Vicksburg, was elected president of Canterbury for 1961-62 by the club Monday night at the weekly meeting.

Anna Marejohn of Jackson was voted to assume the office of vice president. The secretary-treasurer of the group will be elected upon the beginning of the new school year in September.

Sponsor of the club is Mr. Bill Oakes and the chaplain is the Rev. James Butler of Bolton.

Steve will replace Corkie Lyle of Belzoni as president.

The Canterbury Club is the church association for local Episcopal students. Meetings are each Monday afternoon at 6:15 p.m.

Netters Prepare For Meet; Local Cindermen Take Win

Campus To Play Host To State Tennis Matches

Three matches remain on schedule for the Hinds tennis squad before the ever-important state tournament on Saturday, May 6.

Thursday's match with Southwest will be the initial meet of the final three. Traveling to Summit to meet the Bears, Hinds will return for a home stand with East Central's Warriors on Friday.

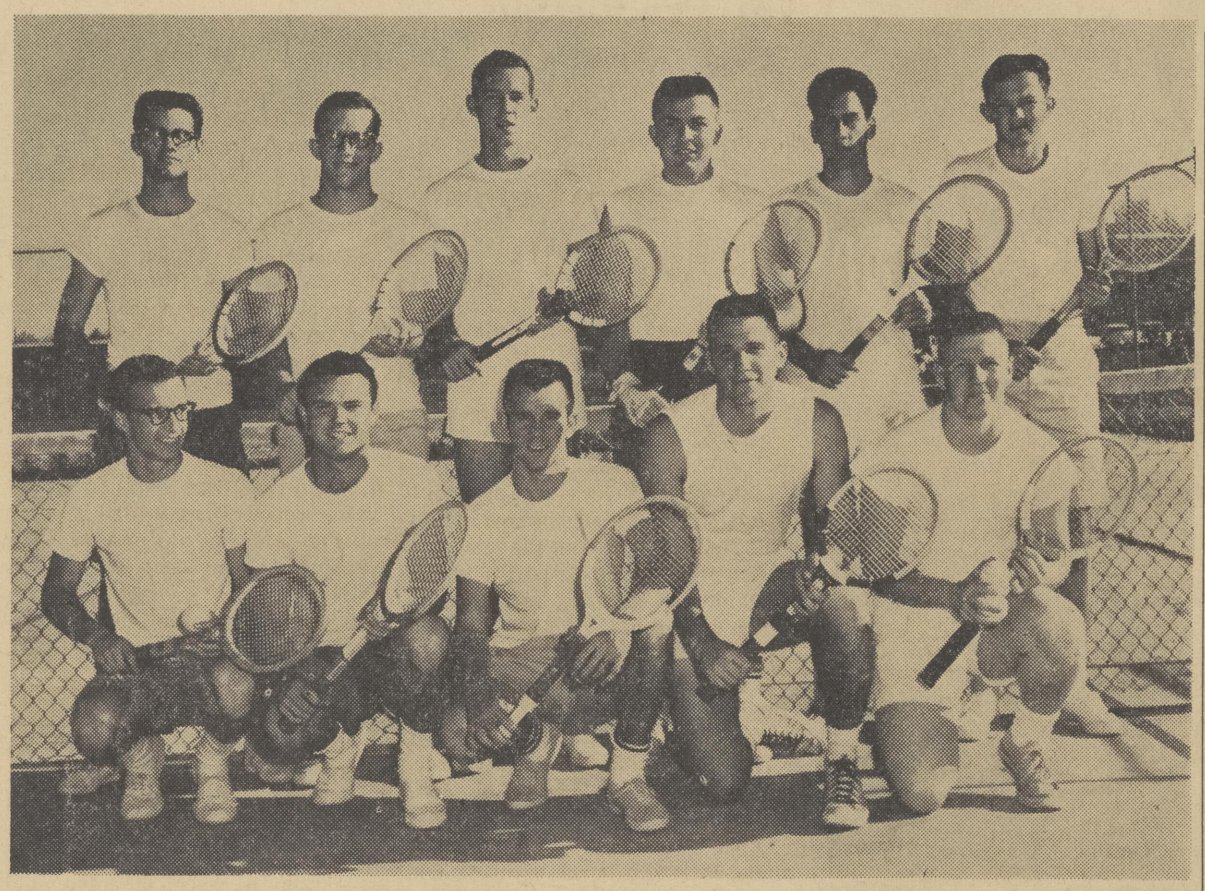
Perkinston will form the last competition during regular seasonal activity on Tuesday, May 2.

Playing host to the state junior college matches, Hinds is led by Rex Carson, Tommy Jackson, Bill Heard, David Watkins, Larry Hughes, Wende Hollis, and Tommy Holcomb, all of Jackson.

Vicksburg provides three top supporters for the Eagles in Brooks Reid, Tommy Pullen, and Lee Riley. Joe L. Ferguson is the only other team member and hails from Utica.

In previous competition the local netters have captured wins over Jones, while losing to Perkinston and East Central.

Hinds' squad, coached by Mr. Bill Oakes, will be seeking the title after several years lapse. In last year's overall action, Hinds racked up a second place tie with Jones, while the netters from Southwest pocketed the championship trophy.



SET FOR TOURNEY — Eagle netters pose before practicing for the upcoming state tournament to be held on the local campus May 6. Composing the Hinds squad are Rex Carson, Tommy Jackson, Bill Heard, David Watkins, and Larry Hughes. On the back row are Brooks Reid, Tommy Pullen, Wende Hollis, Lee Riley, Tommy Holcomb, and Joe L. Ferguson.

SPORTS PREVIEW

Bowling Fans Take Advantage

By TOMMY NANCE

One of the fastest growing sports in the nation is bowling, as can well be seen by its development from birth. Today, we enter ultra-modern, air-conditioned buildings with automatic 'this and that' but never think once how it all began.

We have automatic pin setters, score keepers, and repair units, but what did the sporting fans have in the initial few years of bowling's existence?

TOMMY

Indoor bowling probably originated in various games in which clubs were hurled at groups of bone pins. The first recorded indoor game on a covered alley took place in London in the 12th century.

In America, the first recorded match game was played on the Knickerbocker alleys in New York City on New Year's day, 1840, but the federal code of rules was adopted in 1875.

Outdoor Bowling Too

In addition to what we are accustomed to these days, bowling was also once enjoyed outdoors. This type of recreation is one of the oldest of games, and its ancient form was closely similar to that of the present day.

In outdoor bowling, cones were first used for marks and were later displaced by the round balls or jacks. Outdoor bowling was introduced in America in the early 18th century, and the bowling green, in the locality still known by that name, was laid out by the City of New York in 1732.

Big Change Of Today

Although bowling is relatively new — or the interest of it in this area of the country is — Americans have been in the alleys many years. During 1954 alone, 20 million American bowlers rolled balls on 85,000 alleys in 12,500 bowling establishments.

The city of Jackson is soon to gain its fourth bowling establishment, which will give approximately 82 lanes for enthusiasts to enjoy in this area. The next time you have an evening to enjoy, journey to your nearby bowling center.

Sorry To See Her Go

With the resignation of Mrs. Peggy Swett, girls' physical education instructor at Hinds for the past three years, this institution will be losing — as far as we are concerned — one of the best in her field.

She has put Hinds on the map among state senior and junior college athletic departments and played a leading role in the recent PE workshop held on this campus. Mrs. Swett will be a tremendous loss to the Women's Athletic Association, since she was the one who brought it from the cradle to its high position on the campus today.

We know that this resignation places her on the ladder to the top, for she is journeying to one of the most outstanding physical education departments in the country — the University of Texas.

Hinds Representatives Take Wins During Weekend Meet

Over the past weekend, Hinds fell below Delta and Copiah-Lincoln Wolves in a Saturday triple cinder meet on the local campus, 55-43-37.

The Birds participated in the initial Jackson Daily News relays in two events Friday, grabbing fourth and third place honors in the 440 yard relay and the mile relay respectively.

Take Double Wins

Led by Wilburn Williamson, Clarence Peterson, Donnie Swafford, and John Dewitt, the 440 yard relayers tallied behind winning Mississippi State's frosh, Co-Lin, and Delta. Dewitt, Williamson, Donnie Ross, and Burt Sullivan led the Eagle sprinters in the mile relay competition.

In Saturday action Hinds' Joe Dickerson vaulted to a 11'9" win over Delta and Copiah-Lincoln, while Howard Freeman and Wilburn Williamson took high honors in the discus and broad jump respectively. The only other first place came with Donnie Swafford's 9.8 timing in the 100 yard dash.

Delta Totals

Champion Delta took nine first place titles, with wins in the 440 yard relay, mile run, 120 high hurdles, 880 yard relay, 880 yard run, 220 low hurdles, mile relay, and the high jump, while Wsson captured wins in the 440 yard run and the shot put.

Tracksters are now aiming at state records which will be put on the line in the state meet May 6 on the Hinds campus.

Record Holders

Holding the 100 yard dash mark are a trio of performers in Meridian's McDonald, Hinds' Street and Turcotte. All have 9.8 records.

Holmes representative Fitzhugh set the 220 yard dash record in 1956 with his 21.8 run. Only one Jones sprinter holds a state mark, with Saul's 1:59.7 run in the 880.

Six other Hinds stars hold the top positions among junior college standouts, with Stassinos' 50.5 mark in the 440 yard dash, Landry's tie in the 120 low hurdles; the Bird relay team of 1950 holds the record in the mile relay, while Revon holds the broad jumping mark at 23'6" in 1949.

Price in 1948 and Carrol in 1957 set the discus and shot put marks respectively with their marks of 138'6" and 46'8½" to give Hinds the edge in record holders.

Ellisville's Anderson set the javelin record in 1940 with a 184'10" toss, but this event has been discontinued in Mississippi junior college competition.

Cindermen Grab Win Over 'Dogs, Wolves Tuesday

The Hinds Junior College Eagles emerged as victors in a close three-way track meet with Copiah-Lincoln and the Holmes Bulldogs Tuesday. Hinds was high with 48 points, followed by the Wesson Wolves with 47 and Holmes with 38.

Playing host to the tri-meet, Hinds notched up wins in the 440 yard run, pole vault, discus, broad jump, and the mile relay.

In collecting these first places, Wilburn Williamson hit the string first in the 440 and the broad jump. He personally totaled 10 points for the Eagles.

Other Victories

Adding other initial victories, Joe Dickerson tied for first place in the pole vault with Holmes' Bob Grantham, Howard Freeman sailed the discus 130'8½" for that divisional title, while John Dewitt, Donnie Ross, Burt Sullivan, and Wilburn Williamson put together a winning performance in the mile relay.

Copiah-Lincoln added first place wins in the 440 yard relay, 880 yard relay, shot put, and the low hurdles. Relay wins came from sprinters Smith, Cox, Hunter, and Conner, while Ledet captured the shot put win with his 42'6½" toss. Brewer, Hunter, and James took a first place in the low hurdles and second in the high.

Holmes Takes Wins

Holmes' top wins came in the mile run, 100 yard dash, high hurdles, 880 yard run, 220 yard dash, and the high jump. Burrell was top man for the visiting Goodman team with his 9.9 100 yard dash and his 220 yard dash.

James of Holmes took the high hurdles with a 16.1 timing and the high jump with a 5'6" jump.

Holmes invades the local campus again Saturday in a triple cinder meet involving Hinds, Holmes, and Delta. Perkinston remains the last competition for the local Birds with the May 2 meeting planned.

PICK COLLINS

Women's Organization Elects New Officers At Regular Meet

Diane Collins, freshman from Florence, was recently elected president of the Women's Athletic Association for next year.

She succeeds Joannie Phillips of Pearl as the feminine top officer. Others elected Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the organization were Barbara Carter, Forest Hill, vice-president; Vivian Hurt, Oakridge, Tenn., secretary and treasurer; Ann Hardin, Vicksburg, historian and representative; and Barbara Davis, Forest Hill, sophomore representative.

Make Party Plans

Along with the election of next year's officers, the club made final plans for the annual farewell party for the club made final plans for sophomores. Consisting of an all-night fishing get-together, the party will be held at the college lodge and lake May 5.

Plans were also made for the assembly May 10. Along with the presentation of the sportsmanship award to the outstanding sophomore by Mr. G. M. McLendon, letters will be given to those girls collecting 50 points or more in extra curricular activities. Those girls collecting 100 points or more will receive pens.

Concluding the program will be the election of next year's cheerleaders.

For Men Only

With only four more weeks of school left, the Men's Recreational Association requests that all equipment that is now checked out be checked in as soon as possible.

If any of the club's equipment is checked out in your name, please contact Tommy Hurst or Jim Sansing, president.

Checking-in time will be between 3:30 and 7:30 on school evenings.

VOLUME 27—NUMBER 28 | HINDS JUNIOR COLLEGE, RAYMOND, MISSISSIPPI | WEDNESDAY, MAY 3, 1961

Phillips To Give Commencement Address

DISCUSSING the forthcoming production by the Hinds Junior College music department of the world renowned Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera, "The Mikado," are, from left, Jere Copeland, Raymond, who will play the part of Nanki-Poo; Ernestine Hall, Vicksburg, in the role of Pitti-Sing; Annette Shaver, Vicksburg, in the leading feminine role of Yum-Yum; Suzanne Bright, Jackson, who will play Peep-Bo; and Bill Matthews, Raymond, as Ko-Ko, lord high executioner of Titipu. The famed comic opera will be given in a two-night performance, May 11-12.

Former Hinds Student Presently Serves As Commission Chairman

Thomas Hal Phillips, internationally known writer and Chairman of the Mississippi Public Service Commission, will deliver the commencement address at Hinds Junior College at exercises to be held May 26.

Phillips, a former Hinds Junior College student, received his B.S. degree from Mississippi State University in 1943 and his Masters degree from the University of Alabama in 1948. In 1950 he received the Sidney Sullivan Award from Mississippi State as the outstanding alumnus of that year.

He is a veteran of World War II, having served for three years in the Amphibious Forces. He participated in the invasions of North Africa, Italy and Southern France. As captain of a landing craft, he received the Admiral's Comendation for having the most battle proficient ship in the Mediterranean Fleet.

From 1950 until the latter part of 1957, he spent his time farming, teaching and writing. He was appointed to the Public Service Comission in December of 1957, was re-elected in 1959 and is presently serving as Chairman of the Commission.

He began writing when in high school. When he was discharged from service following World War II, he applied for admission to the creative writing department of the University of Alabama. Following receipt of his Masters degree, he taught classes in novel and short story writing at Southern Methodist University for two years.

From 1950 to 1956 he published five novels: The Bitterweed Path, 1950; The Golden Lie, 1951; Search for a Hero, 1953; Kangaroo Hollow, 1954; and The Loved and the Unloved, 1955. All of these books have been published in England as well as in this country. The Bitterweed Path and The Loved and the Unloved have both been reprinted in pocketbook editions. The Loved and the Unloved was selected as one of the outstanding novels of 1955.

He has published numerous short stories and articles. His best known story is "The Shadow of an Arm." It won an O. Henry Award in 1951. For his writing he has received the following national awards: Saxton Award, 1948; Fulbright Award, 1950; O. Henry Award, 1951; Guggenheim Award, 1953 and 1955. The Fulbright Award was for a year's study in France. He studied at the Sorbonne and at the University of Bordeaux.

HAL PHILLIPS
Renowned Writer

In September of 1955 the book review section of the New York Times featured Phillips as Author of the Week.

During the 1958-59 session, Phillips commuted to Hinds Junior College and contributed his time in teaching a creative writing class one night each week.

Hinds Music Group To Present Spring Performance May 11-12

Reeves, Pittman Direct Show; Musical To Open At 8 p. m.

THE MIKADO, spring performance of the Hinds Junior College Choir, will be staged on May 11 and 12 in the campus auditorium. Admission will be $1 for adults and 50c for students.

The group will stage a dress rehearsal on Monday and Tuesday nights before the play opens on Thursday evening at 8:00 p. m. Tickets may be purchased beginning on Monday from any member of the college choir or music faculty.

Mr. Leslie Reeves will direct the performance and Lee Pittman of Mt. Olive will be student director and will also be in charge of set decorations.

Costumes for the production have been ordered from a firm in Boston, and every stage detail has been studied in order to make the presentation as authentic as possible.

THE MIKADO is based on an ancient Japanese folk legend brought to the stage by the versatile and immortal Gilbert and Sullivan.

From the beginning of Act I, the story developes into a series of situations which have delighted millions of people for the past seventy-five years.

Miss Glenda Rush, Hinds piano instructor, will accompany the production.

Hinds Choir, Music Faculty To Perform At AGO Program

The Jackson chapter of the American Guild of Organists will present the Hinds Junior College Choir at Galloway Memorial Methodist Church, Sunday, May 7.

This is the final Guild program for this year. Those preceding have presented faculty and choral performances from Mississippi College, Millsaps, and Belhaven.

Hinds Junior College faculty represented in this program will be J. Leslie Reeves, choral director; John Adams, organist; and Geneva D. Reeves, mezzo soprano.

Mr. John Adams will open the program with an organ number entitled "Sonate." The choir will present a representative number of their sacred numbers. "Bless Thou The Lord," "Miserere Mei," "Let Thy Holy Presence," "How Lovely Is Thy Dwelling Place?" "Calvary's Mountain," "Psalm 150," and the "Lord's Prayer" will be included in the list of songs.

From "St. Matthew Passion," by Bach, Mrs. Leslie Reeves will sing "If My Tears Be Unavailing." She will also sing "The Call" by Vaughn-Williams.

Concluding the program, Mr. Adams will play an organ number entitled "Toccato, Villancico Y Fuga," by Ginastera.

The public is cordially invited to attend the program, which will begin at 3 p.m.

Springtime To Provide DanceTheme

With "Springtime" as the theme, the Hinds Junior College spring formal will begin at 8:00 o'clock on the evening of May 6. The dance will last until midnight.

Rex Carson, chairman of the President's council, announced today that the decorations committee, headed by Corkie Lyle and Mr. Bill Oakes, will meet with its members on Friday night to begin decorating the girls' gym for the annual event.

Tables in the spacious building will be decorated with spring flowers arranged in single bouquets. Upon entering the dance floor, one will find a trellis covered with roses, ivy, and honeysuckle. Flowers are being donated by residents of Raymond.

The council-sponsored event will feature the Ramblers, a dance band from Murrah High School in Jackson. Admission is $1.25, stag or drag.

CLUB TO MEET

The Modern Language Club will hold its bi-weekly meeting Thursday night. After a short program presented by French students, the members will elect next year's officers. Miss Davis urges all members to be present.

JACKSON FROSH

Roberts Wins National Office

Jack Roberts, Hinds freshman from Jackson, was elected National First Vice-President of Phi Theta Kappa at the National Convention in Sheridan, Wyoming. He defeated candidates from Odessa, Texas, and Grand Junction, Colorado, after an active campaign which lasted throughout the convention.

A member of the Gamma Lambda Chapter, Jack is also a member of the Modern Language Club and is vice-president of the Lendon Players.

The Hinds Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa won second place honors at the convention for the travel award, which included the percentage of members present, the percentage of local officers present, and the total number of club members.

Bible Holds Virtues

"Twixt the optimist and pessimist
The difference is droll.
The optimist sees the doughnut
While the pessimist sees the hole."

Life, like a doughnut, may be viewed from a variety of angles. It may be seen full, rich and worthwhile or empty like the hole of a doughnut. It's in the eye and the mind. An optimist looks at the oyster and expects a pearl. A pessimist looks at an oyster and expects ptomaine poisoning.

The three virtues of the Bible are Faith, Hope, and Charity. Isn't it a strange fact that of the three Biblical virtues, two are the ideals of optimism. One must be an optimist to have faith and hope. Only a pessimist has no faith and no hope, and so we find that the Bible urges one into the ways of optimism.

Look up, be happy and cheerful and you shall succeed in anything you undertake, and if you don't succeed, you will at least be happy, and that in the end is everything. The optimist leads a successful life because his is a happy life, and any life that is happy is successful.

Mental Health Week

Hospitals are built for every type of illness. Scientists are constantly striving to improve present day treatments and medicines. Science has delved deep into the mysteries of diseases trying to perfect modern medicine. Much is still to be done.

Great strides have been taken in the field of mental health, but there are still unsolved problems. Today mental hospitals are over-crowded. Working space is needed.

One of the greatest accomplishments in the field of mental health is the prevailing trend of regarding mental diseases as just an illness — not as a horrible, shameful affliction. Poor mental health is a disease that usually can be corrected through proper treatment, care, and understanding.

Mental Health Week is April 30 - May 6. During this week stop, think, and give thanks. Think of others who are not so fortunate as you, and thank your Maker that you possess a mentally sound mind.

No Gifts Out Of Blue

Most folks take advce like they do medicine — they never think that they need it — if they think they need it they don't want it — and some never take it regardless. Nethertheless, a person who won't take advice is akin to the village idiot who wandered off in search of the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

Take it or not, here are some gems of wisdom from the pen of David Sarnoff: "Don't be misled into believing that somehow the world owes you a living. The boy who believes that his parents, or the government, or anyone else owes him his livelihood and that he can collect it without labor will wake up one day and find himself working for another boy who did not have that belief, and, therefore, earned the right to have others work for him."

Also, from the pen of Bernard M. Baruch are these words: "What ever task you undertake, do it with all your heart and soul. Always be courteous, never be discouraged. Beware of him who promises something for nothing. Do not blame anybody for your mistakes and failures. Do not look for approval except the consciousness of doing your best."

Ugly Sarcasm Has Become An Unpleasant Habit

By JEAN RODGERS

Have you ever been cut short by one simple statement? Has anyone ever bluntly put you in your place? Have you ever been 'slapped' by the tone of a remark? This is sarcasm at work.

Sarcasm has become almost an art to some people. Some people apparently are constantly working to perfect their sarcastic 'talents.'

Sarcasm is so contagious that you can pick up the habit without even being aware of it. It becomes such a habit that you 'cut' people automatically.

Little trite phrases such as 'so what,' 'what's it to you,' and 'you don't say,' can be whipped into the most sarcastic statements by simply a change of tone in your voice. It is so easy to cut someone off without a second thought.

JEAN

A snappy reply or a harsh tone frequently leaves an unpleasant feeling in the air. People become resentful and on the alert. In their defense they often become sarcastic. The atmosphere immediately becomes tense. This is an easy way to lose a friend.

Laughter even can be sarcastic when it implies something unforeseen. Smirks and sneers can be so ugly.

In avoiding sarcasm, or keeping it to a minimum, the tone of your voice is often the key. If you practice using a pleasant tone, it will become natural to be pleasant.

Feelings can be boosted or broken by what you say to someone and the tone in which you say it. If you are accustomed to being sarcastic, mend your ways and be pleasant for a change. If you are pleasant, stay that way.

Remember this line from Robert Browning's "Rabbi Ben Ezra" when life grows sarcastic or dull: "The best is yet to be. . ."

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

PTK Member, Citizenship Awardee Becomes Winner of Weekly Honor

By CORKIE LYLE

"A head packed full of brains and a heart packed full of sunshine." This was the phrase attached under the senior picture of Pansy Jue, former Hinds student.

And, we find that a second member of this wonderful family definitely follows the saying to a "T." This person is Mayly Jue, Pansy's younger sister.

Honors are not new to the "China doll," for she has added quite a few to her list. At Redwood High School in Warren County, Mayly was voted most intellectual for two years, most likely to succeed, most dependable, and received the Kiwanis citizenship award.

The young lass was editor of her school yearbook after a year's experience as assistant editor. She also served as secretary of the Beta Club, class officer for three years, senior cheerleader, and senior validictorian.

Keeping her high scholastic average at Hinds has enabled Mayly to become a member of Pho Theta Kappa. She journeyed with that club to their annual convention in Wyoming last week.

The fact that she is a day student is the only foreseeable reason why Mayly is not a more active participant on the local campus. She states that she thinks that commuting gives her more time with her family, but regrets that she doesn't have more time to be with her friends on campus.

With plans for a major in secondary education, Mayly plans to attend either M.S.C.W. or Mississippi Southern this fall. Mayly states that she is leaning towards the "W" for personal reasons. If you are wondering why, just look at third finger, left hand.

Mr. and Mrs. Y. L. Jue have a member of their distinguished family to really cherish, and the staff wishes all the luck and success in life to Mayly. May she always be "full of sunshine."

New MSC Student Senate Makes Appearance Soon

By CORKIE LYLE

The editor of the Student Printz at Southern has high hopes for the new student senate on the campus. In his column, he had the following to say:

"A new student senate will bow on the campus scene Monday night and some changes could well bow with it. The old chamoer had reached what might be termed an era of good feeling, with very few members voting against the measures proposed. As one member very aptly put it last time the August body met, 'You could railroad anything through here'."

GIVE CAUSES OF CHEATING: The Tom-Tom of East Central JC posed a question to students and faculty as to why students cheated. One bright student gave the following explanation:

"In my opinion, the majority of students who cheat are those who don't have the will power to really get down and study for their grades. In other words, they are looking for an easy way to get grades without putting any effort into their studies so that they can earn their grades honestly."

WRITER LIKES IVY: A columnist in the Hullabaloo of Tulane seems to prefer the ivy on the walls of buildings for more than one reason. His reason is thus: "One of the few redeeming qualities in the architecture of the older buildings on campus is the ivy that creeps up the walls, hiding the graceless lines and making the Greenie campus green."

He was very moved when the school had the greenery trimmed to 10 feet above ground. This was done due to water seepage.

Watchman Patrols Campus Nightly; Insures Safety To Hinds' Students

By CORKIE LYLE

"His gun on his shoulder, and his faithful dog at his side!"

The above description fits our nightwatchman, Mr. E. D. Liles, except for one minor detail—he wears his gun on his hip and not his shoulder.

Each night Mr. Liles can be seen dutifully making his rounds on time. With his flashlight and mastiff, Mr. Liles patrols the entire campus alertly and consciously to insure safety to the students and property.

The nightwatchman has five children, and all have attended Hinds. Living one-and-a-half miles north of Learned has enabled the family to choose and attend Hinds.

Billy Liles was editor of the HINDSONIAN his sophomore year, Wavely Brown is now employed at the Pensacola Naval Yards, Mary Ann once worked for the registrar, Jaunice attended Hinds for two years, and Dean is presently attending the two year institution. He is a member of the Eagle basketball squad.

Mr. Liles, employed as nightwatchman for nearly four years, stated that he has enjoyed being an employee of Hinds and is looking forward to more years at his job.

He further added, "I really enjoy my job and respect the school in every way. The faculty and students seem to be so friendly and nice and it is a pleasure to work for them."

In times of total darkness on our campus, Mr. Liles can be seen patrolling the grounds in the school-owned "Gray Ghost," the affectionate name attached to the old gray Chevrolet.

With the alert ears and watchful eyes of Mr. Liles, the students of Hinds have no need to fear vandalism or theft. He justly serves his purpose.

ENJOY TRIP OUT WEST

Phi Theta Kappa'er Relates Trip; Tells Of Fun Shared By Members

By BELINDA HILL

After months of planning and of happy anticipation, Thursday night rolled around, and we Phi Theta Kappas drug our bursting suitcases out to the little maroon bus that was to take us on our four thousand mile journey.

Nobody believed that we could get all those bags on the bus and still have room for thirty people, but we did.

Sleepy, but terrible excited, we rose at four Friday morning. After each carrying three loads of blankets, pillows, books, food, and other essentials for a long bus trip, we pushed everybody into their seats (no telling what they were sitting on) and cranked up. There was not room on the floor for one little roll of masking tape, so we had our laps full too.

Off went the little HJC Special to the National convention at Sheridan, Wyoming. The days were full of sleepiness, songs, scuffles, and many groans of weariness and hunger as we rolled through Louisiana, Texas, and into New Mexico and the Rocky Mountains. The nights were—well, fun.

In New Mexico we climbed a mountain; in Colorado we visited Royal Gorge. We reached Cheyenne, Wyoming, Sunday night, only to wake up Monday morning to a snow covered world.

We pushed on into Sheridan, where we were met by the host chapter and settled in our motel rooms for the week.

Tuesday morning we hopped up at five to take a little trip into Montana just to say we'd been. We spent the rest of the days in Sheridan attending meetings and the nights working on the club scrapbook and making posters for Jack Robert's campaign.

Since half the delegates to the convention were staying at our motel and since most of them had flown in and had no transportation, we generously offered the HJC Special. We had it packed so full of people from Washington, Virginia, New Jersey, San Antonio, and Idaho that we had to stand up ourselves, but we showed them so much Southern hospitality that their mouths dropped open.

We traveled through the beautiful Black Hills of South Dakota, where we ran into a tunnel too small for the bus and had to back down a mountain, visited Mount Rushmore, saw the rolling plains of Nebraska and Kansas, learned the song "Oklahoma" as we rolled through that state and into the blue-bonnet-covered plains of Texas.

We arrived on the HJC Campus with much noise and commotion Sunday night, having had only one bus breakdown. We arrived with one First National Vice President, Jack Roberts, and lots of happy memories of the great American West.

NOTICE

Students interested in trying out for cheerleader for the 1961-62 school session are urged to sign the petitions located on the various bulletin boards throughout the campus buildings.

Only girl cheerleaders will be elected in the May 10 assembly program. A total of three girls will be elected and the one receiving the most votes will be head cheerleader for the year.

The Women's Athletic Association is in charge of the assembly program.

Chester Butler Presents Slides To Canterbury

The Canterbury Club program for Monday night consisted of slides presented by Chester Butler, club member from Bolton.

The slides showed the various forms of the Bible that have been printed since the earliest manuscripts and originals. The Rev. James Butler, chaplain for the group, narrated the program.

Sue Stevens of Port Gibson will be in charge of next week's program. The following week Corkie Lyle will present the last program of the 1960-61 year.

Recruiting Team From Hattiesburg Visits Local Campus

A recruiting team from Mississippi Southern College visited the Hinds Junior College home economics department this past Wednesday.

The team, consisting of three young women, was received by the department in the living room of the building and was served an informal tea by the students of the courses.

Afterwards, the team of Southerners gave an interesting and informative lecture on the facilities available for students majoring or minoring in home economics at Southern.

The group also presented a review of slides showing the exterior and interior of buildings affiliated with the department at Southern.

Hinds Netters Play Host To State Tennis Matches

Over 100 boys and coaches will invade the Hinds campus Saturday to perform in the 1961 state junior college track meet.

Representing eight schools, the participants will be entering 15 individual events, including ten track and five field divisions.

Action will begin at 1:30 in the afternoon for the finals in all field events. Shop put and pole vault activity will initiate the meet, while discus and high jump competition begins at 2:05. The last field event, broad jump, will begin at 2:45.

In track divisions, the finals won't begin until 7:30, for all activity in the afternoon will consist of trial runs.

Starting at 2:00, the 440 yard relay will be the initial cinder event, followed by the 440 yard dash, 100 yard dash, the 120 yard high hurdles, 880 yard relay, 220 yard dash, and the 220 yard low hurdles. There will be a ten minute lapse between each event.

Three events will be directed at night only, with no trial runs. These include the mile run, the 880 yard run, and the mile relay.

The time schedule for the final runs pits the 440 yard relay at 7:30, while the following succeed in ten minute intervals: mile run, 440 yard dash, 100 yard dash, 120 high hurdles, 880 yard relay, 880 yard run, 220 yard dash, 220 yard low hurdles, and the mile relay.

The local cinder squad, coached by Ivan Rosamond, will highlight Wilburn Williamson, Clarence Peterson, Donnie Swafford, and John DeWitt in the 440 yard relay team, as well as the 880 yard relay quartet. The mile relay team, which is a possible winner, consists of Williamson, Burt Sullivan, Donnie Ross, and DeWitt.

In individual performances, Ed Frazier will represent Hinds in the mile run, while Williamson will be off and running in the 440 yard dash. Donnie Swafford runs in the 100 yard dash, while Pat Conerly will be the Bird participant in the high and low hurdles.

In the final two track events, Mike Vinson will pace the home-standing club in the 880 yard run, with Swafford in the 220 yard dash.

Action on the tennis courts will begin at 8:00 Saturday morning with only five schools taking part. For the first time in the junior college campaign, an overall trophy will be awarded to the winners of the boys' and girls' matches.

Southwest will be back to defend their title, with Perkinston, Jones, East Central, and Hinds hoping to take the crown from the South-Mississippi Bears.

SPORTS PREVIEW

Extra Work Demands Praise

By TOMMY NANCE

Sporting eyes from across the state will again turn to the Hinds campus this weekend when the Eagles play host to the state junior college championship track and tennis meets.

The local athletic department has been busy at work planning and organizing the upcoming 'eye-catchers' and deserve some real applause when the final curtain falls Saturday night.

This state meet should be one of the greatest in history, for the respective coaches have filled the season with a full schedule and some fine performances have been shown by several possible record breakers.

TOMMY

Delta To Win

The curent track crown is resting on the heads of the Delta Trojans of Moorhead and is predicted to remain there for at least another year. Hinds and Copiah-Lincoln could be threats to the Sunflower countians, but lack depth in cinder competition.

Should Delta cop the over-all title again this year, it would be the third straight year for the Moorhead club and only the fourth in history of the school.

8 To Vie

Other teams which will be in competition and share part of the spotlight will be Holmes, Northwest, Perkinston, Jones, and East Missisiippi.

The local Birds won't be able to live on past laurels, for Hinds has dominated the wins since 1940, losing only six state championships. There were four years during World War II that the Mississippi Junior College conference did not have any track title seekers.

Whether the giant 1961 state junior college track trophy will sit on the Raymond premises or not, only time will tell. Best of luck to all participants; we can only hope for the maximum effort and no more.

Derby Highlights

Saturday will be a fixed day in the eyes of racing fans across the nation as the 87th running of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs unveils.

From 15 to 20 horses might go to the post this weekend to vie for the $125,000 added purse and the glory of the winner's wreath.

This year's starters represents one of the largest, for the last time the Derby had 20 beginners was in 1951, when Count Turf galloped home in a cloud of dust. Seventeen started when Needles won in 1956, and the same number two years ago when Tomy Lee beat out both Sword Dancer and a foul claim to gain the famed winner's horseshoe of red roses.

If your interest is on the track, whether it be cinder competition or horse racing, you are bound to get your cup fille dthis eventful weekend.

College Soph Decisions Boxer In Louisiana

Hinds sophomore Bennie Splain has been busy in the boxing ring again, as he decisioned Johnny Rossetti of Gena, La., in an April 22 bout in Gena.

In open welterweight competition for three straight years, he is one of Jackson's hopefuls in next year's Golden Gloves tournament.

This year, he was voted the most promising novice in the state tourney and was the champion in the novice welterweight division.

After finishing Hinds this month, he will continue his education at Mississippi Southern College next fall. There he will major in physical education.

FINAL MEET

Eagle Cinder Squad Falls Short At Tuesday's Perkinston Meet

In a dual meet at Perkinston Tuesday, the south-Mississippi Bulldogs defeated the visiting Hinds tracksters, 85-65.

The Eagles, who will play host to the state meet Saturday, managed only six first places and a tie in the pole vault to tally their totals.

Initial spots came in the broad jump, with Wilburn Williamson getting the top award, the shot put and discus with Howard Freeman getting the nod, and Joe Dickerson's tie in the pole vault.

Three track events fell Hinds' way. The 880 and mile relay teams, composed of Williamson, Clarence Peterson, Donnie Swafford, and Donnie Ross in the mile.

Perkinston captured wins in the 440 yard relays, mile run, 440 yard dash, 100 yard dash, 120 yard high hurdles, 880 yard run, 220 yard dash, 220 yard low hurdles, and the high jump.

Copiah-Lincoln Wolves Defeat Duo With 10 Point Lead Over Hinds Eags

Copiah-Lincoln's surprising cindermen sped to victory Friday as they toppled Hinds and Jones, 61-41-33, before a home Wesson crowd.

The champion Wolves racked up eight first places and a first place tie to score their triple track win. Hinds collected five first places, which included crowning ceremonies in the 100 yard dash, 880 yard run, mile relay, discus, and the broad jump.

Donnie Swafford hit a 10.2 mark for the string breaker in the 100, while Mike Vinson tallied first in the 880 yard run. The Eagle mile relay team of Donnie Ross, John DeWitt, Burt Sullivan, and Wilburn Williamson set the pace with a 3:31.2 timing, ahead of Jones and Co-Lin representatives.

In field events, Howard Freeman threw the discus for a 139' 2" title, while Williamson won the broad jump event with his 20' 3" jump.

The Jones team failed to pick up a first place in track competition, but did pick up a first in the high jump and a first place tie in the pole vault.

VOLUME 27—NUMBER 29 HINDS JUNIOR COLLEGE, RAYMOND, MISSISSIPPI WEDNESDAY, MAY 10, 1961

REPRESENTING Hinds Junior College in the Miss Mississippi Pageant will be Lyllian Lee, auburn haired, green eyed sophomore beauty from Forest. Lyllian, a member of the Hinds Hi-Steppers, was voted best dressed coed at Hinds, Sophomore Maid in the Homecoming Court, and featured in the college newspaper as a Hinds Honey. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Lee, Jr., of Forest.

FOREST LASS

Lyllian Lee To Represent Hinds In Mississippi Beauty Pageant

A petite, green-eyed sophomore with auburn hair will represent Hinds Junior College in the Miss Mississippi Pageant to be held in Vicksburg in August.

Lyllian Lee, Forest sophomore, was selected to represent Hinds Junior College.

Named this year as best dressed in the Who's Who contest, Lyllian was chosen as neatest and a beauty during her senior year at Forest High school.

While in high school she was a homecoming maid, a class officer for three years, a member of the Latin Club, a member of the paper staff, a member of the annual staff, and a Future Homemaker of America officer.

Also during high school, Lyllian was a cheerleader, member of the school chorus, Chordettes, Ten Tets, and Debuteens, all singing groups.

Lyllian was an accompanist for the "Accents," a quartet presently known as the "Wanderers." She was also an alternate in the 1960 Miss Forest contest.

The 5' 4½" lass was a sophomore maid in the Hinds homecoming court, a Hinds Honey, and a member of the Hinds Hi-Steppers. She has been in the Hinds choir for two years and is a member of the Girls Ensemble.

Having taken piano for eleven years, Lyllian has been in district and state piano contests for four years. She has received excellent and superior ratings in these events.

For her talent in the Beauty Pageant, she will either sing a jazz number or play a classical selection.

Lyllian will attend Mississippi College after graduating from Hinds and will major in English.

NOTICE

Students expecting to transfer to other colleges for the 1961-62 session should leave a request for their transcript to be sent to their preferred college.

There are blanks in the registrar's office for these requests. Students should not take for granted that their transcripts will be sent—so please leave a request!

Sallie Baker To Edit '62 Eagle Announces Hinds Annual Sponsor

Phi Theta Kappa Member, Debater, Language Club Veep Receives Honor

Sallie Baker of Jackson will edit the 1962 Eagle, college annual, according to Mr. Pat Smith, Public Relations Director and annual sponsor.

She is a foreign language major and plans to work in the field of foreign diplomacy or as an interpreter after completion of her college education. After graduation from Hinds next year, Sallie will enter the University of Miami.

A graduate of Jackson's Central High School, Sallie was the annual staff club editor and a three year staff member. She also was copy editor of the Pegasus, student literary magazine.

While at Central she was a delegate to Youth Congress, secretary-treasurer of the Speech Club, Red Cross Representative, member of the Junior Historical Society, and manager of the Special Science Club.

SALLIE BAKER
Eagle Editor

During high school Sallie was a member of the Debate team for three years, served as secretary-treasurer and president of the Central Debate Club, and was awarded a superior at the Regional Debate Tournament.

Sallie participated in Central's Theatre Guild and Bible Club.

A member of Phi Theta Kappa, Sallie was a delegate to the national convention in Sheridan, Wyoming recently.

At Hinds Sallie is a member of the debate team, English Club, and next year's vice president of the Modern Language Club. As reporter for the Science Club, she was the recipient of the Freshman Chemistry Achievement Award presented by the American Chemical Rubber Company.

Jack Roberts, Jackson freshman and graduate of H. V. Cooper High School in Vicksburg, has been named Managing Editor of the Hindsonian for 1961-62 by Mr. Pat Smith, director of public relations and sponsor of the Hindsonian.

Jack is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Roberts, Sr., of 129 Louisiana Avenue.

He will succeed Corkie Lyle from Belzoni who served in this capacity on the 1960-61 staff.

Recently elected National First Vice-President of Phi Theta Kappa, Jack will also serve as president of the Modern Language Club for the coming year.

As a language major, Jack plans to work for the government after he finishes school. He wants to work in some field of foreign diplomacy.

After graduating from Hinds, Jack plans to attend Mississippi Southern.

Gwen Canoy, Magee freshman, has previously been selected Hindsonion Editor for 1960-61.

Other positions will be assigned at a later date.

Consider Opinions Well

How does man form his opinions? There are various ways — through the home, the school and the church. There are other ways, too, which are not so wholesome and desirable. Gangsters, prize fighters and theatrical entertainers are public heroes.

Murderers, thieves and kidnappers win public sympathy. The man with any reasonable amount of intelligence and stability is ridiculed and is considered to have brains only when he raves and rants about some idiotic scheme that may capture the imagination and about which the best that can be said is that it has never been tried before.

It is like betting on a horse that has never run in first in five years on the theory that it is about due to come home once after all the years of trying.

A man who is substantial, upright, conservative and determined to maintain what he considers the nobler and most wholesome standards of life and society is pointed out as a lout and an old fogey. It is too bad that some take this view because people who do usually have concrete opinions — and by concrete opinions we mean those which are thoroughly mixed and permanently set — go far in life.

We should be careful of our opinions because an obstinate man does not hold opinions, but they hold him. Therefore, a person should consider well all sides of a question before forming an opinion.

Unfortunately, when he does he will find that when it gets right down to cases, most men don't use their brains when they form an opinion. Our observation of mankind convinces us that the brain was made to think with, but the pocketbook forms most of the opinions.

Respect Our Democracy

Democracy demands more responsibility than any other form of government. Being a citizen in a democracy requires more work than any other type of citizenship in the world.

If individual citizens do not participate, democratic government becomes a mockery and a contradiction in terms Citizenship means many things. Among citizenship responsibilites for college students are community improvement, improvement of our tax-supported public schools, and the practice of principles of good citizenship at college and at home.

Marking tables and chairs in the grill and writing nasty remarks in rest rooms are the poorest types of citizenship. Citizenship obligations are a special challenge to young men and women attending our educational institutions.

Love of freedom and faith in our daily lives will endure only as long as our schools continue to emphasize education for active citizenship. This civic education will not only be used effectively at the present time, but in the future it will provide us with unlimited opportunities to serve our country.

Democracy is our way of life and it demands and deserves our fullest respect and support. Accept the challenge that the position of true citizenship offers and then work for progress.

COLLEGE ROUND-UP

Private Pageant Preliminary Peeves Publication

By CORKIE LYLE

The editor of the Reflector at Mississippi State University didn't like the idea of the private bathing suit division in the recent Miss MSU contest.

He was peeved because some of the girls in the contest stated that they would not enter if the event were made public. The following is his reasoning on the subject:

"A beauty contest is not designed to cater to girlish self-centeredness; on the contrary, those who win in the beauty judging throughout the country are those with self-assurance and talent to prove.

"To call a spade a spade, a merchant never hides his best merchandise beneath the counter; rather, he displays them where they will be most attractive."

Norman Cousins, speaking at the opening of the modern UC Building at the University of Miami, states that "we would rather die than be the first to drop a nuclear bomb."

In a news article in the Miami Hurricane, he further added and urged the creation of "a drastically-strengthened United Nations to underwrite the safety and security of all nations. That is, a U. N. which does not have to wait for emergencies, one which does not have to beg for support."

The Petals of Mississippi Delta JC recently ran an editorial attacking Americans for taking so much for granted. Highlighting the writing was the following thoughts:

"American people naturally take for granted the gifts that are bestowed upon them . . . Remember the parable in the Bible of the men and the talents? The men who developed their talents had theirs doubled. The man who buried his talent had it taken away. This may happen to those of us who do not and will not develop ours."

OFF THE CUFF

"Ben" Outlines Proposals For Moral Virtues

By JEAN RODGERS

It is never too late in life to set up a plan of self-improvement. Let's face it . . . no one is perfect.

Benjamin Franklin had a plan for self-improvement which is really worthy of consideration. It consists of thirteen statements concerning moral virtues and their precepts.

JEAN

This plan was presented in "Franklin's Plan of Self-Improvement," arranged by Joy Elmer Morgan.

1. Temperance—Eat not to dullness; drink not to elevation.
2. Silence—Speak not but what may benefit others or yourself.
3. Order—Let all your things have their places; each activity its time.
4. Resolution—Resolve to perform what you ought. Perform what you resolve.
5. Frugality—Make no expense but to do good to others or yourself.
6. Industry—Lose no time; be always employed in something useful.
7. Sincerity—Think and speak justly.
8. Justice—Wrong none by doing injuries, or omitting benefits that are your duty.
9. Moderation—Avoid extremes.
10. Cleanliness—Tolerate no uncleanliness in body, clothes, or habitation.
11. Tranquility—Be not disturbed at trifles, or at unavoidable accidents.
12. Chastity—Clean thoughts and wholesome activities lead to clean living.
13. Humility—Imitate Jesus and Socrates.

Ben Franklin had some good ideas in his time, didn't he? They still fit our present situation.

Perfection is impossible, but there is always room for improvement.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

English Major - Modern Language Club, PTK Member, Gains Top Honor

By SALLIE BAKER

"An outward appearance of reserve and quietness, but an inward quality of bubbling energy and sundry abilities." This describes Dot Gatlin, the Hindsonian's Sophomore of the Week.

Just as Dot is an asset to Hinds Junior College, so she was an asset to her high school alma mater.

While at Madison-Ridgeland High, she was vice president of the Music Club and a member of the chorus and girls' sextet. She was also a member of the basketball team and was assistant editor of the school paper.

DOT GATLIN
Future Instructor

Because of her intellectual skills, she served as vice president of the Beta Club and was voted "Most Intellectual" in the school's Who's Who Contest.

At Hinds Dot is a member of Phi Theta Kappa and attended the National Convention in Sheridan, Wyoming two weeks ago.

Last year she was a delegate to Youth Congress and she presently heads the Westminister Fellowship. She is a member of the English Club and is also active in the Modern Language Club and the Women's Athletic Association.

Dot's favorite hobby is tennis and for the past two years, she has displayed her ability as a tennis whiz by playing on the Hinds tennis team. She also enjoys reading, listening to music, and horseback riding.

An English major, Dot plans to attend Belhaven College this fall in order to further qualify herself for a position as a high school English teacher.

Dot's Christian ideals, friendly manners, and keen intellect are only a few of the traits that make her the fine person that she is. The Hindsonian staff extends its sincerest congratulations to the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Gatlin of Forest.

Herrin Releases Test Schedule

Miss Mildred Herrin, school registrar, has released the schedule for final exams. Exams will begin on Friday, May 19, and will continue until Thursday, May 25.

The schedule is as follows:

Date	Time	Class Period Exam
Friday, May 19	8:15-10:05	6TT
	11:00-12:50	5TT
	1:45 - 3:35	6MWF
Monday, May 22	8:15-10:05	3MWF
	11:00-12:50	7TT
	1:45 - 3:35	7MWF
Tuesday, May 23	8:15-10:05	2MWF
	11:00-12:50	2A-3TT
	1:45 - 3:35	4TT
Wednesday, May 24	8:15-10:05	1MWF
	11:00-12:50	2TT
	1:45 - 3:35	5MWF
Thursday, May 25	8:15-10:05	4MWF
	11:00-12:50	1TT

A graduating sophomore — one actually taking a diploma and participating in the commencement exercises — is eligible for exemption from the final examination in a subject where at the end of the semester preceding graduation (the second semester of the 1960-61 session in this case) he has achieved a semester average of a "B" letter grade or better.

As customary with the school, no exams will be given early. This applies to an entire examination as well as individuals.

Miss Herrin further announced that student reports will be begun at noon Monday, May 29.

Library Tells Edition Purchases; Books Now On Check-Out Shelves

Approximately 88 books were added to the shelves of the Hinds Junior College Library in the month of April, Mrs. Virginia Riggs, head librarian, announced this past week.

The subjects of the books deal with psychology, maps, personality, emotions, business letters, Africa, home crafts, contemporary literature, William Faulkner, Scotland, and other varied contents.

Among the books added were Dictionary of Education, by Carter Good; What College Students Think, by Rose Golden; Victorian Novelists, by David Cecil; Nature and Properties of Soil, by Harry Oliver Buckman; Government of the Fifty States, by William Anderson.

The Quiet Rebel, by Robert Lee Hough; Things Maps Don't Tell Us, by Armin K. Lobeck; Inaugural Addresses of the Presidents, by Davis Newton Lott, ed.; Been Here and Gone, by Frederic Ramsey; Weed Identification and Control, by Duane Isely.

Catcher in the Rye, by J. D. Salinger; Teen-age Treasury of Good Humor, by Seon Manly, ed.; Professional Journalism, by John Hohenberg; Letters for all Occasions, by Alred S. Myers, and Mistress of Mellyn, by Victoria Holt.

Also, ten bound editions have been returned from the bindery. Among these are Atlantic Monthly, July-Dec., 1960, v. 206; Journal of Mississippi History, 1960, v. 22; Reader's Digest, July-Dec., 1960, v. 77; Scholastic Magazine, Sept. 1960-January, 1961, v. 77, and Theatre Arts, 1960, v. 44.

All the above books, plus others on the shelves from past purchases, are available to any student in the time of need. More will be purchased in May.

School Registrar Announces Plans For Graduation

Miss Mildred Herrin, school registrar, announced today that all graduating sophomores will meet Monday, May 15, at the 2-A period for the first graduation practice. The group will assemble in the auditorium.

At the time of the first meeting, additional practices will be announced to the group. Graduation is at 10:30 on Friday, May 26.

The baccalaureate address will be delivered on Sunday, May 21, at 11 o'clock. The Rev. Norman Harper of Jackson will address the 1961 graduates.

For the two required exercises, graduates are asked to wear the following attire: girls—white dress and dark shoes (navy or black), and boys—dark trousers, white dress shirts, dark ties, and dark shoes.

An announcement will be made later as to caps and gowns.

SHOW TALENTS

J. Watkins, L. McWilliams To Present Music Recitals In School Building

Jerl Watkins and Larry McWilliams, sophomores from Jackson and Madison, Fla., respectively, will be presented in music recitals during the following week.

Jerl Watkins, chemistry major, will be the feature of a piano recital on May 14 at 3:30 p. m. in the college auditorium. His program will consist of six selections.

The selections are Bach-Bauer: "Come Sweet Death"; Haydn: "Minuet in Bb" and "Sonatina in C"; Scott: "Lotus Land"; Kazalevesky: two preludes from "Opus 28"; Pinto: "Run, Run!"

A second chair flutist with the Jackson Symphony, Jerl will also present the Handel "Sonata in G" for flute and piano, with John Adams of the Hinds music faculty as accompanist.

Larry McWilliams will be presented in his recital on May 16 in the college auditorium at 7:00 p. m. He will present four numbers.

Among the selections are the Haydn "Concert in Eb Major" for the trumpet, the second movement of the "Shostakovitch Concerto in C Major" for piano, the "Respighi Noctourno" for piano alone, and the "Music of Mourning" from the Hindemith Sonata for trumpet and piano.

Assisting Larry will be Mr. John Adams of the Hinds music faculty.

Both recitals are open to the public.

Modern Language Elects Officers For School Year

The Modern Language Club elected officers for the 1961-62 school year this past week at their biweekly meeting. Only one more meeting remains.

Heading the club will be Jack Roberts of Jackson as president. He will succeed Rose Earnest of Slate Springs.

Other officers elected were Sallie Baker, Jackson, vice president; Margaret Reader, Jackson, secretary; Sandra Rogillio, Port Gibson, treasurer; and Anna Maurejohn, Jackson, reporter.

Miss Hilda Ree Davis, club sponsor, announced that the club will hold its annual picnic the last week of the regular school session. The party will be at the lodge by the campus lake.

Club membership is open this next year for all language students and others desiring to join the organization.

Representative Plans To Install Baptist Officers

The Hinds Junior College Baptist Student Union will hold the installation service for its new executive council next Monday night during the regular BSU meeting at 6:15 in the music auditorium.

Mr. Ralph Winters, state Baptist student representative, will be guest speaker and will install the council members.

The following officers will be installed: Frankie Hilderbrand, president; Earl Lee, vice president; Linda Clower, enlistment chairman; Mary Elizabeth Hudson, secretary; David Yewell, Sunday School representative; Gerald Bates, Training Union representative; Carla Ware; YWA president; Joan Reese, missions chairman;

Lynda Walker, music chairman; Edna Earle Hill, stewardship chairman; Darrel Walters, social chairman; Brooks Reid and Martha Steverson, publicity chairmen; David Bass and Rebecca Lee, Christian citizenship chairmen, and Mr. M. R. Herring, faculty advisor.

The 1960-61 council will be in the installation ceremonies also.

The new council will take over the BSU activities for the rest of the school year.

Group Elects Yell Leaders; "Women" Present Awards

Three cheerleaders for the 1961-62 athletic season have been selected by the freshman class. The group was elected in the weekly student assembly.

Out of a field of six aspirants, Ann Hardin of Vicksburg, Dot Rochelle of Jackson, and Edward "Froggy" Hayes of Canton were elected. Defeated in the tryouts were Gwen Canoy of Magee, Frankie Hilderbrand of Satartia, and Linda Clower of Crystal Springs.

The two girls and one boy will cheer the football, basketball, track, and tennis teams in next year's competition. The head cheerleader will be selected by the entire group next year upon the selection of the freshman yell leaders.

The cheering leaders for this past sports seasons were Carolyn Middleton, head cheerleader, of Memphis, Becky Legg of Forest Hill, Peggy Massey of Hattiesburg, Corkie Lyle of Belzoni, Ann Hardin of Vicksburg, Gwen Canoy of Magee, and Jimmy Cummins of Raymond.

Before the election of the new cheerleaders, the Women's Athletic Association presented their annual awards to girls in the WAA who have earned a certain number of hours.

Freshmen receiving the awards were Linda Hollingsworth of Carthage, Bettye Shivers of Florence, Diane Collins of Florence, Mary Jean Fugate of Madison, Linda Oakes of Louise, Ann Hardin of Vicksburg, and Vivian Hurt of Oak Ridge, Tennessee.

Sophomore recipients were Gail Rushing of Forest Hill, Alice "Red" Shivers of Pearl, and Joannie Philips of Pearl. Joannie also served as mistress of ceremonies.

Receiving awards for citizenship were Vivian Hurt as freshman awardee and Alice Shivers for the annual sophomore award.

The sponsor of the WAA is Mrs. Peggy Swett, girl's physical education director.

Circle K Elects Local Student As '61-'62 Head

Max Johnson of Raymond will head the Hinds chapter of Circle K International this next year. He won over Tommy Pullen of Jackson.

Other officers elected by the group are Steve Kirchmayr, Vicksburg, 1st vice president; David Yewell, Owensboro, Ky., 2nd vice president; David Dollarhide, Jackson, secretary; Billy Cook, Jackson, treasurer; and Sidney Odom, Clinton, reporter.

Mr. Jack Treloar is sponsor for the group.

Perk Bulldogs Wrap Up State Tennis Victory

After a year lapse, the state junior college tennis championship returns to the Perkinston campus. Grabbing the boys' and girls' titles, the South-Mississippi netters took home double trophies as a result of Saturday's matches held on the Hinds courts.

Winding up with seven points, the Perk men had just enough to edge past Hinds and East Central, who had totaled six. Jones and Southwest followed with five and four respectively.

With only four schools represented in feminine action, Perkinston toppled Jones, Southwest, and East Central by a narrow one-point margin.

SPORTS PREVIEW

Birds Hold Edge In History

By TOMMY NANCE

Robert Browning's works might prove valuable for Coach Ivan Rosamond in regard to the future of the Hinds Eagle cinder squad. In one of Browning's most important works, he states, "So take and use thy work; Amend what flaws may lurk."

The object of the local coaches for the future will be to revamp the present material and provide an entirely new "makeup."

TOMMY

To live in the past would be satisfactory as far as the record goes, but no coach wants to live an antepuarian life. The local Birds are far in the lead with track championships, with Delta following behind.

Since World War II, the Eagles have captured seven titles in succession from 1946 to 1952. However, Perkinston broke the victory string in 1953. Since that meet, Hinds has won three additional crowns and finished second on three more occasions.

Still Hold Power

So, you see, we are always a major state junior college power on the cinders. The nearest to equal Raymond's record are the Trojans of Moorhead, this year's crown bearers. Delta and Hinds have won all but two titles. These two fell Perkinston's and Jones' way in '53 and '55 respectively.

Dethroning the Trojans next year will be the major task of all the junior college coaches, since Jim Randall has already planned to add their fourth straight trophy come next spring.

Leggett Speaks

Hinds coach Earl Leggett served as featured speaker for the Terry High athletes Tuesday night at the annual Lions Club banquet.

Terry coach A. F. Thibodeaux served as master of ceremonies for the eventful evening. Awards were made to the outstanding boy and girl athlete, who were selected by a Lions Club committee.

In addition to special awards, letters were presented for football, basketball, and track. Each Terry standout should be congratulated for his performance throughout the year, and may we be one of the first to offer ours.

Alma Mater Wins

Well, they did it again. It was Central's second District Six baseball title in a row and the 14th for the uptown Tigers during the reign of Coach Robert Berry's 16 years.

Needing only one win to gain sole possession of the crown, the Bengals scalped the Yazoo City Indians, 12-0, in a Tuesday afternoon battle. Best of luck in state play to a hard working team.

Moorhead Trojans Capture 3rd Win With Margin Over Wesson

As in the previous two years, the Delta Trojans racked up the Mississippi Junior College track and field championship on the Hinds cinders Saturday.

The upstate Trojans, who shattered Holmes' 1959 880 yard relay record, notched up 51 points and were followed by Copiah-Lincoln, Hinds, and Perkinston. The Wolves tallied 37 3/4 points, while the Eagles and Bulldogs tied with 34 3/4 points.

Three records were set, and all were in the relays. Hinds' mile relay squad set a new state mark with a 3:27 timing, outdistancing the old Eagle record of 1950 at 3:27-9.

Champion Delta racked up a 1:30.6 score, upsetting the old performance of 1:31.8 in the 880 relay, while Co-Lin accounted for the only other new mark with its 43.5 clocking. The old record stood at 44.3.

HONOR SOPHS

Sports Outing, All-Night Party Climax Women's Athletic Year

The Women's Athletic Association climaxed a very successful year with a farewell party last Friday for graduating sophomores and resigning sponsor, Mrs. Peggy Swett.

A sports outing was held at the school lodge from 4:00 to 7:00, followed by an all night party in the girls' gym. Refreshments were served after which Mrs. Swett was presented with a gift and the sophomores were given reminders.

The objective of the WAA is to organize and stimulate a wholesome program of athletic activities for the girls at Hinds. Competition, along with the enjoyment and development of sportsmanship and character, are stressed in various activities.

Hinds To Receive Campus Post Office

★ ★ ★ Harper To Speak To Graduates On Sunday Morning

The Reverend Norman Harper, Associate Professor of Bible and Christian Education at Belhaven College, will deliver the baccalaureate address at Hinds Junior College at 11 a.m. on Sunday, May 21.

Reverend Harper, a native of Jackson, received his B.A. degree and Master's degree from Mississippi College and his B.D. degree from Columbia Theological Seminary. He has also done further graduate work at the University of Mississippi.

Prior to joining the Belhaven faculty, Rev. Harper taught at French Camp Academy for three years and was high school principal at Brandon for two years.

He is married to the former Mary Ida Downing of French Camp, and they have two children.

REV. NORMAN HARPER
To Deliver Service

Progress - A Sign Of Team Effort

"Old paths may change, new faces light old walls, Morning will still be golden in these halls!"

Future Lies In Student's Hands - President

With the close of the 1960-61 session of Hinds Junior College, many milestones have been passed, and each of you have played an important part in the writing of the history of this college. No college can ever rise above the level of its student body, and the level of Hinds is ever moving upward.

The 1960-61 session has been a good one, and many things will be remembered for years to come. The football boys put forth that extra ounce of effort and almost brought home the state championship. The debaters went forth against great odds and received many honors. The Hi-Steppers, the Lendon Players, the track team, the music department and many others brought distinct honor to the college.

Progress is always a signpost of team effort, and without complete cooperation on the part of everyone, both students and faculty, Hinds would not be one of the leading junior colleges that it is, but just another college.

We have many good things to look forward to. The new library is rapidly nearing completion. Plans have been made for an expanded student grill, book store and post office. Many campus improvements will be made during the summer months. All these things are signs of progress.

When you leave the halls of Hinds, your real worth to the college is just beginning. Without the continued support of loyal alumni, progress at Hinds would cease to exist. Support your college by always speaking good of it, by attending our various functions in the future, and by making of your life something of which the college can be proud.

This is your college, and its future is in your hands. You have helped build a splendid today, and we believe that you will build an even more brilliant tomorrow.

—President G. M. McLendon

Grill Expansion To Provide Area For Post Office

President G. M. McLendon announced today that the administration is in the process of negotiating for post office services for the student body and faculty of Hinds Junior College.

Plans are being made to provide an independent postal station for the college. The new post office will be located in the section of the recreation hall where men students now receive their mail, and it will provide complete postal services on the regular schedule of any independent postal station.

During the summer months the present recreation hall will be made into a part of an expanded and completely remodeled student grill, and the new post office will be a part of this facility.

Also, the Hinds book store will be moved from the library building into the new grill, thus giving the students a one-stop center for all of their needs.

The new postal facility, providing complete postal services for the campus of a junior college, will be one of a very few in the entire nation.

Related to this significant progress will be the fall completion of the new library building. Contract date for completion of the new building is October 3, but the project is running on a schedule which may allow completion in September.

The new library, one of the most modern junior college facilities in the South, will be capable of housing 40,000 volumes. The present library contains 13,000 volumes.

The building will also contain rooms for audio-visual education and facilities for various club and social functions.

Herrin Releases Test Schedule

Miss Mildred Herrin, school registrar, has released the schedule for final exams. Exams will begin on Friday, May 19, and will continue until Thursday, May 25.

The schedule is as follows:

Date	Time	Class Period Exam
Friday, May 19	8:15-10:05	6TT
	11:00-12:50	5TT
	1:45 - 3:35	6MWF
Monday, May 22	8:15-10:05	3MWF
	11:00-12:50	7TT
	1:45 - 3:35	7MWF
Tuesday, May 23	8:15-10:05	2MWF
	11:00-12:50	2A-3TT
	1:45 - 3:35	4TT
Wednesday, May 24	8:15-10:05	1MWF

	1:45 - 3:35	5MWF
Thursday, May 25	8:15-10:05	4MWF
	11:00-12:50	1TT

A graduating sophomore — one actually taking a diploma and participating in the commencement exercises — is eligible for exemption from the final examination in a subject where at the end of the semester preceding graduation (the second semester of the 1960-61 session in this case) he has achieved a semester average of a "B" letter grade or better.

As customary with the school, no exams will be given early. This applies to an entire examination as well as individuals.

Miss Herrin further announced that student reports will be begun at noon Monday, May 29.

Name Harrington To Replace Swett As PE Instructor

Replacing Mrs. Peggy Swett as girls' physical education instructor at Hinds for the 1961-62 session will be Miss Polly Harrington.

A graduate of Aberdeen High School, Miss Harrington attended Hinds for two years, Louisiana State University for one year, and Mississippi State College for Women for one year.

While at Hinds on a physical education scholarship, she was active in the WAA, on the BSU Council, vice-president of the YWCA, an alternate cheerleader, and girls' sports writer for the Hindsonian.

Board Accepts Resignation; Lee To Serve MSU Dean Position

Hinds Junior College Board of Trustees has announced the acceptance of Mrs. Frances P. Lee's resignation from the position of Dean of Women.

Mrs. Lee has accepted the position of Dean of Women at Mississippi State University at Starkville and will report for duty July 1.

Mrs. Lee has been employed as Dean of Women at Hinds for one year, following the retirement of Miss Gertrude Davis. Previous to her present job, Dean Lee was an English teacher and counselor at Central High School in Jackson.

A native of Pittsboro in Calhoun County, Mrs. Lee received her BA degree from Mississippi State College for Women and her Master's degree in guidance from Mississippi College. She has received eighteen hours in guidance beyond her Master's degree.

Mrs. Lee taught high school English at public schools in Lowndes and Calhoun counties before teaching in the Jackson area.

Her teaching experience in Hinds and Rankin counties included five years at Pearl and seven at Forest Hill prior to joining the Central High School staff in 1953. She was in the English Department at Central for two years.

MRS. FRANCES LEE
Heads For State

Do You Remember . . .

Many fond memories have been formed at Hinds. The good memories by far will outweigh the bad.

Do you remember . . . registration day . . . freshman day . . . class officer elections . . : football season : : : pep rallies . . . bonfires . . . homecoming . . . sock hops . . . Lendon Players fall production of the Imaginary Invalid . . . Who's Who contest . . . study hours . . . lights out . . . assembly programs . . . club meetings . . . field trips.

Then, do you remember . . . Sugar Bowl game when the Hi-Steppers and Eagle band performed . . . dormitory open house . . . electricity failure . . : Three Blind Mice production of the Lendon Players . . . April Fool issue of the Hindsonian . . . production of Doreen and Ellis . . . success of the Debate team . . . Earl Lee was the first junior college debater ever to win the excellent certificate at the Ole Miss Debate Tournament . . . construction of the new library . . . campus beautification program.

Remember . . . the 1961 Eagle . . . the Eagle dedication to Mr. A. L. Denton who so truly deserved it . . . Circle K trip to Louisiana . . . BSU trip to Gulfshores Baptist Assembly . . . Hindsonian trip to Chicago for the Associated Collegiate Press Association . . . Jack Roberts was elected as National First Vice President of Phi Theta Kappa.

The Hindsonian received the trophy for the best junior college newspaper in the state at the spring MJCPA conference held at Northeast Junior College . . . remember? Remember . . . the Hinds Honey shots taken by our roving photographer Johann Rush . . . there was the spring formal . . . swarming of bees . . . gym classes . . . spring cheerleader elections . . . faculty talent show . . . our friends . . . term papers . . . the fabulous production of the Mikado by the Hinds music department . . . conventions.

There is so much to remember. Graduation stands for a halfway mark of college for sophomores. It stands as a halfway mark at Hinds for freshmen.

It has been a fine year to remember — full of lasting friendships and good times.

The sands of time are quickly closing our days at Hinds, but our memories shall be with us forever.

Editor Reminisces

This is the last issue of the Hindsonian. To some it just means that there won't be another issue of the Hindsonian this year. To some it will mean that one of the niceties that we enjoy has stopped. To me it ends a chapter in the book of life that I shall never forget.

When I came to HJC I had no idea that I would get on the staff of the Hindsonian. I knew it ranked high in its classification—and when I was selected as your editor, I had a great feeling of inadequacy. I was overwhelmed with pride and doubt. A most fervent prayer went up daily that I would never lower the standard already set.

The season has come to an end now. If the paper has been a success, there is a reason. We have a most efficient, conscientious and hardworking staff. Every staffer is an important part of our organization. We could not have found a more understanding, tactful and patient leader than Mr. Smith, who guided us when the road got rough.

I wish to express my appreciation to each of them for having been allowed to work with them. It will always be one of the high points in my life.

To the faithful student body, I say, "Thanks, friends. It has been nice knowing you." To those who step into our places next year, I wish the best of success.

Until we meet again in some other chapter in the book of life . . . goodbye, and may God bless and keep you . . . till we meet again.

—Jean

Mikado Deserves Praise

Brilliant! splendid! superb! — these words aptly describe the Music Department's production of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta "The Mikado." No finer student performance has ever been presented on the campus of Hinds Junior College.

Mr. Reeves, student director Lee Pittman, and every member of the cast deserves the highest of praise. You have set a milestone in the history of student talent at Hinds. Congratulations on a truly remarkable performance.

SOPHOMORE OF THE WEEK

Hindsonian Editor, President's Council Member Journalism Major Receives Weekly Honor Spot

By BELINDA HILL

It seems quite fitting that the Hindsonian staff members have elected their editor-in-chief, Jean Rodgers, final Sophomore of the Week. Perhaps they feel that one should always "save the best till last."

Jean has always been a leader as well as a very hard worker. At Central High our versatile little editor took part in numerous activities.

Naturally, she was quite active on the school paper staff. She served as reporter, then news editor, and was elected editor during her senior year.

Jean served as a delegate to Youth Congress, the Mississippi Safety Conference, Quill and Scroll president, delegate to the Mississippi High School Press Conference, and home room president. In addition, she was a member of the Student Council and of the Theatre Guild for two years.

Besides being elected to these positions of responsibility, Jean received many honors and awards. She was chosen Pilot Girl of the Month, received the Jackson Daily News Teen Page Salute, won the outstanding journalism medal, and received a CHS Honor Letter.

During her two years at Hinds, Jean has been one of the hardest working students on our campus. Her work as editor of the Hindsonian has influenced many students

As editor she served as a delegate to the National ACP Conference in Chicago and as a delegate to the MJCPA, where she won a journalism scholarship to Mississippi Southern and won third place in column writing.

Jean has also been an active member of the BSU, reporter of the International Relations Club, a member of the Presidents' Council, Snapshot Editor of the annual, and student assistant in the public relations office.

After graduating from Hinds, Jean plans to use her scholarship to attend Mississippi Southern, where she will major in journalism and minor in public relations.

The members of her staff congratulate their editor and wish her the greatest success in life, for she certainly deserves it.

Hindsonian Head Extends Thanks And Bids Adieu

By JEAN RODGERS

Writing this last column has proved to be most difficult. It presents a time to reminisce, to thank our patrons and to say good-bye.

Closing the year at Hinds means that the sophomore class members will each go their separate ways, and the freshman have reached a halfway mark.

JEAN

There are so many thanks to be given to those who have contributed so faithfully to the paper.

First, we must recognize the students and faculty members as our basic sources of news. Without you we would have no news—therefore, no paper.

Next, we thank Mr. Pat Smith, our sponsor who has been a loyal, considerate guide in directing the publication of the Hindsonian. He became the sponsor on the first of February when he was named Public Relations Director. We appreciate his interest and understanding.

Keith Press has been a vital asset to the Hindsonian staff this year. The printing job, color, and Wednesday rush were appreciated by the paper group.

We express our thanks to President McLendon, who has given us his trust and understanding.

Without our advertisers, publishing the Hindsonian would have been a little harder. Enough credit cannot be given to the staunch supporters of our newspaper. We fully appreciate the financiers of our publication.

The success of the Hindsonian is indebted to many people and organizations. Every article, column, picture, editorial and feature is an important unit in the formation of the Hindsonian.

There is never a lack of news where there are people to be found. Hinds is no exception. The students and teachers have made the Hindsonian. We thank you.

With much sentiment we close this writer's last column for the 1960-61 Hindsonian.

NEWS IN BRIEF

First Couple Visits Neighbors

By CORKIE LYLE

President John F. Kennedy is in Canada this week on a goodwill tour. The chief executive is accompanied by his lovely wife, Jacqueline.

Prime Minister John Diefenbaker of Canada greeted the president as "a great American." He also pledged Canada's participation in a continued search for answers to the major challenges of the times.

CORKIE

Mrs. Kennedy wielded a shovel on the grounds of the Government House in Ottawa as she planted a tree in the formal greeting ceremonies.

President Kennedy is continuing his good will policy toward all nations by visiting them. There are rumors that he may meet with Khrushchev later this year, and he has also scheduled a trip to France.

May he continue the good works he has outlined!

COOPER EULOGIZED: Gary Cooper, deceased film star, was eulogized in Hollywood yesterday as "unparalleled in the perfection of his art."

The 60-year-old cinema great died of cancer this past Saturday.

Almost 100 film stars attended the funeral of the actor at the Church of the Good Shepherd. Cooper is survived by his wife and one daughter, Maria.

Cooper was another of the motion picture stars who had participated in silent as well as sound movies and has passed away in the past few months.

He will long be remembered for his great portrayals in the movies. May he rest in peace!

FRATS GIVE BLOOD: The fraternities at the University of Miami have selected an ailing child in Miami this year to sponsor for one year. This year's child is suffering from hemophelia.

Little Tommy Strobach can't stand the sight of blood, but yet he hopes someday to be a medical doctor. Only three, Tommy has had the blood disease since his birth.

"Only 15 percent of the fraternities on the campus refused to donate blood this year as compared to almost half in 1960," announced drive chairman Jules Dubois, Interfraternity Council president.

A very worthy project for a very fine group of guys!

MAY BE PERMANENT: William Hutchinson was convicted Tuesday of dangerous driving and his license was suspended for 20 years. He is 89.

Have a very memorable summer.

The Hindsonian is published weekly, except during holiday and examination periods, at Keith Press, Raymond, Miss., by students at Hinds Junior College, Raymond, Miss. Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., 18 East 50th Street, New York, N. Y.

Sophomores Pick Schools; MSU, MSC Lead Choices

A total of 140 sophomores signed the questionnaires presented by the registrar, Miss Mildred Herrin. The sheets asked about future schooling and plans.

Breaking down the sheets into various schools, more Hinds sophomores stated that they would attend Mississippi State University than any other single school. A total of 29 students plan to attend MSU this next fall.

Mississippi Southern College was next in line with 25, Mississippi College with 17, Mississippi State College for Women with 15, University of Mississippi with 8, Millsaps with 7, and Delta State and Belhaven with 3 each.

Only eight students plan to further their education outside of Mississippi this next session.

To State College

Students entering Mississippi State will be Sidney Parker, Thomas Herrod, Johnny Carter, Carroll Sojourner, Bill Harris, Leo Williams, Henry Chatoney, Jack Lee, Roland Walker, Kenneth Suddoth, Hayward Neely, Marcus Adair, Dean Liles, Richard Mason, Joel Mallery.

Carl Hancock, James Gray, Donald Butts, Denton Bates, Billy Boyt, Joe L. Ferguson, Lamar Kelly, Robert Van Cleave, William Reeves, Bill Huffman, Harold Jones, Roger Powell, Durwood Mathews and Clarence Osborne.

Belhaven will claim Lerona Gay, Dorothy Gatlin and Suzanne Bright. Cecil Allegrezza, Ann Winstead and Mittie Hinton will attend Delta State College at Cleveland.

Enter MSC

Attending Mississippi Southern will be Maxyne Ware, Sammie Thomason, Alice Shivers, Carolyn Gill, Betty Graves, Joy Nicholson, Jean Rodgers, Carolyn Middleton, Frances Nelson, Adonna Moore, Warren Dunn, Ralph Edwards and Noble Morton.

Also, David Westerfield, Kenneth Scott, George Odom, Donnie Goff, Charles Bobo, Tommy Nance, Corkie Lyle, James Davis, Reginald Spencer, Ellis McKay, Dallas Walker and Billy Smith will attend Southern.

Going to Mississippi College for the final two years of schooling will be Rose Earnest, Ione Johns, Rita Lott, Suzanne Pettit, Maxine Womack, Jean Rankin, Sara Ann Halsell, Albert Windham, James Parks, Frank Cabell, Jim Sansing, Billy Rhodes, Johnny Sumrall, Bennie Splain, John Barrett, Jimmy Davis and Robert Liles.

Millsaps will be the alma mater of Sue Stevens, Bettye Williams, Marion Sherrill, Wade Robinson, James Moffett, Eugene Payne and Eddie Bryan.

Head For the "W"

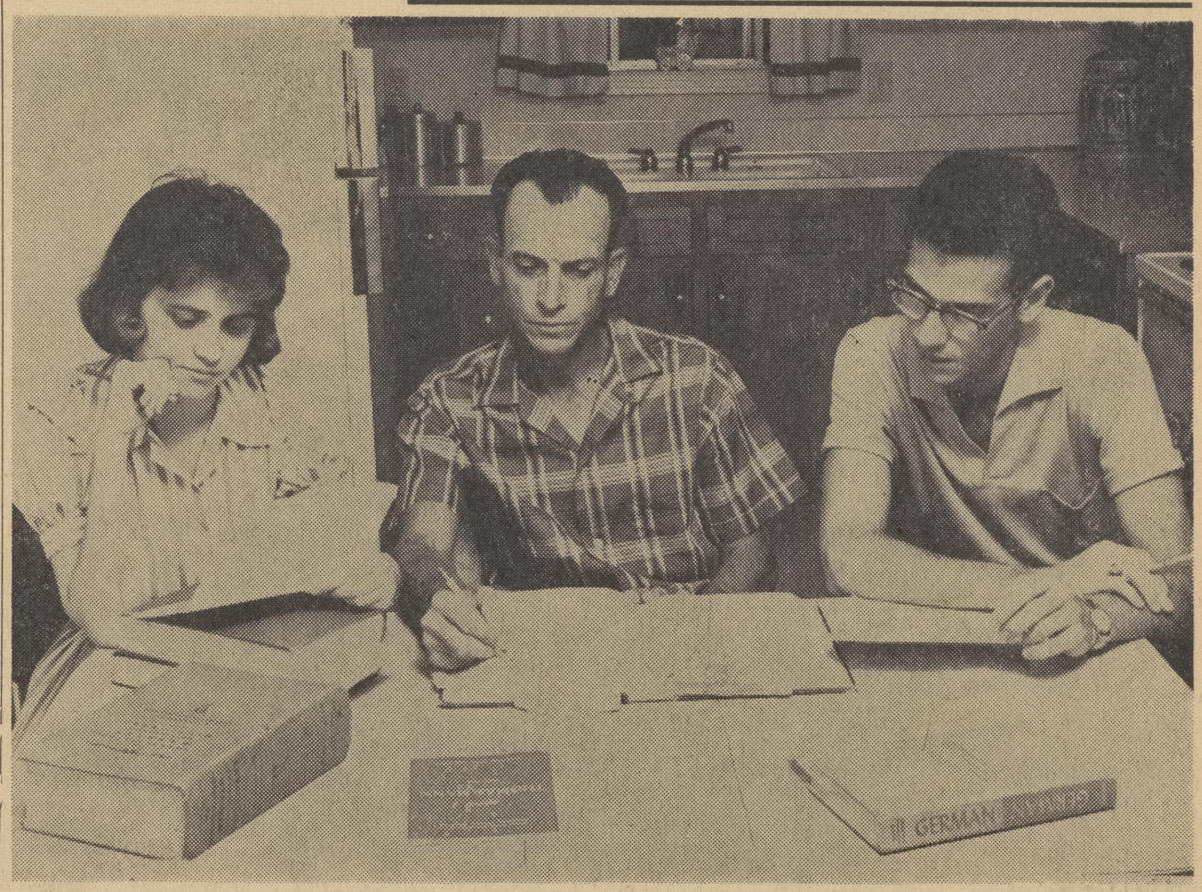
Heading for MSCW will be Jewel McNair, Bernell Boler, Mayly Jue, Carolyn Acuff, Warrene Hand, Christy Cosnahan, Carolyn Shuff, Carol McNair, Mary Thomas, Sara Luckett, Louise Phillips, Charlotte Dunlap, Ann Murphy, Ann Spencer and Linda Massingill.

The University of Mississippi has been chosen by I. M. Beasley, Rita Anderson, Belinda Hill, Kay Kimble, James Weir, Jerl Watkins, Jimmy Hataway and Lloyd Williams.

Louisiana State University will host Ronnie Allen, James Michael and Barry Marionneaux. Howard in Alabama will provide studies for Robert Cook and Ruth Barlow.

John Wilda will enter Cornell, Loren Miller the Air Force Academy, and Thurman Smith will journey to the University of Arkansas.

Another 19 persons filled out the information sheets but as of yet are undecided as to where they will continue their formal education.



MUTUAL PROBLEMS — In a huddle over mutual problems are members of the college-going James F. Parks family of 2910 Larchmont St. in Jackson. Judith Ann is a junior at Mississippi College, Major Parks, USA retired (center), is a sophomore at Hinds Junior College, and James Jr. is a freshman at MC. Major Parks, who waited until after army retirement to begin college, now finds himself the 'man-in-the-middle.'

Former Army Major Enrolls At Hinds; Plans To Regain Family Status Soon

Major James F. Parks, USA retired, was once the top banana, but now he has been outranked by members of his own family. And furthermore, he doesn't mind being the 'man-in-the-middle,' especially since everyone is moving toward a common goal.

What has caused the major to lose his rank is the fact that he is a sophomore at Hinds Junior College while his daughter, Judith Ann, is a junior at Mississippi College, and his son, James Jr., is a freshman at MC.

Maj. Parks, whose original hometown was Louisville, retired from the army in 1959 after 24 years of active duty. He first entered the service as a private in 1936 and was stationed at the Panama Canal Zone. With the outbreak of World War II, he was brought back to the States to Officers Candidate School and was graduated as a second lieutenant in the Quartermaster Corps. Then he was sent back to Panama for a three-year stretch of duty.

Following World War II the Parks family lived a normal army family life, moving to various Stateside posts. Then the family was broken up when the Major was sent to Korea in 1950 for a year and six months of duty. From Korea he was sent to Japan, where the family joined him for a year of sampling the oriental ways of life.

The traveling Parks clan returned to the U.S. from Japan, spent another near-normal three years, then packed their bags for a three year stay in Germany.

Upon discharge from the service in 1959, and still only in his late thirties, Major Parks decided to take a step he had long considered and gain a college education. The family settled in Jackson and Parks chose Hinds Junior College as the place to start his new career.

Upon graduation from Hinds, Maj. Parks plans to continue his education at Mississippi College, then either go into the teaching profession or accept an overseas job with the government.

The Parks family now lives at 2910 Larchmont Street in Jackson, and all commute daily to their respective classes. Mrs. Parks stays behind to care for little Deborah Kay, who is only five.

Major Parks takes out his occasional college frustrations on a little white ball on the golf links, and even at this he does very well—he shoots in the 70's.

The Major has posted a very high grade record at Hinds, so it is highly possible that he won't be outranked for long. In a matter of time Major Parks will again be top banana in the traveling Parks clan.

LOCAL HONOR GROUP

Phi Theta Kappa Chooses Officers; Sallie Baker To Direct '61 Meets

Phi Theta Kappa, national junior college honorary society, elected Sallie Baker of Jackson as its president for the 1961-62 school session. Sallie is a language major.

Other officers elected were Peggy Gregory, Jackson vice-president; Delene Willis, Braxton, secretary; Betty Wadsworth, Vicksburg, treasurer; Lynda Walker, Braxton, historian; Irene Adkins, Raymond, reporter; and Margaret Reader, Jackson, parliamentarian.

Miss Mildred Herrin, school registrar, is sponsor of the group.

The local PTK chapter, Gamma Lambda by Greek name, attended the national convention this spring in Sheridan, Wyoming. A total of 30 persons made the trip.

The local group rounded out its year's activities Tuesday with a picnic at the Raymond Lake Lodge. In addition to the food and recreation, there was an informal installation of the new officers.

Outgoing officers for the club are Rex Carson, Jackson, president; Belinda Hill, Brandon, vice-president; Rose Earnest, Slate Springs, secretary; Gail Rushing, Forest Hill, treasurer; Ann Spencer, Bruce, historian; and Frances Nelson, Vicksburg, reporter.

The new officers will take office next year.

Hinds Hi-Stepper Wins Honor Spot In "Miss" Contest

Lovely Hinds Hi-Stepper Ellen Butler was named first alternate in the Miss Pearl contest this past Saturday night.

Miss Butler, a native of Florence, charmed the audience and judges alike with her modern jazz dance and radiant smile. The petite beauty was named first alternate over a field of twelve other girls.

Another Hinds Hi-Stepper, Myra Andrews, was Miss Pearl of the previous year. Myra was the first contestant entered by Pearl in the state competition.

Winner of the Miss Pearl Contest was Miss Beverly Tadlock of Pearl. Henri Sue Dearing of Pearl was second alternate.

Bees Choose Hinds Campus As "Sweetest" In America

By BELINDA HILL

Hinds Junior College is the sweetest college campus in America—or at least the bees seem to think so.

Whereas most campuses have the classic sign of spring—lovers strolling hand in hand around the campus in the warm moonlight—Hinds has its own sign, the bees.

This particular swarm of bees has for several years had its summer home right outside the window of Room 16, Academic Building (right under the porch).

This colony of bees provides unlimited distractions for those Lit or English students fortunate enough to sit near the window of certain classrooms. (Even Browning can get dull when the weather is so pretty.)

Our swarm of bees is certainly the most educated in the world, for a certain teacher declares that they have entered his classroom during a lecture, remained the entire period, then left with the rest of the students.

Not only are these bees well educated, but they have probably received more publicity than any other swarm of bees in the world. The above picture was sent out over the Associated Press Newswire to more than two hundred daily newspapers across the nation.

It is interesting to notice the unusual places these bees choose to swarm—on doorknobs, bushes, car fenders, columns of the buildings—watch out, you may be next!

Any hungry student may go to the cafeteria, fill a plate with hot rolls, then visit the friendly little bees and . . . yes, hot rolls and honey.

Harvard is famous for its Ivy, Texas U. for its bluebonnets, Ole Miss for its football Rebels, MIT for its computers, and Hinds—we have our bees.

TO PAY 40%

Bookstore Manager Lists Texts For Refund; Sales Begin Friday

Mr. L. K. Clark, school book store manager, announced today that the school store will begin buying used texts Friday. Refunds will be given by the clerk.

Books used by students the first semester will also be accepted. The manager urges students not exempt from finals and taking all examinations to keep their books until the exams end.

Books that will not be bought from students are the following: Art in Everyday Life, An Introduction to Child Study, Calculus, College Typewriting Workbook—Part III, Economic Principles and Applications — 2nd edition, Experiments in College Physics, Filing, Insurance, Languages books, Math of Finance, Physical Sciences, Properties and Numerical Relationships of Common Elements and Compounds, Quantitative Chemical Analysis, and Technical Drawing—3rd edition.

The campus book store will pay 40% of the purchase price paid by the student upon his purchase of the books. The store will also pay to the nearest quarter; that is, if the percentage price is $1.45, the store will pay $1.50.

Alpha Rho Tau Elects Officers For Next Year

1961-62 oficers for Alpha Rho Tau, local art organization, were elected this past Friday at the concluding session of the club. Jerry File of Bentonia was elected as president.

Other officers will be Wayne Neal, Yazoo City, vice-president, and Mildred Brown, Jackson, secretary-treasurer. The remaining officers are to be elected next year.

The club is an honorary organization open to art students by invitation only. The group consists of students interested in the various fields of art. The club also stimulates campus interest in art.

Mrs. A. L. Denton is the sponsor for Alpha Rho Tau.

Life Holds Much, Everything Challenges; Nothing Is Bad But If One Makes It So

By JAMES ROBERTSON

This is the life of a boy who grew up in a small town and some things that happened to him. He had his unchanneled ambitions, his unfulfilled ideals, and his boyish dreams. In the years to which he looks forward there would be money, fame, and happiness. Then something happened to change this boy and force manhood upon him.

I could think of no more an appropriate time to tell this story than right now. I have just finished a talk with my dad. As we sat eating dinner Dad made the statement that he knew of no luxury that we have that he enjoyed more than ice.

He went on to say that when he was a boy that they had ice once a year. It was used to make ice cream on the fourth of July. That was, of course, the only time that he had ice cream. In addition to this he said he went to town once a month or so and that it was an all day affair.

As he talked, my mind was racing. I was comparing my boyhood with his. Strange that things could change so radically in such a short time. The things he spoke of were only forty years ago.

I grew up in a small town—a Baptist town. It was a town made up almost entirely of farmers. We lived rather simply, but it was a good life.

I was subject to all the mores and folkways that make a small town what it is.

I never went to a dance in my life. We had no pool halls, bowling alleys, night clubs, swimming pools, parks, or much of anything else. We did have a movie theater. The movies were changed three times a week and they were always old, but we enjoyed them anyway.

We went to Church every Sunday. We had a choice of four churches. We could be Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian, or Mormon. Most of us were Baptist. We all wore about the same type of clothes. We had to —that was all that we had.

When I was eleven my father and mother got a divorce. This gave me a degree of independence. I got my first job shortly after that. I had one off and on from that time on, ranging from shoe shining to clerking.

These jobs and one during the summer as a carpenter enabled me to buy a car between the eleventh and twelfth grade. This was, of course, my pride and joy. It was a symbol of hard work and of success.

We went to school only eight months a year. It didn't make much differnce to me for I did not study anyway. About all I did at night when I should have been studying was hang around town. There wasn't much else to do, just hang around. It was simple pleasure, but we enjoyed each others time.

Money was always scarce but we soon got accustomed to that, and it was true with everyone. Most of us worked at odd jobs when we could, but none the less, money was a definite luxury.

I graduated from that small rural school in Liberty, Mississippi, on April 27, 1957.

After that I came to Jackson and started to college at Hinds. Still I had the same unchanneled ambitions and unfulfilled ideals. I continued my care-free ways my freshman year in college so my dad and I decided that I should get a full time job. We agreed that I was wasting time and money.

I got a job and worked six months. I realized that I wasn't getting anywhere so I started to go to school at night and work during the day. I was fortunate in having a good job and was glad that I could work and go to school at the same time. But, maturity had not come. I took nine hours and slept during every one of my classes at least once. Naturally enough, I barely passed.

The following year I was working at night so I went to school during the day. Maturity was coming. I did better; I was taking twelve hours and had two B's and two C's. It was between the first and second semester of that year when something happened that was to shape my entire life and, to a large degree, change my whole life.

On January 20, while enroute to school in my car, I had an automobile accident. It was rather serious and the doctors didn't know if I would survive or not. I stayed in the hospital 27 days. Most of this time was spent in either unconsciousness or semi-consciousness.

It was during this time and the months after this that I learned a great lesson in human understanding. It was during this period that my family and friends were put to the test and were not found wanting. It was during this time that I learned practically all I know of the workings of the Almighty.

As a result of this accident I lost a precious sense, the sense of sight. It was difficult for me at first. It was a time of joy, however. It is a wonderful thing to feel the things that I felt. I soon learned that I had gained much more than I had lost. Everything in life has a significance. This thing was most significant.

Here a problem arose and had to be overcome if successful existence was to continue. We—my God, my family, and I—conquered this problem.

I went to a rehabilitation center in Little Rock, Arkansas and learned how to be blind. I learned that it is not really so difficult at all. It is a thrill when practically everything presents a challenge.

As a result of my blindness I have learned to channel my ambitions and add to them. I have fulfilled some of my ideals and added to them. Life is continuing, and I have never been happier.

I am back in college and intend to get at least a Master's degree before stopping. Life holds so much. I shall try fervently not to miss any of it.

McKenzies Complete 57 Years Instruction On Hinds Campus

By CAROLYN MAY

A total of 57 years—that's the length of time that Mr. and Mrs. W. M. McKenzie have been teaching on the Hinds Junior College campus.

The twosome met in a classroom at Peabody College in Nashville, Tennessee. Before attending Peabody, Mr. McKenzie received his B.S. at Mississippi State College. Both he and Mrs. McKenzie received their Master's from Peabody.

Mr. McKenzie began instructing in 1930 in Raymond. For four years he was principal of Raymond Consolidated High School. Now at Hinds, Mr. McKenzie teaches all the college agricultural courses.

Mrs. McKenzie is an English instructor on the local campus and is in her 30th year of teaching in Raymond.

Both instructors are active members of the local Raymond Methodist Church. Mr. McKenzie has been superintendent of the Sunday School Department for the last 15-20 years, while Mrs. McKenzie serves as a teacher in the Adult Department.

The McKenzies have one daughter, Mary Will. She recently completed a trip to the Far Eastern nation of Iran and is now making speeches throughout the state. She is a member of the International Youth Exchange of Washington University in St. Louis.

The Hindsonian staff would like to extend its appreciation to the "teaching twosome" for the fine work they have done and will continue to do in the future of Hinds Junior College.

Lendon Players Elect Officers For School Year

At a special meeting Monday night, May 15, the Lendon Players elected a president and vice-president for the coming year.

Mildred Brown defeated Jack Roberts and Rodney Salassi for the position of president. Joel McNinch defeated Gwen Canoy in the bid for vice-presidency.

These officers will work during the summer planning the program for next fall.

Secretary - treasurer, reporter, publicity chairman and social chairman will be elected at the beginning of the fall term.

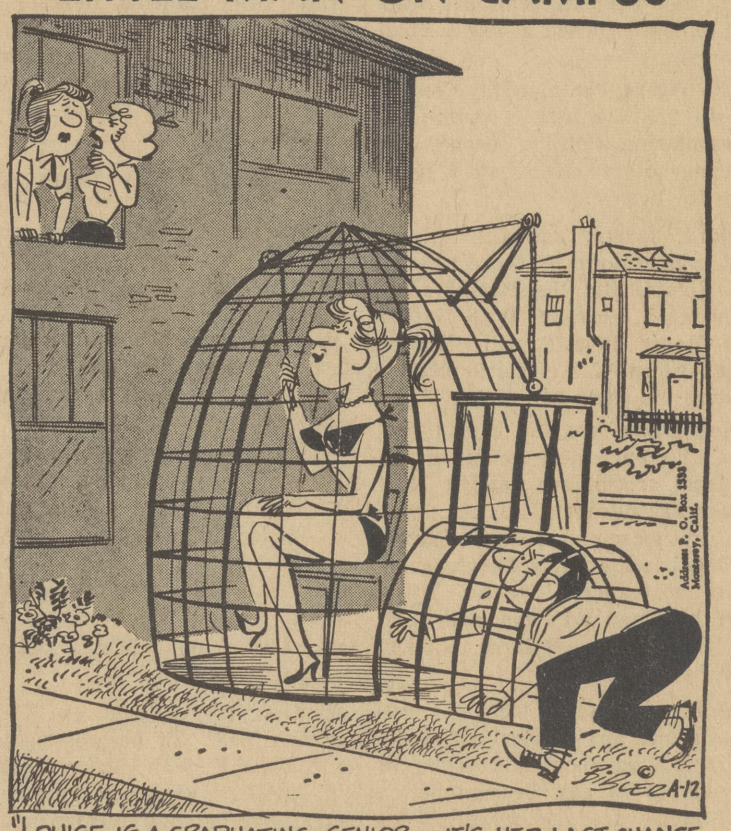
Mildred succeeds Frances Nelson as president.

SEA Club Selects Officer, By-Laws For Next Session

The Student Education Association held its final meeting of the year last Friday. At this time a constitution for the coming year was adopted and a new president, Irene Adkins of Raymond, was elected to serve for the 1961-62 school year. Other officers will be elected at the beginning of the next school year.

In honor of the sophomores of the club, a picnic was held at Raymond Lake Wednesday. The club members added to their education by learning to square dance. Mr. Bill Oakes and Joan Longest were instructors and callers.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS



"LOUISE IS A GRADUATING SENIOR—IT'S HER LAST CHANCE TO CATCH A MAN."

SPORTS PREVIEW

Editor Reminisces Sports

By TOMMY NANCE

While glancing through a collection of poems, our eyes focused upon a certain work that may well characterize this, our final column. No name was attached to this piece of art, so credit won't be given where credit is due.

"If a task is once begun, never leave it till it's done; Be the labor great or small, Do it well or not at all."

Whether this applies to this column depends upon the ideas of our readers. We began this job some 30 issues ago, but we're afraid that all hasn't been at our best.

TOMMY

Before reminiscing through the pages of history that Hinds' sporting department has written, we want to take this space to thank the students and faculty for bearing with me for 30 weeks. The reporters who have aided our job with intramural activity news and the coaches who have taken time out from their busy schedules to inform us with the latest sports scene, receive our biggest applause.

Surprise Grid Team

Now, with all the tears shed, may we turn to chapter one in the 'history book' and begin our antequarian report.

With a little less than a month left before the opening of the 1960 pigskin schedule, the Jackson papers picked the Hinds Eagles to finish a weak third in the state junior college conference. Pearl River received the most points to become the logical champion, while Copiah-Lincoln followed closely behind.

What surprised all fans and coaches in the state were the four straight victories which the local gridders tallied. Facing defeat for the first time on foreign ground, Coach Joe Renfroe's lads bowed to the strong Delta aggregation, then racked up five more wins before losing the final football game and crown to Pearl River in the seasonal finale.

Cage Gains Attention

As the Christmas bells began ringing, a new sport took the eyes of all Hinds students. Basketball, under the direction of Coach Troy Ricks, opened with an 18 game slate on December 2.

With the completion of regular scheduled activity, the locals had built up an impressive 12-6 mark. Only three teams were able to topple the Birds during the season — Mississippi State's freshmen, Perkinston, and Southwest. All three teams defeated Hinds twice.

In notching up 12 victories, the Eags collected advantages over Delta, Jones, Holmes, Pearl River, Co-Lin, and Clarke, one at home and one on the road.

Playing host to the South-Mississippi basketball tourney, Hinds suffered opening night jitters and fell to Jones' Bobcats. Jones and Itawamba took individual regional honors and vied for the overall crown over in Decatur. Itawamba grabbed the title with a smashing 71-49 win.

Cinders Fly High

The year 1961 was another marker on the cinders, with Hinds placing a strong third in state competition. Perkinston and Co-Lin gathered enough points to surpass the Eagles, but Hinds took initial wins in the mile relay, broad jump and the discus.

Tennis action provided a new state champion, with the Bulldogs of Perkinston taking the title. Hinds and East Central followed behind with a one-point deficit.

Thus, we close the 'history book' and also close another exciting year of sports.

Tigers Capture MRA Softball Crown With Top League Mark

With the close of another school year, the Men's Recreational Association has crowned a new softball champion.

The Tigers, captained by Charles Trest, took the title, with the Pirates placing a strong second. Jim Sansing tutored the second place club to their spot.

Third, fourth, and fifth places were nailed down by the All Stars, the Giants, and the Bombers respectively. Heading the "Stars" was Roger Powell, with Charles Sheppard and Mike Knickerbocker leading the other two clubs.

Members of the high-flying Tigers, who paced the team to the seasonal crown, are catcher Neal Clinkscale, pitcher Wade Lee Overby, first baseman Johnny Carter, second baseman Roy Leech, short stop and captain Charles Trest, third baseman Ed Long, and fielders Tom Irby, Roland Walker, and Paulton Smith.

All members of the MRA are urged to return any checked out sports equipment as soon as possible so the inventory can be completed. Golf clubs are the major items overdue.

Another final announcement concerning organizational members is that the club room will close Thursday evening at the regular time. The room will not be open during exams, which begin Friday.

Pelahatchie Squad Yields 2 To Cage Floor For Eagles

Pelahatchie has been the home of many past basketball stars at Hinds and this next season will certainly prove no exception.

Coach Troy Ricks has signed William Wade and James Massey for scholarships to the local campus. Wade was selected on the All-District Six team, All-CAC, and made All-State for the second straight season. He is slated for action in the annual Mississippi all-star game next August.

Massey, too, was one of Pelahatchie's best, for he was named on the All-District Six, All-CAC, and All-State squads. These two cagers are the first to sign under Ricks for the coming season.

Renfroe Releases Grid Schedule

10-Game Slate Opens With East Central Warriors

By TOMMY NANCE

Athletic director and head football coach Joe Renfroe has recently announced the 1961 gridiron schedule for the Hinds Eagles.

After a come-from-behind season last year, the local Birds will meet the same teams as last season. The only change in the chart will be the shifting of sites and one time difference, that time being the move of Holmes' Thursday night game to Saturday.

The perennially-strong Hinds club will be hoping to make as good a showing as last year. It was last season's squad that surprised all sporting eyes in the state in the remarkable climb from the previous year's 0-9 mark to the 8-2 of this season.

East Central of Decatur will provide the first opposition for the Raymond boys, as the Eags open the chart on the home field. Last year the Warriors bowed by a score of 14-0.

Next on the agenda will be the Southwest Bears, who will provide the first out-of-town competition at Summit. Itawamba's Indians will play host to the Hinds club September 23.

Coming back home for the next two games, the Renfroe tutored lads entertain Jones' Bobcats of Ellisville and Delta's Trojans of Moorhead. After an open date October 14, Hinds will travel over to Scooba to battle the East Mississippi Lions.

Perkinston and Holmes are the following duo to clash with the feathered fowl on the Raymond campus. The final road games pit the locals at Wesson to meet Copiah-Lincoln and at Poplarville to meet Pearl River.

In what might again determine the state junior college football championship, the grand finale sees Hinds traveling to Poplarville to clash with the Pearl River Wildcats, this year's co-champs along with Northwest.

why the blue suit with the gold bars?

You're needed... just as your father and grandfather were. It's an obligation that a lot of qualified college men have to meet...that of serving your country, when and where you are needed.

And the Air Force needs college-trained men as officers. This is caused by the rapidly expanding technology that goes with hypersonic air and space flight. Your four years of college have equipped you to handle complex jobs. You have the potential to profit from advanced training... then put it to work.

There are several ways to become an officer.

First there is Air Force ROTC. Another program, relatively new, is Officer Training School. Here the Air Force commissions certain college graduates, both men and women, after three months' training. The navigator training program enables you to win a flying rating and a commission. And, of course, there's the Air Force Academy.

An Air Force officer's starting salary averages out to about what you could expect as a civilian. First there's your base pay. Then add on such things as tax-free rations and quarters allowances, free medical and dental care, retirement provision, perhaps flight pay, and 30 days' vacation per year. It comes to an attractive figure. One thing more. As an officer, you will become eligible for the Air Force Institute of Technology. While on active duty many officers will win graduate degrees at Air Force expense.

Why not contact your local Air Force Recruiter. Or write to Officer Career Information, Dept. SC15, Box 7608, Washington 4, D.C., if you want further information about the navigator training or Officer Training School programs.
